A peculiar feature of the east coast of Florida is the reefs, or long narrow islands from half a mile to five miles off shore, making a channel for hundreds of miles, between the coast and the reefs. The channels, though bearing the names of rivers, are really but arms of the ocean, in which the tide rises and falls the same as outside the reefs. These rivers are deep enough for navigation by large vessels, and add greatly to the safety of coastwise shipping, since the reefs serve as a permanent and very effective breakwater. They also make safe harbors and glorious fishing waters, as well as the finest kind of places for all kinds of water sports.

Upon leaving Jacksonville we sailed in what is called the St. Johns River, a part of this coastwise waterway, for twenty-eight miles, before reaching the open ocean, and heading for Charleston, South Carolina. We arrived at Charleston during the night. We were told that we would remain here until eleven A. M., and really when we saw the freight in the warehouse that was to be loaded on to our boat, we were surprised that our stay was not even longer.

After a hearty breakfast we set out to see the town. Our first visit was to the Chamber of Commerce, to get pointers as to what was worth seeing. We were early, and waited for the first arrival at the office, who proved to be an attractive and very agreeable young lady. She gladly gave us the information desired.

Charleston is an old city for America, and we learned that most of its prominent residents are more interested in preserving all its ancient features, and in recent modern innovations as well. It is only fair to say that our time was so fully taken up in seeing their old objects of interest that we did not visit the newer portions of the city.

In keeping with tourist traditions, we wanted to see what the people of Charleston seem to prize most—their ancient works—of which they have enough to consume considerable time, if all are properly inspected. As in many other places, their old churches are of special interest. The Independent Congregational Church is the oldest of that denomination in the South. It was organized about 1682, by a union of Presbyterians from Scotland and Ireland, Congregationalists from Old and New England, and exiled French Protestants. It is typical of the all-embracing character of Congregational churches. The original building was forty feet square. It was destroyed by the British in 1781, and rebuilt in 1804. It was destroyed by fire in 1861, and the present structure built in 1867. It is a commodious and comfortable church building.

The Hugenot Church, founded by a colony of French Hugenots in 1861, is the only Hugenot Church in America.

Saint Michael's (Episcopal) Church has had a very interesting history. It was organized in 1752. The present building is of brick brought from England. The tower 173 feet high, stands on a separate foundation. A splendid chime of bells, eight in number, together with the tower clock having four dials, were brought from England in 1764; a fine pipe organ was brought over in 1768. All are still in good working order. Fire, war, tornado, and earthquake, have damaged the building and contents several times; but "the faithful" have rallied and restored it, so that to-day it presents much of its original appearance, with its quaint pulpit, box pews, one of which has in its time been occupied by Washington, Lafayette and Lee. There are several stained glass memorial windows of artistic design. To properly ring a chime of bells requires as much knowledge of a keybord as a good piano player, and it is worthy of note that Saint Michael's church bell ringer held the position for sixty-one years, when he was given an old-age pension until he died.

Following ancient customs, church notables are buried within the building, while the cemetery adjoins the structure. Many lie buried beneath the walks outside, and their tombstones are set in the walls of the building. We found headstones dating back to 1736.

Our time being limited, we made a hasty visit to Saint Phillip (Episcopal) Church. We did not go into details of its history, but returned to the steamer about to start.

As we passed out of Charleston harbor, we had a splendid view of Forts Moultrie and Sumter. Here the first gun was fired in the beginning of the Civil War of America in the year 1861. Captain Anderson and his small garrison of Federal soldiers in Fort Sumter withstood for days the heaviest bombardment ever known to warfare prior to that time. Fort Sumter is still maintained as a sort of relic but is of little or no real value as a modern fortress. On the centrary Fort Moultrie is equipped as an up-to-date coast fortress. From the sea the parapets look like terraces in a park. They conceal powerful disappearing guns of long range. A strong garrison is maintained here. We also had a view of the navy yard which has just been closed by order of the government. This was for thirty years a source of pride to Charleston, and the city will greatly deplore its closing.

Having again reached the open ocean, we were soon out of sight of land. Our principal amusement was watching passing vessels, and the sports of flying fish and porpoise. The agile denizens of the deep do many interesting stunts, most of them most unexpectedly.

Another source of interest was found among our fellow-travelers, some of whom were bridal couples making their honeymoon trips by water. Since "all the world loves a lover," we were fortunate in having a bevy to visit with. We found them to be good company.

One young man recently discharged from the Navy after eight years service, had a very interesting French girl wife—pretty, vivacious and sensible. She was struggling with the vagaries of the English language, although she spoke six or seven other languages most fluently. The surprising things she found in America were often amusing. For instance she had evidently never seen a watermelon, until walking along the streets of Chalreston, she spied a whopper displayed in a window, exclaimed in childish amazement: "Ooo, what a great big pickle." The last we saw of her was while the steamer was approaching her dock at New York. She was trying to comfort and cheer one of her countrywomen who could speak no English, and yet was making her way entirely alone from Texas to France. Since New York was her last transfer, we felt sure our little French bride and her husband would see that she made it correctly.

Denies False Report That He Said He Would Not Vote For His Brother.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say to the voters that I wish to deny the false report that has been circulated over the county that I would not vote for my brother, J. Dudley Collins, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Clerk of the Circuit Court.

I have never said that I would not vote for Dudley, and in fact I never had even as much as a single thought that I would vote against him.

I want to say that he has my good will and hearty support, and I will appreciate any support that may be given him by any citizen of the county.

Respectfully,
JOHN HARRISON COLLINS.

LETTER FROM J. N. DENNIS

Clanton, Ala., July 19, 1922.

To the voters of Chilton County:

I beg to warn you to be on your guard, as the campaign gets nearer over you may look for many unfounded reports to be circulated in the last minute in order to help the chances of those who seem to be behind.

I entered this campaign with the best interest of our homes, our county and our party at heart and will win or lose the nomination with that as the end to be obtained and will continue this campaign without any unjust criticism of either of my opponents.

I believe that the general unrest and tendency against law and order as well as proper authority makes this campaign the time for fathers and mothers as well as others with the best interest of our county at heart to do the deepest thinking they ever done in any campaign in order to select the one best suited to help get our county back on a safe and just basis.

You know our past record, our loyalty towards law and order as well as how we have performed the duties entrusted to our care and which one has come the nearest living as one asking for the highest executive office of the county should have lived.

In making up your mind, I hope you will seriously consider the qualifications and past life of each candidate, the help each has tried to be to the people, the record each has made as a citizen and as a law abiding example for the public, and I am sure that you want no prejudice or personal interest to influence your vote against the one that will render the best service in the office.

In regard to any report as to who will be associated with me as deputies if nominated and elected, I beg to say that no trade has been made or contemplated with any person for deputy and that if elected I sincerely pledge you that an honest effort will be made to secure honorable, upright and sitisfactory deputies.

Lets all try to forget every thing but the best interest of our homes, county and party and nominate and elect the best qualified candidate for each place to be filled at this election and all will be well.

Respectfully yours,
J. N. DENNIS.

FRIENDSHIP NEWS

Well, I must say we are having a lot of rain in this part of the county this week. The wind and hail which came with the big rain last Friday afternoon did some damage to some of the crops around here.

Everybody come, especially all church members of this community. If you don't come to the meetings they will bring the meetings to you. HARDING WILL NOT USURP POWER NOR SHIRK DUTY

Washington, July 24. — Strongly commending the course President Harding has pursued in the strike difficulties, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., says:

"There are a few belligerent individuals scattered over the country who have been clamoring for the use of military force by the Federal government for the termination of the railroad and coal strikes. These few men, who do not themselves feel the restraining influence of responsibility, criticize President Harding for the patient and deliberate manner in which he has endeavored to bring harmony where there is controversy, and to renew industrial acticity where there is idleness. But the thoughtful man who advocates observance of Constitutional requirements and who believes in government by law rather than by hysteria, will heartily endorse the course the President has pursued.

"The preservation of peace and order is not primarily a federal function. The founders of our government, having had unpleasant experience with outside rulers, took care to guard the right of the States to exercise the police power in the preservation of domestic peace. The Constitution provides, however, that on application of the legislature of a State, or of the executive when the legislature can not be convened, the United States shall protect each State against domestic violence. So long as the power of the State and its Subordinate divisions is sufficient to protect its people against domestic violence, the performance of this duty should be left to the State authorities. When they announce their inability to protect their people it will be ample time for the President to exercise the power of the Federal government.

"It must be remembered, too, that neither the merits nor the faults in connection with the coal controversy and the railroad controversy, are all on one side. The President would scarcely be justified in assuming to set himself up as practically a dictator unless events shall demonstrate that no other course promises protection of life, liberty and property. Hasty action in the controversial stages of the present labor disputes would undoubtedly have brought injustice to one side or the other, and perhaps to both. The only duty of the executive, in a labor controversy, is to see that all citizens are protected in their right to work and that the decisions of legally constituted government tribunals shall be observed. Mr. Harding's past acts and utterances give assurance that he will neither usurp authority nor shirk a duty.

"Instead of becoming doubtful as to the wisdom and strength of character of the President, because of his deliberate course, the country should have renewed confidence in him as a Chief Executive. Those who are prone to criticize should aim their criticisms against local authorities who have not exercised their full power in an effort to suppress domestic violence.

"They may rest assured that if the time comes when conditions call for the use of Federal power, the President, as Commander-in-Chief of the military forces, will give the necessary authority, and that authority will be exercised by a Secretary of War who, like the President, is accustomed to perform his duties with deliberation, with wisdom, and with courage."

MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

CEDAR GROVE

The all day singing in Harp and Harmony music books, at Cedar Grove on Sunday last, July 23rd, was a splendid success.

Mr. John W. Hayes was elected chairman for the day, and a committee was appointed to arrange for the directors.

There were many singers and directors present, not to mention the very large crowd of listeners.

At the noon hour dinner was spread for all, and 'twas a bountiful dinner, indeed.

The people of Cedar Grove certainly proved their welcome by rendering their kind assistance in helping to make the day a success, and for which we kindly thank them.

THE SECRETARY.

CLANTON BEATS STANTON

REV. EZELL CALLED AS PASTOR OF CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

At a special conference of the Clanton Baptist Church, the Rev. S. J. Ezell, of Eatonton, Ga., was extended a unanimous call to serve the church as its pastor.

It is not known yet whether or not he will accept; but those who heard him preach here recently are in high hopes that he will consent to come to the Clanton Church.

Prof. McDonald of Wetumpka addresed the congregation Sunday. His talk was very forcible, and particularly appropriate at this time.

JOHNNIE LAWRENCE SAYS GOODYEAR TIRES ARE VERY POPULAR

No new line of tires brought out in recent years has met with the instantaneous reception that was accorded to the Cross-Rib Cord tire recently placed on the market by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co as a companion line to its famous All-Weather Tread, reports Lawrence Garage, Goodyear dealer at Clanton.

The n... 'ires have made quite a hit, ...

...rist wants the depen... wear and easy riding ... of cord tire construction," said. "A good cord tire is the last word in tires. A good cord tire is the best tire that can be built. No factor in this business has been more pronounced than the way that cord tires have come to dominate the quality market within the last few years.

"However a good cord tire of standard reputable make costs a little more than the fabric tires. The Goodyear Company recognized the need for a quality cord tire that could be built at a price that would enable the thousands of motorists to whom first cost is important, to still avail themselves of the advantage of correct cord tire construction.

"And so the Cross-Rib Cord was brought out at popular prices and is proving a boon to thousands of car owners.

"The Cross-Rib Cord is a mighty good tire. It is built of the same long staple fabric as is used in the All-Weather Tread. The patented frouped ply construction is used as on the All-Weather Tread. And with the exception of the tread, it is made of identically the same grade of rubber as the All-Weather Tread.

"The tread design in the Cross-Rib Cord is a good second to the All-Weather Tread in gripping traction qualities.

"Because of the maximum tractive or non-skid qualities of the All-Weather Tread, it is necessary to use more rubber in the tread than is necessary in most tires. The tread of the Cross-Rib Cord, while as good as or better in tractive qualities than most tires, does not, because of its design, require quite as much rubber as the All-Weather Tread.

"The tread is of a tough slow-wearing stock that should give excellent mileage. The economies in construction then are the lesser volume of rubber in the tread, the different tread stock, and the fact that the Cross-Rib Cord is of single cure type.

"These economies plus the saving due to quantity production make up the difference in price and permitted the Cross-Rib to go on the market at popular prices.

"As a matter of fact the mileage per dollar, or the final price of the tire will be found to be about the same as the All-Weather. That is, while the consumer makes a smaller original investment in buying a Cross-Rib, he gets as much tire service per dollar as in the case of the All-Weather Tread Cord.

"The two lines of tires simply occupy different price levels, each being a quality tire in its own level.

"The Cross-Rib Cord is of attractive appearance and is giving mighty good satisfaction to buyers and is proving to be an important factor in economy of tire service. It looks its ruggedness.

"The Goodyear dealer organization is enthusiastic about the Coss-Rib Cord tire too in that it is securing a lot of business that has been going to unknown brands offered in many localities at higher list prices but with long discounts."

The Turtle Mystery Solved.

A few days ago I received a copy of The Union-Banner in which was told about the turtle catch at Perdido Bay. As there seems to be some misunderstanding about the weight, I shall try to explain the mystery as best I can.

Frank Mullins' letter was written the night of the turtle hunt, which was July 10th. On the morning of July 11th I wrote a letter home telling of the turtle catch. Frank's letter was written when the turtle weighed 450 pounds. But that night the turtle layed 150 eggs that weighed a pound each. Then of course the turtle weighed 150 pounds less or 300 pounds, the next morning when my letter was written.

So you see both of us were correct. I hope this explanation will satisfy the minds of any of our friends in Clanton who may not be able to under stand the mystery.

FROM A MEMBER OF COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Calera, Ala., July 25, 1922.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

There are rumors going the rounds of Chilton county in regard to actions of the County Board of Education dealing with the school matters of the county.

Some people are claiming the Board forces unjust matters down the throats of the people of the county without asking or securing any voice of the patronage of the serveral Districts.

Some say we force teachers on them without their having any say so. Now the law which we had nothing to do with the making says the Superintendent shall secure and place the teachers of the County and the Board shall contract with said teachers, but it has been our policy to ask each district to secure teachers as early as possible in the year and certify them to the Superintendent so we could get as good teachers as the State affords, and in the mean time this is done except in some of the districts where the interest is so low in school matters the patrons and trustees fail to get a teacher and then we have to secure and send into such places the best teachers we can find.

Again some of the districts fail to provide extra room for the teachers asked for and the Board has had to take this matter in hand and tell the folks if they could not fit a room we would have to take the teacher placed there and put he or she some other place, and in some instances have had this to do, which I feel was only the duty of the board. In other places the patrons have failed or refused to put any stove in the room for the convenience of the school and we have removed the teacher or closed the room until they made arrangements to keep the children warm, which we think was right.

Then as to the appointing of trustees, the law says the Board shall appoint one or more to look after the business in the several districts, but in every instance we have asked the people in the districts to meet and appoint or elect those they would have for trustees and certify them to the County Board for appointment, but as in the case of teachers some districts have such a low school spirit they do not hold any meeting and in that case the Board has to appoint the best material they can secure. This should not be held against the Board but it is going the rounds that they do not recognize the wishes of the people in school matters.

Another rumor is that we force CONSOLIDATION of districts without the consent of those concerned. Let me say that in every case of consolidation brought to the board it has been backed by a petition of parties connected with the move before the board will take action. It sometimes may be that some irregularities are practiced in getting the petitions, for as you know some folks will sign any thing placed before them if it is a petition of some kind, and we often find the same name signed to a petition for and one against such matters, then in that case we have to be governed as best we can by the circumstances.

Few people in the County know how much comes before the Board and when I say the amount handled is equal to or greater than the county commissoners you probably will be surprised, but it is a fact, and if you consider the pay we get and the amount your commissioners get you will probably ease up in your criticism, for I say to you during the 15 years I have been a member of this board I have scarcely gotten expenses for attending the meetings, much less any pay for the days.

You talk about electing Commissioners who are able and have had business experience, I think you ought to also look well to the selection of your County Board for they not only have to deal with seventy districts and all the teachers of the county handling a pretty large sum of money, but are also entrusted with the election of the Superintendent, which I think ought not to be for I think he ought to be elected by direct vote same as the Probate Judge.

In the face of the Alabama Power Co., taxes coming in during the next few years the funds of the county will be greatly increased and the Board will have to handle several thousand dollars additional to what they now have, so look well to whom you elect this time for the Board Members.

Two of the present Board, Mr. Billingsley, who has served for a good long term and who is president of the Board at this time, and Mr. Littlejohn, who is vice-president, are asking for re-election and you can see by their past record what they have stood for, and in making up your ballot consider all the qualifications of the candidates asking for this place.

I do not know who is responsible for the criticisms of the board but feel some of it is just prejudice against some members of the board. We have done our best to give all the schools of the county as near equal terms of schools as has been possible to do and as the funds of the county would allow. It has been our policy to give to all schools as near same term and in several instances we have held over the funds to allow them to have a summer school in order that they may get the benefits of the allotted funds.

No doubt there has been some mistakes made, but we feel the ones now going the rounds and criticising us should have come to the board and helped us to remedy these things instead of saying hard things against us, and we ask you to consider the large amount of work we have to do and the limited time to do it and then see if you or someone else could have done better.

Trusting I have made the matter plain and that you will consider well your choice for members of the board taking into consideration all the qualifications and cast your vote accordingly. Also in making up your ballot give due consideration for the ability and standing of all officers to be elected.

Yours truly,
L. A. CALLOWAY.

Help You Choose Tires

500 miles at 94.48 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished, sun-baked concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the gruelling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

34,525 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kemp of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the gruelling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.

165% Increased Business
The buying public is the surest barometer of the value of any article. Their approval of Oldfield value has been demonetrated by the increase of 165% in business for the first five months of 1922 over the corresponding period of 1921.

Agents Everywhere
Oldfield Tires are distributed through 73 branches and distributing warehouses in all parts of the United States. More dealers are constantly becoming Oldfield agencies and Oldfield Tires are now available in your community.

PROPOSED SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Considerable stir and excitement has been caused by the posting of notice by the Town Council, regarding the voting on school bond issue, in the coming election.

Questions propounded by certain citizens, are being posted up at different places in town, asking for information regarding all this matter.

The committee on the proposed school building, said committee having been elected by a mass meeting of the people, and who have had this whole matter under investigation, wish to state that in due time, and also in plenty of time before election, to enlighten all the people regarding the whole question so that they may go to the polls and vote intelligently.

Some people seem to presume, that it is the work of certain few individuals, who are designated as promoters, trying to put something over on the people, but this movement is nothing more or less than the work of the committee elected by the mass meeting, who, after having investigated the matter from all sides, are bringing the issue as they found it, back to the people to accept or reject.

However, before the election takes place, the people may rest assured that the committee will publish full report with information and findings, to guide the people in making their decision.

As certain members of the committee are out of town at present, no meeting can be called until they return, but when they do, the people shall know as much about the matter as the committee does, and they say we can all vote for or against as we see fit.

Again remember it is not a private, personal or individual proposition, that has been started, but it is the findings and results of this committee of the people, which are taking shape, and are coming back to the people for decision.

FARMERS INCREASE PLOWS 4 PER CENT

ACREAGE IN CULTIVATION IN ALABAMA IS 6 PER CENT GREATER THAN 1921

F. W. GIST ISSUES REPORT

Pasturage Acreage This Year On Par With 1921—Total Plows In Operation This Year Is 369,000—Corn Will Lead In 1922 Harvest.

Montgomery — Alabama farmers have increased the number of plows operated this year by 4 per cent over the number run last year, and have increased the numbers of acres in cultivation by 6 per cent, according to a report issued by F. W. Gist, federal and state statistician for agriculture.

The following statement gives the estimated acreage planted to the crops named this year, together with the comparative acreage to the same crops last year:

	1922	1921	Pct. 1922
Corn	3,636,000	4,042,000	90
Cotton	2,995,000	2,269,000	132
Peanuts	104,000	400,000	76
Cowpeas	285,000	216,000	132
Soy Beans	96,000	85,000	113
Hay	952,000	836,000	114
Sweet Potatoes	163,000	135,000	121
Irish Potatoes	60,000	31,000	194
Sorghum	93,000	90,000	103
Sugar Cane	79,000	71,000	111
Oats	493,00	416,000	118
Wheat	20,000	20,000	100
Vegetables	95,000	75,000	127
Orchards	51,000	56,000	91
Small Fruits	5,000	3,000	167
Total	9,327,000	8,745,000
Less duplicated hay	503,000	442,000
Cultivated acres	8,824,000	8,303,000	106
Interplanted Crops:
Velvet Beans	975,000	838,000	116
Peanuts	382,000	417,000	92
Cowpeas	608,000	345,000	176
Soy Beans	92,000	97,000	96
Total	2,059,000	1,697,000	121
Total crop acres	10,883,000	10,000,000	109
Number of plows operated	369,000	355,000	104

The acreage devoted to pasturage this year is about equivalent to that utilized last year, 2,500,000 acres.

The acreage planted to peanuts on solid acres will probably not all be harested, if the custom of former years is followed. Last year only 330,000 acres were harvested for nuts. If the same proportion is harvested this year the gathered acres will be only 251,000. Nothing definite can be told on this point, however, until harvest is completed.

Sorghum is not all made into sirup about 15 per cent of the acreage of former years having been gathered as roughage. On this basis only 79,000 acres will go into sirup this year. Sugar cane is also always short of the planted acreage, and likely only about 64,000 acres will go into sirup this year, the remainder being required for seeding the next crop.

The oats acreage given above includes all oats sown, and not more than 370,000 acres will probably show as cut for feed as grain or in the bundle, the remainder going to hay or grazing.

The growing condition of crops in Alabama as of July 1 is shown in the following statement, the figures representing a percentage of normal growth and prospect of yield:

Corn	74
Cotton	68
Peanuts	80
Hay	85
Beans	80
Peas	79
Sweet Potatoes	88
Irish Potatoes	82
Sorghum	76
Sugar Cane	87
Oats	70
Wheat	68
Apples	70
Peaches	60
Grapes	80
Pears	60
Tomatoes	80
Cabbage	70
Watermelons	65
Cantaloupes	70
Clover	87
Alfalfa	85
Pastures	92

On the acreages expected to be harvested the conditions given indicate the following production for the crops named, the final results depending, of course, on future conditions:

Corn	bus.	54,540,000
Cotton	bales	767,000
Peanuts	bus.	5,261,000
Hay	tons.	1,152,000
Sweet Potatoes	bus.	13,175,000
Irish Potatoes	bus.	4,770,000
Sorghum Sirup	gals.	6,794,000
Sugar Cane Sirup	gals.	12,096,000
Oats	bus.	7,475,000
Wheat	bus.	176,000

The average weight of wool per fleece clipped this spring in Alabama is estimated at 3:5 pounds.

The percentage of last year's wheat crop remaining on Alabama farms July 1 is estimated at 4 per cent of that harvested in 1921.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. J. H. Goddard, Thursday, August 3rd.

When the Democats went out of power, we had hard times because of the Democratic program of deflation. Now we have Harding times, which are much better.

The confidence of the country that President Harding will find a way out of the acute labor situation is reflected in the prices of Liberty Bonds that reach new high levels almost daily.

D. M. Apperson of Beat 8, and son, Charley of Birmingham, were visitors to The Union-Banner last Friday. Charley and his family spent last week visiting his father at the old home.

Ben Duke was here last Saturday and reported another chicken story of interest. He had a brooder full of young chickens hatched a few days ago. When they were five days old, one of the lot was heard to crow eight times. Who is to be next on the list of eccentric happenings?

Mr. Johnnie Johnson of Walnut Creek was a visitor to The Union-Banner office Saturday. He invited the editor to come out to the speaking that is to be held at Walnut Creek Friday night. The public is invited to attend and hear the candidates express themselves.

The attention of the public is directed to the announcement of the barbecue that is to be staged at White City in Autauga county on August the third. Mr. S. McDonald has charge of the arrangements for the occasion.

The ballots in the Republican primary of August 8th are printed on pink paper. Those for the Democrats are printed on white paper. Voters in the primary cannot mix up. They must either vote Democratic or Republican. When you go to the polls call for a white ballot or a pink ballot, and the Election officers will be glad to wait on you.

The ballots and supplies for the Primary elections to be held in Chilton county on August the 8th have been delivered to the Sheriff by The Union-Banner, and the same will be prepared immediately for the various voting places. The election officers have already been appointed and the list is published in this week's paper. The time is rapidly drawing near when the race will be run, and we shall know who the nominees will be for the different offices.

"I will not send to Congress estimates exceeding the probable receipts of the Government," President Harding told the meeting of subordinate Federal officials in Washington. That is the secret of sound national finance. If foreign legislative bodies would adopt the simple rule of keeping expenditures within the revenues, debts would soon disappear and reconstruction would be made easy.

AN OPTIMISTIC SONG

This little song of optimism emanates from the Department of Commerce after a country-wide survey of business. "Fundamental conditions in this country are for the most part favorable. The agricultural situation is particularly good. The construction industry is having the biggest boom ever known, and this carries with it a large number of contributory industries. Employment has reached a point where a scarcity of men is reported at some points. The financial situation is favorable, with abundance of money at low rates of interest. With due care in the exercise of business judgment the period of prosperity can be extended without the corresponding excesses so evident in 1919 and the early part of 1920."

The exercise of business judgment includes the exercise of political judgment in voting at the Congressional elections this fall. This country is on the uproad. Evidence is piling up daily to support that assertion. If the Democratic party has the slightest idea that the country is going to spike this upward movement by taking control of Congress away from the Republicans and putting it into the hands of a party which would assuredly create a deadlock with the Chief Executive, it displays less political acumen than it has in the past, and that was mighty little. The march toward normalcy will not be halted.

HOMELESS AMBASSADOR

Henry P. Fletcher, Ambassador to Belgium, writes back home that housing conditions in Brussels are almost as bad as they are in Washington, D. C. The Ambassador and his wife had a hard time finding a suitable residence. Of course, if the United States treated its foreign service as other enlighted nations do, every ambassador and minister sent abroad would find ample accommodations in a residence owned by the U. S. Government. And part of this residence might be devoted to the official business of the chief of mission. The amount of money paid out for rentals of foreign service buildings by this Government represents a large interest rate on a sum sufficient to build our own houses for that service and even then many of our representatives abroad have to pay their own rent. The time should not be far distant when every foreign representative of the United States may not be required to say, as did Ambassador Choate in London, when admonished by a London policeman to go home: "I have no home. I am the American Ambassador."

There has been great joy among the Democrats during the last week at the sight of something which they hope will result in an irreparable split in the Republican party in Chilton County. It is natural for them to greet this prospective discord among the Republicans with joyful hearts, because that is the only vestige of hope they have of electing any Democrats in November. We want to urge the Republicans of the county to keep their heads cool and their feet upon the ground. We must not get up any division which cannot be healed by November. There is no sense in doing such things. We are proud that we can claim to be sensible people, then why let ourselves be led into a foolish, unnecessary and destructive embroglio that will cost us the victory that is rightfully ours in November? If we fail to elect any of our men in November there will be no one to blame for it but the Republicans.

LET US KEEP PEACE IN THE FAMILY

The Union-Banner wishes to suggest to the candidates on the Republican ticket in Chilton county that they aviod any joint discussions among themselves right at this time. Such discussions between candidates in our party can do nothing but work harm to the party cause, and cause unnecessary and hurtful discord. If a candidate has an issue which he wants to discuss before the people he should make his speaking appointments and handle the matter alone, and keep in mind that we are to have a fight against the Democrats after the primary and the success which we are to gain in that fight depends in a great measure upon how we conduct ourselves in the primary.

The Democrats are completely overjoyed at the discord that seems to be arising among Republicans. They are going to the Republican speakings seeking to preserve every morsel of discord that falls from the lips of Republicans. They hope thereby to collect some things that will help them in their fight for the general election.

We want to warn Republican voters now, and more particularly Republican candidates, that there has never been a time in the history of our party that we needed so much to exercise the proper measure of good sense and precaution in the conduct of our campaign.

The Union-Banner intends to do our best to elect in November whoever is nominated in August. We believe the Republican party will do this; but we should not now load ourselves down with some unnecessary handicap that we can and should avoid.

Keep cool and act sensibly now, Republicans, and we will be able to amply take care of ourselves in November. This is a matter that should not be considered lightly.

R. T. GRANT FOR HARRIS FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me a small space in your paper to say just a few words in regard to Mr. H. A. Harris, who is running for the office of Probate Judge?

I have known Mr. Harris from boyhood. I have lived in the same community with him, he having taught for us a number of times, also he was in business at Coopers several years, and I had dealings with him often and know him to be a first class gentleman and worthy of anyones patronage and confidence. Moreover, he is a Deacon of our church; always ready to do his full duty in all things, having also been a true Republican, doing all he could for our party.

Therefore, we could do no better than to nominate him for Judge of Probate on August 8th.

I know we have other good men running for that office, but I feel that Mr. Harris should have the nomination, as he is 12 or 15 years older than Mr. Bean, and you know the Judge promised us that he would not run for that office any more if we would just put him in one more time.

It seems to me that some people want the same set of officers kept in office all the time and when they get too old to do good work for the county to give them a pention.

Now, Mr. Voter, please consider Mr. Harris' claim and if you vote for him I guarantee you will never regret it. When he was running for Sheriff he received every Republican vote in his Beat in the primary election, so I say hurrough for Mr. Harris.

Now, Mr. Editor, you please publish this short letter for me just as it is written, as I don't want to be accused of getting some politician to write my letters as others are accused of doing.

Yours truly,
R. T. GRANT.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Popular-Priced Cord Tire Without a Rival

It is liberally oversize—the 4½-inch tire, for example, measuring nearly 5 inches.

The deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern of its tread affords excellent traction even in snow and mud, engaging the road like a cogwheel.

The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear.

This new tire is a genuine Goodyear through and through—in design, in material, in construction.

It costs less to buy than the net price you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown reputation and value.

Why be satisfied with less than this efficient tire can give—why take a chance on an unknown make?

You can get this new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord now, as well as the famous All-Weather Tread Cord, from any of the Goodyear Service Station Dealers listed here.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he can not be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlains Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.

PROF. BEAN PUBLISHES SOME MORE FIGURES

To the Republican Voters of Chilton Sounty:

Since writing the article that appeared in last week's Union-Banner, I have talked with the County Treasurer and he states that I made a small error of about two thousand dollars, and if so, the total indebtedness of the county is two thousand dollars less than I stated and the county is only approximately $23,000 deeper in debt than it was five years ago. I just feel like it is my duty to mention this little error which does not alter the principal of my statement.

I made two principal statements in my letter; one that the state examiner, Frank Peabody, made a false statement and the other statement is that I state that the county is several thousand dollars deeper in debt to-day than it was five years ago. I am going to give further proof to show that I was wholly justifiable in making this statement. Since that article came out, Judge Reynolds has handed out some circulars in which he virtually admits the approximate carrectness of my statement as to the total indebtedness of the county. He says in his circular and also said in a speech at Cane Creek on last Friday night that I did not give him credit for $54,000 of taxes due next fall, or October 1, 1922. He takes my statement of the totals and deducts $54,000 which he estimates as the amount of taxes due next fall and concludes his circular with a statement that he has reduced the indebtedness from $230,000 to less than $200,000. This would probably be true if it were right to allow the taxes due next fall to be applied on the present indebtedness. He says that I did not give him credit for the taxes due next fall. I admit that I did not, neither did I give him credit for the taxes due in the fall of 1923-24, and etc. He is just as much entitled to the taxes that will be paid any time in the next several years as he is entitled to the taxe due next fall to be applied on debt to reduce it several months before it can possibly be collected. If we are going to consider this method of applying the taxes, then we will just give him credit for all the taxes that will be collected any time within the next ten years and just say that he has completely blotted out the entire indebtedness of the county. The way he recons the matter, he would certainly be applying seven years taxes for the six years he will have been in office. If we apply the taxes as he tries to do, then the treasurer's report for next January and and next July would not show any less indebtedness than he is now claiming.

To further convince the more skeptical voters that the county does owe several thousand dollars more to-day than it did five years ago, I am going to give the following treasurer's report and let you decide for yourself who is right: The county treasurer's report published in January, 1921 showed that the county owed a total indebtedness of $236,274.14, and that there was cash on hand to the amount of $5,565.41. If we will deduct the cash on hand from the total debt, you can see that at that date, January 1, 1921 it will leave the debt $230,708.73. The treasurer's report published in January, 1922, just one year later than one mentioned above shows that the total indebtedness on January 1, 1922, was $264,378.23, and there was cash on hand to the amount of $8,521.41. Deducting this cash, it leaves a debt of $255,856.82. Judge Reynolds says that when he took office five years ago, on January 1, 1917, that the county then owed an indebtedness of approximately $230,000.00. Now subtract this amount of $230,000 from the total indebtedness of January 1, 1922, and it clearly shows that the county owes $25,856.82 more than it did on the same day five years ago. Now if those fellows who want to contend that the taxes due next fall should be applied on the indebtedness of today, then in all fairness to all concerned, don't you know that the same rule must work both ways. If it should be deducted from the amount due now, of course it should be deducted from the amount due January 1, 1922, and if it should be deducted at all it should be deducted from the debt of $230,000 we owed on January 1, 1917. It is a poor rule that wont work the same for all judges. If the fifty-four thousand dollars should be deducted from the amount due while Judge Reynolds is in office, then of course on the same date it should be deducted from the debt left when Judge Deason left office. While I will admit that the taxes are more now than they were then each year, but the same principal must apply. Now some one may say that the debt of $230,000 owed five years ago would have been much larger than that had the taxes due the following year not been deducted, but that is not true, for the pamphlet that gives out this statement of that debt itemizes the debt as follows: Outstanding warrants, $218,000, accounts that had not been passed upon to the amount of $7,000 or $8,000, and the fine and forfeiture fund was $7,500 behind thus making a total indebtedness of over $230,000. This clearly shows that the taxes due in the fall of 1917 had not been aplied on it. I merely mention this because I anticipate that some one would try to pull such things.

I wish to say that the reports quoted above are absolutely correct if they were correctly made from the books, and I will say that I have no right to doubt that they are absolutely correct, for you will recall that Mr. Grady Reynolds was treasurer all during the year 1921 and made the report printed January 1922, and no one will doubt but that his reports are correct.

You will further notice that in January 1922, the county owed $230,708.73 and in one years time the debt increased to $255,856.82, which shows an increase of over $25,000 last year and I want you to recall that we did not build any court house nor dip any cattle last year.

All I want is just a fair deal and justice to all. But one more thing I would like to merely mention, is that Judge Reynolds says that the court house cost about $70,000 dollars. In his circular he did not mention the fact that there are several thousand dollars in interest bearing warrants for work on the court house that have not been paid, and also he does not give himself credit in the circular for the $15,000 insurance received on the old court house.

I wish to say that I have tried to see every republican voter in the county before the primary, but since it has been impossible for me to do so, I want to ask every Republican voter in the county to give my candidacy an honest consideration and if you believe that I am worthy and competent to fill the office of Probate Judge, I solicit your support in the primary on August 8th.

Very truly,

W. T. BEAN.

CONWAY REUNION

On July 16, 1922, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conway celebrated Mrs. Conway's 66th birthday with "Home coming day." The children prepared dinner which was spread upon a big table under the big water oaks in front of the home.

It is quite gratifying to Mr. and Mrs. Conway to know that every child, every grand-child and every great grand-child was present, besides two brothers and three sisters who were also present. There were present for dinner, eight children, twenty-two grand-children, three great grand-children, and including visitors, a total of sixty-three. Not in the history of the family have all the descendents been present at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Conway have been married for nearly 50 years and have lived in Chilton County all the time, save some three or four months. For the past five or six years, they have resided in Jemison. All who know them, have learned to love them, and all wish them the same success in the future that has blessed them in the past.

OAK HILL

We are getting along nicely with our Sunday school and church services, although the attendance is not so large as it has been, or would be if it were not for so many all day singings in different parts of the country, but in spite of the all day singings and weddings a small crowd of singers gathered at this place Sunday evening and did some good singing. At two o'clock the class was called to order by president, J. P. Bean, who sang the opening song followed by prayer. Then the following directors were called and directed three songs each: Leonard and Charles Glasscock, J. B. Northcutt, Hurlie Mims, Marvin Merchant, E. L. Glasscock, Vernon Northcutt, Lessie Vinzant and A. H. Glasscock. Good talks were made by Rev. S. F. Mabrey and our pastor, L. H. L. Jones, which was to the point and was enjoyed by all present. After which a quartette was sung by A. H. and E. L. Glasscock, J. B. and Vernon Northcutt. Organists were Misses Lena Glasscock, Ruby Campbell and Eva Headley. We all had a good time and some fine singing. We find that it is not always the largest crowds that does the best singing.

We were so interested in the singing that we forgot to announce that old brother Vandiver would preach here Sunday night and probably run a few days meeting next week, but our annual revival meeting will not begin until the first Sunday in September. We will have Rev S. E. Mabrey of the Moody charge, to do the preaching. So lets begin now to prepare and pray for the success of that meeting, for if there ever was a time when a revival was needed it is now. We invite all denominations to come and take part with us, and we ask all who pray to remember us in your prayers.

GUY DESHAZO DEFENDS REYNOLDS AS OFFICER

Editor Union-Banner:

Again I ask for space to say a few words in your valuable paper in answer to an article in your paper last week by Prof. W. T. Bean.

I thought that I would not write another article before the primary but since Mr. Bean has come out with the statements that he made in his letter, I cannot refrain from trying to explain some of the things that he seems so considerably puzzled over, and which he has with out a doubt placed before the people of the County in a misleading form.

I notice to begin with that Mr. Bean says that he is not slinging any mud, and is not throwing anything at any of his opponents. Well I will say that if he is so narrow as not to be able to see the mud on the stick that he is trying to use, I will show it to him. Of course Mr. Bean did not say anything directly about Judge Reynolds but he is accusing a State Examiner of making false reports and statements concerning the affairs of the office over which the Judge presides. Mr. Bean leaves the impression in his letter that there might have been something crooked about that Examiner's Report, or in other words that Reynolds had persuaded Peabody to make this report in the way that he did for the sole purpose of blowing off Reynolds to the people. Now I am willing to bet all that I am worth that Peabody's report is as near correct as any examiners report could be, or ever has been.

Another thing that Mr. Bean proceeds to spell forth about in the beginning of his letter is his loyalty to the Republican party. I wish to say here that had Mr. Bean been the loyal Republican that he claims to be, he would not have raised this controversy at this time. If there is anything in the world that I abhor it is "Family Rows" and that is just what Mr. Bean has endeavored to start. A man who would try to stir up strife in this manner in his own party is so narrow between the eyes when it comes to party loyalty that a gnat could sit on the bridge of his nose and drink tears of defeat from both eyes at the same time.

Mr. Bean says that there has been a very unfair deal handed him and the voters of the county. I don't see where there has been any deal handed Mr. Mean at all, he has been absolutely out of the discussions this time, and what I want to kow is when did Mr. Bean get himself appointed as State Examiner of Accounts? I also wish to ask Mr. Bean when did he spend the necessary two weeks auditing the books of the Judge of Probate, or if he did not do that then will he kindly explain to the suffering public as to where he unearthed this wonderful information that he so freely handed out in his article last week. I am afraid that he will have to answer that question by telling you that the only thing that he had to go by was the Treasurer's report of registered claims. This report is not correct and is not supposed to be exactly so, because there is a record of these claims kept that is never audited or balanced or anything and none of the claims that are paid are ever checked off this list, so you will see that it would be a very easy matter for a new Treasurer to make a considerable mistake in the reporting of the claims on this book.

Now here is the point that Mr. Bean is so highly excited over and is venting his spleen about. On the 1st of January of this year the Treasurer's Report showed the County something like 250,000 dollars in debt. There is only $218,500.00 of this amount that is really a part of the old debt, this being $197,000 worth of bonds sold, and 43 of the old bearing warrants for 500 dollars each that have never been turned in yet. The ballance of the debt that is included in the January 1st Treasurer's report is only the minor claims that are changing in amount every day. There is liable to be a variation of a thousand or two dollars in that part of it in a single day so there is nothing so very exciting about that part of the report.

Then during the month of March this Examiner's Report came out with the statement that the County was only $227,000 in debt. On the first of June Mr. Bice's report of the Treasury shows about $25,000 more than this. Now here is how that happened. On the first of January the Tax collector had not finished collecting the taxes and had not made his final report (which, by the way, was not made until about a month ago) to the Commissioners Court. Now there could have been lots of being paid until the Tax Collector bills due and that were held from made his report and turned the money over to the Treasurer and when this was done then the bills were paid, thereby reducing the indebtedness of the County before the Examiner made his reports. And now the increase of the debt as shown by the last treasurer's report is simply caused by an error in that report owing to there being a lot of old claims published in that report that should not have been published for the fact that they have been settled.

Now we will grant that the financial condition is like Mr. Bean says that it is. He has failed to consider permanent improvements that have been made in the county during the past six years. Mr. Bean absolutely ignores a $70,000 court house and a $40,000 dollar dipping expense, also about 60,000 dollars of interest that has been paid on the debts made by the Deason administration. Upon examination of the records I find that in the past six years the taxes collected in the county, that is the part of them that was kept in the county amounted to about $270,000 and this less the $170,000 mentioned above will leave only $100,000 to cover the current expenses of the officers of the county for that period of time. Even if the County was really $260,000 in debt now as it was when Reynolds took hold of the office, we would be 170,000 dollars better off than then for we have had that much added expense over and above the ordinarily run of expense. And when we consider the fact that we have a court house that is fire proof and have dipped our old cows and got rid of the ticks so that we may have an open market for them, we will find that we have acquired two very valuable assets.

Mr. Bean says, "I am no man to sit still and just let the bear (inferring Reynolds) devour me" My opinion is that Mr. Bean forgot to put in the shot when he loaded his gun for the bear, for the explosion sounded mighty empty to me, and if there were any shot in the load they rebounded and hit him instead of the man that they were aimed at.

Mr. Bean goes on to say that there has been nothing but harmony between the candidates and that he hopes that this condition will continue. How does he expect such to be the case when he takes it upon himself to start the row. At one time Mr. Bean had one of the best political prospects of anyone in the county. But he has jumped on the wrong horse this time and has gotten himself thrown over in the ditch of political defeat where he will be pretty apt to remain for some time.

Mr. Bean also makes the statement in his letter that he is writing and siging his own letters and doing his own thinking. I wish to say in reply to that statement that if what he did last week is a fair sample of what he is thinking and writink that he needs someone to help him the worst of anyone I ever saw attempt to do what he has tried to do. I also wish to say that I am writing my own letters and signing them and am not signing any letters that anyone else writes, neither will I do so in the future. I say that if a man has the ability to write a good letter to the paper, then let him sign it himself and get the praise or criticism as the case may be. I do not want to be praised for something that I did not do and I most certainly am not going to be criticised for the acts of another if keeping my name from the bottom of letters they write will keep that criticism from being directed at me.

If Mr. Bean so believes in bringing out the truth in all cases, when he wanted to know why the examiner was paid this time and was never paid before, why did he not stand when the law on the subject was produced? Instead of standing to the rack and getting the information that he was eager to have he absented himself from the crowd. The law provides that the State and County shall bear the expense of the Examiner equally.

In conclusion I wish to say that I hope Mr. Bean will see the error of his way and repent of his sins and come on across as such loyal party men as he claims to be, always do. Mr. Bean would be doing himself the greatest favor that he or anyone else could do for him, to go to the polls on the eighth of August and cast his ballot for Hon. L. H. Reynolds for Judge of Probate.

Yours for Reynolds and a big Republican victory.

GUY H. DeSHAZO.

J. A. LOWERY FAVORS MARTIN FOR SHERIFF

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the Republican Voters of Chilton County in behalf of my friend, Leonard P. Martin, who is a candidate for Sheriff. I noticed in last week's Union-Banner that Rev. Albert L. Foshee endorses Tom Littlejohn for Sheriff, and one particular point I notice is that he says if Tom should happen to be defeated it would be discouraging to him and to his family since his family has been so loyal to the party. Now I want to say that my friend Martin's family has been as loyal to the Republican party as any people who have ever lived and voted a Republican ticket. All of his father's and his mother's people have been loyal Republicans just as far back as we have any history of them, and since none of his people have ever held any public office in this county and since that none of them have ever asked for any office before, I feel like that Mr. Martin and his family would feel some what discouraged for him to be defeated. Mr. Martin's family have always been satisfied to work in the front ranks of the Republican party and do all they could to see that the Republican ticket was always in the lead. It is true that the Littlejohn family has been equally as loyal, but if you will stop to think that some of the Littlejohn family has been eating at the pie counter for several years. You will recall that Mr. J. Wiley Littlejohn served as County Treasurer for two terms and is now serving as County Commissioner. Also Mr. John E. Littlejohn has been on the school board for six years and is now a candidate for re-election Now it seems to me that if the family record is to be considered, it certainly is in Mr. Martin's favor and largely so. Since it is a fact that Mr. Martin is the only man in the race for Sheriff that has ever had any experience in the work of that office, and since he has worked hard in that line of work at a small salary for the experience, I feel like that he and his family would have more room to feel discouraged than either of his opponents.

I write this letter with no ill feeling toward any of his opponents, but I feel that Leonard is more entitled to it and better qualified for the office, as he has the experience, than either of his opponents.

Voters, let's all turn out to the polls on August the 8th and give Mr. Martin a comfortable majority.

Very truly,

J. A. LOWERY.

ENTERPRISE VOTER ENDORSES BEAN

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper to say just a few words. I have tried to stay out of all politics this time, but I was so glad to see Prof. Bean's letter in last weeks paper that I must just say that I am glad to see and know that we have a man who is not afraid to tell the truth.

Voters, isn't it a sight just to think that Judge Reynolds thought that he could put out that State Examiner's report and fool us all and that there would not be any one smart enough to see that we owed several thousand dollars more than we did when Judge Reynolds went into office. Lots of people were going to vote for the judge just on the strength of this report, but I don't see how any person can indorse the judge now, if that is the way he is going to try to fool us. I believe that this is one letter that Mr. Bean wrote that will make him a great number of votes. I was thinking of voting for Mr. Harris, but if it had not been for Mr. Bean explaining these facts to the voters, we never would have known what was trying to be run over us. So, let us vote for Mr. Bean, the man who has courage enough to fight for the right. I think that we are due it to him.

I am in Beat 6, in the extreme southern part of the county, and I want to tell the voters that Mr. Bean is in the lead in this Beat now, and I believe if he keeps gaining until the election like he has for the last few days that he will be far in the lead when the votes are counted. I have known Mr. Bean for about fifteen or twenty years and I have always found him to be honest and trustworthy and I believe that he is the ideal man to nominate for Probate Judge at this time, for he is fully competent in every respect to make us one of the best judges Chilton County has ever had. Now voters, just think for a minute and see if there is one thing lacking to keep him from being the best man for the place just now. He has every qualification necessary to make a good judge. Everybody says he is honest and nobody will attempt to bring up one thing against his morals. He is a good speaker, and when everything is considered I think he is the best speaker the Republican party has in Chilton County. He may not make just as red hot speech as Judge Reynolds, but when it comes to the facts and the grit and defending the rights of the citizens of our county and our state in a political, educational or any other subject that you might mention, he is ready.

Some few say that the Judge is the only man who could meet Tom Heflin and Bill Brandon. Well, I would be glad to see Bean have a shot at either of them.

I wonder if the judge is going to lie down on the party if he is defeated? That is what several writers have inferred. But back to Mr. Bean's qualifications. He can manage the financial affairs of the county as well as any man. He took care of the school money all right. Several thousand dollars passed through his office every year, and if he ever made any mismanagement of one dollar of it I never heard of it. I just believe if Mr. Bean is elected Probate Judge he will give every man a square deal and that there will be no special favors showed anybody. He had made a success at every thing he has ever tried. He went into the mercantile business without any experience and has succeeded and has made friends of all who traded with him, and a man that has always been successful with his own business will be sure to make a success of the county's business. Mr. Bean has every qualification that is necessary except the experience, and I don't think that amounts to anything no way, for Judge Reynolds had had no experience the first term he served, and he made much better judge the first term than he has this time.

Now voters, lets go to the polls on the 8th of August and vote for Mr. Bean, for he is the only man in the county that has proven to us that he has the grit to go out and fight the man, let it be who it may, that tries to pull the wool over our eyes and get into office on false reports.

With best wishes of the editor, I am

Very truly,

O. GRAY.

CHILDRESS ENDORSES CAMPAIGN OF L. H. REYNOLDS

Thorsby, Ala., July 25th, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

Prof. W. T. Bean had a lengthy article in the paper last week and among other things he said he started out in this campaign with a determination of running a clean campaign and sling no mud. I want to say that we all agree that there ought not be any mud-slinging in the Republican Primary and between Republicans. We voters are more interested in the success of our party than we are in the success of any certain candidate. We have not forgotten what happened twelve years ago by a few Republicans getting sore and failing to go to the election, which has put this county in bondage and it wil be for many years yet to come.

Mr. Bean says in his article that he has not slung any mud, and I want to say that he came to me when he first entered the race and about the first thing he said was to criticise the building of the Courthouse and the dipping of the cattle by Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners Court. He intimated that there was something wrong and that there might have been some graft connected with building the Courthouse and dipping of the cattle. He even went so far as to make figures to try to show that there was something wrong.

I notice in his article that he did not write like he had been talking to the voters privately and if a person would not call an argument like Prof. Bean made to me, "Slinging Mud," I do not know what would be "mud-slinging."

I was very much surprised at the statement Mr. Bean made to me for I recognize this as being nothing more than a friendly campaign between friends; infact, I have never heard one Republican talk about another, for the argument he made cannot and will not help Prof. Bean and the only thing things like this could accomplish would be to stir up strife among Republicans and this is the very thing we do not want, for we certainly want to elect the Ticket in November that we nominate in the Primary.

I have never heard any one criticise the present County administration except Prof. Bean, not even the bitterest Democrat, but on the other hand, everybody speaks of it in the very highest terms. We can hardly realize that during the last five years we have had a new Courthouse built, dipped our cattle at a heavy expenses and yet it is shown that our County owes less than it did five years ago.

If there is anything that I abhor it is little secret and mean insinuations. I believe in coming out in the open with public matters and whatever we say, let it be public and then be able to establish.

I admire the way Judge Reynolds is operating his campaign; I have never heard of anything he had to say about either of the other candidates but on the other hand he works and stands for harmony in his Party, and I think this has had a great deal to do with the success of the Republican Party in this County.

We are looking for a full explanation of the County's affairs in the paper this week and I believe after the people have found out the truth and the record that Judge Reynolds has made he will be nominated August 8th, by the largest majority that any one has ever gotten in a Republican Primary here, and we Republicans will all feel safe if he is nominated because we know that it will mean the election of our Ticket in November which will mean the success of our party and six more years of peace and prosperity.

I want to say that I hope the Republicans will be sure and nominate Mr. M. D. Foshee for Circuit Clerk for he has been tried and found true and not wanting and we all know if he is elected to his same place that we will have as good Circuit Clerk as there is in Alabama.

Thanking you for this space, I am,

Very truly yours,

AN ENORMOUS CUCUMBER

Mr. C. C. Cagle, who lives just north of Clanton, on the farm of Mr. Ed Bruce, came to town last Saturday to exhibit an extra large cucumber which he has grown on his farm this year. It measured 14 inches in circumference, 16 inches long and weighed 5 1-4 pounds. So far as we know this is the prize cucumber. Mr. Cagle carried it back home with him to save the seed to plant next year.

Common Sense About Eczema and Eruptions!

Here's Something About S. S. S. That You'll Be Glad to Hear.

You might just as well know it right now,—the cause of skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, boils and so on, is right in the blood. There is no getting away from it. Science has proved it. We prove it. You can prove it.

When the cause of skin troubles and eruptions is in the blood, it isn't common sense to simply treat the skin. A bottle of S. S. S. will prove to you what is happening in your blood. S.S.S. is a scientific blood cleanser,—it drives out the impurities which cause eczema, tetter, rash, pimples, boils, blackheads, blotches and other skin eruptions. When these impurities are driven out, you can't stop several very nice things from happening. Your lips turn naturally rosy. Your eyes sparkle, your complexion clears. It becomes beautiful. Your face looks like that of a prosperous, ruddy, well-fed, refined gentleman, or if you are a woman, your complexion becomes the real kind that the whole world so admires. S.S.S. is also a powerful body-builder, because it builds new and more blood-cells. That's why it fills out sunken cheeks, bony necks, thin limbs, helps regain lost flesh. It costs little to have this happen to you. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

Let S. S. S. Give You An Angelic Skin!

Judge Reynolds Writes In Answer to Bean

Clanton, Ala., July 26, 1922.

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

You have perhaps read Prof Bean's charges against myself in last week's issue of The Union-Benner, and that the truth might not be down trodden under heels of imbittered prejudice and that the people may know the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and that his charges may not go unchallenged I will ask you to read well this article.

Let us congratulate ourselves upon having had up to Prof. Bean's article a campaign free from all mud-slinging and the enlightened voter had hoped that this thing would not be present at this election. Probably there have been some private insinuations but to my own knowledge this is the first public mud-slinging that has been made. I will state frankly that this is the first time I have ever been dragged into a political controversy with one of my own party upon the eve of the Primary Election, and I will state to you voters that it is not my desire to write this article but it would never do to let such charges go unchallenged as Prof. Bean has made. Mr. Bean's motive for writing that article, of course, was to try to get votes, to attempt to influence the people against me. Why does not Mr. Bean show you his own merits instead of attempting to paint my would-be demerits in large black letters? Will one man's demerits assist another man in running a public office?

Prof. Bean has promised you he would steer clear of all mud-slinging and that he had determined to keep that promise throughout the entire campaign. It seems to me that his actions belie his words for if he does not call this article "mud-slinging," I am afraid that well known phrase has lost its significance.

I shall try to be as courteous to Prof. Bean as possible under such circumstances as these. I am not unmindful of the fact that such political controversies as these tend to hurt the Party. They are always gladly received by the Democrats who are quick to incite one candidate to mud-sling another. But since these eroneous charges have been made I do not think the most loyal Republican will say but that I have a right and it is my duty to give the voters the falsity of these charges.

Prof Bean says the County is in worse condition by $25,000.00 now than it was five years ago and he bases his assertions upon the County Treasurer's report of July 13th, 1922. The Professor begins his article by saying he is fighting this Examiner, Frank Peabody, whom he says has handed "him" a vey unfair deal. I fail to see anywhere in the Examiner's Report any mention made of Prof Bean or the least reference to him. I can't see either why the Professor took special offense at this report, as I have not heard a single person prior to Prof. Bean who criticised it. However, you will find a few now who agree with him, some who try to believe his criticism but know better, and some who will believe it without investigating the truth; and before any voter believes such eroneous charges and doubts an official State Examiner he should investigate the truth.

Mr. Bean seemed to doubt the report which was published as being the genuine report. He mentioned about it not being sworn to and I want to state for his benefit that Mr. Peabody finished making the reports in the afternoon just a few minutes before train time and all the other officers who could administer oaths had left the Courthouse, but the original reports is o nfile with the Governor and copies are filed with Judge McMorris, Circuit Judge and Judge Chas. E. McCall, Chief Examiner, if he cares to verify the copy that I sent out I am sure he will find it an exact copy.

It looks like the Professor is without an issue and is trying to tear down the fellow who has one. The Professor says he wants it "distinctly" understood that he is fighting a Democrat State Examiner but I am afraid he talks one way and acts another, for if you will look at the end of his article you will see whom he is fighting. Mr. Bean states that he has gone over the Treasurer's books to see with his own eyes that Mr. Bice did not make an error and he says he finds his report is "exactly" correct, except two $1,300.00 Warrants which are quoted twice. That is Mr. Bean's statement, but Mr. Bice, the Treasurer, states to me that he has found several thousand dollars mistake in his report which Mr. Bean states is "exactly" correct, and that he, Mr. Bice, would correct the mistake in this week's issue of tne paper. So that shows us that even Mr. Bean's eyes may falter and that the Treasurer's report upon which he bases his statement is not "exactly" right.

If you will take the Treasurer's Report you will find at the bottom of the second column the following Warrants:

Stationery, etc., to Brandon Printing Co.,	$140.45
Russell Grader Co., Road Machinery,	897.28
Stationery, etc., McQuiddy Printing Co.,	404.77

Now look at the top of the fourth collumn and you will find these Warrants duplicated.

This report also shows forty-seven outstanding Warrants at $500.00 each, when infact, there are only forty-three, and this again shows the Treasurer's Report is not "Exactly" correct.

To quote Prof. Bean's own words wherein he says, "Now since this Examiner has made such erroneous statements as this, how can we believe any part of this report, for when a man misrepresents the facts to me I can't help but have my doubt about all the rest of his statements," and to turn this paragraph around, as Prof. Bean has said, might we not say that they fit him very aptly?

Let's take Prof. Bean at his own figures and see how they come out. He says the County owes $254,000.00, and let's presume it is true, Prof. Bean has manipulated his figures very partially. He has seen only the liabilities and let's look at some of the assets. You know there is always two sides to every proposition, and when a man sees only one side he is bound to be partial and biased. Of course everyone knows the County is run principally by the taxes it receives which are due October 1st, every year, Prof. Bean has figured the liabilities to October 1st. Now let's subtract the assets or about $54,000.00 which the County receives and this will leave the County owing $200,920.18, according to his own statements. Lets take Mr. Bean's figures and go a little further. He says the Treasurer's report shows the County owes $254,920.18. Mr. Bice says there is a mistake of several thousand dollars. This leaves several thousand dollars less than $254,920.18. Then deduct the taxes, or about $54,000.00, this leaves the County owing less than $200,000.00. Now take this from what was due when I went in office and you will see that the County owes about $35,079.82 less than it did when I went into office, according to Mr. Bean's own statements.

Now lets see what we have invested outside of the regular expenses of the County:

Erection of a new Court House about,	$ 70,000.00
Dipping of Cattle about	40,000.00
Interest paid on old debt about	60,000.00
Total, about,	$170,000.00

We have taken in substantially $270,000.00 taxes including the taxes this fall, besides a small amount of license. Now consider what we have paid outside of the regular expenses and you will see that we have saved the tax-payers about $170,000.00 and spent about $100,000.00 for current expenses during the present administration. Now take the $170,000.00 and the $35,000.00 and you see the County is $205,079.82 better off than it was when I went in office. Of course every fair minded man will give credit for the improvements we have made, for if we had not made these improvements and had not paid the expenses outside of the regular expenses we would now have that cash in the treasury. To the fair minded man and woman it is apparent that Chilton County owes not only $35,079.87 less than it did five years ago but also we have paid out $170,000.00 that was outside of the regular expenses regardless of what Prof. Bean says. Mr. Bean was out looking for a mountain and he saw one.

I am afraid the Professor has been seeing things from the beginning of this race. You people know the manner in which he has canvassed, the insinuations he has passed about the cost of the Courthouse. He has said a great deal about the contract of the Courthouse being so much less than the building cost. I have not the space here to set out item by item where the money went but the money is all accounted for. The contract was changed from that as originaly made, for Mr. Lockwood, the architect, showed us that with a little more cost we could build a fire proof building, and besides the contract did not include the heating, lights and fixtures. All this was outside of the contract. Not even the bitterest Democrat has ever criticised the work, but on the other hand we were complimented on the type of building we had erected for the cost. He has also said a great deal about the cost of the dipping of the cattle. Dr. Cary, who is at the head of this work, informed me last week that there was only one County in Alabama that dipped their cattle cheaper than Chilton County and that was Winston County, which has less than half the number of cattle that we have. Judge Weaver of Shelby County informed me that they had spent $54,000.00 on dipping and was still under the quarantine. Autauga County has spent over $150,000.00 dipping and they are still dipping. I merely cite you to these cases to show you Prof. Bean's unfair way of canvassing. I haven't the space to answer all the erroneous assertions he has made but I believe you will be fair and demand stricter proof than the Professor's daring statements.

According to Prof. Bean it seems that there has been something wrong with every move I have made and even after a Democratic State Examiner has made a fair report of my official acts, a man of a different Party and a party I have been fighting and will continue to fight; yet Prof. Bean was not satisfied and attempted to fill the minds of the people of Chilton County with such erroneous and false charges to attempt to win their votes. He has held a public office as Superintendent of Education. Why has he not printed the report of his official acts instead of erroneously printing those of another? Has Mr. Bean told you one good reason why you should nominate him or has it not been always a reason why I should not be? I have before, many times, had to answer such letters as this which Democrats wrote but this is the first time a man of my own Party has made such erratic statements. I have done the best I could in office and my acts stand as a testimonial of my integrity and ability, and I think it nothing but fair that the people should always know of every officers acts; but it is just as fair that the officer should have them printed as they really are. I have been in politics long enough to know that it is a poor way to canvass by knocking the other fellow. It is also hurtful to our Party to have one candidate knocking another.

As soon as Mr. Bean published this letter Prof. J. L. Johnson, the Democratic candidate for Legislature, took up the howl. He has said on the streets that we paid the State Examiner $225.00 to make a favorable report and that the Commissioners Court had issued an illegal warrant in paying for this, and at the same time Prof. Bean was on the other end of the street making substantially the same statement. I will refer these gentlemen to Acts 1919, page 813, Sec. 8, wherein you will find that the law requires the county to pay the Examiner for every day he is examining hte county books and yet they say we have bought out this State Official. The warrant for this Examiner was paid directly to the state and not to Mr. Peabody, the examiner.

It matters not what it may be, whenever a statement is made or printed detrimental to my official acts there is some sore Republican or rather a Democrat who once claimed to be a Republican, or who now poses as a Republican but votes a Democratic ticket, who is ready to take up the howl. They stand around on the streets, soured on the world, knock everything that is done for the good. They have already knocked themselves out of the Republican Party and are now trying to knock others out. I will say that they are not fit to even suggest to any loyal Republican how he should vote his Ticket. One of these fellows whom I have in mind was making the assertion on the street corner the other day that "Judge Reynolds should be taken out; that he had had the office long enough." When this fellow himself had served eighteen years in office and had made two or three other races, being defeated each time and only got out when he was voted out. Do you think that man is qualified to speak?

Mr. Jim Grant has made the statement that the letter of Mr. Bean's would defeat me and elect Prof Harris. This I am sure, if true, would defeat Prof. Bean's purpose, as he expected it to elect him. What then is the real purpose of this letter? And furthermore, Republican Voters, what have the Democrats to do with the Republican Primary, and why are they so well pleased with Bean's letter? I believe every voter in Chilton County can answer that question without any trouble.

I hardly know where Prof. Bean does stand, he assumes so many inconsistent attitudes. You that heard him at Mineral Springs several days ago, heard him say that the County was in such good shape there being only $17,000.00 owing by the County besides the Bonds; that he thought now was an opportune time to change officers, inferring that almost any one could manage the office and pay off this little debt. Ask some of your friends who heard that speech if that is not right? And now he says the county owes $254,920.18.

There are several more things I would like to say but I must stop. Before closing, however, I will make this statement to any person that doubts what I have said in this article: "If Chilton County is not over $150,000.00 better financially than it was when I went in office in 1917 I will withdraw as a candidate and never mention politics again." I can prove by my past record that I have always carried the county forward and can truthfully say I have never taken or intentionally wasted one penny of the County's money and upon this record when presented in a fair manner I am willing to stand or fall. I also can say in this campaign that I have never mentioned any one of my opponents names except in a complimentary manner, or to answer some false charges they had first made against me. I put the Party above my own individual interest and I have had too much loyalty to the Republican Party than to attempt to bring it into bad repute by indulging in a political controversy with my opponent.

I harbor no hard feeling for Prof. Bean, I only hope that he presumes the statements he has made to be the truth. I am sure he is too much of a gentleman and too loyal a Republican to maliciously and willfully publish such false statements. I have had some criticism by my enemies during my political career, likewise, I have had many favorable reports from my friends. I suppose I have had more mud slung at me by Democrats than any other Republican in the County, and some this time by Republicans, which the people have evidently not noticed, for I have been elected once or twice in the face of it. As I said before, upon my political career as a Republican and the record as your Probate Judge I am ready to stand or fall.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

P. S.—After writing the above article I had the pleasure of meeting with Prof. Bean at Collins Chapel Tuesday night. He stated in his speech that Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners Court had managed the County's affairs well and said he had always spoken of their work in the highest of terms; he stated that the building of the Courthouse, the dipping of the cattle and paying the interest on the old debt were not the regular expenses of the County, and yet in his article he says that the County is in worse condition than it was when I went into office and never said one word about the above credits which we were entitled to. What in the name of all common sense can be the Proffessor's base of argument, and what is his argument any way? If he see some criticism of the Examiner's report or of the Treasurer's report, let him give criticism to whom it is due. I had nothing whatsoever to do with making these reports. My duty was to try to bring the County out of debt, which Prof. Bean says I have partly done.

I notice also at this meeting Prof. J. L. Johnson and his crowd of Democrats and mind you, this was a Republican meeting. The Democrats seem to be taking more interest in Mr. Bean's letter than the Republicans.

Johnson was on the streets of Clanton Wednesday waving his hat high in the air and exclaiming in joyous terms how the fuss that Bean has raised against Reynolds was going to help the Democrats in Chilton county defeat the Republicans in November. He was running from man to man giving expression to his joy.

It looks like to me the Democrats hope it will be political dope for them in the future. My friends, if you had this kind of leader for your Party, how long would you have a Party?

Prof. Bean, and Prof. Harris at this speaking last night at Collins Chapel said that I ought to be turned out because I had been in office so long. They both harp on two terms. I have never held the office of Probate Judge for two consectutive terms and have never had my work as an official endorsed by being re-elected.

Next week will be the last issue of The Union-Banner and if I were the Editor I would not publish anything detrimental to any candidate as it would have to go unanswered, which would be unfair to that particular candidate.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

Mobile moving picture theaters will be required to have auxiliary lighting under an ordinance adopted by the city commission. The adoption of the law follows the cutting off of the electric current for a period of about 15 minutes one evening recently, during which the picture houses were in total darkness and much excitement having been caused. A fine of $10 for the failure to comply with the ordinance was fixed.

Wildcat distilleries around Cordova have been joining the "outta luck" club for the past week. Deputy Sheriff Morrow, Chief of Police Davidson and Night Policeman Reed raided a still near Mt. Pisgah church. The still was found in full operation and the officers arrested Ed Pate, his wife and son. A gallon of whisky was also captured. Another still was visited wherein three others were arrested and four barrels of beer were destroyed.

LETTER FROM J. N. DENNIS

Clanton, Ala., July 26, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

I again wish to warn the voters to be on guard concerning false reports which are being and will be circulated up to the Primary Election. Any intimation that I intend to withdraw from the sheriff's race is absolutely false. I consider my chance of nomination better now than it has been at any time during the campaign, and I have the assurance from almost every part of the county that my support is growing all the time.

I appreciate the fact that every body admits that I can and will make an honest effort to do my duty if elected and at the same time show as many accommodations to the people as possible.

During the several years I have served the people, no one can show where I ever made any mistake or made any charge that was not regular or legal, without willingly correcting same as soon as found.

I especially appeal to the women voters, as I believe their influence will be in the interest of better moral and social as well as political conditions in our county.

It has been impossible for me to see all of the voters, but do not let that keep you from giving me your support and influence.

Yours very truly,
J. N. DENNIS.

A Message For Alabama Folks

Especially Those Who Live Out of Birmingham

You, who reside in the smaller communities of Alabama, should give your home town merchant the preference in every possible way. He has done much to develop your community, and if he has the things you want, buy them from him.

If he hasn't, he will probably tell you, "You can get what you want at "Loveman's" in Birmingham."

He knows that we have a complete store, and he nows that you will be well treated by us in the matter of service, price and uality.

But we say, "First try your home dealer—we don't want to usurp him—we merely want to supplement him, and that's the basis on which we ask for that part of your patronage which your home store cannot care for." Let's keep Alabama money in Alabama.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

Kenvil, New Jersey, where we are making our headquarters for the month of July, at the home of our son, Sereno G. Norton, is a town about the size of Thorsby, but has only one general store, a postoffice, a garage, some small stores or shops, a clothing factory, and one of the big plants of the Hercules Powder Company, where Sereno is employed as a chemist in the laboratory. The grounds of this plant comprise about a thousand acres. Most of the houses in the town were built by the company for their employees, of which there are now about 200, though during the world war there were upwards of 7,000 who came for miles around by trolley and automobiles. They worked in eight hour shifts, thus keeping the plant going at capacity day and night. They made black powder, smokeless powder, dynamite, three and six inch shells for our government and its allies.

The homes of the town are neat, the grounds and streets well cared for and kept clean, and trees large and beautiful.

Dover, a town of ten thousand people, is only four miles distant, and can be quickly reached by trolley or auto.

"The Oranges."

We returned Monday evening from a most delightful visit with two of my brothers. Sereno took us on Saturday afternoon to the home of my brother, Lawrence A. Norton, at South Orange, New Jersey. Lawrence has been in business in New York City for the past twenty years, and like thousands of others, has a home for himself and family in one of the many suburban towns surrounding the great city. Many of these charming residence sections are located among the wooded hills and valleys of northern New Jersey, and are accessible to the city by means of trains, ferries, and tunnels over or under the North, or Hudson River, which at this point is about a mile wide. It forms a very important part of New York Harbor.

This section of New Jersey is so densely populated that it is hard to tell where one town ends and another begins, and yet among it all, there are many thousands of acres in all their natural beauty. Most of the homes have spacious grounds that are veritable parks.

Although we were charmingly entertained in the spacious and delightful home of my brother and his interesting family, they gave us several outings in their big tourng car, that we might see for ourselves the beauties of their environments.

The Oranges, East, West and South, have a combined population of about one hundred thousand. Most of them are wealthy retired or retive business people of New York City or Newark, New Jersey (a city of 500,000 people and many manufacturing plants.) Here we could see how some millionaires choose to live among great and restful surroundings, which their money has helped to create, and yet so near to untouched nature that they can find many places that no man has attempted to improve, except to provide good roads, which make them easily accessible.

At West Orange we saw the great factories of Thomas A. Edison, and in the park nearby, the home of the great inventor. Here also reside the sons of William Colgate, whose soaps are made at Newark, and known all over the country. South Orange is also the home of Martin B. Metcalf, textile manufacturer, who gave a million dollars to the Red Cross during the war.

Here we found a golf club, having two large and splendid golf courses and 600 members. We were considerably enlighted as to the magnetic attractions of this nation-wide pastime, which consists chiefly in a wide expanse of ground of varying topography, in which at stated distance apart are dug small holes or pockets, eighteen in number. The players, having provided themselves with a choice collection of scientifically prepared clubs or sticks, and standard golf balls, with a boy or man as caddy, or chaser. The game consists in an effort to knock the ball successively into each of the eighteen holes, and walking after it, which means a four-mile walk to complete the course. The fellow who pockets his ball in each hole with the least number of knocks is the winner. It gets people into Gods "out-of-doors," provides something of enough interest to take the mind off of business, and enough bodily exercise to invigorate the whole system.

Although one of the smallest states, New Jersey is well to the front in the matter of good roads, save for the places where the roads are being repaired or new ones built. The whole state is honey combed with splendid roads, many of them with asphault surface or solid concrete blocks. Few of them are built in staight lines; the easy and graceful curves make riding attractive, and tends to eliminate accidents, as only "fools" will attempt to speed on curves.

The scenery along these roads, in town or country, is very fascinating. The appropriation for road building and upkeep this year by the state was forty million dollars, in a state having not over one-eighth the area of Alabama. This fund is derived entirely from automobile licenses.

The trees are large and abundant, the foliage superb, and varieties numerous, hard (or sugar) maple, elms, beech, birchc, oak, hickory, walnut. Although New Jersey was one of the original thirteen states, and was settled long before the Revolutionary War, the trees were regarded as a necessity, and to this day, are spared whereever the land is not absolutely needed for tillage or buildings. Grass—real grass—grows in profusion and just now the air is redolent with the odor of new-mown hay. Many of these meadows are parts of old farms that have been cut up and parts of them sold for residence or factory purposes. Even in the spacious grounds of these homes of the wealthy, apple trees probably one hundred years old are very common and still bearing fruit.

When we left the home of my brother at South Orange, we were taken in their big touring car to the home of another brother, Henry M. Norton, who lives at Florham Park, about ten miles distant. His home is an old, old farm house, very well built, and comfortable, fitted now with modern improvements. His grounds cortain about seven acres, most of it meadow, but also an abundance of small fruits. He is now getting blackberries, red raspberries and currants. Here we also had a most delightful visit. Part of it was an auto ride to Mendham, where my brother was born in 1854, when the writer was a child six years old. On the way we passed through Morristown, old enough to have a large and well preserved brick building that was used by General Washington as headquarters during his military activities in this section. At Mendham we had dinner at a hotel built probably 150 years ago, when they built for keeps. We also sought to find someone who could help us locate our old home. It was something of a shock to find that none now living in the place were old enough residents to help us. We were forcibly reminded that multitudes of to-day are gone to-morrow.

JOHN GLASS OF BEAT 2 ENDORSES LEONARD MARTIN

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper to deny a false statement that has been made against me. It has been said that I was a Littlejohn man. I wish to say here that I have been for Mr. Martin for Sheriff ever since I knew he was a candidate for the office, because I have known him and his family all my life, and I have known him as a Deputy Sheriff. As far as I have ever known him he has been very quiet in this line of work. I feel like he is more entitled to the office than either of his oponents, on account of the experience he has had.

Yours truly,
JOHN GLASS.

BEAT 9 VOTER ENDORSES ARGUMENT OF MR. BEAN

Clanton, Ala., July 24, 1922.

Ediotr Union-Baner:

Will you give me a small space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the candidates for Probate Judge?

I have never taken much stock in politics, but since reading Prof. Bean's letter in last week's Union-Banner, I think we all should be able from the reading of this letter to see what some people are trying to pull over us in order to get another term in office. I think it is high time we were opening our eyes and see if we can't get a man in this office that is trying to give the people a fair and square deal in every respect.

I want to say right here that I am, and we all should be, proud of Mr. Bean for the effort he is making to try to keep the people of the county from being misled.

I didn't know, and I don't think there was a voter in my community or beat that knew but what this false report circulated over the county by Judge Reynolds as the State Examiner's report on the conditions of our county, was absolutely correct, but since Mr. Bean has proven to us by undeniable figures that this was a false report, we could readily see that this was nothing but a political scheme of Judge Reynolds to try to get another term in office. Then how can any man vote for a man that is using such rot as this, in preference to a man who is defending the rights of the people of our county, and has proven to us by his works that he will not stand for anything but a fair deal and justice to all.

Some will say Bean is hurting himself by making this fight for the benefit of the people but I would be glad for any one to show me where or when any man has ever hurt himself by telling the truth.

Now, in conclusion, I want to say a few words as to Mr. Bean's qualifications. I have known him from a boy, and I have always found him to be straight in all his dealings.

He taught school at Collins Chapel for several years, and made us one of the best teachers we have ever had. When he made the race for County Superintendent of Education we gave him our unanimous support, and we feel like we were highly rewarded by the good work that he did while holding that office, and now we are going to give him our support on the 8th of August and I know we will get our rewards in the future.

Now, Voters, it is time to make a change in the management of our county affairs. I have never seen a more appropriate time to make a change than now, so lets go out on August 8th and vote for Mr. Bean, the man that has the interest of the people at heart and give him a chance to prove his ability.

With best wishes to the Editor and The Union-Banner.

W. C. BURNETT.

ADVENTISTS PREPARING FOR BIG CAMP MEETING

City of Tents wil Tale Care of Hundreds of Visitors August 3-13.

Preparations are now being made throughout the state by Seventh Day Adventists to attend the annual convention and Camp Meeting of the Alabama Conference of that denomination, which will be held in Gulledge's Grove, Clanton, August 3-13, 1922.

A city of tents will be pitched in order to take care of the delegates and others while attending the convention. A large pavilion will be pitced for the main preaching services, another for the young peoples' meetings, one for the children, one for the "little tots," a dining tent in which good vegetarian meals will be served, and a book tent where good literature for young and old can be procured at greatly reduced prices. And a reception tent for all visiting mothers with children and where the ladies of the city will be comfortably provided for.

A sanitary committee will see that the grounds are kept in good healthy condition. Every provision will be made to provide for the comfort of all the people from the city and surrounding country who may attend.

Elder Charles Thompson, president of the Southern Union Conference, of which Alabama is a part, will be present. Elders C. A. Russell, W. W. Eastman and J. S. James from the World Headquarters of the denomination at Washington, D. C., will be present and lead out in the public service. Prof. L. H. Wood, from the Southern Junior College; Dr. A. P. Olsen, late Medical Secretary for Europe; Dr. E. A. Sutheraln, Medical Secretary for the Southern Union Conference; and Elder W. H. Lewis, returning missionary from Africa, will be present.

Delegates will be present from all parts of the state and among the church workers of the Alabama Conference who will attend and help in the work of the Camp are: S. G. Haughey, O. F. Frank, W. P. McLennan, J. G. Mitchell, F. W. Schmehl and B. C. Marshall.

Having its origin in bscurity and poverty, the Seventh Day Adventist denomination has had a most remarkable growth, and is to-day established in 110 countries of the earth, with 153 mission stations across the seas, besides having local conferences in every state of the Union and every province in Canada.

Seventy-seven years ago, the Seventh-Day Sabbath, and Advent of Christ were proclaimed by a small company of believers in New England. To-day the denomination has 4,541 organized churches with a membership of more than 185,450. A total of 13,081 ordained ministers, missionaries, teachers, physicians, nurses, literature workers and other helpers are employed, or on an average of one gospel worker to every 14 members.

The supreme purpose in the hearts of the Adventist people is the evangeliation of the world in htis generation. They are a people with a distinct message and that message is that Jesus Christ is soon to come, and hence a knowledge of, and obedience to His Word as contained in the Scriptures, is held to be the paramount consideration. They advocate a return to the simple Bible faith of the apostles and obedience to the commandments of God.

Missionaries in foreign fields, as well as laborers in other departments of educational endeavor, are trained by an intensive system of education. The record of the latest fiscal period shows more than 40,000 students enrolled in schools comprising the system, which is a gain of nearly 50 per cent in four years. Six colleges and numerous academies are yearly pouring forth a stream of sanctified young men and women, whose sole objects in life is the giving of the gospel message for this time.

Jesus Christ was the greatest healer of human infirmities ever in the world, and Adventists have found that ministry to the bodies of afflicted ones is a sure way to reach their hearts and induce them to yield to the influence of the gospel. They maintain 47 sanitariums, treatment rooms and dispensaries, where a total of 156 physicians, 992 nurses and 1102 other persons find employment. A recent venture is the establishment of a medical college at Loma Linda, California, which is meeting with success.

The circulation of the products of the printing press have largely contributed to the remarkable success of these people. In 45 publishing houses, located at strategic points in America and foreign lands, 1125 persons are employed and it requires nearly 2400 workers to assist in the general distribution of the out-put. Nothing but denominational literature is produced, among which may be found 572 bound books, 134 periodicals, 364 pamphlets, nearly 1,700 tracts, or, in round numbers, 2,770 publications, one copy each of all classes being valued at $764.00.

This literature is published in 99 languages, and during 1920 alone, a total of $5,682,972.35 worth was circulated in different parts of the world.

A fine display of literature in the English language will be seen at the book tent. All visitors to the Camp ground are invited to visit the book tent and examine the literature. All the inhabitants of Clanton and vicinity are invited to visit the Camp and to attend any and all the services.

FRIENDSHIP NEWS

The revival at this place last week was good. We had the opportunity of listening to the able sermons of Rev. J. L. Hand, of Newton, Ala.

Most all the people of this community attended the singing convention at Clanton last Sunday. I am sure everybody enjoyed the singing, especially the Vaughan quartette.

Mr. Spurgeon Hand and sisters, Miss Radye and Lillian of Newton, have been visiting relatives in this community for the past week.

Miss Omye Hand gave a singing last Monday night in honor of Mr. Spurgeon, Misses Radye and Lilian Hand, which was a grand success.

Miss Omye Hand is leaving this afternoon, (Tuesday) with relatives for Newton, where she will spend the rest of the summer.

THE CITY OF TENTS

Steady progress has been made at the "City of Tents" in Clanton during the past week. The Camp ground now presents a charming and picturesque sight to the visitor. Nestling under the beautiful oaks of the grove are rows of family tents ready for their inhabitants. The people are now coming and by the time this article appears in the press, a city alive with them, women and children will have sprung up in our midst.

Elder W. A. Spicer, recently elected president of the World's General Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, presents a cheering report of the remarkable progress of the denomination, declaring that "the results in conversions and additions to the church at home and abroad are in some degree similar to the days of the apostles. Then, under the power of Pentecost, the fruitage of the four years of witnessing since the first preaching of John was the baptism of thousands of souls, until the Christian community in Jerusalem is estimated to have quickly numbered 25,000 or more. The last four years of our work for which we have completed statistics of baptisms show 67,315 souls baptized into Christ under the preaching of the Advent message, 29,529 in North America, and 37,786 in regions beyond. What has wrought such a work except Pentecostal power?

"The greatest demonstration of the Holy Spirit's power we have ever seen in the moving of multitudes from darkness into light have come to us these four years in some of the darkest and apparently most difficult fields. Like a breath direct from heaven, here and there, the spirit of revival and seeking after God has come upon communities and areas. We hear of it in the islands of the sea, where souls have come by hundeds into the light. We hear of it in Europe and Asia as others will tell. We hear of hundreds baptized in one day in the remote mountain regions of South America, where a work is being wrought of which the Missionary Review of the World recently reported, 'Bishop Oldham, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has said that the work of the Adventists here is the most remarkable that he has seen in South America.'"

Elder Spicer says the missionaries of his denomination are out in the remotest parts of the earth proclaiming the gospel. "They are within the Arctic Circle. They are down in the furthermost points of all the southern continents. They are on the equator where it passes through South America, Africa, and the East Indies. The Advent message comes nearer and nearer to belting the earth with continuous lines of missionaries."

He says "the dark gaps, empty spaces, and the tribes and tongues that have never heard the gospel story only challenge us to get more earnest effort than we have put forth."

At this Camp-meeting the campers will be encouraged to give liberally toward supporting the enlarged program that the church has outlined for the coming year. Nearly $12,000,000 were given for missionary endeavor last year, and this year's program will call for a larger outlay. During the recent World Conference held in San Francisco, one offering was taken for foreign missions, and in about half an hour, more than $132,000 was given.

One of the pecularities of Adventists is that they propagate no crystalized creed. The Bible is accepted as the Word of God from Genesis to Revelation. They believe that it was divinely inspired by the infinite Holy Gost, and that the Bible and the Bible only is the supreme test and guide.

Similar to some other Protestant denominations, they teach the perpetual law of God as comprehended in the ten commandments. They teach the only requisites of salvation—repentance, confession of sin and implict faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. True salvation is always manifested in perfect obsedience to divine requirement. Strict and implict obedience to the divine law is the direct fruit of salvatin, but no part of the price that is demanded for justification and imputed righteousness. Embodied in the sacred precepts of the decalogue is one that asserts: "The Seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God." This is a commandement Adventists adhere to in letter and in spirit, exactly as spoken by Jehovah Himself.

The greatest stimulus to soul saving work among these people is a belief in the second literal, personal, coming of Jesus Christ. This is the very hub of their message, from it radiates spokes of doctrine, pointing to the fulfillment of the glorious promises of the gospel. While they teach the near coming of Jesus, they do not, neither have they ever, set a definite date for His return. They do believe that a great many signs which indicate the nearness of that event can be seen on all sides.

The opening services of the Camp meeting will be on Thursday, August 3, at 8:00 p. m. This will be preceeded by a Song service at 7:30. The daily program is as follows. Devotional Meeting, 6:00-7:00, a. m. Young Peoples' Meeting 6:00-7:00 a. m.; Breakfast 7:15-8:00, a. m. Group Devotional Meetings 8:00-8:45 a. m.; Children's Meetings 8:00-9:00 a. m.; Kindergarten (for "little tots") 8:00-9:00, a. m.; Preaching 9:00-10:00, a. m.; Conference Session 10:15-12:15, p. m.; Dinner 12:30-1:30, p. m.; Preaching 3:00-4:00, p. m.; Children's Meeting 4:00-5:00, p. m.; Kindergarten 4:00-5:00, p. m.; Conference Workers' Meeting 4:00-5:00, p. m.; Young Peoples' Meeting 5:00-6:00, p. m.; Supper 6:15-7:00, p. m.; Song Service 7:30-8:00, p. m.; Preaching 8:00-9:00, p. m.; Lights Out 10:00, p. m.

MR. R. A. MILLER, JR., SAYS HURRAH FOR BEAN

Clanton, Ala., July 31, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

I read the paper for the last two times that it came out, and I watched closely the articles put out by Bean and Reynolds, and it seems to me that I can not help but say something. The letter that Judge Reynolds wrote last week begins by telling the people that he wants the tuth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. If this is so that he is so anxious that the people get the truth, right there he ought to have stopped and given the pen to some other man. The letter that he put in the paper was nothing more than an effort to pull wool over the peoples eyes by getting them confused. It seemed that the Judge wanted to use all the space in the paper when the truth contained in his letter could have been put in two or three lines. Why didn't the Judge go to figures and facts and not try to answer Bean's letter like a baby by saying all the hard things about him that he could? Any man with eyes can see that what the treasurer's report says and what the Judge says is not the same, and if the Judge is going to hold out that he is right and that the treasurer's report is wrong then let's do away with the treasurer and rely entirely upon the Judge's memory and let figures pass from view. The weakest thing that ever came my way is that the Judge wants to count this falls taxes before they are due on his debt. I have heard of drowning men catching at straws, but this is the first time that I ever saw it.

In the letter that Bean wrote I know that Judge Reynolds' name was not called, then I can not see why the Judge howls so if he is not hit. The Judge seems to think that Bean ought not say a word about the examiner's report for the examiner did not call his name. Now, of this is so the Judge would not say a word if he were not guilty.

Talk about Bean slinging mud, if the Judge didn't stoop the lowest in that line in his letter that I ever known him to do. I think that Bean ought to be set up for showing us the truth and being the first man to come out boldly for the truth regardless of anything. If it had not been for Bean, then we would have been in the dark again and by the time another six years passes we would be so deep in debt that we would never see daylight. I say HURRAH FOR BEAN.

For the past several years the Judge has backed everything down that went against him by saying that anything that is done against what he says will burst the party. And again anyone that did not do as he wanted him to do he would say was with the Democrats. If you will take these two things away from the Judge, he has nothing else to say. It seems to me that away down in his heart that the Judge says that the thing regardless or principle is that I must have the pie and that I am the only man that can fill the office. This I don't believe. I don't believe that the Judge's real interest in the people goes further than the cash reaches.

The Judge says that there are many other things that he would like to say, and it seems to me that there are many other things that he ought to say, and in fact, ought to have done said, but did he do it? I don't think that anybody need be afraid of the Judge mud slinging any more, for I think that he said everything that he could in his letter last week.

If the Judge really means what he says, I don't think that we will see his name on the ticket on the eighth of next month, for he said that if he has not got the county in better condition by one hundred fifty thousand dollars than it was when he took the office he will withdraw from the race. I think that the Judge has got some work to do to show to the people what he says before the primary or after as to that. Wasn't that weak stuff what the Judge gave for an excuse for that affidavit not being properly fixed. Friends, the only thing that I care to say to that is that I don't think that anything that a man harps on as much as the Judge did upon that would have been left in that condition. That was thin, thin. I will believe that this was fixed for a real affadavit when I see it, and, friends, that is soon enough.

It seemed that the Judge wanted to throw off on Bean's loyalty to the party. Now if the Judge has nothing stronger than that I think that he is the man without an issue and not Bean. I don't believe there is a more loyal man to the Republican party ever lived than W. T. Bean, and as for him trying to work a trick to get vote, I want to know who worked the first trick. What do you call that little book that was sent out to the people telling them what the Judge had done for the county? I call it pure bluff and nothing else. I believe that the books of the county ought to show what the county receives and what it pays out, and as I have been informed that is what we keep a treasurer for, but according to what the Judge says there is nothing to it. Bean, as I see it, has gone to facts and figures for his information, and the Judge has gone to any thing that he thought would cause the voters to think he had done some wonderful things since he has been in office. Friends, Bean is right, and he ought to be thanked for his bold stand for the right.

What do you think of that letter that that fellow DeShazo had his name to? That was equally as weak as the Judge's letter I think. I don't know that fellow DeShazo, but I have been told that he is so ignorant that he actually sweats green. I am sorry for the poor fellow. A child in the Blue Back speller ought to beat that. Let's look over him. Poor fellow. When it comes to hard down facts that fellow would last about as long as an inch cube of ice would last lying against the sun.

Then what is the Judge calling for Middleton for? If he is not drowning why is he calling for help? To be plain, the Judge has done things in this campaign that I would never have thought he would do. I believe that of the Judge was pressed as in his dying moment he would say, "Boys, forgive me, you know how politics go."

Yours truly,

A LETTER REGARDING THE BOND ISSUE BY THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF THE CAMPAIGN

Clanton, Ala., March 29, 1917.

To the People of Chilton County:

The Commissioners Court has ordered an election for April 16, 1917, to submit to the qualified voters of Chilton County, the question of whether or not there should be a bond issue. Every observant person in the county is familiar with the county's financial condition. Patriotic and thoughtful citizens who ae tax-payers of the county, who have given the matter careful consideration, and whose judgment is entitled to respect, have reached the conclusion that the only salvation for the county is the bond issue. Your Probate Judge has declared for the bond issue; your County Commisioners have declared for the bond issue; in fact every officer in the county is unequivocally in favor of the bond issue.

We desire to submit to your careful consideration the following reasons why you should vote for and support the bond issue:

1. We get a lower rate of interest on the bonds than we are paying on the warrants. We are now paying 6 per cent interest; we will get money on the bonds at 5 per cent; no discount, no commisions, no fees; thereby saving the county about $2,000 a year on interest.

2. The bond issue will place the county on a cash basis. We now pay from 50 to 100 per cent above the cash price for all goods and materials bought for the county.

3. If the bond issue is defeated all work on the public roads and bridges will stop; they will continually go down and become impassible, for we will have no money to care for them.

4. All the road and bridge tax for the next ten years has been contracted to the parties holding the time and interest bearing warrants, and under the law, it must be paid to them.

5. The county now owes over $200,000.00, and an amount of about $60,000.00 is past due, not counting the accrued interst.

6. The bond issue does not increase the present indebtedness one cent; it pays and extends the debt already created. No bond can be issued for any other purpose than to take up the county warrants already issued. The burden is not increased but lightened.

7. If we fail to vote for the bond issue, and the bond issue fails to carry, we have not hurt the larger creditors of the county, for they are holders of the interest bearing warrants, and get interest on their claims, but we do hurt our own people here at home, whose claims do not bear interest, and who are having to discount their bills at from 25 to 50 per cent.

It is unfair to ourselves and to our county, for us to consider whether or not it was best to create the indebtedness of the county. That is a consideration with which we are confronted and now cannot be charged. As patriotic citizens the only question for us to determine now is whether or not the bond issue will be to the best interest of the county. When all prejudice is laid aside, and the mater is considered from a business and patriotic standpoint, we feel that you will be brought irresistissue is the only solution of our prestibly to the conclusion that the bond ent financial ills, and that you will give the same your vote and support.

Faithfully yours.

STEINER BROTHERS COMMEND REYNOLDS' RECORD

Birmingham, Ala., April 11, 1922.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Probate Judge, Clanton, Ala.

Dear Judge:

The writer clearly recalls having on more than one occasion commended you upon the manner in which you worked out the precarious financial situation in which your county was placed prior to your having taken office, and the result which you have since obtained justifies the position which the writer has taken in so commending you.

The writer knows, as perhaps no one else, the true financial condition of your county at the time you took office, and he realizes, as perhaps no one else, the ability required in straightening out that situation, which you have so well done. You have certainly done a splendid work in doing all that you did for your county since you took office, and in the face of that, to have reduced the debt of your county over $50.-000.00.

I am very glad indeed to learn that you have decided to run for re-election, and I am sure that the voters and tax payers appreciate the good work which you have done in the past, which merits both their confidence and their votes for your continuation in office.

With kind regards and best wishes from the writer, we are,

Yours very truly,
STEINER BROS.

CHILD RUN OVER BY CAR AT THORSBY FRIDAY

Myra D an, the little four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin of Thorsby was run over and very seriously injured by an automobile on the main business street of Thorsby late last Friday evening. From the best we have been able to learn the little girl had started across the street from Mr. Fate Foshee's store, to where her daddy was on the other side. As she left the side walk and entered the edge of the street, she passed alongside or maybe between some automobiles or trucks that were standing there. This seems to have hidden her from view of the big car coming down the street until she had reached about the middle of the road, when she suddenly appeared in front of the driver. The big car was swayed to one side, and the front wheels missed the child. but the rear wheels passed directly over her just below her waist. Severe fractures of the bones in the pelvic regions of the body resulted.

In the car which ran over the child were Mr. E. R. Morrissette, Jr., and S. A. Wiggins, of Monroeville; J. R. Troutman of Selma, and a Mr. Chapman, of Demopolis. The little girl was placed in the car which ran over her and rushed to the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton, where she is getting along well under treatment.

All who claim to know anything of the circumstances of the accident seem to agree that it was altogether unavoidable. The men who were in the car expressed great worry at the unfortunate occurrence, and did all they could to assist Mr. Martin in relieving the little girl of her suffering.

DUDLEY COLLINS SAYE HE WANTS YOUR VOTE

Clanton, Ala., August 1, 1922.

To the People of Chilton County:

I am coming to you asking you for your vote and influence in my race for Circuit Clerk, as this is the last issue before the election. As I have not said any thing through the paper heretofore, I thought I would say a few words. You all know me as I was once your County Tax Collector. If I treated you right and did the work to suit you, I ask that you give me some consideration in this race for Clerk. As you possibly know, I collected the taxes eight years and never made a single levy. I was always ready to help the people at all times. It made no difference if he had on overalls or collar and tie, they all looked alike to me. If I am elected Clerk I expect to treat you right, just as I have in the past. I was always glad to have my friends come in and feel like they were at home. If you people decide my opponents are the one for the place I will help you elect him in November; but I hope you will see fit to give me your vote. So be sure and go out and lets put up a good vote. I am for right.

Your friend,
J. DUDLEY COLLINS.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE SCHOOL BOARD MAKES A STATEMENT.

Thorsby, Ala., July 31, 1922.

Dear Editor:

Will you allow me space to break into your columns with a few lines?

In the face of the storm that is now approaching I can not help writing a few lines. I have been waiting to see how bad the sluggish waters could be stirred, so they are coming forth. I do not know what the out come will be, but I do hope it wont be detrimental to our ticket. I want to say in the outset that there is a wrong mistake being circulated against the County School Board, as to the way and manner in which the Board has done some things. But we have done what we thought was best for the best interest of the schools success. It is not my intention to do anything that would hurt the progress of our schools if I know myself. It is the height of my ambition to do the things that will better our schools in general. It is not the desire of the Board to intimidate nor to make arrogant demands; it is simply that we may know something of the convictions of the people on matters that concern or should concern our entire citizenship. I regard our citizenship as a sacred trust. I believe that the education of our boys and girls is the safe guard of our great republic. I hope the time will come when every man and woman will regard it likewise. Surely from up and above all the fog which is being broadcasted in the politicial arena of Chilton County, I hope the people will not injure themselves and the education of their children by not electing men to the school board that has education of our boys and girls at heart. The people have it within their power to help determine the future of each one of them. Are they on our hearts? Does each day as we go about our work find our selves thinking, planning for the best interest of our children? Are we asking for wisdom that we may not make a mistake? A mistake in business may be corrected and forgotten but a mistake in the moulding of a life of boys and girls will bear its prints in eternity.

Now, in conclusion, I want to say to the voters that I hope each one will stand within their own walls and do their own thinking and voting and not be misled by no one, but vote for the best interest for our ticket.

As I can not see all of the people in person and have a personal talk with them before the 8th of August, I solicit your vote and influence; will be highly appreciated.

W. J. BILLINGSLEY.

Wm. R. BAKER WRITES AGAIN FOR FOSHEE

Clanton, Ala., July 25th, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

I thought my writing in this campaign was over. But to defend what I have said in the Union-Banner of July 13th, 1922, it has become necessary that I write again.

I noticed in last week's Union-Banner that Mr. O. H. McDowell says that we will have to admit that Mr. M. D. Foshee has made us a good Circuit Clerk. But he thinks that he ought to be turned out of office because he has held two terms, and take another man in his place who has held an equal number of terms in another office that pays more than the Circuit Clerk has been getting and only required about six months in the year to do the work, leaving the other time for him to sell fertilizer, run his farm and saw mills and do other things to make money.

I wish to state right here that I am not fighting Mr. Collins or Mr. Mims, for I believe they are both good men and good friends of mine, but I do believe that Mr. Foshee should be re-elected on the accunt of his efficiency in the office of Circuit Clerk.

Mr. McDowell referred to the dog tax law and intimated that he did not believe that there was any such law. If Mr. McDowell will look at the General acts of Alabama, 1919, on page 1078, he will see that the law was passed by a Democratic Legislature and approved by a Democratic Governor on September 30th, 1919. If he will look at the law he will see that Mr. Foshee only did what the law required him to do. And he will further find that the fee that Mr. Foshee received for his services was very reasonable for the work that he had to do. For every dog that Mr. Foshee registered he had to make five different entries.

Mr. McDowell also referred to the Questionaires. In reply to that I wish to say that Mr. Foshee contributed out of his own pocket $3.00 per week to hire a Clerk one day in each week to help the people of the county to get their war papers filled out free gratis. I believe, as most every person in the county does, that Mr. Foshee did his part for the boys in that respect.

Mr. McDowell also said that Mr. Collins was worth a great deal to the people of this county in selling fertilizer. The Clerk's office requires all the time and attention of a man, and we would lose the value of Mr. Collins as a fertilizer dealer if we elect him Circuit Clerk. Mr. McDowell also said that Mr. Foshee had made a good Circuit Clerk. Therefore, according to his own letter it would be better to keep these two men where they will be worth the most to the people of this county, which would be to elect Mr. M. D. Foshee Clerk of the Circuit Court and let Mr. Collins continue to sell fertilizer.

Mr. McDowell's answer to my letter in the Union-Banner is in one respect, like all other arguments that I have heard, it failed to give a single business reason why Mr. Foshee should be defeated. Should Mr. Foshee be defeated with the record that he has made, and with the qualifications that he possesses what inducement would it be to his successor to try to be accomodating and to make a good officer as Mr. Foshee has done? I wish to remind the voters of this county that they took a chance at new men in office once before and we and our children for the next generation, at least, will have to pay tribute to the errors of that administration.

In conclusion I wish to appeal to the Republicans of this county to look well to the interest of the county and of the Republican party before casting their vote and if you will do so I feel sure you will not defeat the men that have made good records in the office they are now running for and proven true to the people and the party and nominate men that know nothing about the office that they are running for just to get to try new men and see if they can make good.

Yours very truly,

Wm. R. BAKER.

WHY MR. MIMS SHOULD BE THE NOMINEE FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

Editor Union-Banner:

We wish to take a short space to offer a few reasons why we believe Mr. J. Z. Mims should be nominated for Clerk of the Circuit Court in the Primary next Tuesday.

We have known Mr. Mims all his life. While he was a boy, we never heard anything bad about him. After he became a man he has been working for the right thing, and for the upbuilding of the people. He embraced Christ comparatively young and has always been true to his profession, working in the Sunday School and Church ever since.

He has asked the people to help him before and they turned him down. He took his defeaf like a man and never complained and lined up and helped to elect the ticket. He is competent to fill the office he asks for and the argument that he would hinder the court and cause extra expense is absurd.

Mr. Mims would not ask the people for an office he could not fill. He would know how to be ready when court convened.

Mr. Foshee and Mr. Collins have made good as officers, and each has suceeded himself. It is not good policy to keep a man in office too long. Churches keep pastors too long sometimes and they lose their influence. School teachers teach at the same place too long some times and lose out.

What can any young man promise himself if we keep the same men in office term after term? Mr. Mims has been defeated once. Defeat him again and it would be discouraging. If he is nominated, of course he will be elected in November. He will be just as true to the people as he has been to his Savior since he accepted Him.

We believe in passing it around. If you do, vote for Mims. In conclusion, we will say if not Providentially hindered, we will be at the Court House Saturday at 2:30 P. M. to hear the little giant (Middleton) and our faithful Probate Judge, L. H. Reynolds.

Respectfully.

J. L. McDOWELL and WIFE.

J. H. ANDERSON OF BEAT 13 WRITE ABOUT POLITICS

Calera, Ala., August 1, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me a few words in the Banner.

I have been a silent reader, yet a close observer, and have watched the development of everything, and have listened to everything said and written about every candidate, good and bad. Everybody advocates electing clean men. So do I. We Republicans in 13 expect to give Harris, two Mimses, Cobb, Wyatt and some others a big majority. Watch returns August 8th.

You don't hear them mud-slinging and growling among themselves. They know they are clean and can look the world square in the face, and don't have to stir up a lot of strife and have to appeal to a lot of prejudice to get votes.

All that is in favor of a set of spotless, clean men in office let's go in a body and nominate Harris, and we will elect him in November.

If we will nominate him you wont hear people say if a certain candidate is nominated I wont vote for him in November; you will not hear the Democrats rejoicing, and saying, now, we will have easy sailing.

It seems from the amount of speaking dates that are in the paper some of the candidates are getting awfully uneasy. If you will follow my advice, our good editor will not have to remind us to let us keep peace in the family.

I forgot some other candidates. Let us also nominate Littlejohn, and Billingsley, for County Board of Education.

Thanking you for this space, I am,

Yours very truly,

J. H. ANDERSON.

TOM LITTLEJOHN MAKES FINAL APPEAL TO VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., August 2, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

I notice in last week's Union-Banner some of the candidates warning the voters to be on guard concerning false reports being circulated just before the primary.

I wish to say we candidates for Sheriff are just going fine, good feeling existing between us and hope and trust it will continue until the election, and after the election get behind the winner and elect him in November.

I am running for Sheriff on my own merits and what's wrong , if any, with any of my opponents wont help me to discharge my duties if I am elected.

I entered this race with the resolution to do unto my opponents as I would have them do unto me, and intend to do that regardless of what they may say about me.

A report was circulated some weeks ago that if I was elected that I had promised certain parties jobs on the deputy force. Now, it would be a violation of the law in first place, for me to do that and second I want to say that I have never thought of such a thing and this report is absolutely every word false.

It has been impossible for me to see all the voters as I am working on salary, but hope you will give me your consideration and help me on August 8th.

As stated before I have never held any public office but have been here in Clanton for the past twenty years and a majority of the people have had dealings with me and know my record as a public man. Now I am asking you to give me a chance to make an official record by electing me Sheriff of your county. Discharge my duties will be my motto, as that covers all the grounds of enforcing all the laws to all the people the same. However, I will try to be fair and give honest testimony in the Courts against law breakers and see that they get a fair trial, and give them just and fair treatment when I go after them.

Now the election of Sheriff is entirely with you, voters. Consider the best man for the place and the best man for the party in November. Your choice will be my choice.

Yours very truly,
T. J. LITTLEJOHN.

W. J. MOTES WANTS M. D. FOSHEE FOR CLERK AGAIN

Billingsley, Ala., August, 2, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to politics in this county as I see it. The Republicans in this county will soon go to the Polls and nominate their men to fill the various offices in the county for the next term. I hear it discussed frequently by various people of this county. It is very amusing to me to see the interest some Democrats are taking to try and bring about the nomination of certain Republicans and defeat the officers that are now in office and running for their same office back. I believe that the safest thing to do is to nominate our old officers back as they have been tried and proven true. Another thing that makes me believe this is because the Democrats in Clanton, are fighting them so hard. I have always believed that the safest thing for the Republicans to do in the primary was to nominate our men that the Democrat bosses in Clanton fought the hardest. Because when they fight a man in our primary you can rest assured they think he would be the hardest for them to defeat in the General Election.

I have studied this matter carefully and I have arrived at the conclusion that the voters of this County could not do better than to re-elect Mr. Foshee Circuit Clerk of this county. Not only for the reason above stated but because he has been tried and proven to the people of this county that he is thoroughly competent and that he is always very accommodating. I do not believe that there has ever been a man or woman that has ask him for a favor and to look up anything for them in his office or any other office in the court house that he did not take time and do so for them. And we never know what a man can or would do in a certain office until he is tried in that particular office. Mr. Foshee has had the experience in this office and now the people can get a better administration from him than they can possibly get from some one that does not know anything about the office. It will take a man that does not know how to run the office and that can not use the typewriter at least one term to get to where he can serve the people of this county with anything like good service. Then we know that he has never left a stone unturned for the Republican party in this county. We have some Republicans that seem to lose their nerves and write pieces to the paper and say things that is calculated to injure the Republican cause in this county. I have never heard of Mr. Foshee writing or permitting to be wrote for him, any article that would in the least tend to cast any reflection on his Republican opponents, or to injure the Republican party. I believe that these are matters that should have our careful consideration.

As stated above, I believe that it is by far the best thing that we can do to nominate Mr. Foshee again for Circuit Clerk, as there would not be a single doubt in the General Election but what he was thoroughly competent, and that he would be accomodating to the people of the county if elected. I believe with his experience, qualification and the record that he has made in the office that he will be by far the strongest man for us in the General Election, as we would not have to guess what he would do or if he was qualified but we would know that he was perfectly all right. And then, why take a chance when we can be sure that our nominee would be far the best man to elect? Because he has the experience, qualification and the past record to prove that he is as good as any in this State.

In conclusion I wish to say that I hope that the Republican voters will go to the polls on August 8th, and cast their votes for the men that they know are qualified for the office that they are running for and then get up behind the nominee, as I know they will do, and elect them by a big majority in the General Election, I am,

Yours very truly,
W. J. MOTES.

OLD REPUBLICAN GIVES ENDORSEMENT TO JUDGE REYNOLDS FOR PROBATE

Pletcher, Ala., July 31, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

I am 73 years of age and have always voted a Republican ticket, and have lived here since 1864. This is the first time in my entire experience that I have known of a campaign carried on in the manner this one has been. When candidates for office go out and by false charges and claims which have no foundation attempt to influence votes it is time to call a halt. The only candidate for Probate Judge who has been to see me is Mr. Bean. So for as I remember he has no claims to the office himself and spent his entire time abusing his opponents. He said Mr. Harris was not a fit man for the office as he once had a prosperous business at Coopers and bankrupted, and that if he himself was not in the race he could not support Mr. Harris. He stated that money had been paid into the county and had never been accounted for. I know my knowledge of these things is limited but it is absurd to think that a Democratic examiner appointed by a Democratic governor would give Judge Reynolds credit for one thing he did not deserve. I think Judge Reynolds has managed the affairs of the county as best he could and I do not think either of his opponents could beat the Democrats or manage the affairs of the county as Judge Reynolds has done.

I have never heard of Judge Reynolds abusing one of his opponents and we always know that when we need his assistance we can get it and always know where he is on any question. He has been loyal to the Republican party since he has been old enough to vote, and we can only judge the future by the past.

In conclusion, I wish to state that this is the first letter I ever wrote to any paper and if you do not think it worthy of publication put it in the waste basket. In my opinion the fight being made by Mr. Bean is backed by the Democrats and every loyal Republican should go to the polls on August 8th and vote for Judge Reynolds and the interest of the Republican Party.

B. F. ABBOTT, Sr.

THORSBY VOTER FAVORS BEAN AS PROBATE JUDGE

Thorsby, Ala., July 31, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your columns for a few words.

I noticed in your paper of recent issue where Mr. W. T. Bean gave out a full statement of the conditions of the county's debt, and in that article the man of but little ability could see that some body had tried to put something across the people as to how the funds had been spent and the amount the county owes. Mr. Bean showed by actual figures coppied from the state examiners finding and from the county's books that the debt of the county is about $25,000 more than it was at the time Judge Reynolds took charge of the office.

I must say I thank Mr. Bean for giving these figures to the tax payers and voters of the county.

I also think he is to be commended for his keen insight in seeing the conditions in the matter of the debt, and also where the state examiner had tried to fool the people by pretending to swear to the statement he had made in the little pamphlet he got out.

Mr. Bean has proven his courage beyond a shadow of a doubt in placing before the people the facts in such an important matter where $25,000 of the county's money was about to be lost sight of. Now friends, it is time the people were waking up to the facts. We have an opportunity to make a change in our line up for Probate Judge, and if we fail to avail our selves of the opportunity the next six years, and if something like the dipping vat should come along we must just take the dose cheerfully.

The time has come for a new crop to be started and the main horse to cultivate this crop is the Probate Judge, and we have just worked hard and spent money, and the crop is a failure. Now are we going back for another crop with the same horse that has just lost the county $25,000? I think it is a good time to trade horses when you have a crop to make a big debt to pay and the one you have is losing you money.

What do you say?

No doubt you will hear speeches that sound good in the air but remember figures don't lie.

We have in Mr. Bean a man that is well qualified, a good hard worker, a self made man, and he handled the school money for several years to a perfect success. Why should the question be hard to settle in our minds when we have a clean man to elect, and the one we have is not for some reason handling the county's affairs with any success? Let's do our own thinking this time and not allow the speeches made about sway us in our attempt to relieve the county of its burden.

G. J. THOMPSON,
A Voter of Thorsby.

M. D. FOSHEE MAKES CLOSING STATEMENT OF HIS CAMPAIGN.

Urges People to Nominate the Man Who Will be the Best for their Interests.

Clanton, Ala., August 1, 1922.
To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

As a candidate for re-election to the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, I have been asking the Republicans of Chilton County to give me the nomination of the party in their Primary which is to be held on next Tuesday, August 8th, 1922. I have seen in person as many of the Republican voters as I could; and also I have sought to place my candidacy and my claims for the nomination before every Republican voter in personal appeal by letter and through the columns of The Union-Banner from time to time.

We have now come close up to the day upon which the Primary is to be held, and I come to you by this means to make my final appeal for your support and influence.

I have tried throughout my entire campaign to keep my efforts for the nomination pitched upon a high plane. I have in all things been careful to avoid saying or doing anything that would in any way tend to jeopardize the interests of the Republican party. I have been mindful of the feelings and the rights of my opponents, and have been careful to refrain from saying or doing anything that would be unfair to any of them. I want to say that I disapprove of some of the letters that have been published in regard to some of the candidates for other offices, as that letter only aids in stirring up strife and bitterness within the ranks of our own party. I believe the interests of the Republican party should be considered before my interests or the interests of any other candidate.

Throughout this campaign I have sought to place before the voters of the county all the details of my record as your servant in the office. I believe my experience and qualifications is worthy of the consideration of the people, and I have used every honorable means to show you wherein I based such claims.

The service which I have rendered to the Republican party in Chilton County in the past is known to practically all of the Republican voters. This service has been loyal, sincere and unselfish. I have sought to help preserve and perpetuate the party because I believed it was the party of the people and best for their interests. I do not regret what I may have been able to do in this respect. I am proud of having had the opportunity of doing as much as I have.

I have tried to be faithful to the trust which the people of the county have imposed in me. I have never held any office other than that which I now hold, and for which I am offering you my services for another term. I have never been a candidate for any other office.

As always in the past, I have the best interests of the people and the Republican party at heart. I have tried to keep this idea foremost in my every action while I have been in public life. Now I want to say in conclusion that you know my record; you know the experience I have had both in an official capacity and as a laborer for the party. Now my campaign is closed, and the matter is left in the hands of the voters. Let me urge you to settle the matter by nominating the man whom you think can and will serve you and the Republican party the best. If my record and my experience and my qualifications tell you that I am the one who can do these things, then I feel that I have a right to ask and even expect you to cast your vote for me on next Tuesday. If, however, the facts properly considered, tell you that someone else will be a better public servant than myself, then it is your duty to vote accordingly.

If after a fair consideration of my past experience and qualifications, you think that I am the proper man to nominate and elect to this office, I assure you that I shall most highly appreciate your vote and influence. However, my future interest in and loyalty to the Republican party does not in any wise depend on the oufcome of this campaign. Whether you nominate me or someone else, I shall continue to be found among those who are laboring for the best interests of the people of this county and the Republican party. I will do all that I can to elect in November whoever is nominated in this primary.

Respectfully,
M. D. FOSHEE.

UNCLE MOSE ROBINSON IS STRONGER THAN EVER FOR REYNOLDS

Clanton, Ala., August 3, 1922.
To the Voters of Chilton County:

Several weeks ago I had a letter in the Union-Banner indorsing Judge Reynolds and the successful financial and business like management of his administration. Since that time Professor Bean has seen fit to write a letter criticising Judge Reynolds' work and the financial condition of the County. After having carefully read this letter and the answer of Judge Reynolds I want to publically indorse Judge Reynolds twice as strong as I did before, as the County is even in better condition than I thought. In my previous letter I never thought of the building of the Courthouse and the interest paid on the old debt and the other expenses that were not the regular expenses of the County. But since I have learned this, having been a County Commissioner myself for thirty-two years, I cannot help but say that Judge Reynolds is in a better position with his ability and experience to manage the county for the next six years than any of the other candidates, and I hope that every voter will think long and seriously before they cast their vote against a man with a record that he has, as a loyal Republican and as County official.

There is one other thing to bear in mind in nominating a Republican on August 8th, this nominee has to beat a Democrat nominee on November 7th, or the Democratic Party goes in power, and from past experience we do not want that.

So let's nominate Judge Reynolds and we can be assured that he will run every Democrat off the stump in Chilton County, and we will also be assured of a successful management of the County's affairs for the next six years.

Yours very truly,
MOSE ROBINSON.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. POOR ORIGINAL

An Open Letter From Ex-Governor Comer

Birmingham, Ala., July 31, 1922.

TO MY FRIENDS THROUGHOUT THE STATE:

Some time ago I wrote Mr. Fitzhugh Lee a letter endorsing him for one of the Associate Members of the Public Service Commission. The Public Service Commission is one of the most important factors for the good or ill of the people. To secure the present law in its should-be effectiveness and the Commission elected by the people, I spent years of hard work and thousands of dollars. When I was President of the Commission, the Associate Members were against my policies and I could accomplish nothing.

Mr. A. G. Patterson, who, two years ago, in a very hard campaign with Mr. Sam Kennedy, was elected by a large majority—30,000. Mr. Sam Kennedy was openly charged with being in the control of the Public Service Corporations and that through his influence the value of the Commission was negatived.

I am intensely interested in the election of Mr. Lee, because I am sure he will cooperate with Mr. Patterson and the people will then have a majority of the Board and their interests would be best conserved. Mr. Lee has been charged with having served the State during the administration of both wet and dry candidates and during a series of years. This, I apprehend, is not an injury.

When Governor O'Neal succeeded me I advised my private secretary, Mr. John McNeal, and the recording secretary, Mr. Jim Nunnally, two good men, to retain their offices under Governor O'Neal if he desired, because they could well serve the people, and they did so. Mr. Lee asked me the same question in Governor Henderson's administration and I advised him the same way. One of the best minor employees of the State—a young lady—has been there for many years and I am sure the interest of the State has been conserved by her continued loyalty to the people.

To the people of the State I would suggest that no candidate before the people ever had more false, serious, libelous charges than I, particularly just before election, and I am sincere in the general statement that not only I, but all the people who stood with me sincerely had the interest of the people at heart, and tried hard to work same out and time has so proven.

I have just been shown a circular letter gotten out by Dr. Brooks Lawrence severely condemning and seriously charging Mr. Lee not only with unfitness but with anti-prohibition proclivities. Dr. Lawrence's circular carries all the earmarks of corrupt public service propaganda. While in the past I have supported Dr. Lawrence in his Anti-Saloon fight both with all the influence I had and with money, I regret that this agent of the Anti-Saloon League should so apparently have been influenced by the interests which do not serve the people to have issued this circular letter, which is entirely apart from his former and present employment by the people and looks like capitalizing same.

Dr. Lawrence knew I endorsed Mr. Lee. If he had asked me about him I would have told him I had known him since he was a boy; that his association was with clean people; always a church man and always a prohibitionist, and that his very cleanness made him eligible to be an associate with Mr. Patterson, to help carry out the work for which we have fought for many years and which so many people and interests were concerned in and fought for.

Dr. Lawrence certainly occupies at present a very abnormal position in writing such advice as he is giving to the good people of Alabama, and if Dr. Lawrence knows anything about railroad rates and the Railroad Commission's recent and past history, from what source did he get it? Dr. Lawrence before the last Legislature in Montgomery attempted to lobby with his prohibition friends of the Legislature against the Coal Tonnage tax. Was he paid for it? Is he being paid now?

Dr. Lawrence has long been Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Alabama, one of the vital questions before the State, and I have long been associated with this movement. No matter whether as official or private citizen, advice to the Legislature and electorate of Alabama on most important public policies should be entirely free from suspicion of any motive other than the public good.

Mr. Patterson, whom you so overwhelmingly elected over Mr. Kennedy, and for cause, has asked for a change in the personnel. Then why should Dr. Lawrence be a more competent advisor on this most important question than Mr. Patterson?

I wish to take this opportunity to again put Mr. George W. Jones, Political Counsel of L. & N. Railroad Co., on notice, and I could mention another Utility Company, that until they stop interfering with the naming of members of the Public Service Commission that I will continue to give of my time and money to help get the facts straight before the voters of my state and will trust them to see to it that only their own unenvironed agents are elected.

Clanton, Ala., August 3, 1922.

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County, Alabama:

I am taking this method of expressing to you my appreciation for your support on August 8th, and for the favors shown me during the campaign. I have conducted a campaign without saying anything of my opponents, except to speak of them with the highest praise, and I appreciate the fact that I have not heard of any criticism from either of them. If I am the nominee for the Republican party on the 8th, I assure you that I shall wage a campaign until the general election which will result in winning my own election and the entire Republican ticket and when I am sworn in as your Sheriff I shall appoint men for my deputies who are Republicans and who shall discharge their duties in a way and manner whereby the office of Sheriff shall, together with the laws of our county, be respected and honored.

As stated to you in my announcement for this office I feel confident that I am qualified to discharge the duties of same. My life has been spent here in your county and is an open book, and I have conducted myself as a private citizen in a way whereby I am not ashamed to come to you and pledge you that I shall make you a clean, honest, and efficient officer.

Again thanking the voters for their vote and influence, I am,

GREEN RETHERFORD WILL APPRECIATE YOUR VOTE ON NEXT TUESDAY

To Chilton County Voters:

I am a Candidate for the office of Sheriff of Chilton County subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 8th.

I am a working man and am employed at a salary and consequently my time is not my own, and for that reason it has been impossible for me to make an active personal campaign.

This being the case, I am addressing you this personal appeal, hoping that you will give the hearing of my case a little of your kind attention.

If elected, I shall give my personal attention to every detail of the work, and pledge myself to discharge the duties incumbent on the office with absolute fairness and impartiality to every one. I will not tolerate favoritism to any class or person. It will be my earnest aim to see that all laws are enforced without fear or favor and every statute respected and the majesty of the courts upheld. As to deputies, no man could serve under me who was not in perfect accord with this policy.

Hoping you can feel satisfied to give me and the Democratic party your support, I am,

Sincerely your friend,

G. D. RETHERFORD.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.— The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E.68

J. H. BENSON CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER.

Clanton, Ala., August 1, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your valuable paper for this letter in this week's issue.

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County, and Friends:

As the time is close at hand for you all to cast your vote for different places of office, as it is out of the question for me to get around and see you all,

I think we all should cast our vote for the man that would work to our interest, and to the intrest of our county, and as I am before you all for Commissioner in the Second District, I do not personally know some of you all. I would like for you to ask about me, as I am well known in the surrounding community in which I live, and have lived here for twenty years.

And I live in two and one half miles of where I was born and reared. I lived in Beat 12 about 18 years after I married, so you all see I have never moved about much. I have never failed to make a crop during this time, 38 years. Am 60 years old. I have never failed to vote and never have split my ticket, except the first time I voted and the Democrats made us vote for Thomas G. Jones for Governor. We had to do this to live up in this primary. Those of you that are about my age remember about this. So I have always been loyal to the Republican party as many of my friends know. So I am not going to worry you all with a long letter. So friends and voters, please, if you feel that I am worthy of the office in which I am asking, for I will ask you all to give me your support and if the nominee I will do all in my power to be elected in November. I have never ask for any office before and if I am elected I will try to be one of your best Commissioners, and I will study all questions that must come before us all before voting and will try to vote the will of the majority of the people, and the interest of the county affairs.

I am not going to make big promises to you all for I don't know just what we would be able to do. I stand for the up lift of our county, as our funds of the county is short, we can't do what maybe we all would like to do just now. We should be as careful with the county as we would our own and make the money go as far as we can, and see that no man gets two prices for what he does.

So will close, asking you all to vote your choice and your choice will be my choice in November.

J. H. BENSON.

I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick [illegible] cure for bowel troubl[illegible]

FITZHUGH LEE'S STATEMENT IS BRANDED AS FALSEHOOD; B. H. COOPER SHOWS HIM UP

Says Man Who Has Held Public Office For 22 Years Has Never Stood For a Principle and Has, At Times, Supported Opposing Candidates For Governor

B. H. Cooper, associate member of the Alabama Public Service Commission and a candidate for re-election, in a vigorous statement accuses Mr. Fitzhugh Lee of making false statements. Mr. Cooper in his statement refers to the published article of Mr. Lee wherein Mr. Lee stated that before writing the order materially reducing passenger rates in Alabama, that Mr. Cooper submitted this order to Mr. George W. Jones, district attorney for the L. and N. Railroad and Mr. Sam P. Kennedy, the latter a private citizen of Anniston, Ala.

Mr. Cooper points to the office holding record of Mr. Fitzhugh Lee, who has been in public office for 22 years, to the record of his brothers in holding public offices and to Mr. Lee's chameleon-like propensity for dodging questions of principles, and after the governor is in, managing to secure an appointment to public office.

He also charges that Mr. Fitzhugh Lee has in the past supported more than one candidate for governor at the same time. Mr. Cooper's statement in full is as follows:

"My opponent, Mr. Fitzhugh Lee, in his paid advertisement carried by the press on July 16 states that he was 'advised by reliable authority that this order (referring to the order issued by the Alabama Public Service Commission on July 11, reducing passenger rates in Alabama) was submitted by Mr. Cooper to Sam Kennedy and George W. Jones, attorney L. and N. R. R., for their approval before being proposed to the Alabama Public Service Commission.'

"During his campaign for the public service commission Mr. Lee has made a number of statements so manifestly untrue that I have not deemed it necessary to expose their falsity by political publications.

"But in this instance Mr. Lee makes a charge so grave that I cannot permit it to go unanswered.

"1. Mr. Lee was not 'advised by reliable authority' that this order was submitted as stated by him.

"2. I do not believe Mr. Lee was advised by any one that this order was submitted by me to Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Jones.

"3. I do not believe that Mr. Lee's statement is anything else than the off-spring of his own fevered imagination.

"If any person did make the statement to Mr. Lee that I submitted this order to Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Jones, that person told a malicious falsehood.

"If Mr. Lee made this statement without any authority, and out of his own imagination alone—and this I believe to be the fact—I brand it as a malicious falsehood.

"Mr. Lee has held office for twenty-two years. He began as a clerk in the probate court in Barbour County in 1900; was examiner of public accounts, 1906-11; chief clerk in the office of the state auditor, 1911-15; secretary of the state board of equalization, 1915-19, and now state auditor, 1919-23.

"Ordinarily any candidate who has had the long career in public office which Mr. Lee has had, points to it with some degree of pride and invites the attention of the public the kind of record he may have made. But throughout this entire campaign Mr. Lee has been painfully silent on this subject. Indeed, he has apparently endeavored to conceal from the public the fact that he has been on the payroll of the state for twenty-two years.

"Mr. Lee has shown remarkable ability to secure appointive offices not only for himself, but for other members of his family. His brother, Mr. Lawrence H. Lee, has been the reporter of the supreme court for many years. His brother, Mr. Alto V. Lee, has held various offices, state and county, and is now a candidate for Congress from the Seventh District. His brother, Dr. Lee, is employed in the state health department. His brother, Mr. William L. Lee, does not hold a state office, as such would doubtless be incompatible with his employment as counsel for the Georgia-Alabama Power Company.

"It is a remarkable incident in the political history of Alabama that Mr. Fitzhugh Lee has maintained an intimate, closed-door relationship with every governor of Alabama since 1900, in spite of the many sharp and irreconcilable conflicts which arose in the political principles advocated by Governors Jelks, Comer, O'Neal, Henderson and Kilby.

"Mr. Fitzhugh Lee has been intimate with all these distinguished gentlemen, embracing opportunely the political principles which they advocated. Wet or dry, railroad or anti-railroad, high or low taxes, Brandon or Kilby—these were all the same to Mr. Fitzhugh Lee, and however much such principles met in conflict; Mr. Lee was never torn asunder.

"In view of this record, covering a period of twenty-two years, during which Mr. Fitzhugh Lee never experienced any difficulty in adopting conflicting principles and supporting opposing candidates, is it not natural for the public to ask Mr. Fitzhugh Lee, not where he stands on this question of public utilities during his campaign today, but where will he stand tomorrow if he be elected?"

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. From this moment on, cast from your mind all dread and fear, and feel every day as the months roll by that great freedom from much of the suffering which thousands of expectant mothers undergo, unnecessarily. And when the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It aids the muscles and tissues to expand easily. It penetrates quickly. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases sometimes recommended by the unknowing. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

NOTE—Write for valuable "Motherhood and the Baby," authoritative information [illegible] mother should have. "Mother's Friend," to [illegible] Atlanta, Ga.

It takes a high-grade flour like Gilster's Best to make tender, flaky pie crust and light, delicate cake. Of course, Gilster's Best costs a little more than ordinary flour, but good cooks know that it is worth it.

In baking with Gilster's Best, be sure to use less lard than you ordinarily would. Because of its high quality and the extreme fineness to which it is ground, Gilster's Best requires less shortening.

If you perfer a self-rising flour—Gilster's Featherlite or Gilster's Mother's Joy.

A. P. VINSON FAVORS L. H. REYNOLDS FOR PROBATE JUDGE ANOTHER TERM.

Lengthy Argument of a Man Who Has Served as County Commissioner.

Clanton, Ala., July 31, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

As you know, I was a Commissioner of Chilton County for four years and it was during this four years that the County had struggle for existence. When I took oath of office and Judge Reynolds came into office there were several thousands of dollars due and bills stacked and stacked waiting to be paid, while there were Warrants for the current expenses of the County that had been issued and the owners had to discount them at a loss of at least 40% to get their cash. Think of serving as a Manager of an election for $2.00 per day and selling your Warrant to some script buyer for $1.20; think of building a bridge for $10.00 and selling your Warrant for $6.00 . Do you think there would be many people that would be patriotic enough to lose this much? No, I am sure they would not, but instead they would do like a certain person who was renting a house for a demonstration agent, they would add enough to their bill to make up for this loss, for when we held Commissioners Court to pay bills one of the first times there was a bill presented for $150.00 for rent and Judge Reynolds called his clerk and asked what that meant for he understood that the contract called for $120.00, the clerk explained that the administration had been allowing enough for the woman to lose discount enough to make her get the $120.00, but I want to state here that we allowed the bill for $120.00. Now, this is only one of the many cases that we found like this and when we did find one we passed it for the right amount and within ninety days after Judge Reynolds came into office you could get full value for your Warrants. I also remember another bill that was waiting to be paid and that was one for 32 days automobile hire in January at $10.00 per day for Member of the Equlization Board riding around over the County looking at the land and placing a value on it for you people. Judge Reynolds sent out for the man whose name the bill was filed in to ask him if they valued the land on Sundays. We compromised and paid about half that much per day and we certainly took out the "Sundays" and have never paid any more automobile hire for Equalization Board. The Members of the Equalization Board had in full time and at $6.00 per day, the highest they could receive, and at Judge Reynolds' suggestion we reduced it to $3.00 per day and ordered that they put in much less time, and as I remember it, after the Board sued us we compromised at $4.50 and that year they did not work over three months at least, but what happened, voter? They have been fighting Judge Reynolds ever since. There is no reason that Mr. Grant has gone around over the County knocking Judge Reynolds except for this. He seemed to think that because it was the county's money that he was entitled to ride around every day in a $10.00 per day taxi and draw a salary of $6.00 per day. He was one of Judge Reynolds' personal friends but not withstanding this, the Judge saved several hundreds of dollars for the County by reducing their salary, for when it was reduced some of the others would make more at something else and therefore it did not take so much time to "value" your land, and as it took two of them present, Mr. Grant had nothing else to do but to kneck, but I must say he has done his full duty at this.

We were so unfortunate as to have our Courthouse burned. No one knew how we could rebuild it. It had been a struggle to pay our obligations, but by some wealthy men having full confidence in Judge Reynolds they purchased our Warrants and loaned us the money, but I remember one of them pho purchased most of them said, "Now I will help you provided you will not make the warrant due after Judge Reynolds' term." They were practically all, if not all, made payable during his term and every obligation has been met as it came due, but at one time Judge Reynolds stood back of the debt so as to borrow money for the building of the Courthouse, as we decided to make a fire-proof building and it would be necessary to add a cement floor on the second story, and this cost a great deal extra. If Judge Reynolds had died I do not think there is a doubt but that his family would have been financially ruined, and yet he took this risk because of his loyalty to his County and his Party.

Judge Reynolds has always voted to save the County's money. Mr. W. H. Conway, our Farm Demonstrator, was one of his best personal friends and had done much towards helping to elect Judge Reynolds, but it was thought the County could get along without him and after a long argument from the State Officials to keep him, the Commissioners Court voted as to whether or not we would retain him, it was a tie vote and Judge Reynolds voted to let him go. He did this in numbers and numbers of cases.

I did not want to enter into this campaign for I regard the Republican Party as being one big family and we all know that there is never any good from a family fuss, and I looked favorably on Mr. Bean's campaign at first, but since he has knocked the present administration so severely and as I feel like I know how Judge Reynolds has always economized and saved for the County and know how much better financially the county is now than at the time he came in office, I felt like it was my duty to make this statement.

Some people are criticising the issuing of the Bonds. They seem to forget that the debts were created before Judge Reynolds came into office and that the Warrants were bearing $12,000 per year interest and that by issuing Bonds they would only bear $10,000 per year interest, and this saved $2,000.00 per year for interest alone. I am sure if the debt had been left to Judge Reynolds that it would never have been created but it was made before he came into office and as the former probate Judge said "Reynolds would never have anything to do but to pay debts."

Some people question the amount for building the Courthouse, they compare it with the original contract, but there were many extras. The cement floor on the second story was extra, four iron vaults with tile floors were extra, a ladies rest room was extra, the chimney in the Commissioners Court room was extra, one new brick wall was extra and in addition to that we bought the best heating, chairs and light fixtures we could get, which were all extra in addition to many other things.

Republican voters, the Democrats are so eleated that they can hardly live that this "family fuss" has started. I have heard a number of them say, "Kill Reynolds and you will kill the Republican Party," they think half their victory is won if he is defeated in the Primary. They know the other candidates are not experienced in leading and they will be likely to put up some of their strongest men in opposition to our nominees. Let's put down our prejudice and vote for a man who will win our victory for us. The Democratic leaders are holding conferences with some of Judge Reynolds' Republican enemies trying to plan some way to nominate one of his opponent's. Now do you think they want one of them elected because they want another Republican other than Judge Reynolds to hold office? No, I am sure you do not but you know it is like a warfare and you know that if a German General had told an American General to do something that he would have done the very opposite, then so it should be in nominating our men. We should nominate whom they do not want, for they will want a man whom they can defeat. You know we had rather they would nominate their weakest man, then don't you know they wish we would nominate our weakest man?

I think we should all be very grateful to Judge Reynolds for the way he has managed the County's affairs for he carried it over when it looked like nothing but a Bankrupt Court could help but he not only carried it through but has paid many of the old debts and as it is expected that the Alabama Power Company will pay taxes and that this will add to our Treasury we should have some person who is experienced so that we can get full value for the money spent.

We know that Judge Reynolds is opposed to the methods that Mr. H. L. Foshee has been using in changing boundary lines of school Districts so as to almost enforce taxation on the people, as he has not hesitated to state where he stands, but we do not know about the others, as Mr. Harris first stated he was with the Board and later wrote and you could not tell where he stood and I do not recall having heard Mr. Bean state where he stands on this question, but we know Judge Reynolds always stands for local self-government.

I remember once that we had a speaking at Midway and Judge Reynolds was not there and Mr. Pounds represented the other Party, we were like the Iseraelites, we had no leader, and I am afraid if we change that we will be like this again.

Judge Reynolds has always treated all alike, in his Courts and in all his official duties, as he always tried to do his duty and what he thinks is right, and is open in all his public actions.

It is being reported that if Judge Reynolds is re-elected that we will have to dip our cattle again, but I am sure this is not true for we have already gotten our quarantine raised, and too, I remember after the election was held to determine whether or not Chilton County should dip cattle and it was voted down (This election being held before it was forced on us by the Legislature), two Commissioners wanted to call in Dr. Cary and get his instructions as to what to do, but Judge Reynolds said he would not do this for the people's decision had always been his and as he had nothing to do with dipping cattle before I am sure he will not be in favor of it now.

We need not be surprised at any kind of a report that is false being put out on Judge Reynolds for it is the custom of his enemies to circulate false reports on him.

I hope every voter will consider what he thinks is best for the interest of the Republican Party and then vote accordingly.

Yours very truly,

A. P. VINSON.

Y. O. FREEMAN SAYS M. D. FOSHEE IS BEST MAN TO BEAT DEMOCRATS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the Republicans of this county. As we all know the time is near at hand when we will go to the polls and nominate our ticket, and we should look well to the interest of the Republican party in making our nominations. We should vote for the men that is best qualified for the office that he is running for. We know that every man in the County cannot be elected to an office and why not vote for the best qualified man to fill the offices?

I have given the matter careful consideration and I am persuaded to believe that we will make a great mistake to defeat a man that has made a success in the office for which he is now running just to get to try some one else.

The race for Circuit Clerk has impressed me very much. We have three good men running for that office. Mr. M. D. Foshee has had the experience and has made good. Neither of his opponents have ever been tried in that office. And a man may make good at one thing or in one office and be an absolute failure in something else. We see examples of this fact every day of our lives. I believe that Mr. Foshee is by far the strongest man that we can nominate. Because with his experience and the record he has made in the office the Democrats cannot offer a single business reason why he should be defeated and their man, who has not had the experience in the office, elected. There is not a man in this county that does not know that Mr. Foshee can run the office with less expense to the County, less delays in the Court, than any man can that has not had the experience. Then I want to ask why defeat him in the primary, and nominate some one that does not know any more about the office than the Democratic nominee knows? We can nominate Mr. Foshee and there is absolutely no argument for the Democrats that he is not qualified or that he will not treat the people right, for he has been tried and proved that he can and will run the office right and treat the people courteous. Then why take a chance? We have the man that there is no doubt about, and it is a fact that we do not know what either of his opponents would do and we do not know whether they can run the office right or not. We might be taking a great chance to nominate some one that does not know any more about the office than the Democratic nominee would know. However, Mr. Foshee does know how to run the office and why not nominate him so that the voters in the geneal election will know that they are not taking any chance when they vote for him. I cannot see how the voters of this couty can think one moment of defeating him with his record and experience and qualifications and nominate some one that they do not know whether they posess the qualifications to make a good Clerk or not. It seems to me that there is absolutely no question but what he would be by far the strongest man in the General election that we can nominate. And I think we should carefully consider this in making our nominations.

Hoping that we will nominate our strongest men in the primary and elect them by a good majority in the General election, I am,

Respectfully,

Y. O. FREEMAN.

R. N. WILKINS WRITES IN SUPPORT OF REYNOLDS.

Billingsley, Ala., August 1, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

I hope you will give me space in your paper to say a few things in regard to the approaching Primary.

I have thought that I would not have anything to say concerning the candidates but after hearing so much I decided I would say a few words in the interest of Judge Reynolds.

I have known Judge Reynolds since he has been in politics and he has always been for the interest of the people. I am sure he has always been the people's friend and is always ready to help us in every way he can. I think we ought to appreciate a man like this.

If we will refresh our memory as to things he has done for us, we will find them numerous. One of the things he did for us was to put the County on a cash basis thereby enabling us to get dollar for dollar for our Warrants and not having to discount it to the script buyers, for I understand there is not a Licensed Script buyer in the County now and we know when he came into office that there were several and that when we would work for the county we would have to give a script dealer almost half of our Warrant to get any cash for it but now it is altogether different for when our Warrants are passed on by the Commissioners Court we can take them directly to the Bank and get every cent that our Warrant calls for and if we are a Witness in Court we can take our Certificate and get the cash for it as soon as the case is decided, by us being able to get cash for our warrants shows us that the County is in better financial condition than when he came into office.

We know that Judge Reynolds is a loyal Republican for he has always helped fight our battles.

I think it fair that we should show our appreciation of Judge Reynolds' services by going to the polls on August 8th, and nominating him to the office for which he is asking.

Very truly yours,

R. N. WILKINS.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

New York harbor is probably of real interest to more people than any other place of the same area in the world, meaning of course, water area. Approaching it from the ocean we first reach the lower bay, about seven miles wide at the entrance, lying between Long Island and New Jersey. Then comes the Narrows, nearly a mile long, and of varying width from half a mile to 1,000 feet, in which there are two or three channels forty feet deep. This in turn opens into the Upper Bay about seven miles from Battery Park located at the extreme southern end of Manhattan Island, which is separated from New Jersey and the mainland of New York State by the Hudson River; and from Long Island by the East River, which is an arm of the Long Island Sound lying between Long Island and Connecticut.

The Hudson and East Rivers unite at Battery Park. The banks on either side of each are lined for miles with great docks and piers for the laoding of vessels of every description and from all parts of the world.

Standing at the sea wall of Battery Park and looking to the extreme right one sees the New Jersey coast stretching away for many miles and lined with busy cities. The nearest of these is Jersey City and Hoboken. In the right distance is Staten Island off the coast of New Jersey, and to the left of that, but much closer to the observer is Ellis Island to which at frequent intervals steamers ply back and forth from the Battery. Ellis Island is known all over the world as the landing place of emmigrants from everywhere. Here are located the great buildings of the U. S. Emigration Bureau, where, after passing quarantine the emigrants disembark to undergo rigid inspection as to their character and probable ability to support themselves. Those found desirable for admission are assisted to find the proper way to reach their destination. Undesirables are sent back at the expense of the owners of the vessel which brought them.

At the extreme left, and across the East River is Brooklyn, located on the Western end of Long Island. This is now a part of greater New York City.

Thus we have the setting of one of the world's greatest harbors, which at all times presents a most animated scene incident to the movement of vessels of all sorts, engaged in almost innumerable kinds of business.

Upon entering the Upper Bay of this harbor as we did in the early morning of a clear day in July we were much impressed not only with the kalidascopic character of the scene, but also with another view unparalleled any where in the world, in the skyline of lower New York, meaning that part of the city covering the south end of Manhattan Island, where the towering sky-scrapers are so closely set together that they convert the streets into veritable canyons. For this we leave a more detailed description in a future letter.

We shall give attention now to the Statue of Liberty, the most interesting and commanding object which meets the vision within the harbor. In 1865 Auguste Bartholdi, a French sculptor, conceived the idea of a heroic statue to commemorate the love of the French people for America, her principles of liberty and equality, and her avowed and demonstrated friendship for France. Bartholdi, coming to America on a steamer bearing many emigrants of his own and other nationalities, upon reaching New York harbor noted the eagerness with which they crowded the vessel's rails to get their first view of "the promised land," the land of Liberty. With this in mind he soon had a vision of a "Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World," standing on a small rocky island in New York Harbor.

It took fourteen years to secure from the French people by popular subscriptions, a sum of more than $200,000 for the statue alone; and for securing the money and site for the pedestal, donated by the city and people of New York. It was not until 1880 that the completed statue was formally presented to the U. S. Ambassador in France and shipped to New York.

During the construction of the statue in France, the work of making its pedestal on Bedloe's Island had been under way. This consisted of the largest block of concrete ever made up to that time. It is upwards of 50 feet square and 154 feet high. The statue, resting on this base, is by far the largest of modern times. It represents the figure of a woman holding aloft a lighted torch, which is in reality a huge lantern of torch shape which is brilliantly lighted by electricity every night at sunset.

The height from pedestal to top of the head is 114 feet, and to top of torch 151 feet. The head from chin to crown is 17 feet high, and forty persons can comfortably stand within it. The torch will hold twelve people. It can be reached by a winding stairway within the uplifted arm, which is 41 feet long. The whole figure is so artistically proportioned that it appears to be a majestic representation of a woman of fine type and benevolent countenance. It is understood that the artist's mother served as his model.

The statue is composed of sheets of copper cut and hammered into shape to fit the design, and then riveted to a framework of iron which was built by Eiffel, who built the famous tower by that name in Paris. Between the iron and copper is an insulation of asbestos sheets to prevent the destruction of the copper by salt air of the ocean.

The writer first saw this magnificent structure in 1885, nearly forty years ago and deems it worthy of an effort to see it by all who may have an opportunity. It stands as the exponent of ideas and ideals dear to the heart of the native American and the people of other lands who seek a home on our soil. It has been an inspiration to millions, and will stand as such to other millions yet unborn.

WILL BEAN COMES BACK AT REYNOLDS AGAIN

Offers Further Argument in Support of His Charges on County Finances.

Clanton, Ala., August 2, 1922.

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

In last week's issue of The Union-Banner appeared an article covering almost a whole page signed by Judge Reynolds which pretended to be a reply to an article I had written in the preceding issue of that paper. In reply to him I first want to say that I agree with almost every Republican I have talked with that he made the most dismal failure to answer my argument that I have ever seen an intelligent writer make. His attempt is an absolute failure. He does not deny my statement, but virtually accept it as being true by taking it as the basis of his first calculation, but in substance says that I failed to give him credit for $54,000 taxes due next October, which is a farce just as I explained last week. Voters, let me ask you to stop for just a moment and determine who is correct and who started this mud-slinging as the Judge so eagerly called it. Really what is mud-slinging? The generally accepted term for mud-slingng is when one candidate takes an unfair means to obtain votes. I have proven to every unbiased voter that this state examiner made a false statement and that the county is deeper in debt than it was five years ago. If this is true, then Judge Reynolds certainly did use an unfair means to obtain votes when he circulated that examiner's report over the county. It is just as unfair to circulate a false statement in one's own interest as it is to circulate a false statement against a candidate. I can not see how any person could have known of the various warrants and bonds and borrowed money the county owed and not have known that the amount owed was far greater than that examiner stated it was. The Judge said that he had nothing whatsoever to do with making those reports and also said that if I had any criticism of the examiner or the treasurer, let the criticism go to whom it is due. Every person who read my first article knows that is just what I did. I did not infer that Judge Reynolds had one thing to do with it. I did then as he has suggested, but he came back at me with almost a whole page of mud-slinging letter and he knows and every voter knows that was the first mud-slinging letter in this campaign. Every voter that read my letter knows that I charged a democratic state examiner of making a false report, but why is the Judge trying so hard to defend this examiner's report? Why does he seem to take so much time and trouble to defend a report that he had nothing to do with? The truth of the matter is that he can't answer my argument and is trying to becloud the entire issue by trying to wrap me completely up in mud and draw the minds of the voters entirely away from the facts and figures, but in order to keep the issue clearly before the voters, I am below giving the total amounts the county owed at various dates:

Jan. 1, 1917, Co. owed $230,000
Jan. 1, 1921, Co. owed $230,708.73
Jan. 1, 1922, Co. owed $255,856.82
Jan. 31, 1922, state examiner said Co. owed $207,436.47

All of the above amounts are true amounts after cash on hand had been deducted. Please compare these figures and see if I have misrepresented any of them as Judge Reynolds would have you believe that I have. And remember that if there should be $54,000 taxes to be taken from one debt, it must be taken from all. If any person wants to deny any of these figures, if he will see me I can prove that I am correct. I will further make this proposition to anyone, no one barred, who will prove that my figures are not approximately correct, I will give him fifty dollars in gold and will also quit the race for Judge.

Judge Reynolds wants to keep that idea before you that I do not give him credit for the amount of $170,000 he spent in re-building the court house, dipping catle, and paying interest. I will just say this, that if by giving him credit for this amount will actually reduce the indebtedness of the county, for Heaven's sake let's all give him credit, for that would be the biggest thing that will ever be done towards reducing this debt. I will admit that if that amount had actually been spent on old debts and all other things being the same as has been, then of course the debt would have been just that much less than it now is, but it is not a question of what it could have been, or what it may be in the future, but the question is does the county owe more or less than it did five years ago. The answer is that we owe over two hundred and fifty-two thousand dollars now, which is almost $25,000 more than it did when the Judge took charge of it, regardless of what Judge Reynolds or the state examiner has said or may say hereafter. We owe that amount and all the argument that the Judge may put up will not reduce it any. It will just take the money to reduce it and nothing short of cash will ever reduce it.

Judge Reynolds calls your attention to how inconsistent I was by making a speech at Mineral Springs several weeks ago in which I made a statement that does not coincide with my letter in the paper. I will say that the judge in quoting me in this speech at Mineral Springs made one correct statement. He states that I said that since the county was in such good condition owing only about $17,000 above the $190,000 in bonds due in 1947 that it was as opportune time to change judges as it would be any time in the next several years. I certainly did say this and at the time I made the speech I quoted my statements from that state examiner's report in which he stated that the county owed approximately $207,000 and that there were $190,000 in bonds, due twenty five years from now. You can see that I was correct had the examiner's report been correct, but since it is false, of course my statement is not correct. I was simply mislead by a false report just as were many other people.

The Judge says that I have tried to insinuate on the cost of the cattle dipping. No, I have never insinuated at all. I just said that if I had been in charge of that work, and at the prices the county paid for material and etc., that it would not have cost over half or less than half as much as you say that it cost, and the treasurer's books will bear me out in this statement. This cattle dipping costing $40,000 is just one of his guessed at statements. I heard the Judge at Collins Chapel in a speech last week say that he did not know what this work cost, but that he understood or had been told that it cost about forty thousand dollars, when in fact I have known all the time that it should have cost only about half or less than half that amount. The Judge tries to justify himself in this by quoting what several other counties have spent. It seems that just so he was cheaper than the other counties that was all that was necessary. He wants to insinuate that I have been doing some misleading campaigning. I will say that I have made no statement that I can not substantiate (except the technical orror admitted last week,) and if my opponents will just do as I have done, tell the truth, there will be no ill will between us.

Judge Reynolds had much to say about my unfairness and false statements. Let's see about his fairness and some of his accurate statements. In trying to make the voters think that I had mislead them, and that all I had said was false, he stated that the treasurer's report showed only forty seven $500 warants when I had said it showed fifty seven. He also stated that in reality there were only forty three $500 warrants unpaid. Now, if that report does not show fifty-seven of those warrants and if the treasurer's books does not show that there are fifty-six unpaid, (I will give any one fifty dollars to prove I am wrong.) Now Judge, what is the matter with you? Can't you count or is this another one of your guessed at statements or did you just tell the voters that to make them believe that I had just willfully told a falsehood? I would be glad that the voters would go back to that report and also to his letter in last week's issue of the Union-Banner and see which one is correct and which one seems to want to be the fairest.

The Judge wants to intimate that I praised and criticised the administration all in the same speech and he asks what is the real issue. I want to again make myself clear by saying just what I said in the speech he refers to. I said that I was willing to give the Commissioners and Judge credit for all they had actually done and I commended them for their services, but what has actually been done and what has been reported done vary by nearly fifty thousand dollars. The state examiner said that the debt had been reduced almost twenty-five thousand dollars when I have proven that it has been increased about twenty-five thousand dollars, thus making a variation of around fifty thousand dollars from what the condition actually is. I want it to be distinctly understood that I do not in the least censure any commissioner for this false report, for I believe that all of them were absolutely honest in believing that this report was correct, for it is a fact that they do not have the opportunity to keep posted on the conditions of the county as they would like to do.

The Judge says that the Democrats were better pleased with my letter than the Republicans were. Well, that might have been his observations, but I want to say that I have heard far more favorable comments on it from Republicans than I have from the Democrats. But it makes no difference who it pleases just so the facts are told. The Judge says much about the Democrats being at the Republican meetings and so on, but who is responsible for them being there? Judge Reynolds is as much responsible for it as I am. I did not know that there was a Clanton Democrat there until I began speaking. I have heard it rumored that the Judge had them there for a purpose. I do not know this to be true, but it looks very suspicious that such thing might have been done. But I will just say again that I am no more responsible for what the Democrats do than he is, and all I can see in his bringing this up is to try to further draw your minds away from the questions and resort to prejudicing the minds of the people in a further effort to defeat me in this race. He also speaks of the hope the Democrats have over the dissatisfaction this may cause in the ranks of the Republicans. I just think it an insinuation on the Republican party for any one to think that such little thing as this will in any way hinder the election of the ticket in November. The Republicans of this county, I believe, are Republicans from principle and they are too big and broad minded to let a report made by a Democratic state examiner change their life long principles. I would hate to think that this would hurt as strong a party as we have here and more especially with the set of candidates we have to select from, to lead us to victory in the general election. Voters, isn't it a fact that the Judge always insinuates on every person that has ever opposed him as being lined up with the Democrats. What did he say in last week's paper. He wants to infer that all who oppose him are people who claim to be Republicans but vote a Democratic ticket. I am just as loyal to the Republican party as is Judge Reynolds or any one else, and all that the Judge may say now will not change a vote, for we all know his tricks.

I have been warned that there will be a report put out at the last minute stating that I have come down or some other false report started just at the pinch of the game, but I will say that I do not believe that any of my opponents will start such, but if so, just remember that I am not coming down unless the people say by their ballot for me to do so, and then I will willingly abide by what a majority says.

Some few people have citicised me for writing this article now, but say that if I was intending to answer that examiner's report that I should have waited until after the primary. This would have been mighty nice for the Judge and his friends to wait until it was too late and then wake up. I wrote my first article in the very first issue of the paper after the county treasurer's report came out and that was just as soon as I knew that the examiner's report was false.

There are a great many other things that I would like to speak of, but I must not use too much of the editor's space. I have about finished my campaign for the race of Judge of Probate. I am asking each and every Republican voter to give me an earnest consideration for the position I am asking for, and if you believe me to be honest and worthy and competent in every respect to honorably fill this place, I most earnestly solicit your vote. Let me ask that you give my life's record a full consideration and also the record of all of my opponents, and then let's all go to the polls on August 8th and nominate the best man for the place let it be whoever it may, and I will assure you that I am behind the full ticket whether I win or lose in this race.

I want to announce that I will speak at the court house next Saturday at about 3 p. m. in the interest of my race for Probate Judge.

Yours very truly,
W. T. BEAN.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women,—whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people, it puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from the eyes, and it fools Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, tetter, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

DENNIS MAKES LAST APPEAL TO VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., August 2, 1922.

As this is our last opportunity to appeal to voters before the primary election, I ask that you take time to read and consider this short letter.

If you want the strongest man for our ticket in the General Election what stronger argument can you have than soberness, honesty, efficiency, loyalty to law, to party and to friends; faithful performance of all past duties; readiness and willingness to be of help to all in need; kind and sympathetic, yet firm for the right; if you want a Sheriff that will readily respond to your call when needed; who will co-operate with the people in the enforcement of all laws; who fully realizes the importance of law enforcement in the interest of our homes, schools and churches; one that will give his entire time to the work; be right on the job; who can be found and approached by any citizen in the interest of right; one who has always stood for a square deal to everybody; one in whom you can confide and know that your confidence will not be divulged?

Then I ask your consideration, vote and influence on August 8th. Let's nominate men for each office we can conscientiously defend and elect in the general election.

I pledge your loyal support to the entire ticket.

Yours for the best interest of our homes, schools, churches and county in every way.

J. N. DENNIS.

A FEW WORDS FROM A CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

I have been devoting many columns of space in the paper recently to the discussions of the various candidates, and to the letters of the citizens of the county in support of their favorite candidates. Now I think I might be entitled to a short space myself, in order that I may say a few words about my own "race" for the Republican nomination as the Representative of Chilton County in the next Legislature of Alabama.

I feel that I can say, probably unlike many other candidates on the Republican ticket, that I have had a very quiet campaign, and I have every reason to believe that I shall be nominated on next Tuesday.

I have not made a house to house canvass of the county in this campaign, first because I did not think it necessary as there has been only myself in the race. Then in the second place, the office of Representative is not a very lucrative position when considered from the standpoint of the salary received; therefore, one cannot well afford to put out very much time and money to get nominated and elected. This may not only account for the fact that I have not waged a very intensive campaign, but also for the fact that I have not had any opposition in the primary for the nomination. If there were a large and juicy salary to be drawn from this office, there would very likely have been more candidates than myself seeking the place.

But in spite of all these things, I want to say that I shall appreciate every vote which I get on next Tuesday, just as much as I would if I were engaged in a life and death struggle for some important office with many opponents involved. I hope that every Republican who goes to the election will vote for me. Do not leave me off just because I have nobody running against me. Put a cross down for me just the same, and I assure you it will be appreciated.

A few weeks ago I published a brief statement of some of the things which I hoped to accomplish if I should go to the Legislature. I promised to make a fuller statement, but have not been able to do so, because all the space has been taken up every week by the other candidates. But there is just one thing about my platform that will satisfy all who may be interested, and that is this: When I get down to Montgomery I shall be the representative of the plain, common everyday people of this my native county. I want to go there to represent men and women like my father and mother, and my grandfather and grandmother; just plain folks who do not own great piles of railroad stocks and bonds, but whose wealth consists mainly of a little backwoods farm of forty or eighty acres, a few chickens, a cow and a horse, a dog and a cat, and from three to nine bright-eyed little boys and girls who have a right to the protection of the laws of our state in matters of health, education and moral development now that will mean much to them in the years to come. Those are the kind of people I want to represent, and those are the kind of people I want to vote for me on next Tuesday, and next November. When I say that I will represent this class of people, I know you will believe what I say, for I am nothing but one of this class myself, and I am proud to be numbered as such.

I want to thank those good friends over the county who have sponsored my candidacy without my soliciation. I sincerely appreciate the confidence they have in me. I shall be grateful for the vote I receive in the primary, be it large or small. And I assure you that I shall put forth every effort to be elected as your Representative in November.

Respectfully,
W. M. WYATT.

Mrs. Clarence Henley had as her visitors last week-end Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Honeycutt of Lakeland, Fla., also her other sister, Miss Gene Thomas of Birmingham.

To the Republican voters of Chilton County—both men and Women:

As the primary is close at hand I wish to say that I have made a hard fight in every honest and honorable way that I knew how to win the nomination for Sheriff. If nominated I shall work equally as hard to be elected in November. I fully realize the fact that I am running against three other good men, but I earnestly insist that you consider my experience in this line of work, and search to see if you can find any time or place where I have failed to do my duty as an officer should.

Now, if you find that I have always discharged my duties as I should, then I earnestly solicit your vote on the 8th day of August. I am only asking for promotion in the same line of work that I have been following, but please consider the fact that I have only been an officers helper. If you will pardon me for making a personal reference I wish to call your attention to one point in my leter to the voters, of May 18th., wherein I stated to you that in all my work as an officer, that I had never had to hit a single person with a gun or other weapons in order to execute the laws. I feel proud of the record I have made along this line. I have always considered myself when I was an officer a servant of the people and not a boss, but when the time came for me to do my duty I tried to do it with fairness and justice to all alike, or as near so as the person would permit. Now, after you have carefully considered my experience, qualifications and fitness for the office then if you think any of my opponents are more suited for the office of Sheriff, then I think it is your duty to vote for them, however if in your judgment you think I am the man for the office then I think it your duty to vote for me, and I pledge you now if nominated and elected I shall make an honest effort to employ deputies that are honest and honorable and, men that are sober and upright in every respect. Because I do not believe that any Sheriff or deputy Sheriff should violate the laws that they are sworn to execute.

Now if I should be fortunate encugh to win the nomination I certainly will appreciate it as much as any one could, and if elected I promise you that I will show you of my appreciations by giving the people of Chilton County good honest and faithful service, but if I should be defeated I shall do all I can in an honest and honorable way to help elect your choice, as well as the entire ticket in November.

Respectfully yours,
LEONARD P. MARTIN.

HARRIS CLOSES CAMPAIGN WITH LETTER TO PEOPLE

Clanton, Ala., August 3, 1922.

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

As this week's issue of The Union-Banner is the last one before the primary, I am taking this method of expressing through its columns my sincere appreciation and thanks to my friends for their unswerving loyalty and support in aiding me in my ambition to serve you for the next six years as Probate Judge. You have shown me many courtesies and I shall always be thankful and grateful for same and shall strive to render you such service as your Probate Judge for the next six years that you may never have cause to regret having placed your confidence in my loyalty as a party worker and in my integrity, honesty, and qualifications to perform the duties incident to this high office of trust. As promised in the biginning, I have endeavored to and have waged a campaign free from mud-slinging. I have tried to the best of my ability to do unto others as I would have them do unto me, and I shall close this campaign with the best of feelings toward all parties concerned. I wish to say to you that I have the interest of my county and its citizens at heart and will ever endeavor to safeguard the same to the best of my ability, and I feel confident that you will honor me with the nomination on August 8th. Since the nomination in our party, as you know, is equivalent to an election; provided however, we stand shoulder to shoulder and allow no personal feelings or enmity to sever the unity of our party; it is, therefore, of the utmost importance that we look well to the interest of our party before nominating men for the various offices on the 8th. Let us make our action so nearly unanimous on the 8th that no one will dare attempt to inject strife or discord among the voters of our party.

During this campaign I have sought the support of every Republican voter on my own merits and qualifications and not on the demerits or shortcomings of any opponent. I have not allied or alligned myself with any clique or faction but have made the race purely on my merits. You know how I stand on all questions relating to the administration of the business of our county and I appreciate the many expressions from the people of their approval of the principles set out in my platform. I assure you that when elected I shall carry into effect the principles outlined in my platform and will do all in my power to run the county on a cash basis, elminating all unnecessary expenses, and will reduce the outstanding indebtedness as fast as possible. It will be impossible to pay all indebtedness during the next six years but I would favor setting aside a definite amount each year as a sinking fund to eliminate the debts as they come due.

I am asking no eleventh hour promises or pledges, nor am I appealing to your prejudices in order to influence your vote but if you want a sane, sound, and peaceful administration of the Probate Judge's office for the next six years; then I ask that you please recall my record and work as Sheriff of your county and I have no doubt but that you will give me your support on August 8th.

Having been reared on the farm, I know the needs and wishes of the farming and laboring classes of this county and I want to assure you that I will at all times be your friend, ready to assist you at every opportunity.

In conclusion let me ask you investigate my life as to morality, honesty, and truthfulness and in any way you may desire; my record as an officer as to qualification and efficiency, and also my qualifications and fitness for the office to which I now aspire. If you will do this I feel certain that I will receive your support on August 8th.

Thanking each and every one for the courtesies shown me during the campaign and again soliciting your vote and influence, I am, yours for a complete Republican success in November.

Respectfully,
H. A. HARRIS.

INCREASED POWER DEMAND REFLECTED IN STOCK ADVANCE

Almost daily there are new evidences of the return of normal business conditions in the South, and particularly is this true in relation to industrial enterprises of the Birmingham district. One of the striking evidences is found in the big increase in the demand for hydro-electric power. This demand has had a steady, if not to say wonderful increase, and it is announced by the Alabama Power Company that the capacity of Mitchell Dam, yet uncompleted, has already been contracted.

The increase in the power demand means a brighter future for the Alabama Power Company, and officials of this company are all optimistic when looking into the future prospects of the company.

One of the evidences of the growing strength of this company is found in the announcement just made from the investment department that the stock of the company will be advanced from $93 to $95 per share on July 1, 1922. This advance in price, it is announced, is warranted by the improved market for all first-class securities and the general fall in the interest rates throughout the country.

The company stock at the new price of $95 yields 7.36 per cent on each dollar invested. This is regarded as exceptionally good considering the full measure of safety to be had with this investment.

Decided increase in earnings caused by new business were shown by a recent financial statement of the Alabama Power Company. Business of the company during the early part of 1922 showed a remarkable growth, and with the completion of Mitchell Dam during the early part of the coming year, there is every reason to believe that 1923 will be a banner year for the company.

The fact that the company has advance applications for the power capacity of Mitchell Dam forecasts largely increased revenues for the future and will naturally add inherent value to the company's stock. As is generally known, the company is at present loaded to the capacity of its entire system, including both hydro and steam developments.

Advance in the price of the company's stock will be received with much interest by the thousands of Alabamians who are holders of this stock, and it is expected that there will be rush orders for stock before the date set for the advance on July 1.

DENNIS DENIES CHARGE OF WORKING FOR TICK ERADICATION LAW

Clanton, Ala., August 1, 1922.

My attention has been called to a report being circulated in some parts of the county, "That after the people of our county had voted down tick eradication, that I was in some way reponsible for the Legislature passing the State Wide Tick Eradication law and forcing the people to have to dip their cattle against their will."

I beg to say that any statement to that effect is absolutaely without any foundation and that I will pay any voter in Chilton County one hundred dollars who can produce any such evidence sufficient to convince any court of record that I used any influence with any number of the Legislature or that I appeared before any member or committee of the Legislature in behalf of Tick Eradication.

I never used my influence in any way in behalf of the matter after the people of our county voted it down.

SOME INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTER

There seems to be some question about who should mark tickets for voters who are unable to mark them for themselves.

The law strictly provides that the Managers of the election only shall assist the voters in marking Tickets and makes it a penalty of not less than $100.00 and not more than $1,000.00 for any person other than a Manager of the Election to assist the voter in marking a Ticket (See Acts 1919, page 972, Sec. 23.)

There is also a doubt as to how to vote a second choice vote. A cross is marked to the left of the name for a first choice vote and to the right of the name for a second choice vote.

You do not have to vote a second choice vote and it is plain to me that a second choice vote kills your first choice vote.

You can write the names of two delegates in the blanks at the bottom of the Ticket, to attend the Republican County Convention at Clanton, August 11th, 1922.

Below is a sample form of a Ballot which will enable you to post yourself as to how to vote.

Reynolds Makes Final Appeal to The Voters

To the Voters of Chilton County:

We will soon know the results of the Primary Election which will be held August 8th, and I want to sum up some matters relative to the campaign.

This has been in many respects one of the cleanest and fairest campaigns that we have ever had. I am sorry Mr. Bean has seen fit to attack me as he has. You have read his article and know what his motives was. He said he was after Mr. Peabody but you know this is not true for he was after me and you know that he made some statements that had no foundation.

I will state again that I have done the very best I could for the county. You can see your Courthouse and you know who built it. I am proud of the building and am glad that we struggled along and built you a house that will do for many years. You know we have paid the interest on the old debt and have dipped your cattle as the law required and you know you will have over $50,000.00 taxes this fall which will be applied to your debt whether Mr. Bean agrees to it or not. After we were rid of the ticks I told Dr. Cary that I would go to jail before I would spend the County's money hiring inspectors to ride around over the county, and then the quarantine was lifted and the expense was stopped.

Prof. Howard Foshee is whispering around that there is going to be something put out at the last minute; that they have an inspector here now ready to start something, and I want to say to you people that I have tried to do my duty as I saw it and I say now that I am not going to agree to spend your money on dipping cattle again unless you people ask me and then you will have to convince me that it is the desire of a majority of the voters of Chilton county. I have tried the very best I could officially to enforce all laws that came before me. We have furnished means and dipped your cattle under direction of State and Federal authorities and have complied with their orders and regulations the best we could and these authorities have declared our County tick-free and have raised the quarantine and I feel like we have spent enough for this purpose and I say to you that I will not agree to spend any more money in dipping catle for it seems like child play to say one day that the County is tick-free and the next day to say that it is tick-infested and I have decided that the whole thing is a farce and that the main purpose of the State and Federal authorities is to furnish jobs for those who are unable to make a living otherwise.

I call on the voters of this county to witness that I have always kept my promise with you and I believe if I am nominated and elected that I can do as much to keep you out of cattle dipping as any other person.

I want you to understand where I stand on this question before you vote for me. I do not want one vote under misapprehension. I would never try to get a vote under false pretension for I would not sacrifice nor jeopardize the success of the Party to carry a point.

I have tried to make my position plain and have kept no secret from the people. I have invited publicity and want you to know the facts for every tax payer is entitled to know the truth.

You know the condition of your county; you know how your business was managed before I was elected; you know that you do not have to discount your warrants but can go to the Treasurer and get full value for them, and before I was elected you had to discount at a loss of about 40% and a loss of 40% of your taxes, which were about $40,000 meant a loss of $16,000 per year and we save this for you now.

We refunded your debt of about $200,000.00 which you were paying 6% interest on and are now paying 5% interest, and this saves you $2,000.00 per year on interest, or $12,000.00 in six years and yet some of my enemies are knocking me about the Bond Issue which did not increase the debt any but saved $2,000.00 per year interest, and in another part of the paper you will find a letter which was sent out March 29, 1917, and was signed by Prof. Bean as Chairman and other members of the committee, two of them are Democrats. This letter fully explains itself. Mr. Harris also worked for the Bond Issue and did all he could to have it voted for.

I have worked to save your money and sometimes it would be against my best friends. I am glad to know that I can defend my work against any attack, even tho it may come from a Republican assisted by Democrats.

Mr. Easterly who examined my work in 1919 spoke of the economical way I had managed the affairs of the County and Mr. Peabody said the same, yet, both of these men were Democrats and I am sure would not give me a favorable expression if I did not deserve it, for you know that is not their way of doing.

Prof. Howard Foshee is running over the County knocking me all he can, saying anything he can regardless of the truth, and he may be riding at the expense of the tax-payers so far as I know, for from the statements he publishes of his accounts you cannot tell what he spends the money for. The Acts of 1919 requires him to publish an itemized statement and here is the way he publishes his report in a pamphlet September 30, 1921, also in The Union-Banner Oct. 20, 1921: School Board $236.94; County Superintendent and Assistant $2,438.18; compulsory attendance $70.00; Instructions $58,847.41; Operation of schools $213.57; Maintenance Insurance $2.75; New Equipment $1,134.72; Liquidation of debts $918.50; Refunds $150.59; making a total of $64,237.91.

I call on you voters who paid over $64,000.00 Tax to see if you can tell from the above report where your money went to or for what purpose. It says for Maintenance and repairs but does not state what was maintained and repaired; it states for the liquidation of debts but does not state whose debts nor for what the debts were made for. Our county will be in an awful condition if some one gets in control of its affairs that will publish your account in this style and yet some of the candidates have said that they would work in harmony with the School Board while others have failed to state where they stand, but I say openly that I am opposed to Prof. Foshee or any person not making a full itemized report of all money handled for the public or moving boundary lines of school districts and ordering that children be carried several miles away from home to school, unless the majority of all people effected by the change say they want it done. I believe the people should control their own schools and elect their own teachers.

I believe every dollar of taxes collected from the people should be accounted for and published in such a manner that the tax-payers can see where it went.

I have given you the very best service that I could in the Probate Office. Your papers have been recorded and returned to you as quickly as possible. When it was your desire that they wait at the office until you called for them, I have kept them for you and have not rushed you for the recording fees. The law requires the Privilege Tax to be paid in advance but when it was not convenient for the owner to pay it in advance I paid it promptly to the State and County and you paid it to me when it was convenient.

My clerks have always had instructions to be courteous to the public and assist the people in every way they could. We have never been too busy to assist you in looking up records that you were not acquainted with. The office has been kept open from early in the morning until late in the afternoon and even practically nearly every holiday for your convenience and I assure you that if I am re-elected that I shall continue giving you the every best service that I can.

I have always advised the people in legal matters when I was able, and without charges, thereby saving them an Attorney's fee every time I could.

I have not had time to see many of the voters personally. I have been busy attending to your business which you elected me to do and I thought you had rather I would stay on the job than to be worrying you while you were at work, trying to advise you how to vote.

I believe in coming out in the open in all public matters. I have never had any patience with any candidates going around whispering in secret that something was "awful" and then telling the voter not to mention it.

Voters, watch out for false reports at the last moment; for if you will watch you will see some of the leaders of the Republicans who are against me in the alleys talking with Democrats who want me defeated, and I ask you, if the Democrats can defeat me so easily, why is it they do not want me nominated.

Go to the polls and do your duty to your Party and tax-payers and I will abide by your decision and do as you people say do, as I have always done.

Respectfully yours,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

P. S.—See letter from Frank Lockwood who was architect for the courthouse which is published in this week's issue of the Union-Banner.

Clanton, Ala., August 1, 1922.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

The time for the primary is almost here. This is a very important election, one in which every Republican should take part. In this primary we are to select men, (and probably a woman,) to bear our standards through the grilling fire of our friendly foe, the Democrats, to complete victory in November and then lead the affairs of our county thru the coming four and six years to the tune, we hope, of prosperity and progress.

In the primary we have a chance to pick our men. If there is a candidate whom you want to succeed, the primary is the palce for you to help him. First, make up your minds with regards to the welfare of the county and your party, we want to nominate men whom we can elect, then go to the polls and vote your convictions.

In asking you for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court I do so after due consideration of the duties of the same.

I feel that I am competent to do the work of the office and I assure you that if I am nominated and elected I will attend to the duties of the office to the very best of my ability and in as kind and courteous a manner as possible.

It is true I have no official record to refer you to from the fact that I have never had the privilege of holding public office.

I am not asking for the office on the grounds that it has not been attended to but for the fact that I can do the work and I have a desire to serve the people of the county that I have devoted my life so for to and to gain the honor that may be had as such and to make a record as my opponents have. Should I be denied this privilege? It is for you to say.

I am not asking for it on the grounds that you owe it to me nor that I am the only one in the county who can do it, for you owe it to none of us and I am persuaded to believe there are quite a number of worthy young Republicans in the county who can do the work and I am one who believes it nothing but fair and just to give others who are competent and worthy a chance.

I have always voted the Republican ticket. My people, as a rule, have and do always vote it. I have never been called on by my party but what I readily responded. I have stood by the party through defeat and now I would like to stand in success.

I feel that I have some idea as to how to deal with the public. I have dealt with the public as teacher in the public schools and in other ways since before I was grown.

It has been reported that my religious views were not understood. For the benefit of those who might not know and who desire to know I will say I affiliated myself with the Baptist Church in my thirteenth year and am still in good standing with the same local church and it has never seen fit to reprove me in the least on the account of my manner of living.

We know that the human family in some respects are alike, mp opponents in this race are good men, men that the county and especially the Republicans are proud of. They have had a desire to serve as public officials and this desire has been granted them for quite a number of years and we are glad they have made good, so I in like manner, desire to serve you as Clerk of your Court. If you see fit to nominate and elect me the height of my ambition will be to make you as good, and if possible, a better servant than either of them has made.

The thought has been advanced that the county is not financially able to change Cierks this time.

That it is discouraging to an official to know that he might be succeeded or removed and one of his fellow Republicans put in his place.

That a man without experience probably could not succeed or make good. That corporations work their good men until they are no good or too old and then take them out on pension, therefore, we should not change clerks.

Admitting the fact that men do and have always differed in opinions, permit me to say that I am not able to see why one man doing his duty as Clerk should cost the county any more than another and I pledge you my honor that if I am elected your Clerk that I will do my whole duty as such and take care of your finance as much as possible.

I promise you that if you give me this job I will not expect to keep it a life time, but will be willing for someone else to have it after me. I believe, as some of the patriots of old, that elective officials should not succeed themselves more than once or in other words two terms in succession is enough for the time.

I admit that experience is a dear school but am glad to believe that we have Republicans in Chilton county who can and will learn in others.

As to the corporation proposition I will say that in American politics we deal with free people each one having equal rights and privileges with his fellow man and I hope never to see the day when it will be necessary to run it as a corporation. I think we should steer our ship of state as far from that idea as possible.

I now appeal earnestly to the Republicans of Chilton county, especially to the young men, who fought so efficiently in the late war for your country and to the ladies who have just had your franchise extended to you for your support in the coming primary. If you believe I could or would serve you in this capacity and you believe that our public offices should be passed along some go to the polls and help to nominate me if you can do so. I assure you I will appreciate it and will never give you just cause to regret casting your vote for me.

I have lived as clean and as respectable as I knew how. I have prepared myself as best I could. I can never get the experience in that office unless you give it to me. I have made a clean hard fight for the position. I expect to win or lose on my own merits. I am not depending on the influence of any one person or any one group of persons to carry me through. I am in league with no person or persons except the Republicans of Chilton county. I am expecting to get the nomination by the free thinkers and voters of the Republican party of Chilton county.

It is true I have not got to see you all personally and possibly will not get to see you but it is not because I do not want your vote nor that I do not want to see you, but I have been hindered considerably in my canvass by my business and by sickness in my home, so don't feel that I do not want your vote because I have not spoken to you personally. It is most impossible to see every voter but remember, I want and will greatly appreciate your vote. If I should be nominated I will do all that is in my power that is right to be elected in November, which I think I could be. I feel that I am asking no more of you than you have already done for my opponents, so if you can do so, give me your support. If you should see best to nominate one of my opponents, I assure you that I will be submissive and do all in my power to elect him in November.

Again asking you for your support and thanking you in advance for anything you can do for me, I am,

Yours very truly,
J. Z. MIMS.

Cause of Appendicitis.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

ARCHITECT FRANK LOCKWOOD MAKES STATEMENT ABOUT OUR COURT HOUSE

Montgomery, Ala., July 27, 1922.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Judge:

I recently overheard some comment on the cost of the Court House building erected a few years ago at Clanton. The comment being somewhat of an adverse nature, and knowing what a hard time you had to finance the work, I feel I should write you concerning it.

You will recall we had some four bids, the lowest one being six or seven thousand dollars less than the next higher bid. It was thought at the time there would be a struggle to get through with the expenditures contemplated as so many things needed to be done. We tried in every way not to use flimsy or cheap material as we wanted to make a permanent and enduring building, using the best materials and construction. The columns and trimming for instance and all sills being of Indian lime stone.

After the work was started it was thought advisable to put in a fire proof floor over the entire first story and then later a heating plant. With these additions and improvements the work was completed at just about the cost proposed by the next high bidder. The only way by which this was accomplished was by paying cash for the work. Had warrants been issued, the cost would have been a problem to dispose of them to advantage.

All additions to the building were made upon my advice and all bills were paid by our orders. We used our very best judgment and felt proud of the work when it was finished. Certainly we had a much better building for our money than most people were getting at that time.

Very truly,
FRANK LOCKWOOD.

TUESDAY'S PRIMARY IN CHILTON COUNTY BRINGS KEEN SURPRISE TO MANY POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATORS.

So far as can be ascertained by the unofficial figures brought in from the various voting places in the county it now looks like Reynolds will be nominated by a close margin of about 70 votes over Harris.

These returns give Reynolds 895 first choice votes and 43 second choice; Harris 793 first choice and 78 second choice; Bean 397 first choice and 44 second choice; Wilson 10 first choice and no second choice. It will take the official count to be made on Friday to tell the final result exactly.

J. Z. Mims ran away with the nomination for Circuit Clerk, getting more than Collins and Foshee together. Collins ran second in his race. Foshee's friends were surprised to see him bring up the rear. The unofficial returns give Mims 1028 first choice votes and 43 second choice; Collins 617 first choice and 75 second choice; Foshee 391 first choice and 28 second choice.

T. J. Dorminey seems to have gained the nomination as county commissioner in the first district, receiving 1057 votes to his opponent, Mr. Cobb 709.

J. M. Mims is an easy winner in the four sided race for Commissioner in the Second District. He is reported to have 844 votes; D. H. Gentry 517; T. A. Maddox 363; J. H. Benson 106.

A. L. Robinson is the leader for the School Board with a total of 896 votes; Wm. J. Billingsley is second with 824; J. E. Littlejohn is third with 745; and Mrs. Howard fourth with 736. If these figures hold good in the official count Robinson and Billingsley will be the Nominees.

Percy M. Pitts, running unopposed for State Senator, is reported a total of 1,156; W. M. Wyatt, running in a wide open field for Representative in the Legislature, is reported to have received 1,384 votes. Several boxes in the county did not send in their vote in these two races.

The total vote of the Republican ticket will be close around 2,100.

All of the above figures are more or less inaccurate, as they were brought in in a big hurry in some cases. They are not by any means all complete as the reports from some of the boxes did not give the vote received by every candidate. The official count will be made here to-day (Thursday) at noon, when the final result will be accurately determined.

DOINGS at MULBERRY

Health in general in the community is very good at present. Crops are still in a very promising condition, although we are needing some rain just now.

Mr. C. C. Williams made a business trip to the Magic City last Wednesday.

Mrs. R. E. Tucker of Birmingham spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning.

Messrs Earl Williams and G. H. DeShazo made a hurried business trip to Clanton last Wednesday afternoon.

The Quarterly Conference of the Maplesville Circuit, Prattville District, M. E. Church South, was held at the Methodist Church here last Thursday. Dr. J. M. Danelly P. E., in charge. The morning hour was given over to the business session of the conference, after which a bounteous basket dinner was spread, under which the table almost groaned. After everyone had appeased their hunger, we had the privilege of listening to one of the most able sermons that we have heard in a long time, by Dr. Dannelly. Dr. Danneley used as a basis for his discourse the parable of the rich man and Lazarus. He made his talk so plain that "the way faring man, though a fool" could have not but seen the way.

The ball players from here went down to Sardis Saturday and engaged in a double header game. The first resulting in a score of 16 to 2 in favor of Mulberry, the second one in a score of 5 to 4 in Mulberry's favor, and the home boys had another run when they quit to come home. If nothing happens to prevent there will be a game here on the home diamond Saturday afternoon, between the home team and pleasant Grove, better known as "Possum Scratch." Come on and lets yell for the boys and cheer them on to victory.

Mr. D. O. Manning made a business trip to Maplesville Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. DeShazo made a hurried trip to Clanton last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. G. E. Summers, Mrs. Kirby Summers and Misses Eleanor Summers and Jewell Wright spent Saturday in Clanton shopping.

Mrs. Edwards of the Alabama Baptist Sunday School Board is here this week conducting a teachers training class.

Yep, most of them were here Sunday. You know who I mean.

Some of the young people attended the singing at Mt. Nebo Sunday and report a nice time.

Mrs. G. S. Jones and son, Hubert, of Clanton were visitors to this community Sunday. Mrs. Jones remained out here and is spending the week among friends and relatives.

Mr. Marion Littlejohn of Liberty Hill was a visitor here Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. Maness of Pleasant Grove, is spending a few days with Mr. Earl Williams. Mr. Maness is an expert auto refinisher and is engaged in the re-painting of Earl's Car.

ADVENTIST MEETING

The interest at the Campground increases daily. Every family-tent on the grounds is occupied and a number of the people have secured rooms in the city.

Every day has brought new arrivals. Yesterday, Elders C. A. Russell from Washington, D. C. and G. G. Lowry, from India arrived and will lead out in some of the preaching services and other meetings at the camp.

Prof. Wood's talks to the young people at the 6 a. m. and 5 p. m. o'clock hours daily, have been most inspiring. These young peoples' services will continue to the close of the Campmeeting.

The evening services have been well attended and Elder Charles Thompson's discourses have been greatly appreciated.

On Thursday evening we will have a stereopticon lecture upon Mission Work in India. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Elder Lowry will give an address on Indian Missions. On Saturday night we expect to have another stereopticon lecture, and on Sunday evening the question of Civil and Religious Liberty will be presented by one of the visiting ministers from Washington, D. C.

BAPTISTS LAUNCH TWO GREAT MEETINGS

In Birmingham August 24, and in Montgomery, August 25, there are to be meetings of Statewide importance to the Baptist people.

In Birmingham in addition to other speakers will be Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the southern Baptist Convention and Dr. B. D. Gray, secretary of the Home Mission Board. In Montgomery, among other speakers will be Dr. L. R. Scarborough and Dr. Gray. The afternoons will be taken up with round table talks and all present will be invited to take part.

The meetings are the opening signals of a Supplementary Campaign to be put on this fall. More than $35,000,000 were raised in actual cash by Southern Baptist during the first two and a half years of their 75 Million Campaign and more than 600,000 joined their church.

The Campaign they are now launching is to be supplemental to their 75 Million Campaign and is to follow up during the fall the work they have so well begun. They hope their host of new members and those of their number who have not pledged will have some part in their work of benevolence, Christian education and missions.

Hunger, the Best Sauce.

Sauce is used to create an appetite or relish for the food. The right way is to look to your digestion. When you have good digestion you are certain to relish your food. Chamberlain's Tablets improve the digestion, create a healthy appetite and cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

Mr. Marion Gore has made some attractive improvements at his property on the corner of Second Avenue and Sixth Street. He has built a new cement side walk on the Sixth Street side from the new office of Dr. Arthur Johnson up to the corner at the old court house well. The old well, which is one of the most ancient landmarks in Clanton, has been filled and built over with concrete. The corner presents a much neater appearance since this has been done.

REVIVAL AT SAMARIA BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. W. A. Goss requests us to announce that the revival services at Samaria Baptist Church will begin Sunday morning, August 13th, and that the preaching will be done by Rev. W. P. Reeves of Birmingham.

"Brother Reeves needs no introduction here," asserts Rev. Goss, "as he assisted in our meeting last year, and has done other evangelistic work in Chilton County."

Services will be held twice a day at the usual hours, and the public is cordially invited to attend and participtate in the services.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 7—In order to more effectively combat typhoid fever in Alabama, to determine the presence of the disease as early as possible after the patient is stricken in order that necessary precautions may be taken against its spread, the State Board of Health is mailing to the physicians and health officers of counties and municipalities a circular giving directions for preparing and shipping blood specimens for laboratory examinations.

The increasing number of persons who have been inoculated against typhoid fever renders the old method of diagnosing the disease more difficult and uncertain, according to this letter, and the Department has provided the necessary equipment for determining the presence of the disease by a more modern method and containers are provided for mailing the specimen so that the laboratory test under this method is almost infallible.

Another, and perhaps more important feature of the fight against the disease, is contained in the advice to physicians to furnish certain specimens from convalescing patients in order to determine when the danger of spreading typhoid is past. In other words, the State Board of Health does not want a walking typhoid "carrier" dismissed upon the public to communicate the disease to others.

The public can help the physicians co-operate in this work by taking the necessary steps to make the early diagnosis absolutely pure and then continue precautionary methods until the state laboratory examination shows the patient absolutely free from the disease.

Ellis, on his recently acquired property in front of the court house and the work will start in a short while. This is a very ideal location for such a business, and we are glad that Mr. Ellis is going in for the very best and most modern arrangement.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.

SCHOOL SYSTEM DEFENDED

I am not a politician nor the son of a politician. It is not my purpose to defend any person or any party. I have cast my lot in Chilton to labor in the cause of education. Schools are my one hobby. They are the field of my endeavor. When an attack is made on me personally, I am magnanimous enough to ignore it and go ahead; but when an attack is made upon the cause of education it becomes the duty of every loyal supporter of schools to resent such attack and do all in his or her power to combat such destructive tactics. It does not concern me who is elected Judge of Probate, whether he be Democrat or Republican; but, it does concern me as well as it concerns every boy and girl in Chilton County when all kinds of damaging strife are stirred up that are calculated to injure our schools long after the heat and fever of this poltical year have passed away. School animosity lingers long in the minds of men. Any man who seeks to ride into office by such villification deserves the condemnation of all good men regardless of his party affiliation. I am making this plea this week for the Primary is just closing and the renewed struggle between the parties has not been begun. I plead with the leaders of both parties to let the schools alone. You might knock till domesday but the schools would not be bettered by your having knocked. The evils that you point out are not to be remedied by knocking. Persuasion for a better method with nothing said about our present plan will have far more influence for good.

In observing the contest which comes to a close tomorrow, I have observed that the attack upon our educational system might be summed up as follows:

1. Unequalness of appropriations to counties.

2. Unfair administration in Chilton county.

3. Removal of schools from local control.

4. Greater percentage of illiteracy than in 1860.

In regard to the first attack, I refer you to Article 10 of our 1919 School Code. Section 1 says: "On the first day of October or as soon as practicable thereafter, the State Auditor shall certify to the State Superintendent of Education the amount of money which has accrued and been placed by him to the credit of the educational fund for the scholastic year commencing on that date." Section 2 says: "As soon as such certificate is received by the State Superintendent of Education he shall set apart such sums as are provided by law, and he shall then apportion the remainder of such funds, as far as practicable, among the several counties in the State, in proportion to the number of school children of school age therein." Section 6 says: "As soon as practicable, after the State Superintendent of Education has apportioned the school funds to the several counties, and has certified the same to the county Superintendent of Education, the county boards of education shall apportion the funds awarded to their county to the several schools and to cities of two thousand (2,000) or more inhabitants, according to the last or any succeeding federal census, in their counties so as to provide, as nearly as practicable, school terms of equal duration EXCLUSIVE of any local funds provided by the school district."

The foregoing sections quoted word for word from the law will show that the appropriations must be equal to the several counties. The basis must be on the whole number of school children both white and black. It would be contrary to the Constitution of the United States to discriminate against the negro children in the law itself. This is why appropriations cannot be made to the counties according to the number of white children and then appropriate in a different degree to the colored children. Every man who pretends to know anything knows there can be no law which in itself discriminates against the negro children.

In regard to the second charge that has been an unfair administration in Chilton county, let us look at the facts. Last year is the only year that I know about positively. The County Board of Education paid the teachers in the various schools for six months on the basis of their certificates. The salary schedule set by the county board did not come up to the price paid in some schools and it was necessary to supplement the salary of said teachers out of local funds as was done in Clanton, Maplesville, Verbena, and several others. A small school requires more per child than a large one, because it takes just so much for the teacher's salary whether she teach 17 or 40. Suppose a teacher is receiving $65 per month for six months and teaches only 17 pupils. This would average $23 per child. If the same teacher should be teaching 40 pupils for the same time the average would be only $9.75 per child. This is the reason the law was changed from the old method. This method gives every boy and girl the same length of term out of the public funds whether he or she live in a densely populated community and goes to a large school or whether she lives in a sparsely settled community and goes to a small school. Is there any one who would dare to say the boys and girls in the small schools are not entitled to the same number of months each year as are the boys and girls in the large schools. According to the annual report for the year 1921, the Clanton school averaged 37 pupils per teacher and the West Chilton School averaged 17 pupils per teacher. Any one can see that it would take more per pupil to run the school at West Chilton than it would to run the school at Clanton. The facts show that the Clanton school was run on $12.46 per pupil while, it took $23.23 per pupil from the county funds to run the West Chilton School. Although I am connected with the Clanton school and would like to see as large appropriation as possible for our school, yet I know enough about schools and school administration to know our school can be run on less per pupil than the West Chilton school if the average of our school remains so much higher than their school. We see this same thing exemplified in the small white schools of Dallas, Sumter, Macon, and Bullock counties. In the four counties mentioned there is a large proportion of negroes. There are more negro children in some of those counties than there are white children. The negro schools are usually large schools and are run on a small amount per pupil while there are a number of very small white schools that require a large amount per pupil. This situation is known and understood by every school man. That is why the white children in Dallas, Sumter, Macon, Bullock and four or five other counties of the black belt receive $30.00 or $35.00 per pupil; in the counties where there is a predominance of white children there is a very much smaller amount per pupil. This condition is not due to the unequalness of appropriations but to the unequalness of population in the various counties that may be compared.

There has been much said about the schools being taken out from under local control. It is true the law gives to the County Superintendent the right to nominate the teachers for the different schools of the county, but the same law gives the local school trustees the right to reject any teacher the county superintendent may select and makes it his duty to elect another teacher. This also may be rejected and so on until the trustees are satisfied. Article 7, Section 3 says: "The Board of school trustees shall have the power by unanimous vote to refuse to accept the original assignment of any teacher not later than 30 days before the date set for the opening of the school upon written notification to the county superintendent of education setting out the reason for such refusal, and IT IS HEREBY MADE THE DUTY of the county superintendent to nominate another teacher for such school." Section 9 of this same Article 7 gives the board of school trustees the right to prefer charges against the teacher to the county board of education. This last feature was removed partly from local control in order to keep down factional disturbances in the control of the school. I know from experience that such fusses do rise and cause all kinds of ill will in the community. By trying such cases before the county board instead of before the local board is simply giving the teacher the right to a change of venue that is allowed every man when a fair impartial trial cannot be expected in one county. I favor and I know a number of teachers favor a change in the manner of selection of teachers. I favor a plan that requires the county superintendent of education to collect all the information he deems necessary about all the applicants for schools in his county and to keep this information in his office so that the local school trustees may see the record of each applicant and with the assistance of the county superintendent they may select their own teachers. This would give the trustees the right to select and would give them the benefit of the aid of the county superintendent who is a fairly good judge of the fitness of an applicant. I think this would be better than our present plan and would be much better than going back to the old time way of choosing. I think the control of the building should be absolutely in the hands of the local trustees and from what I have been able to find out, the next legislature will speak clearly on that point. This point is being demanded all over the State by both Democrats and Republicans. There are a number of strong school men who favor this change and I think you people in Chilton county can feel safe about a change being made next January.

The charge has been made and I do not dispute it that there is a higher percentage of illiteracy now than in the days before the Civil War. That is easily accounted for to any man who wants to see the truth. Before the Civil War a large part of the white people owned slaves and were able to employ a private tutor for their children. Others less wealthy managed to send to private schools. While the others were taught by the preachers. Ignorance was looked upon as a disgrace in those days. Our public school system was not established until 1855 in Alabama, so we cannot say that our school system before the Civil War was responsible for the low percentage of illiteracy among the white people. If we had the same public sentiment today that we had in those days, within five years there would not be a single white illiteate person in Alabama. Public sentiment is and has always been the strongest factor for law enforcement in any State. If we had a public sentiment that looked upon ignorance as a disgrace, it would be necessary to have a compulsory attendance law. What happened after the War? The South was crushed. Homes were destroyed, fields were laid waste, and general chaos prevailed.

In this crushed condition, it became necessary for the South to support a double system of schools, one for the whites and one for the negroes. Is it to be wondered at that for a number of years there was very little done for education? Even in my generation, I never saw a school of more than three months until I went to the county high school. What have we today? In Chilton county the schools were run for six months last session. The standard of the schools has been raised. The qualifications of the teachers have been raised until now a teacher must have at least two years of high school work to take for a second grade, and must have finished a high school before taking for a first grade.

The above has been written of my own free will. I have no ax to grind. I seek only to correct some false conclusions that might be drawn by failing to know the facts on the other side and failing to know the explanation for several seeming contradictions. If you were sick you would take the advice of a doctor. If you had appendicitis you would consult a surgeon. If you wanted to know about how to build a house you would see a carpenter. If you wanted to leran how to run an engine you would consult an engineer. Then why not take the advice of school men about your schools? It seems strange to me that you will believe anything a politician tells you about schools although he may not have given schools any special study. Play fair. If you are going to drink down everything politicians tell you about your chools, then why not consult them when you are sick and drink down some of their medicine? You say I fear I might be killed by their medicine. Well, be very careful that the medicine the politicans feed your schools does not make your schools sick unto death. Do not be content with one side. Learn both sides before you form your opinion.

Respectfully,

IRA PEGUES,

Supt. Clanton School.

PLEASANT HILL

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space enough to announce that there will be a meeting at Pleasant Hill Church on the third Sunday in this month, for the purpose of trying to get the church straightened up and to get all of the members together, as the church has been almost torn up for the last 12 months. All of the members are requested to be present on that day to hold conference and to elect officers and a preacher. We cannot get a deed to the church until this is done, as the church is in bad condition. Mr. Martin says he is ready to give a deed to the Baptist Church when they get back on foot again and I think now is the time to get to work at it. Everybody is invited to be present on that day and anything that any one can do or will do to help to get our church alive again will be appreciated. Don't forget the day, the third Sunday in August.

The proceeding instituted in the probate court of Elmore county some weeks ago in pursuance of an order of the commissioners' court of the county to condemn certain property owned by Frank Stollenwerch, Henry C. Jones, W. P. Dickenson and the Alabama Bridge & Road Co. for the establishment of the road leading from the new bridge over the Tallapoosa river at Judkins ferry to Wetumpa has resulted in a decree of condemnation of the property.

The last two sections of the 10,000-ton dry dock, towed to Mobile from New York by the Todd Shipyard Corporation tugboats to be used at their gulf yards, has arrived in port at Mobile. The arrival of the last two tows marks the completion of one of the longest and most difficult towing feats ever attempted, according to Mobile marine men. The tugs and their tow left Brooklyn on June 3.

The famous Oakley farm at Ashby, Shelby county, which came into notice about the time Theo Lacy, former chief clerk of the convict department, disappeared with more than $100,000 of state funds in 1913, again has come into notice with announcement that the state will foreclose the mortgage on the farm and will sell it to the highest bidder in Montgomery, September 14.

A considerable number of old veterans, who participated in the Civil War, and a large number of representative citizens assembled at Goodwater to attend the Goodwater soldiers' reunion; there are but few old Confederates yet living in Coosa County and the two oldest are Col. Considerable speculation is manifested in Chilton and Autauga counties as to how the cotton crop is going to pan out. There has been a stubborn fight made as to the boll weevil and there is every evidence that the farmers and cotton men are winning in the contest.

BODY OF DROWNED BOY RECOVERED SUNDAY

The body of Thomas Jackson Chandler, 8 year old boy, who was drowned at Lock 12 August 3rd, was recovered from the waters of the river last Sunday at Rushton. When found the body was floating, and had already traveled some ten or twelve miles down the river from Lock 12.

He was at Lock 12 on a fishing party from Selma, made up of people who were neighbors of his family who also live in Selma. The little boy it is said, was going out on the ledge below the power house, with the other members of the party, when he stepped on a slippery place and fell into the surging waters below where the river rushes with a mighty force as the waters come out of the great turbine wheels under the power house. His body was seen to float away a few yards, and was swallowed by the muddy waters as it passed over the shoals below. The river had been closely watched and searched ever since the sad tragedy occurred, but no signs of the body had been seen until it was found Sunday morning by a party of fishermen.

Undertaker Martin brought the body to Clanton and sent it to Selma where burial will be made.

SUCCESS OF STRIKES MEANS END OF GOVERNMENT BY LAW

Despite the fact that the reduction in wages ordered by the railroad labor board will still leave the rail clerks with a rate of pay 69 per cent higher than the pre-war levels, the stationary firemen and oilers 127 per cent higher, and other classes of employes in proportion, the country is threatened with a general tie-up of its transportation system to force a continuance of the war wage schedules. The decision of the labor board has behind it every element of justice and fair play, and the authority of the board under the law is undisputed; nevertheless, it is seriously proposed to make an innocent public suffer until the people are willing to see the law set aside, the decisions of the labor board mullified, and artificial wage scales provided for one group of employes that are not enjoyed by any other similiar workers in the country.

Should the rail strike succeed in its purpose it would mean the end of government by law in this country, and the substitution of a government by force, the strongest group of citizens being able to compel the rest of the country to accept their own interpretation of economic principles. Congress might as well abdicate, at least so far as attehpting to carry out the interstate commerce clause of the constitution is concerned, and our courts and other judicial bodies would better consult the brotherhood leaders before handing down their decisions.

But those dire forbodings will not be realized. Menacing gestures have been made many times in the past by those who assume to act as spokesmen for the railroad workers. Each time, the intelligence of the man has asserted itself and never has there been a strike that seriously threatened a general tie-up. There have been sectional disturbances that have temporarily embarrassed some of the roads, but they have quickly succumbed to the verdict of an outraged public, and the trains have run as before. There is no reason to believe that the outcome of the present movement will be any different.

The rail workers know that it is foolhardy to start something that they cannot finish. It is absurd to inaugurate a strike that is sure to fail in the end. The 2,000,000 rail employes themselves may refuse to work, but a nation of 100,000,000 people is not going to be denied necessary transportation merely because 2 per cent of their number wish it. That is an unassailable fact that the rail workers must consider, and they have at hand also the records of a long list of strike failures in the past where a minority attempted to bend the majority to their will.—Topeka Capital.

Cause of Appendicitis.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

FRIENDSHIP

There will be a union singing at Friendship next Sunday in the new and old books, and not a contest singing.

WHAT HAS BEEN SAVED

Senator McCormick's calculation that the people of the United States have been saved $7,000,000,000 since the advent of the Republican administration is not far wrong. The national debt has been reduced $1,000,000,000 approximately, by virtue of wise and business-like administration of the money market, which have credit of the nation and the condition of the department of the treasury. This has held itseffect on the credit of the nation and the condition of the money market, which have cooperated to increase the value of Liberty bonds by $3,000,000,000. Government spending has been reducde about $1,000,000,000 a year and the other $2,000,000,000 of the Illinois Senator's seven is accounted for roughly by lowering of taxes over two years.

If Democrats had remained in control of the White House and Congress, doubtless there would have been some improvement over conditions existing in 1920. Even Democrats hardly could have continued spending at the phenomenal rate they achieved during the war and immediately after. It is fair to assume, moreover, that there would have been some betterment in the money market, and consequently some strengthening in Liberty bonds quotations, without a change of administration at Washington. But much of the betterment is reasonably to be credited to the reform in the administration, to the inauguration of the budget system, to Secretary Mellons' wisdom and skill and to the restraint which Congress has exercised in making appropriations.

With the continuance of the budget system, with President Harding in the White House and Secretary Mellon in the Treasury and with Congress leaders who realize the need for economy, there will be continued reductions in expenditures at Washington. The confidence which the people have in the present administration is deserved — Buffalo Express.

LIBERTY HILL.

The singing society met at this place Sunday with a large crowd and many visitors, whom we were glad to see and invite them to come and see us again.

Prof. R. A. Smith, a well noted singer, from Birmingham, was with us and did some good class directing. We are always glad to have singers like Prof. Smith with us.

The directors for the afternoon were: Messrs Glover Smith, Leonard Culp, J. Z. Mims, R. A. Smith, Dave Melton and Miss Etta Foshee.

The organists were: Misses Marie Morris, Blanche Riggins, Marietta Collins, and Auolean Littlejohn.

Also a quartette was rendered by Prof. R. A. Smith, Glover Smith, Zack Lowery and L. V. Riggins.

The protracted meeting will start at this place next Saturday. We are expecting Bro. Holland from Birmingham to be with us in the meeting. So everybody come and help us to have a good revival, but if you can't come with good intentions and for the good of the cause you need not come.

Rheumatism at 60

How glorious you will feel, mother, when your rheumatism is all gone. Let S. S. S. do it. It will build you up, too!

S. S. S. Thoroughly Rids the Body of Rheumatism Impurities.

Somebody's mother is suffering tonight! The scourge of rheumatism has wrecked her body; limping and suffering, bent forward, she sees but the common ground, but her aged heart still belongs to the stars! Does anybody care? S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-purifiers known, and it helps build more blood cells. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable. It never disarranges the stomach. It is, in fact, a splendid tonic, a blood maker, a blood enricher. It banishes rheumatism from joints, muscles and the entire body. It builds firm flesh. It is what somebody's mother needs tonight! Mother, if you can not go out to get a bottle of S. S. S. yourself, surely somebody in your family will. Somebody, get a bottle of S. S. S. now! Let somebody's mother begin to feel joyful again tonight. Maybe, maybe it's your mother! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

The World's Greatest Baking Powder

(By S. E. Norton)

In our last letter we gave some description of New York Harbor. This time we shall tell something of what we saw in a days visit to the great city where we went by invitation from Mrs. Edwin Norton, widow of a brother of the writer. Mrs. Norton is a woman of large and varied business interests but nevertheless a very charming hostess who knows how to give her guests a good time. We met her by appointment at Fifth Avenue Bank and after cordial greetings she inquired: "What do you most want to see?" Thinking it would be well to commence at the beginning of things we told her we wanted to visit Battery Park which is located at the extreme end of that part of Greater New York which covers Manhattan Island. This is the place where the great city had its beginning and still contains many objects of interest to tourists.

The first object to attract attention after we got into the park was the "Convict Ship," moored at a pier or wharf just outside the sea wall. This is said to be the oldest ship in the world that is now afloat, built of Teakwood in India, about 200 years ago, and used to carry prisoners who had been exiled to various convict colonies, a custom commonly employed in dealing with convicts, and vividly described by Charles Dickens in the first chapters of his "Great Expectations." For many years this ship laid at the bottom of the sea at Sidney, Australia, until it was raised, repaired and brought to New York, and there fitted up as a sort of meseum, and visited by millions of people.

Another object of interest is a bronze statue of John Ericson, inventor of screw propellers for vessels and aircraft, and the man who made the first turret for guns on ships. His first model had two guns mounted in a revolving structure set on a hull that was but little above the water, and dubbed by the public "cheese box on a raft," but bore the more dignified name of "Monitor." So agile and effective was the device that when put to a test and pitted against the much larger gunboat "Merrimac" with her rigid guns protruding from portholes in its sides and somewhat heavy armor to protect them as well as the whole upper works of the craft, this veritable floating fortress of the Confederate navy, when engaged in battle with the Monitor at Hampton Roads, was simply helpless, and failed to make an effective hit because the opposing craft was so small it could and did get so close to the larger vessel that every shot became effective and the victory was soon complete. This invention ended the construction of battle ships carrying guns with rigid mountains. It is a far cry from "Monitor" to a battleship of the "California" type, but Ericson made both possible.

"The Battery" takes its name from a small fort built in 1704 to protect a small Dutch settlement at the south end of Manhattan Island. This fort stood on a small island of rocks about 200 feet from short; was rebuilt about 1750 and again in 1805. During the war with England in 1812 it was the principal defense for the city, but was not of much use thereafter because of large and better equipped forts built at the "Narrows," the channel connecting the upper and lower bays. In 1822 the government gave the property to the state of New York. The space between it and the shore was filled in and the whole fort, 205 feet in diameter, was built up and covered with a substantial roof and for several years under the name of "Castle Garden," it was the principal place of amusement for the people of New York City. Here Lafayette, Kussuth, Andrew Jackson, Martin VanBuren, and many other notables were tendered receptions. Here in 1850 P. T. Barnum, the great show man, introduced Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," to an audience of upwards of 6,000 people among them the father and mother of our hostess. Jenny Lind's half of the income from her first engagement in America was $12,500, which she donated to New York charities. The great popularity of Jenny Lind is set forth in the words of a song composed during one of her American tours, and was committed to memory by the writer at the time, and was as folows:

"Of manias we've had many,
And some have raised the wind;
But the tallest far of any
Is that for Jenny Lind.

"My wife is slave to fashion,
Against it never sinned;
The baby and the kitten
Are called after Jenny Lind.

"My wife has a Jenny Lind bonnet,
And a Jenny Lind 'vasete;'
With Jenny's portrait on it
My handkerchief looks neat.

"Oh, Jenny when you leave us!
What shall we ever do,
To catch another nightingale
To sing as sweet as you?

"You're but a bird of passage,
You'll leave us with the rest;
But sure you have a foresight rare—
You've feathered well your nest."

From 1855 to 1901 Castle Garden was used as a receiving station for emigrants, and during that period some ten million emigrants to the United States landed at this station. In 1901 the government took charge of emigration and established a new station on Ellis Island. This great building was converted into an aquarium, the largest in the world. It is a monster meseum of the inhabitants of salt and fresh water.

The walls on the ground floor and in the galleries are lined with glass or glass-faced tanks, while large tanks with open tops are set in the floor and surrounded by iron railings, to prevent falling in, or annoying the specimens of the exhibit. Upwards of 300 varieties, and thousands of specimens living in their natural elements are displayed; some commonly known, but others that are never seen by many of our people. Admission is free, and it is recorded that for upwards of twenty years there has been an average of more than 5,000 visitors daily, including Sundays. Almost every day there are visits by school teachers with their classes, and it is considered a great educational institution.

Having pretty thoroughly "done" this museum, our hostess announced that it was time to go home for lunch. We were conducted to the Lexington Avenue Subway. This is a double-deck tunnel, the upper one, about thirty feet below the surface, is used for local trains, and the lower one, fifty feet down, both cut through rock, is used exclusively for express trains making long runs between stops. With double track, few switches, and no grade crossings and electric motors, long trains at frequent intervals conveying over a thousand people during rush hours, reduce distance to a minimum of time. The scenery is not inspiring, but the "get there" is fine.

We made the seven miles to 86th Street in 18 minutes, then climbed by stairs to the street. After a short walk we entered a large apartment building and stepped into an elevator, were lifted to the top floor, the 12th, and ushered into a beautifully furnished home, where we were charmingly entertained for a couple of hours. Our hostess, having an important business engagement, conducted us to the Metropolitan Museum in Central Park, where we spent all the time we had to spare before starting home. We had planned to return to Kenvil at night.

The Museum is an immense building containing many valuable collections of works of art. Sculpture, paintings carvings and historical objects gathered from all parts of the world by wealthy people and many of such collections have been left by request to the Meseum for safe-keeping, as well as a benefit to the public. Here they are displayed under most favorable conditions, admission being free except Monday and Friday, when a fee of 25 cents is charged. More than one brief visit is needed before we attempt description, and we hope to return and get better acquainted.

New York is a city of so many superlatives that we are gathering plenty our publishers and readers care for of material for many more letters if them. There are big things on every hand.

NO MINORITY CEERCION

President Harding had perfect confidence in the people's verdict when he wrote one of the spokesmen of the striking rail workers, "If you mean to challenge the righteousness of free men to be protected in their lawful pursuits against interference and violence, I will be glad to join you in submitting that question to the decision of the American people." There is not a person in the country, with mind untainted by the teachings of Gompers, but will concede that a man has a right to work when employment is offered him, free from interference from any third party. The soundness of that doctrine is so patent that to dispute it reveals a complete lack of sympathy with the fundamental principles upon which this government is founded.

But the labor leaders of the Gompers stamp know that if they acknowledge the right of idle men to accept employment whereever and whenever they can find work their power is doomed, and the strike as a weapon in labor disputes has lost its potency. Every strike would be speedily broken if the employers were left free to hire men willing to take the places of those who had voluntarily left their job. Mr. Gompers knows that to make a strike effective, would be workers must be overawed by picketing, threats, and intimidation. They must be prevented at all hazards from taking the places of the strikers.

The American people will neve. consent to an organization of a very small minority of their number exercising a deliberate coercion over the rest. Mr. Harding relies on the American sense of fair play when it can be expressed free from the vicious influence of Mr. Gompers and his coterie. The direct question probably will never be presented to the voters for a decision, but practically Mr. Harding's position, and the voters every Republican candidate for office at the fall elections will endorse can then determine whether they want their public officials governed by such policies. There is not a doubt that the answer will be an overwhelming "Yes."

REVIVAL MEETING AT POPLAR SPRINGS

Rev. W. W. Robinson, the pastor of Poplar Springs Baptist Church, requests us to announce that the revival sevices at that place will begin on the second Sunday in August. Rev. J. L. Hand of Newton, will assist in the meeting. Everybody is invited to attend.

DROWNED AT MITCHELL DAM

Dan L. Rush, age 27, was drowned at Mitchell Dam on July 31st. His body was recovered from the waters the following day and brought to Clanton. Undertaker Martin prepared it for burial and shipped the same to Sylacauga. Interment took place at Mt. Olive, near Sylacauga. The dead man is survived by a wife and one child.

THEY'LL BE GOOD

Some time ago the Suez Canal Company issued regulations which had the effect of practically banning American oil tankers from the Canal. Protest on the part of American interests followed speedily, for if the original regulation had been permitted to stand nearly 1,000,000 tons of American tankers would have been barred from the use of the Suez. This would have applied to the U. S. Shipping Board's tankers, privately owned and naval vessels. The Shipping Board got busy. It was suggested by government officials in Washington that if the discrimination were allowed to stand this country would retaliate through its control of the Panama Canal. Did that work? Row-ther! as the British would say. The Suez Company has promised the American Bureau of Shipping that it will change its regulations to admit tankers classified by the U. S. organization. In shipping, as well as in tariff matters, the nations of Europe are going to find that it will not pay to pick on Uncle Sam. He can do some retaliating of his own, if he is driven to it. But if the Democrats were permitted to remove all our levers, or if Democratic control of the government would re-establish the policy of surrender which characterized the Wilson regime, we would soon be in a bad way.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord in the 30 x 3½ inch clincher type is a tire that the small car owner will warmly welcome.

It gives him, at a price lower than the net price he is asked to pay for many "long discount" tires, every advantage of quality cord tire performance, for it is a quality tire through and through.

It is made of high-grade long-staple cotton; it embodies the reliable Goodyear quality of materials; its clean-cut tread engages the road like a cogwheel.

The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear.

The tough tread stock in this tire is carried down the sidewalls clear to the bead, making it rut-proof to an extraordinary degree.

Despite its high quality, and the expertness of its construction, it sells at a price as low or lower than that of tires which lack its important features.

The 30 x 3½ inch Cross-Rib Cord clincher $12.50

This price includes manufacturer's excise tax

Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord Tires are also made in 6, 7 and 8 inch sizes for trucks

A LONG FACE

A certain gentleman who was, not long ago a candidate for a certain office in Chilton County, but who was not successful on Tuesday, went into Ed Wagoner's Barber Shop Wednesday to get a shave in the hope that it would help his down cast feeling a little bit. When Ed had completed his tonsorial manipulations, his "patient," who had not spoken a word during the whole performance, leisurely alighted from the chair. He reached in his pocket and took out a quarter and handed it to Ed. When he had put on his collar and hat and was ready to go on his way, he said to Ed: "Don't I get some change?"

Ed replied, "Partner I would like to shave you at the regular price, but I can't afford it on a face as long as that one you are wearing to-day."

FOSHEE IS SATISFIED WITH DECISION OF THE VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., August 14, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Plase allow me space in your paper to thank those who supported me in the Primary of August the 8th for their support. While I was defeated, I wish to say that I do not hold any ill feelings toward those who voted against me. As I often said before the primary, it was a question for the voters to decide as to who they wanted for their Clerk, and they have decided that they wanted Mr. Mims and I am perfectly satisfied with their decision.

I trust that every Republican in the County will put their shoulder to the wheel and elect the ticket by the biggest majority that we have ever elected our ticket in this county.

I wish again to thank those who supported me in the primary as well as all those who have supported me in the past. And I wish to assure the Republicans in this county that in the future, as in the past, I will be found with those who are laboring for the interest of the people of this county and the Republican party. After Mr. Mims is elected, which I am sure he will be, I stand ready to aid him in every way that I can, in order that he may make as good, if not the best, Clerk this county has ever had.

In conclusion I wish to appeal to every Republican in this county to do their best for the entire Republican ticket.

Faithfully yours,
M. D. FOSHEE.

VACUUM COTTON PICKER TO BE SHOWN AT ATLANTA

Methods of ginning, baling and transporting cotton have ben improved much since Ely Whitney first invented the cotton gin. But no real improvement has been made in picking until a recent invention came on the market.

The local Ford representative, Mr. R. C. McDavid, has just received word from the Ford Motor Company in Atlanta that a vacuum cotton picking machine will be one of the interesting exhibits at the Southeastern Fordson Industrial Tractor Show to be held from August 29th to 31st inclusive.

Many mechanical pickers and harvesters have appeared from time to time but none proved practical.

This machine acording to Mr. R. C. McDavid sucks the cotton free from the boll instead of tearing it free. Large nozzles or funnels are fastened on the ends of long hose. These are connected to the machine in which is installed a powerful suction fan.

The nozzles or funnels are lowered over the cotton plant and the suction draws the cotton free and deposits it in a bag.

In the process much of the seed is extracted also.

This machine derives its power entirely from the Fordson Tractor.

Mr. McDavid states over seventy manufactures of industrial and agricultural equipment have combined with the Ford dealers of Atlanta and surrounding territory to exhibit many other machines of as much interest as the Vacuum Cotton Picker.

BILLINGSLEY THANKS THE VOTERS FOR NOMINATION

Says will Work Harder Than Ever for Benefit of Schools.

Thorsby, Ala., August 14, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me space in your paper to thank the people for their support in the Primary August 8th.

I am duly grateful to the Republicans of Chilton county for the honor paid me by the nomination for member of County Board of Education. I shall endeavor to show my gratitude by renewed energy in my efforts to make our schools better for our boys and girls. I am equally grateful to those who did not vote for me. I feel sure you were honest in voting for what you thought was best. Your choice is my choice.

Now the Primary is over and I hope every Republican will join hand in hand and shoulder to shoulder in putting over one of the greatest victories for the Republican ticket in November we have ever put over.

Yours for the success of our ticket.
W. J. BILLINGSLEY.

CLANTON PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENS ON SEPTEMBER 4

Principal Says do not Bring any Books until Told by Teachers.

The Clanton Public School will open the first Monday in September. There will be no public exercises. We shall begin work that day. I regard a protracted series of hot-air speeches as worse than useless and announce that such will not be indulged in this year at opening. We want the children to be on hand at 8:30 with what books they have. If new books are needed they will be specified on the first day. Upchurch Drug Company has been given a list of books to be used and will have a supply on hand. Do not buy books until told by your teacher.

There may be a few changes in books so I am making this announcement to save your money. Under the law we now have a right to adopt our own supplementary books and I presume every teacher will exercise that right.

Since the policy of the school in general can not be carried out without the co-operation of the entire faculty, I do not feel that I have the right to make any announcement until I have had the approval of my coworkers.

In view of the fact that a good deal of expense has been incurred in recovering and renovating the building, that a full-time janitor will be necessary to take proper care of building and grounds, and in view of our deficit last year with no hope of any increase of revenue this year, the board feels that it is necessary to charge a fee of $3.50 per pupil. This will hardly cover expense of coal, janitor, crayon, and repairs.

The board will consider it a special favor if as many as can do so will pay the fee before school opens so as to avoid all coming at once. Be sure you keep your receipt.

Although the faculty has been announced once before, I give for information the names of our teachers again:

Sixth Grade, Miss Woodie Rawlinson; Fifth, Mrs. Currie D. Thomas; Fourth, Miss Clyde Young; Third, Miss Bessie Floyd; Second, Miss Eula Mae Vines; First, Miss Alice Selman and Miss Rena Pinson.

Respectfully submitted,
IRA PEGUES.
Superintendent.

Tam Miller of Lock 12 was here Tuesday to vote. He has been at work with Gandy's Store for several weeks.

FORMER CITY TEACHER WRITES OF STAY HERE

To the People of Clanton:

As the time for the school session draws near, we who are deeply engrossed in the work find full thought employment with reference to future plans for the year. If this were not the case our inspirations of early youth, "Look forward and not backward," would be in vain. But, however, I still retain indelibly numbers of thoughts of you Clanton people, and I am sure that I shall possess the same, regardless of my field of work.

Since leaving your town, I resigned my position in your high school, and as I possibly shall not have the opportunity of seeing you, and as I am a firm believer in giving honor to whom honor is due, while we may then please permit me to say the following:

I sincerely appreciate your cordial hospitality in taking me into your activities. I fully enjoyed the association with you. You were a most loyal people in co-operating and contibuting to the success of our plays and other exercises of the school.

I want to make special note of the following for their extra contributions: Mrs. Renfro Mullins, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. Orr, Mrs. Hosea Downs, Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. Marion Foshee, Mrs. Lande, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Marion Gore, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Mahan, Dr. Upchurch, the Baptist Ladies, and possibly others should be mentioned in this list, but at present these are the ones I recall.

It was very pleasant indeed to work with a Principal with the capacity for the place as possessed by Mr. Alverson. I congratulate you people on keeping him.

I enjoyed to the fullest extent the associations of your girls and boys, and please bear in mind that I am a sincere friend to each and all in doing my bit, where chance affords for their future advancement.

I am glad that I was permitted to pass your way during life's journey, for the poet has rightly said: "We are a part of each and every one we meet." Then I hope that I have contributed my part to you in touching the lives of your girls and boys in some manner, such that they shall reap a good harvest from the same in developing that well-rounded educated Christian character which I hope every girl and boy shall attain I wish for Chilton County High School an exceedingly prosperous future.

Yours sincerely,
ELIZABETH MONROE.

WOULD HAVE U. S. OWN POSTOFFICE BUILDINGS

Millions Now Being Paid out in Exorbitant Rentals to Private Parties.

Washington, Aug. 14. — Congress will be asked to give its support to the plan initiated by the Postoffice department for government ownership of postoffice buildings throughout the country.

This step seems likely as the result of the decision practically reached by high officials of the Postoffice department that this plan for government-owned postoffices, instead of the present system of rented offices, will be made the major endeavor of the department for the remainder of the administration.

Congress will be consulted at every step in the scheme, which involves the purchase by the United States of more than 5,000 postoffice buildings, and sites for many more, as the parcel post business of the nation grows.

The present system of paying enormous rents, running into the millions of dollars, is regarded by postal officials as perhaps the most unbusinesslike spectacle in a government service which has in the past presented many such unbusinesslike way of procedure.

Under the present way of doing things, a private builder borrows money, say, at 7 per cent, and builds a postoffice, for which the government pays rent year after. The government could borrow money at 4 per cent it is pointed out, and then would own the building itself, tax free, whereas in paying rents for postoffices it must also pay taxes, the taxes being figured into the rents by the owner.

Government ownership of all postoffices, it is pointed out, would allow the government to take the natural advantages of growth of cities, and purchase ground in advance. Thus the government would get the advantage of low cost.

It is expected that the Treasury department will fully co-operate in the plan, and that the Secretary of the Treasury will do all in his power to end the present method of renting. Officials recently were shocked at the enormous rental to be paid for a new post office building in New York, running up into many millions of dollars in as many years.

The office of the supervising architect of the Treasury now plans the building of all postoffices. The new plan would mean that postoffice men, familiar with the modern problems of postoffices, would design and supervise the building of all offices.

Cities and towns of the country would greet the new plan with joy, it is held, as all would welcome a federal-owned postoffice in their midst.

It is seldom officials believe, that a plan for betterment of a government service has hald so much of real economy and so many points in which real business methods can be demonstrated. For this reason it should be popular throughout the country and in Congress, when properly explained. It is in this connection that officials hope to get the President to send a special message.

DUDLEY COLLINS IS FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

Denies Report that he will Join Independents.

Clanton, Ala., August 15, 1922.
To the people of Chilton County:

I wish to thank those who supported me for Circuit Clerk in the election of August 8. I understand that it has been circulated around that I and some others were talking of going out on an independent ticket. As to my part this is false. I have never thought of such a thing. I am for the ticket from head to foot, and am not one bit sore. I have no hard feelings towards no one that did not support me. I think you did just what you should have done. Vote for your choice. I don't think many, if any, voted against me because they had any thing against me, but because they thought Mr. Mims should have the office, so I say now your choice is mine, and I will do all I can to elect every man on the ticket. Of course, there was one thing I hated and that was I did not carry Beat 9, yet I have no hard will towards any one.

I don't want any of my friends who voted for either of my opponents to feel at a distance towards me for I will do any thing for you today just as quick as I did after the election of 1916, when I got practically all the votes in the Republican primary.

Any time I can help you or the ticket let me know.

I am for right,
J. DUDLEY COLLINS.

CENTER HILL

Editor Union-Banner:

I come begging a little space in your paper to mention some of the current events of this place.

The singing school which has been in progress here for twenty days, under the auspices of Professor A. H. Glass, came to a close on last Friday evening with the rendering of a musical concert by the class, and an addition of three or four to help with the different voice parts. There were about sixteen different selections, all of which were very good indeed. Several choruses with the following duets, quartetts and solos, helped to create a variety of songs:

A quartette, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," by Messrs Charles and Leonard Glass, Garbon Sammons, and Marvin Merchant; a Duet, "Eternity," sung by Miss Vera Scott and Mr. Charles Glass; a Duet, "Heaven is My Home," sung by Miss Lorace Cobb and Mr. Garbon Sammons, and a solo, "We Shall Understand," by Miss Vera Scott, of Bangor, Ala. Miss Scott has been with us all the school and has assisted in the singing as well as acting as organist for the school. Her friends will be grieved to learn that she leaves for Thorsby on Sunday afternoon, where she will spend a few days with friends and relatives before returning to her home on Sunday.

Of course, there were other selections which deserve mention, but for lack of space we must overlook.

Everyone has pronounced the school a decided success and a credit to Center Hill. We all hope for better progress here in the future.

I extend my thanks for this space.

A STUMP 31 FEET UNDERGROUND

Uncle John Calloway, the blacksmith, has brought to The Union-Banner office a piece of wood which he says is a part of a stump which his son Frank, dug out of a well 31 feet below the surface. It is one more specimen added to our list of curious things. This reminds us of the fellow who wrote a letter to Henry Ford and told him that while he was digging a well he found a Ford car forty feet down below the top of the ground. He asked Mr. Ford if he knew how it came to be there. John Henry wrote back to the man and told him he didn't have any idea how a tin lizzie ever got that deep under the mud, but if he would put some gasoline and oil in her and turn the crank she would come out of that well like h—l after a yearling.

REYNOLDS URGES REPUBLICAN VOTERS TO STAND TOGETHER IN NOVEMBER

Says He will Make Clean and Vigorous Fight for Election as Probate Judge.

Clanton, Ala., August 17, 1922.

To the Republican Voters:

Since the Primary is over I take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for my supporters and friends. We have emerged from this campaign free from political scars and with our ties of friendship unbroken. I hold no ill will against any candidate or any voter, but it now becomes our duty for all Republicans to get together and elect the entire ticket next November, and to this end every voter and especially every candidate should put forth the best there is in them.

Brother Messer and I, as in regard to the Probate Judge's race, have resolved to run the campaign free from all mud-slinging, and solely upon the principles of the two great American political parties and the ability of the nominees.

I feel like this race is not so much the race of the nominees as the race of the people, and I shall gladly listen to advice and suggestions along this line and I hope every voter will feel free to discuss the matter personally with me.

Again let me thank my friends and supporters with a heart full of gratitude and a mind of unforgetfulness, and I will attempt in my humble way to show my appreciation for the nomination by making you a clean but vigorous fight for the election and if successful to make you an efficient and obedient servant worthy of your great confidence and trust.

With best wishes for success to all the Republican nominees and our party, I am.

Sincerely,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

FRIENDSHIP SINGING

Last Sunday, August 13th, was the day set for the all day singing at Friendship Baptist Church near Clanton. The weather being rainy and unfavorable, there was no singing in the morning. At 1:30 P. M. the house was called to order by Mr. J. D. Collins. J. W. P. Murphy was elected as Chairman. After a song, heads were bowed in prayer led by Mr. L. N. Henderson. The committee arranged for the first lesson to be in the new books, led by Mr. J. A. W. Mims. Then we had several songs sung in the old books led by Mr. J. A. Blankenship. After a few minutes recess the house was again called to order by the President.

The following directors were allowed fifteen minutes each: L. H. Henderson, Rube Miller, J. A. W. Mims, G. D. Retherford. The organists were Miss Alice Wyatt and Mrs. J. D. Collins, Jr. The singers wish to thank the Friendship Church for the priviledge of being with them. Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.

Costs a Little More

Gilster's Best is not a cheap flour. It is a quality product, made for those who know and appreciate finer flour. It costs more to manufacture, and sells for a few cents more than cheaper flours.

But the delicious flavor, the dependability of your baking, and the fact that Gilster's Best requires less lard more than make up for the slight difference in cost.

If you prefer a self-rising flour—Gilster's Featherlite or Gilster's Mother's Joy.

THORSBY PUBLIC SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPORT

At a mass meeting of the representative citizens of the Town of Thorsby, held last October, for the purpose of considering the needs and advisability of erecting a new public school building, with also a further view of, if advisable, to try and procure the consolidation of other near by schools, a committee of seven were elected, representing the different sections of the Town, whose duty it was to look to the securing of location or site, get information as to kind of building needed and cost of same, (approximate,) and the best means of raising money for this project, after which they should report to the people their findings.

The following committee was elected: Chas. A. Peterson, Chas. E. Lucas, T. W. Robinson, J. W. Littleton, J. W. Davenport, William J. Billingsley, and C. R. Foss.

The committee at its first meeting decided on investigating three things: Site or Location, kind of building and cost, and method of raising money.

Regarding the site, the committee after having investigated several places decided on securing option on 5 acres of land owned by J. B. Littleton, which is situated on a high knoll at a point a short distance south east of his residence, and also a short distance east of J. E. Pate's residence. This to the committee was considered to be the best location that they could find for this purpose all things considered. This option the committee still holds.

With regard to the kind of building and cost, the committee sent C. A. Peterson to Montgomery, to confer with the State Department of Education, where best knowledge of proper kind of buildings and the approximate cost of construction, could be had. Mr. Peterson reported that the most suitable building for us to construct would be of wood, four rooms and auditorium, and so built that it could be easily added to, when the demand need, or we saw fit to effect a consolidation with other schools. This building would cost between $7,000.00 and $8,000.00. The State would further give us financial aid by matching every TWO dollars of our money with ONE of theirs.

If they do this however, the construction of the building would have to be according to certain State regulation, though this would not mean that the construction would cost any more. Then also the property would have to be deeded to the State, to assure them that the building would not be sold, or used for other purposes.

By getting State aid it would mean that if we raise $5,000.00 the State would match ours with $2,500.00 thus giving us in all $7,500.00 for building purpose.

The next question taken up, by the committee was that of raising money for the construction of this building. The committee felt that there would be no use in raising less than $5,000, and they saw only two ways to procure this sum, one by subscription and the other by floating a bond issue. Regarding raising this amount by subscription, the committee felt this method would be a futile task, and further more a decided and unfair way, the burden falling on a few, but by floating a bond issue, all tax-payers would have a share in helping to pay for this building, and in fact the only way the committee saw that the money could be raised.

At this point the committee was confronted with the obstacle, namely, that our Town Charter says that the Town of Thorsby can only obligate itself to an amount not exceeding $500.00, and further more in as much as several attorney's who were consulted differed as to whether we could or could not, the committee decided to get an opinion on the matter from Judge Mayfield of Montgomery, Ala., whose opinion we felt would be decisive in the matter. This opinion we secured thru the efforts of Rev. J. M. Graham.

At this writing the written opinion is in the hands of one of the committee, who is out of town, the committee will have it published in another issue.

However, Judge Mayfield, after having examined the minutes of the town Council for some time past, states that the Town of Thorsby, is now operating under the Political Code of 1907 which revokes all charcharters of towns of this size and under this code we can float bonds or obligate ourselves up ot 5% of our taxable property.

If this be true, ad we consider his decision decisive, the Town of Thorsby can float Bonds to the amount of $5,000.00.

Therefore, if the people want to float a bond issue the committee felt that in as much as a city election was soon to be held there would be no additional expense in placing the issue before the people at the polls for acceptance or rejection.

The suggeted method of floating the bonds was for a term of 15 years, so as to retire them at the rate of about $333.00 and interest per year.

Now then please bear in mind, that this committee was elected to look into this matter as stated, get information on same, and report back to the people.

It is not the intention of this committee to even recommend that the people do this, but merely to place the facts before the people as we saw them. As to the advisability of the town floating this bond issue, we cannot say, but leave this with the people and Town Council. As to the site and construction of this building, that would be a matter for the Town Council and future committees. We consider our work finished at this point and respectfully submit this report to the people.

Respectfully,
CHAS. A. PETERSON,
CHAS. E. LUCAS,
T. W. ROBINSON,
J. W. LITTLETON,
J. W. DAVENPORT,
W. J. BILLINGSLEY,

COTTON TEXTILE WAGES

Washington, Aug. 8—An investigation was recently made covering wages and hours of employment in 61 Northern and 32 Southern cotton mills, employing an aggregate of about 60,000 persons. This survey showed that the average wages of all classes of wage earners before the reduction which started the strike in the New England mills, ranged from 100 to 138 per cent above the level of July, 1914, according to the National Industrial Conference Board.

The average hourly earning-of all wage earners in Northern mills on January 1 stood at 138 per cent above the July, 1914, level, while the average weekly earnings were 109 per cent above the 1914 level. In the Southern mills hourly earnings showed an increase of 126, and weekly earnings, 113 per cent above 1914. While there have been some reductions in the Northern mills, it is safe to say that wage at present are from 80 to 100 per cent above what they were in 1914, as a whole. There have also been some increases in wages in Europe and the Orient, but the tendency in those countries is for reductions relatively greater than in this country.

The information is pertinent as showing one of the chief reasons for tariff protection on cotton goods, and what may be said of the cotton textile industry applies to all others with equal force. Let us say, for instance, that the average daily wage of a cotton mill operative in 1914 was, in this country, $2.00; in England, $1.00; in Germany, 60 cents; and in Japan, 15 cents. The assumed figues are not far out of the way. And let us assume that in the United States that year the labor cost of producing a given quantity of cloth was $20,000. Then in England it would have been $10,000; in Germany, $6,000; and in Japan, $1,500.

Again let us assume that wages have risen 100 per cent in each of the four countries under discussion. Then the labor cost of producing that same quantity of cloth would in this country today be $40,000; in England, $20,000; in Germany, $12,000; in Japan, $3,000.

We therefore find that in 1914, the American manufacturer was at a disadvantage in the labor cst of producing that cloth of $10,000 with England, $14,000 with Germany, and $18,500 with Japan. Surely protection was justified under such conditions.

But today, the American manufacturer is at a disadvantage with respect to the labor cost of production of that same quantity of cloth of $20,000 as compared with England, $28,000 with Germany, and $37,000 with Japan. How much greater, therefore, is the justification for a protective tariff in 1922 than in 1914.

It will be said by the enemies of the protective policy that the efficiency of American labor is greater than that of any other country, and this should be taken into consideration. In a measure that is no doubt true, although with respect to the textile industry it can hardly be said that the American operative can turn out a greater amount in a day than can the English or German workman. In fact, in the New England mills a large proportion of the workmen are English. But granting the contention, the efficiency of the American workman is not by any means great enough to offset the difference in cost of production of a given quantity of output, while the American's standard of living, which he demands, and which we would not have lowered, is far and away superior to that of any of the others.

NOW FOR THE FINAL VICTORY

The Republican Primary in Chilton County which was held on last Tuesday, August 8th, has passed into history and the nominees of the party for the various County offices have been declared. Upon the strength of this ticket which we have nominated, we face the future with confidence, firmly believing that the past record of Republican administration in Chilton County will be endorsed and accepted by the voters in November, and the reins of our government entrusted to the hands of those men who are the nominees of the Republican party.

There are several candidates who were defeated, but that it no surprise. We all knew that all the candidates could not be nominated. And we are glad to say that so far as we have been able to see, all the defeated ones have taken their defeat with that grace and common sense that befits one who is loyal to his party in defeat as well as in victory, who is willing to drink his portion of the bitter as well as receive his portion of the sweet.

We hear our friends, the Democrats, expressing great joy at the division and unrest that exists within the Republican party in Chilton County. We are glad to say to you that such stuff is just a noise that comes to them on the winds of the night, and they are not able to tell from whence it cometh. Yet they seem to cherish the tidings which it brings and roll it on their tongues as a sweet morsel to be tasted of all those dear devoted faithful ones who have hopes some day of seeing Chilton County delivered back into the hands of the Democrats.

If they can get any consolation out of such noises of the head, let them get it. They had better rejoice now, for after the November election it will be too late. They will be confronted then with the beginning of another six years of Republican rule in Chilton County, and all their joys and hopes will have to be put aside until another political season warms them to life again.

The Republicans of Chilton County will win easily in November, and the Democrats can't kep us from it with all the Tom Heflins and Bill Brandons and Lamar Jefferses and nigger argument that they can pack in the county from the Coosa River to the Bibb County Line.

FOR A WHITE REPUBLICAN PARTY

The Union-Banner is gratified to learn that the white Republicans of Montgomery county withdrew from the county convention there on Tuesday when the negroes gained control of the meeting. We are of that class of Republicans who believe in white supremacy just as much as our Democratic friends do, and we are glad to see such protests as were given the black and tans at Montgomery.

If we are ever to have a Republican party in the South that is inviting and attractive to our people, it must be a white party free from negro domination, and negro influence and negro participation. Let us make our state convention a white convention and we can then have some hope for future progress.

Capt W. P. Lay of Gadsden was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. He has recently written a very interesting article concerning the lake that is to be created by the back waters from Mitchell Dam on Coosa River. This article, together with a map of the adjacent territory to the lake in Coosa and Chilton Counties, will be published in a future issue of The Union-Banner. Capt. Lay is an eminent authority on river problems and river development. He knows the Coosa from one end to the other, as well as the hills and valleys that lie along the sides of the wonderful stream.

Uncle Dock Gentry of Beat 9 was here the first of this week attending Commissioners Court. Mr. Gentry will be succeeded at the end of the present term by Uncle Jimmie Mims, another good citizen of Beat 9, who was nominated by the Republicans in the primary last Tuesday.

The street improvement crew of Councilman Atkinson were engaged Monday and Tuesday of this week in overhauling that part of Sixth Street between First and Second Avenues. They did a very fine job of it, transforming a series of bumps and gullys into a section of nice smooth street surfacing.

Mr. John T. Ellis is hustling his building on the corner of Second Avenue and Sixth Street in front of the court house, where he will open up a modern drive-in filling station for automobiles about the fifteenth of September.

Quite a large number of people from Clanton attended the prize fight at Mitchell Dam Monday night. They report that Bob Lawson, the champion of Mitchell Dam, made quick work with his opponent, a negro from Atlanta, who was reputed to be champion boxer of the South.

The Atlanta Constitution thinks that the chances of the Democratic party in 1924 will be better if the Republicans retain control of Congress after the election of 1922. So? Then all Democrats please vote for Republican candidates for Senate and House.

A prominent Democratic paper asserts that the Republicans have not fulfilled a single campaign pledge. Well, now, not to take up too much of your time, how about the promise to bring Liberty Bonds back to par? Or do you consider it a breach of the pledge because the bonds have gone above par?

Thos. J. Dorminey of Union Grove, member of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, was here the first of this week looking after the duties of his office. Mr. Dorminey was renominated again in the Republican Primary last Tuesday. He says he is grateful to his friends for the votes that put him over again.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Pitts were visitors to Columbiana last Thursday.

BEING AN EDITOR

Most any man can be an editor. All the editor has to do is sit at a desk six days in the week, four weeks in a month and twelve months in the year and edit such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Red Hill, let a can-opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry. A mischievous lad of Piketon threw a stone and cut Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday. Joe Doe climed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch. While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square. Ike Trimmer of Town Creek was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda. Mr. Frang, while harnessing his young colt last Saturday, had the misfortune to be kicked near his corn crib."—Albertville Banner.

A COERCED PRESS

Speaking of the bitter opposition on the part of certain metropolitan newspapers to the pending tariff bill, Senator McCumber said the other day in the Senate: "When these newspapers began to see the light was when the importing of the country began to see that some of their enormous profits would have to be divided with the Government—at least a little portion of them. Then they saw the matter just as the advertisers saw it." That explains, in Senator McCumber's opinion, one reason for the opposition. A newspaper which is favored with many thousands of dollars worth of adveritsing from importing interests is apt to side with them when they start a campaign of publicity to defeat a protective tariff bill. The editor of that paper, or its owner, may be a staunch protectionist at heart, but the prospect of withdrawal of advertising on the part of these big importing houses brings forcibly before him the question as to whether he will continue his paper at a profit or at a loss, and human nature is human nature. However, when the bill becomes a law the advertising will in all probability continue and the resulting prosperity of domestic concerns will increase the demands for advertising space. But in the battle for the protective policy the country and small city newspapers are the most loyal and effective mediums of tariff expression. They are not coerced by importing combinations.

Postmaster General Work certainly has an appropriate name. He never loafs on the job; in fact, he seems to be a little ahead of time. When there was threat of mail delay through a railroad strike, Work made prompt and urgent preparations to have the mails transported by auto. Whether there shall ever be a need for such transportation or not, we have learned two things—that we have a Postmaster General who has not only fore-sight but fore-action, and that if occasion requires we can carry the mails by truck.

Mr. Breckenridge Long, of Missouri, wanted to be shown, and he was. The American people are still against the League of Nations.

A new pracifist aggregation recently petitioned Harding to name "No More War" Day. We suggest the day the strikers return to their jobs.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska speaks of the American shipping fleet as a "White Elephant." True, and it was handed to the government by the Democratic administration.

ALABAMA MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 8—The Alabama Merchants' Association, which was organized about ten years ago but suspended its annual meetings during the War, will hold its sixth annual convention in Birmingham on August 29th, 30th and 31st. The visiting merchants, between 2,000 and 3,000 of whom are expected to be in attendance, will be the guests of the Wholesale Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

C. C. Blackwell and the Committee in charge of arrangements have prepared an elaborate entertainment program, which will keep the visitors busy every minute of their three days' stay.

Business sessions will be held in the mornings. A theater party, radio concert, fashion show, barbecue and visits to the wholesale houses and to the industrial plants, and a drive through the residential sections are among the features.

Judge W. W. Brandon of Tuscaloosa, W. D. Nesbitt of Birmingham, and others are on the program for addresses on topics of present interest to the merchants.

On the last night of the convention, a Birmingham-made-automobile will be given away to the visitor holding the lucky ticket.

NEW HARMONY

Editor Union-Banner:

I have for some time wanted to write to the paper but have been at a loss to know just how to begin, but I shall try, and if you don't think it worth publishing then cast it in the waste basket and I shall not be offended, as you know what is best for publication better than I, and you are also welcome to modify or change paragraphs or sentences in any way you see fit.

I wish especially to appeal to the ministers and fathers and mothers. Your help and co-operation is needed more and more every day. Dear Christian people, "Help." We see on every hand where we can help some one, but, why don't we do it? Is it because we are afraid to undertake to say anything to Miss so and so for fear we will not say the right thing in the right place? I say yes, that is the reason most of us sit still and keep silent when our hearts are yearning to say something to a friend and for fear it will make that friend think hard of us, but really if we were to speak just a few words they might be glad of it and it might impress them to think of themselves and the way they are going more than if anyone else were to say anything to them. And listen, just because they seem careless and indifferent don't let that discourage us. Let's keep patiently on and on for are we not taught in the Bible that Christ was not accepted at his first call every time? Then are we better than He? We are taught that He was patient and endured much, yes, much more than any of us would ever indure but people listen, let our vocation in life be to do all the good for our fellow man we can. Let us forget self and if we see a person in trouble go to them and talk to them in a confidential way, gain their confidence and you gain their respect also. Don't think just because he or she is "nothing thought of" it will lower your character to try to be an uplift to theirs, for listen, if we can do our fellowman any good God will bless our efforts and if we gain God's favor what care we for poor puny man's respect. Are we better than Christ? You know he went to the woman at that well and talked to her and she was not a good woman but His talk touched her heart and she became a good woman afterward, and we have people today who have been well thought of, people who were well respected, but they blindly went astray and have been cast down in society and the Bible has taught us to cast them out, but it did not teach us to not try to pick them up and lift their felings from the low state it is in. They have been to the bottom and now I am sure they did not find all they expected in the way of bliss there and now they see the top is the best place and have made an effort to climb back up but the way is slippery and they need our assistance and if I, poor unworthy me, can lend a helping hand please let me see, if only by just a small sign, and I shall, God being my helper come to your rescue anytime, and feel like I am doing my duty for if we keep company or rather associate only with the elite and Christians how are we to know there are sinners or people who need help? How are we to find out if they have a tender heart if we don't talk to them and learn their opinion of things and then if our opinion differ and you see they are not right then talk to them in a nice friendly confidential way and tell them how you see the matter and, well, "Right will conquer wrong." You see when a dog gets a down hill start every thing gives him a kick, but let quit being kickers. I have always been a person to be sorry for the dog and tried to make up to it with kindness for what others have done cruelly and try to find out if they really deserve so much cruelty and if they do and are absolutely hopeless then it is time enough to leave them alone.

"Love thy neighbor as they self," and "Do unto others as you would that they should do unto you," are two good slogans and I hope to have more people to help me follow them. I know God will bless you in the world to come.

Please don't think by what I have written that I think I am better than any one else, far be i far from me, there is no one who feels their unworthiness more than I do. Let's hear from others on the subject as I am especially interested and hope some one else is also.

Cause of Appendicitis.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

Is Mr. Jewell in the House?

Houston Post.

The proper place to stage a strike against the United States Government is at the polls. Any other place is risky, and exceedingly dangerous.

The government of the United States is doing well to send as the head of the special mission to represent it at the Brazil centennial expedition its Secretary of State, Charles E. Hughes. The official position of the Secretary of State is not too high for the performance of the congratulatory and complimentary ceremonials that will fall to the lot of this special mission. The personal attainments and reputation of Mr. Hughes pecularly qualify him to express to the government and people of Brazil the earnest and cordial good will which animates the American people and guides their government in dealing with Pan-American affairs. It is a great and dignified mission on which the Secretary of State will sail in September, and Brazil will see a Secretary of State of great accomplishments in the person of Charles E. Hughes.—New York Herald.

Yes, we had another ball game Saturday afternoon. The home team engaged "Possum Scratch" and Maplesville mixed team in a nine inning game on the home diamond. It was evident from the very beginning that the visitors were left. The big features of the game were the batteries, Roper and Sanson. Also the batting of "Fatty" Hayes. Hayes says he is "some" ball player, says he can shovel gravel all the week and knock a 3 base bagger on Saturday and that's just what he did last Saturday. At the end of the game the score stood 7 to 14 in favor of Mulberry. This game is the second between these teams and as the visitors won the first off the Mulberry boys on their ground, the standing is a tie. They are to meet on the Maplesville diamond next Saturday to play off the tie.

To my fellow Democratic Voters of the 15th Senatorial District of Alabama:

I take this method of extending to you my thanks, for your support in the recent primary, and the nomination as Senator of this District, and hope that you will never have cause to regret my nomination, and if elected I will endeavor to represent the best interest of the people in the Legislature and sincerely hope that I may ever remember that I am a servant and not a Boss, and to those who voted for my opponents, permit me to say that it was your priveledge and you exercised the right of choice just as I did or any other Democrat, and I beg you to count me as loyal to you in public matters of legislation as to any other citizen, and I assure you that I feel the responsibility, and will need your co-operation and friendship as citizens of the great State of Alabama, in the discharge of my duties as a member of the Legislature.

And again permit me to thank you, and remind you that we have one country, a common interest and that each of us should cherish the time honored principles of Democracy, the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, and to this end, I shall labor with the hope of your friendship, sympathy and co-operation.

Sincerely yours,

GREATEST ATTENDANCE REACHED AT UNIVERSITY

University, Ala., Aug. 14—With a total enrollment of more than 1800 at the Summer School, now in progress, the University of Alabama has far exceeded all figures for attendance at similar sessions in past years. The attendance of appoximately 1100 last year was the record up to that time.

Although a large proportion of the Summer School students are working for college credits, an important phase of the work is the practical training offered adults who desire to improve themselves in their business or professions. A short course in mining engineering was given under the direction of Professor Hugh D. Pallister during the first six weeks of the session and was attended by a large number of practical miners, foremen and others. School teachers from all parts of the State are attending the Summer School, studying for collegiate degrees or preparing to obtain higher grade certificates.

Dr. James J. Doster, dean of the school of Education, is director of the Summer School. Dr. J. S. Thomas and Professor L. H. King are assistants, the latter being in charge during the secnd half of the session.

"The large attendance at the Summer School is gratifying because it shows that the desire for higher education and collegiate training has spread throughout the State," said Professor King, "but it places a serious responsibility on the University and the State. The summer school last year was the largest in the history of the University. This year the attendance is more than sixty per cent larger than last year. Many of the classes this summer have more than fifty students in them, too many for efficient instruction. If these people desire to obtain an education, we must give it to them, but we are scarcely able to handle the present number. Another increase is to be expected next year. We must prepare for their arrival by the construction of additional buildings.

"The idea of adult education is spreading over the State. The large growth of the Summer school in the past two years is proof of that. It is a healthy sign of Alabama's progress in educational development, and nothing should be permitted to block this advance."

UNION GROVE

Health is good. Plenty of rain, watermelons and weddings, for old Dan Cupid seems to have full sway in this community, for we can hear joy bells ringing in almost every direction here of late.

But our Sunday School is still getting along nicely, but was rained out Sunday morning, but our Singing Society met in regular session in the afternoon and did some more good singing. The President being absent, Vice-President T. J. Dorminey acted as President. The class was arranged by E. L. Glass, who directed the first song, followed by prayer by J. B. Northcutt, then the following directors were called: J. B. Northcutt, Leonard Glass, Mollie Vinzant, Vernon Northcutt, E. L. Glass. Organists: Miss Myrtle Dorminey. After prayer by Bro. R. S. Chandler we adjourned to meet with Collins Chapel next Sunday afternoon.

Miss Myrtle Dorminey left for Birmingham on the evening train to take a business course, and spend some time with relatives and friends in the Iron City, she will be greatly missed in this community.

Mrs. Victor Heard and daughter, have gone to Decatur for a visit to her mother, Mrs. Kyle.

Necessity for Gorgas Steam Plant

At the present time the Alabama Power Company is furnishing electric power and lighting service to a total population of 750,000, over 1,500 miles of transmission lines, throughout approximately 25,000 square miles of territory in the state of Alabama.

The company furnishes energy, either directly or by sales to other public utilities, both corporate and municipal, to a total of 63 municipalities in Alabama, which include the entire district of Greater Birmingham; Montgomery, Opelika and Lafayette on the south; Tuscaloosa and surrounding district in the western part of the state; Talladega, Anniston and Gadsden districts in the eastern division, and the Huntsville and Decatur districts in the northern part of the state.

Aside from the commercial and lighting service in these cities, the company supplies from its wholesale system a large industrial load, furnishing all or part of the motive power required by the most important industries in the state. The total number of lighting and power consumers served directly by the company is 18,500; and in addition, the company's service reaches a total of 40,000 consumers, making a total of 58,500 consumers served directly and indirectly by the company's system.

From five customers in 1914, with a total load of 7,500 horse power derived from two municipalities, one cement plant, one brick plant and one cotton mill, the steady demand for electric power has been maintained and with the closing of the year 1921, the company's system was loaded with a total contracted demand of 170,000 horse power; and with a total connected load of 370,000 horse power. During 1921, the electrical output of the system was approximately 500,000,000 kilowatt hours.

Bearing in mind the necessity of the Gorgas steam plant, which furnishes 57 per cent of the output of power of the Alabama Power Company during seasons of low water in the Coosa river, it is interesting to note the extent of the service furnished by the Power Company and the effect on that service of removing the Gorgas plant from the system.

At present the Power Company is rendering service to 158 major industries or classes of users, among which are the following:

11 foundries and machine shops.
18 public utilities.
4 steel plants.
8 lime and marble quarries.
46 coal mines.

In view of the extent and great variety of service now rendered by this company throughout more than two-thirds of the state, the effect of taking the Gorgas plant from the Power Company's system would be nothing short of disastrous to the public.

In the various classes of industries served by the company today there are approximately 100,000 men and women employed. Therefore, if the power supply should be taken away from these plants and municipalities; if house lighting, water pumping and other present-day essentials should be interrupted, street railway systems stopped, street lighting interferred with, it is easy to see the confusion and business demoralization which must inevitably result.

The great majority of the industries and public industries and public institutions now receiving power from this company's system have no steam power plants to serve their needs. In most cases, the plants were constructed without any motive power and in reliance upon the ability of the Power Company to furnish continued service. In other cases the production capacity of manufacturing plants has been increased from time to time based solely upon the Power Company's contract to furnish the additional power requirements.

It is important, therefore, that those who are vitally interested in the maintenance of the public service furnished by the Alabama Power Company, and whose business and comfort would be most injuriously affected by the proposed interruption of this service, should know these facts and bear them clearly in mind.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY,

President.

MIMS THANKS VOTERS FOR NOMINATION AS CLERK

Clanton, Ala., August 15, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me a small space to partially express my sincere thanks to the people for the hearty support they gave me in the primary election of August 8th.

I haven't words at my command to fully express my thanks, but, my fellow citizens, I hope to be able to prove my appreciation by six years of earnest business like service to you as Clerk of your Circuit Court.

I do not see any reason why we should not elect our entire ticket this fall by an overwhelming majority like two to one on the Democrats. There is quite a number of voters who did not enter the primaries. We, as Republicans, need to see after these and, if possible, get them to vote with us November.

Let us as true citizens and Republicans, present a solid front in November and elect our entire ticket by the biggest majority possible. It probably is true that some of us did not get our choice in the primary nominated, I didn't all of mine, but I am ready to help elect my neighbor's choice.

To those who saw fit to vote for my opponents in the primary, I will say I admire your independence and free thinking. Believing as I do, that it was merely a matter of choice of yours to which you are perfectly entitled and I am glad that you are, but now, since my opponents in the primary are both out, I earnestly solicit your support together with those who supported me in the primary and I assure one and all that if I am elected I will do my utmost to make you a clean, honest, and worthy servant. I will at all times be ready and willing to stand with and fight for the interest and wishes of the people, and to work for the integrity and for the purifying of the party to which I owe my allegiance.

Again thanking you for the nomination in the primary and insisting that every Republican rally to the support of the ticket in November, I am,

Yours very truly,
J. Z. MIMS.

THANKS FROM MRS. C. S. HOWARD TO VOTERS

Thorsby, Ala., August 15, 1922.
To the Voters of Chilton County:

I wish to thank the voters of this county for the splendid support given me in the past primary election. Although I did not get the nomination I feel proud of the race I made, being that this is the first time a woman has run for office in this county and taking into consideration the fact that I am not well known throughout the county. In Beats where I am known I polled a high vote, especially in Mars Hill and Freeman school districts, Beat 2, box 2, where I received every vote. I appreciate this very much, and should have been glad to have had the privilege of proving the fact by working with the rest of the County Board for the betterment of your schools, but shall leave that honor to my successful oppoents. I feel sure they can do as well, of not better, than I could have done. Also wish to assure you of my unfailing support to the Republican nominees.

Thanking the editor for printing this, I am, as ever,

Yours incerely,
(Mrs.) INGA HOWARD.

RUNNING THE FARM WITH ELECTRICITY

"SOUTHEAST FARMER," KANSAS, SAYS PRIVATE CAPITAL WILL ELECTRIFY THE RURAL DISTRICTS.

(Editorial from The Southwest Farmer, Wichita, Kansas, April, 1922)

Again—Electricity for the farm. Thirty-Nine years ago the electrical industry of the United States was in its infancy. Today it represents an investment of five billion dollars ($5,000,000,000) and the nation is covered with a network of transmission wires which carry the electrical energy to the home of the farmer, in some sections, and the dweller in the hamlet, as well as those who live in the large cities.

This great development, which has made life easier and more pleasant in the home and has made possible the greatest industrial development the world has ever known has come within the lifetime of millions of men and women now living.

The regular readers of The Southwest Farmer are familiar with the attitude which we have taken relating to the electrical industry. We believe that the development of the electrical industry is the biggest single thing which the future holds in sight.

We believe that electrical development is one of the most pressing and important problems which confronts the farmers of this immediate section of the country. We believe that electrical development is as essential to the future success of the farmer as is the development of the tractor.

One trouble with the farmer—and the same can be said of the business man in the city—is that he gives intensive study only to those things which he thinks immediately affect him and, unfortunately for him, he has not appreciated the fact that electrical development does immediately affect him.

The one thing which has harrassed and retarded electrical development more than any other has been the thinking of the electric light and power business only in terms of the city. Of course we can understand why this has been true in the past, for very naturally the electric light and power industry has developed more successfully and rapidly in cities, where the human family lives close together and are of easy access to the electric light and power lines. But with the rapid strides already made and yet to be made in the development of the electric light and power industry, the time is coming if it is not already here, when this industry must be thought of in terms of its relation to the farm.

There never was a time like today, when the man in the city is thinking as hard, as seriously and as much, about the problems which confront the man on the farm. As a consequence there never was a time like today for the farmer to assert himself and make his influence felt in the matter of seeing to it that electrical development was meant for the farm as much as for the city. As the saying goes, this is the "psychological moment" for the farmer to "come into his own," electrically speaking.

Another thing which has retarded electrical development has been the agitation on the part of many people who live in cities favoring city ownership of electric light and power plants.

The "city ownership" man can never see beyond the confines of his city. While many of them are absolutely sincere in their belief that city ownership is the best plan of action, yet there are many others who are purely selfish and advocate city ownership because it is in line with their own petty political activities. City ownership of a big industry like the electric light and power plant enables them to get fat jobs for certain chaps who help to put their man in power at a city election.

The city or municipal ownership, as it is called, will never develop the American farm electrically. The city taxpawer is not going to burden himself with additional taxes and the voting of bonds for the electrical development of the farm We cannot conceive of a number of cities in Kansas getting together and voting bonds so as to build an electric power line out into the farming country around.

So the only answer to the electrical development of the farms is private capital and along sound economic lines. Private capital will build electric power lines to the farm just as soon as it can be done economically to the farmer, and at the same time so that it will pay a legitimate return on the money invested to take it there.

And so THE SOUTHWEST FARMER is urging its farmer readers to think about the possibilities of electrical development—to think about the question in its broadest terms, and to assist in the awakening of the public generally to the importance of this problem and to the necessity of it being treated in a business-like, intelligent and sane manner.

We believe that if we could arouse the farmers of Kansas to do this one thing that we would do more to help advance the interests of the farmer, and at the same time advance the interest of the state as a whole, than any other one thing we could do.

Let's get electricity on the farm!

FRIENDSHIP NEWS

The union sing of both old and new music last Sunday was a grand success, in spite of the rain which hindered until in the afternoon, when a good crowd came. I am sure everybody, especially the older set, enjoyed hearing Mr. Blankenship sing those old songs in the harp and hormony, after which we had several lessons of the new music.

The singing school which is being taught by Prof. O. L. Devaughn is moving along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Providence, visited the latter's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Gore, last Sunday.

It seems from all the signs, M. Edd Miller has purchased himself a new Ford.

Mrs. F. O. Robinson and her sister, Miss Edieth Hand, visited friends near Deatsville last week.

A letter from Miss Hazel Gore, who is working in Atlanta, Ga., states she will be home for a visit about November.

CENTER HILL

Our Sunday School and praye. meetings are progressing nicely. Our pastor, Rev. Davis, filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday.

Our Singing School, taught by Prof. A. H. Glasscock, closed Friday night with one of the best concert the writer ever attended, and was said by many of the older people to be the best ever held in this community. Prof. Glasscock, with his well trained class, held the large audience all most spell bound with their chorous songs, Solos, Duetts, quartetts and mixed quartetts, and it was easy to see that no effort had been spared in training them and epecially the children, who sung their parts so sweetly. Prof. Glasscock is a good teacher and a highly respected Christian gentleman and any community wanting a school will do well to employ him as their teacher. He is now teaching a twenty day school at Providence, Beat 13, and a great many of our young folks are attending his school up there. For we are commanded to sing with understanding as well as with the spirit.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

The city of New York was until after the war between the States located wholly on Manhattan Island, a strip of land about thirteen miles long and from one to two miles wide, with its west side lying along the Hudson River, its northern end bounded by a small stream flowing from the Hudson River into what is called the East River, but is in reality an arm of Long Island Sound which joins the Hudson at "The Battery," where both flow into the bay which forms New York Harbor. This whole island was once bought for $28.00, but is now of incomprehensible value.

Greater New York now includes a big slice of Long Island, including the city of Brooklyn, together with several other cities and towns. To the north it extends far beyond the original boundary. Crossing the Harlem River it gathers in cities and towns spread over a wide area. Altogether the great city has a population of about six million people from all nations on earth. If we draw a circle say fifty miles outside New York's boundaries, we would embrace within it other millions who either do business in New York, or whose welfare is closely connected with it. Outside of that, there are people all over the nation and the world who have business interests in New York.

To undertake to tell what all these people do or how they live is beyond the scope of our intentions; but we will merely call attention to some prominent features. In the first place there are many who are very rich, who never earned a dollar, but have inherited great estates from their ancestors. It is quite obvious that where many people want something that only a few can have, values advance. The demand for business offices and residence property in New York, and especially on Manhattan Island has become so great that space is obtained by burrowing from 50 to 100 feet below the surface for foundations of large buildings and subways or tunnels used for transportation lines to carry the people long distances in a short time. We used several of these in getting from place to place.

Then there are so many great sky scrapers where story after story is filled up from 20 in many to 60 in the Woolworth, the tallest business building in the world (750 feet above the side walk and 118 feet below, where the great concrete pillars or piers of the foundation are bedded in solid rock.) The cost of this building, including the land it occupies was upwards of twenty million dollars, $35,000 of this amount was used for gold plating at the top of the spire. An interesting feature of this building is that it was made possible from the profits from Woolworth's five and ten cent stores throughout the country.

The largest single building that we saw was the Equitable Life Insurance Building, which occupies an entire block, is 38 stories high above the side walk, and is said to have a population of about 15,000 people during business hours.

To undertake to even mention, much less to describe all of New York's great buildings, would be impossible in the space allotted to us. There are books of considerable size wholly devoted to this purpose.

We have already spent the better part of three days in the great city, and while we have seen a great deal that is mighty interesting, it would be foolish to say we have "seen" New York. One trip we have taken twice, and can recommend it as a wonderful sight-seeing adventure: Making our way to Washington Square and Eighth Street, we find the South end of Fifth Avenue, which runs to 110th street, about eight miles. A line of double deck motor busses travels this Avenue so closely following one another that one seldom has to wait more than a minute or two to get one. The best seats are on the upper deck, as the view is unobstructed, and when (as we did) one has somebody in the party who can point out places and objects of interest along the way they can get a heap of education for a ten cent fare. From Eighth Street north for more than a mile the street is lined on both sides with the big wholesale establishments of the city. Next come many of the notable retail establishments, some of them occupying either the identical buildings, or sites where once were the homes of the rich and fashionable society people, whose property became too valuable for residence. For instance the homestead of Russell Sage is now a comparatively small building crowded on either side by mammoth stores, and now used as a Tapestry Emporium.

After the stores come block after block of great apartments ten to twenty stories high, where the tenants are called "cliff dwellers." The accommodations offered are either most meagre, and the rates often exceed half the income of the tenants: or if more elaborate the price is like a "King's Ransom."

Living conditions in New York have become a struggle for existence that only those with large incomes can survive. For the poor, or those of modest means, it is just existence where every item of expense must be cut to the last nickel, and babies are not welcome. For many years people were allowed to build to the street line, and as high as they pleased, the result being the shutting out of light and air from the streets, detrimental to human life. Now the law prohibits more than eight or ten stories on any side of a building. If a higher one is desired, other eight or ten stories may be added, provided the walls are set back all around for a certain number of feet. We saw several large new buildings of this type, and noted a vast improvement both in appearance and in effect, compared with the old style. We also wondered how such restrictions would seem to people who have fixed ideas on "personal rights." From 59th to 83rd Street Fifth Avenue borders on Central Park, a distance of 3 1-2 miles. This and some other smaller parks are the breathing places for New York people and their visitors. They are owned and maintained by the city. It is a source of wonder and gratitude that millions of dollars worth of property and taxes are set aside for open spaces and buildings filled with a great variety of objects from all parts of the world for the free use of the people.

Our route brought us to see the homes of quite a number whose names have for many years been prominent in American life: The Drexels, Ogdens, Goulds, and Vanderbilts, many of them now closed and "for sale." Others like the home of the late Andrew Carnegie, still used by his widow and daughter, did not seem to be extravagant, but sensible and pleasant. The home of Chas. M. Schawb, one of the steel magnates, which cost a million and a half dollars for the site, and two million dollars more for the building, looks like a feudal castle or a prison. We were told that the family do not stay there half the time.

At 135th Street the route crosses to Riverside Drive and leads back to Central Park at 83rd Street. This is one of the world's notable boulevards and is lined on the east side by great apartment buildings interspersed with homes of the wealthy. The west side of the drive is a park lying along the Hudson River and gives an unobstructed view of river and landscape, the opposite bank comprising the famous Hudson Pallisades.

At 123rd Street Grant's Tomb stands an object of dignified and imposing beauty, its dome rising upwards of 200 feet above the river from where it can be seen for many miles. Another beautiful structure is the Soldiers and Sailors Monument which we will not now attempt to describe.

In Central Park the first object of interest is the Egyptian Obelisk or Cleopatra's Needle, which has a remarkable history. Next comes the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Croton Reservoirs, the Zoo, the American Museum of Natural History, and many other things worth an extended investigation. Still further down Fifth Avenue we see New York's Public Library, City Hall Park and its municipal buildings costing many millions of dollars. From this point to the end of Fifth Avenue the scene is simply indescribable. The wide street is filled from curb to curb with a moving mass of humanity going in all directions, their movements controlled by a traffic policeman at each crossing.

From our seat of vantage at the very front on top of the big motor bus, Mrs. Norton was inclined to be nervous and fearful that we should meet disaster, until we told her of the driver concealed from us in his berth on the lower deck, who held his job on account of his skill in preventing trouble. She then decided to let him do the driving, and give herself up to thorough enjoyment of the great "living picture," automobiles by the thousands, busses, trucks, and even horse drawn vehicles, together with a vast horde of pedestrains in one great kalidascopic mass as far as the eye could see. It seems to grow more dense as we advance towards the lower end of the city, where the avenues converge into half the space.

Leaving the buss at Eighth Street, we took an elevated train to Courtland Street, where we entered the great Hudson Terminal Building, descended to "the regions below" and boarded a "sub" train which runs under the Hudson River to Hoboken New Jersey, and took a train to Kenvil.

TARIFF FACTS BEAT THEORY

PROTECTIVE TARIFF PRINCIPLE IS BENEFIT TO COTTON GROWERS

Washington, Aug. 15.—That the emergency tariff on long staple cotton demonstrates the soundness of the protective principle and illustrates the benefits derived by American industry, is asserted by the Republican Publicity Association, speaking through the president of that organization, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. The Association says:

"On cotton of 1 3-9 inches and over in length of staple the Emergency Tariff Act imposed a duty of 7 cents a pound. This applies to Pima cotton, or American-Egyptian, as it is sometimes called, because it is a derivative of Egyptian long staple cotton, which has been successfully introduced into the Southwestern States where it has become quite an industy with brig'it prospects in store for it if the unprestricted competition of the Egyptian cotton is prevented. The pendnig tariff bill continues the protective rate provided for in the Emergency Tariff Act.

"The United States Tariff Commission has recently published some interesting data concerning the growth of this long staple cotton in Egypt where the industry date back to 1820. It is the so-called Sakellarides long staple grown in lower Egypt, which has been made dutiable by the Republicans because of its competition with the Pima cotton grown in the Southwest, particularly in Arizona. Senator Ashurst, Democrat of that State, and a free trader on most other commodities wanted a duty as high as 15 cents and fought for it, but voted for 7 cents when he found that was the best he could get.

"During the past decade the requirements of the rapidly expanding tire fabic industry in the United States have caused this country to become the second largest buyer of Egyptian cotton. The number of motor vehicles in use in the United States has grown each year, in 1921 amounting to 10,125,000, about eight times as many as in 1913. The tire fabric industry uses half this cotton, imported Egyptian and native Pima, while the sewing thread industry is second in its use of this cotton.

"This has resulted in the extension of the Pima cotton industry in the Southwest from 375 bales in 1912 to 92,561 bales in 1921. Among other things the Commission finds that the emergency tariff has not resulted in actually increasing the price of American-Egyptian Pima cotton, althou it may have stabilized the price somewhat. And further, the fine-cloth mills afford the most striking instance of the substitution of the cheaper Pima for Sakellarides during recent months. These mills, when they use Egyptian require mainly Sakellarides, but their consumption of Egyptian cotton has decreased and their consumption of Pima gratly increased.

"The Emergency Tariff Act was passed by the Republican Congress May 27th, 1921, and with respect to Pima as well as other agricultural products, it has already been vindicated. With continued protection the outlook is good for a rapid multiplying of acreage in the Southwest devoted to Pima cotton which otherwise would be lying idle, and we will in a very few years be independent of foreign sources of supply. But American growers can never compete with the product of fallaheen labor in Egypt on a free trade basis. If Egypt could have a permanent monopoly of this market, her growers could combine on the highest prices that the traffic would stand. But with America developing an adequate source of supply the price will be pegged at a reasonable point, for to go above that would be to invite once more the competition from Egypt."

TO DISCUSS CATTLE DIPPING AT MEETING AT COURT HOUSE NEXT SATURDAY P. M.

Readers of The Union-Banner this week will see published herein the quarantine notice of Dr. Cary, in which he says that he has determined that Chilton County has become partially or wholly infested with cattle fever ticks again. His order further states that the entire county goes under quarantine today, Thursday, August 24th, and that after this date no cattle can be moved into or out of Chilton County, except under the special provisions of the laws of the State and the Live Stock Sanitary Board.

This quarantine order was given out by Dr. Cary last Friday afternoon while he was in Clanton. Prior to this visit of Dr. Cary, we believe on the 14th, Dr. Strickler presented an order to the Commissioners Court, which he insisted that the Court adopt. This order provided for the resumption of cattle dipping in the county at any time and any place and for any duration that the tick inspectors might prescribe, and would have committed the Commissioners Court to the policy of doing anything and paying for anything that might be ordered by the Live Stock Board. This order was not adopted by the Commissioners; it was not written on the minutes of the Court. Dr. Strickler was told by Judge Reynolds that this county did not have any money to provide for further dipping of cattle, and that the Commissioners were not going to have anything to do with the matter.

A meeting of the citizens was called last Saturday; there was not much time to advertise it, but a good crowd assembled in the court house at two o'clock. Judge Reynolds briefly stated what had been done by Dr. Cary and Dr. Strickler, and also outlined the attitude of the County officials in the matter.

Inasmuch as there was not a full representation of the entire county at this meeting, it was decided to call another meeting for next Saturday at two o'clock, and urge the people from every part of the county to come. The Commissioners Court will be in session, and Dr. Cary has been invited to come back. It is expected that a large crowd will be in attendance.

The question of dipping cattle again is a serious one. The Union-Banner is not in favor of it, and we hope that some means can be found to avoid the recurrence of this heavy expense and trouble upon our county and our citizens.

REYNOLDS SAYS DEMAND MADE ON COUNTY IS UNREASONABLE

Says the County Has Not Got Money to Spend for Cattle Dipping Again.

Clanton, Ala., August 21st, 1922.
Editor nion-Banner:

Inasmuch as the matter of dipping cattle again in Chilton county has been brought before the Court of County Commissioners by certain persons in authority from the State Live Stock Sanitary Board, and as the Court feels that owing to the present financial condition of the county they are unable to comply with the orders of the said Live Stock Sanitary Board in the provision of means to take care of the expenses of further dipping, I deem it proper at this time to make a full explanation to the people of the county as to the position that the Commissioners Court assumes in the matter.

To begin with, I wish to state exactly the order that has been presented to the Commissioners by Dr. Strickler, with his personal and repeated request that the same be adopted and written on the minutes of the Court. The said orders is as follows:

Clanton, Ala., August 14, 1922.
Hon. Board of Commissioners,
Chilton County, Alabama,
Dear Sirs:

The Live Stock Sanitary Board of Alabama and the Bureau of Animal Industry ,U. S. Dept. of Agri., request the Board of Commissioners of Chilton Co., to conduct the work of tick eradication in Chilton county as provided by the State-wide Tick Eradication Law, approved Feb. 7, 1919, and makes requisitions as follows:

That not less than two (2) more inspectors, besides the one now working, be employed and put to work at once.

That the necessary number of concrete dipping vats be constructed, repaired, cleaned out and replenished with water and chemicals to take care of the quarantined cattle infested with Cattle Fever Ticks.

That the necessary amount of standard tick-killing arsenical dip be provided to take care of these quarantined cattle.

That if, more cattle and a greater area be found infested with cattle fever ticks and quarantined, more inspectors, vats and dip be provided, to take care of the situation as it may arise.

That this request be entered upon the minutes of this Board meeting, this 14th day of August, 1922.

Respectfully,
DON B. STRICKLER,
Veterinary Inspector.

Copy to R. E. Jackson Filed.

It can be easily seen from the verbage of the above order that it would be impractical for the Court to meet the indefinite demands made by Dr. Strickler. While it has been the policy of the Court at all times to carry out every demand made according to law, and the court has provided means for the dipping of cattle until the quarantine has been raised in this county, and the county has been declared tick-free. Personally the Court feels like they have done enough, and at the present time, we have not got the money to provide for the execution of this order.

At a mass meeting held at the Court House last Saturday a request was made that another meeting be held next Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, at which time the Commissioners Court will be in session for the further consideration of this matter. Dr. Cary has been invited to the meeting next Saturday.

I want to urge every citizen in the county to be here at the meeting next Saturday, as this matter is very important.

Dr. Cary has issued an order placing the county under quarantine to take effect the 24th. I hope the people will come out and express themselves in order that the Court may get the sentiment of the citizens relative to this matter.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

THANKS FROM MR. MIMS.

Clanton, Ala., August 22, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me space in your paper to thank the voters of Chilton county for their support in the primary.

I have been nominated County Commissioner from the Second District. It is with deepest gratitude that I note the result and with sincere appreciation to the voters of the county. Friends in all sections not only voted for me but worked for my nomination and my success is in a large measure due to their efforts. In my home Beat my vote was exceedingly large but the vote was good every where. I feel deeply the responsibility of the office and if elected in November I shall do all in my power to fill the office with honor to myself and to the county.

Faithfully yours,
J. M. MIMS.

PITTS MAKES STATEMENT ABOUT RACE FOR SENATE

Clanton, Ala., August 22, 1922.
To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

I desire to take this means to express to you my sincere thanks for the support given me in the Primary election of August 8th, in my candidacy for Senator from the Fifteenth District, composed of the counties of Chilton, Shelby and Autauga.

I feel sure that I can win in the November Election, and should I be elected, my one ambition will be to conduct myself in the Senate in such a way that the people of this District will never have cause to regret having sent me there as your representative.

I feel that the next legislature could render a worthy service to the people of our state by repealing many of the unnecessary laws that are now on our statute books, and if I am elected to the State Senate, it shall be my policy to lend my support to such a movement, rather than to seek to enact further useless laws, thereby increasing the heavy burden of the taxpayers.

Where practical, I think all state and county officers who are to serve the people in any capacity, should be elected by the people, and not by appointment.

Should I be honored in the coming election as the choice of the people to represent you in the State Senate, I shall not lose sight of the fact, that I am a mere servant of the people, and will at all times counsel and appreciate any good suggestions from anyone, regardless of his or her political belief, as to what legislation is best for District and State.

Thanking you in advance for any consideration you may give me in the coming election, I am,

PERCY M. PITTS.

This bale of cotton was picked Monday morning, and was ginned and sold by noon. There were about thirty people engaged in picking it.

There have been some other bales brought in this week by different parties.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN BY BAPTIST CHURCHES

Important Meetings in Birmingham on the 24th and in Montgomery the 25th.

In accord with the recommendation of the Southern Baptist Convention the Baptist churches of Alabama are getting busy with their fall evangelist campaign.

Calhoun County and many other Baptist Associations have planned for revival meetings in all of their churches. Reports of these meetings have already begun to reach Baptist headquraters in Mntgomery and the office of the Alabama Baptist in Birmingham. Their more than 18,000 baptisms of last year greatly encourages them in their present effort.

Secretary D. F. Green of Montgomery urges all churches to make a list of the unconverted and asks that these be seen by the Christians. Thus their slogan of "Every one win one" is emphasized.

In Birmingham on the 24th and Montgomery on the 25th there are to be mass meetings addressed by Drs. E. Y. Mullins, L. R. Scarborough, B. D. Gray and others which they hope will be largely attended.

MANY UNIVERSITY STUDENTS "PAY THEIR OWN WAY"

University, Ala., Aug. 19—Shoveling coal, waiting on boarding house tables, "Jerking soda" and other odd jobs have paid the expenses of the men who will be the leaders in student activities at the University of Alabama at the session which starts in September. Recent investigation disclosed the usual fact that every one of the students elected to responsible positions in the various undergraduate activities have "worked their way" through school, many of them paying every dollar of their expenses without any outside financial assistance.

The students who hold these position are elected by popular vote of the entire student body, and their selection for these high honors is proof of their popularity, as well as their demonstrated qualities of leadership and high standing in scholarship.

The list of student leaders for next year who have paid all of their expenses includes John J. Sparkman, of Hartselle, "president of the student body;" Albert Clemens, of Scottsboro, and Budshon Battle, of Birmingham, vice president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the Student Government Organization; Sam Perry, of Brilliant, editor of the college newspaper; Roy L. Smith, of Girard, Business manager of the paper; and Hugh Bradley, of Troy, selected last year as the student who had been of greatest service to the university and recently the university student representative at a national conference of college students.

Student leaders who have worked and earned part of the money to pay for their education are: Miss Katherine Davis, of Montgomery, president-elect of the University Women's Council; Miss Louise Standifer, of Eufaula, who will be editor of the senior annual next year, and Shelley Sansbury, of Montgomery, who will be business manager of this publication.

Roy Smith has won a place on this list of students in spite of a heavy handicap. His hand was cut off in an accident about two years ago, but he has continued to work as an electrician on the campus and do other odd jobs to pay his expenses.

A number of the students on this list now hold teaching fellowships on the University faculty, and have won other collegiate honors, John Sparkman and Hugh Bradley being members of Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity. Sam Perry, in addition to paying all his expenses and taking a leading part in college activities, will complete four years' of college work in three years, graduating with next year's class. Before entering the University he was a coal miner and served in France with the army. Perry is one of a group of students who have reduced their living expenses to a minimum by cooking their own food. A small building on the campus was obtaind for this purpose and the men formed a "Club" each taking turns in preparing the food, serving it, and managing the place.

John Sparkman, the "president of the student body," graduated in 1921 and is now studying in the law department. During all of his college career he has earned the money to pay all his expenses by shoveling coal at the university power house, doing janitor service, acting as a newspaper correspondent, and now as an assistant instructor on the faculty. He will also hold the position of assistant secretary of the University Y. M. C. A. during the coming year.

Dad was telling the folks at home about a fight he saw down town. He said: "One fellow hit the other one with a club and nearly knocked his brains out."

Clanton, Ala., August 23, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

I am taking this means to express my appreciation of the support I received in the recent Republican Primary. I want every person who voted for me to know that I fully appreciate the confidence you plaeed in me and I assure you that I am very grateful to you for your kind remembrance, and I want every person who did not see fit to vote for me to know that I esteem you as my friend just as I have heretofore, for I concede to every person that right granted them by our constitution to vote for just whoever they may choose, and I want to assure every one that I do not hold the least animosity toward any one who did not support me. I am proud of the fight I made and the vote I received. I contend that I made a fair and honorable campaign despite the fact that one person writing just before the primary stated that I had spoken disrespectfully of my opponents, which statement I empahtically deny. I said nothing about either of my opponents that I would have not said had they been present.

When the condition under which I made the race is fully considered and knowing that I made the race absolutely independent of any faction or line-up, I feel that I received a very complimentary vote. I feel that those who voted for me are true-blue friends who voted for me wholly because of the friendship and confidence they had in me and my ability. Now the primary fight is over and I am behind the entire Republican ticket and ready to help wage a campaign to win another big victory for the Republicans in the November election.

Very truly,
W. T. BEAN.

ARGENTINE OVERSTOCKED

Mr. Joseph R. Davis, president of a New York City Bank, who has just returned from Argentina, says:

"The Argentine is overstocked with cattle. It may sound ridiculous, but it is a tragic fact, nevertheless, that cattle are being slaughtered merely for the sake of the hides. Before I left Buenos Aires the price for cows was $2 each in American money. The cattle men were even selling on the hoof a cow with a calf for $2. Sheep were selling for $1 a head. Cattle are being killed by the thousands for their hides and to get them away from the pastures."

How long could American producers of cattle and sheep keep going if subjected to unrestricted competition with the Argentine in these products? And why should our producers be penalized because of Argentinian over-production?

The Democratic tariff law of 1894 finally forced sheep to a price of $1 a head. We had 45,000,000 sheep in the United States when that law was passed, and the number had decreased to 36,000,000 before the Dingley law took effect in 1897. By 1903 the number had increased to 64,000,000. The Democratic law of 1913 put the number down to 35,000,000, because it put wool on the free list. We counted 36,600,000 head of cattle in 1894 and 30,000,000 in 1879. The number rose to 50,000,000 in 1908, and a large decrease was registered under the Underwood tariff.

The emergency tariff law helped out the situation materially and the proposed general tariff law will give somewhat permanent aid to the cattle and sheep raisers if the Democrats will ever permit it to go to the President for signature. But the situation in Argentina is a splendid argument for protection to American herds and flocks.

NEW KIND OF LOCOMOTIVE AT FORD ATLANTA SHOW

The forthcoming Southeastern Fordson Industrial Exposition which will be held in Atlanta from August 29th to 31st inclusive will have as one of its exhibits what is claimed to be the greatest advance in locomotive construction for small industrial uses.

In describing this invention Mr. R. C. McDavid, local Ford dealer says:

"In the construction of this locomotive the principal power plant of the Fordson Tractor has been set into a heavy steel frame. The latter has been mounted on large-flanged wheels and these connected with drive rods in much the same manner as a steam locomotive.

"The expensiveness and danger of fire from small steam locomotives in much industrial work led Mr. Adamson to invent this unique locomotive. Many forest fires have been started by sparks from a logging engine. Similarly sparks are dangerous around mines and large manufacturing plants.

"I am informed this engine can haul 30 freight cars on a standard guage track. As it uses kerosene oil for fuel the operating cost is very low and it has all the elements of safety."

Mr. McDavid reports this is but one of over seventy equally interesting exhibits to be seen at this exposition and it is well worth while planning a trip to Atlanta to view it.

Birthday Celebration.

Little Myrtle Farley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Farley, celebrated her seventh birthday last Friday. Twenty four of her little friends being present to wish her a happy birthday. In the evening at the mother's request the children assembled outside the house to sing some of the beautiful songs they had learned on the camp grounds. It was indeed a pretty sight to see the little ones, for they not only sang lovely songs but acted them out also. One of the guests rendered a very appropriate recitation. Next came the cake and ice cream. The picture at that moment was unique and the writer wishes we had a snap-shot. To add to Myrtle's happiness many of her friends brought her a present, most of them were toys, such as children's toys. To end the program we all had our picture taken. I saw the photographer having difficulty with the camera afterwards, but I trust none of us have broken it.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin W. Marcus left by auto Monday morning on their return trip to their home in Clarksdale, Miss. They have been visiting relatives here for the past month.

Miss Lona Thompson has returned to her home in Selma after spending two weeks with relatives here.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.

DOINGS at MULBERRY

Cotton fields are beginning to look very white and before long the fleecy staple will begin to be picked. The cotton crop is really better than was expected. Just now fodder pulling is all the go. Everyone is trying to get all saved they can before it burns up, which it is doing mighty fast this hot weather.

Yep, I told you last week we were going to have a good road to Clanton, and now we have it. Mr. W. F. DeShazo has completed work of graveling the bad places in the "wilderness" and now we can all go to town this winter, even if it does rain.

The writer understands that there is to be a game at Stanton Wednesday afternoon of this week by Mulberry and Stanton. Lets all go out and do some real rooting for the home boys.

The old saying, "Turn about is fair play" seems to be quite true around here this week. Heretofore the Macedonia boys have all been coming to Mulberry, but the Mulberry girls have gotten tired of the boys having to do all the going, so they are going to Macedonia this week.

Yes, we had another one of those one-sided ball games Saturday afternoon. The home team went over to Maplesville and engaged the "Possum Scratch" boys on the Maplesville diamond. The object of the game was to play off the tie existing between the two teams, and the result of this game was a score of 13 to 6 in favor of Mulberry. Although the Pleasant Grove boys had a special picked team playing several of the Stanton boys on the team. Mulberry had two players from Clanton but these two boys are regular members of the Mulberry team, so that could not really be counted a picked team.

Mr. W. F. DeShazo and the writer made a business trip to Clanton last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. R. J. Williams returned home Sunday, after spending the past week with relatives in Bibb county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. DeShazo and the writer spent Sunday with relatives near Plantersville.

Misses Eleanor Summers and Glois Manning attended the Seventh Grade examinations at Clanton last Friday and Saturday.

Mr. G. E. Summers spent last Saturday in Clanton on business.

Hermon White was in Clanton last Saturday attending the seventh grade examinations.

Mrs. W. H. Veazey, Mrs. Emma Allen and Miss Lula Rasberry spent Tuesday at Mr. William Walker's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. DeShazo spent Tuesday afternoon in Clanton shopping.

It is indeed with sorrow and regret that we report the death of little Louise, aged 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peters. Louise had been ill but a short time, having diptheria. Death came at 7:00 o'clock Saturday morning, and the remains were laid to rest in the Isabella cemetery Sunday.

If we could make the swamps around Clanton produce a stalk of corn for every mosquito that has been hatched there this summer, we would not have room to take care of the crop. Drainage of the swamp would turn the trick.

A stranger who spent the night in Clanton last week said he could understand why this little town had built such a fine hospital. He said his judgment was that it would soon be heavily demanded if this mosquito business were not checked.

This talk about dipping cows again is foolishness. Better be starting something to get rid of these mosquitoes in Clanton. A few ticks on the old cow is a small worry compared to a bed-room filled with mosquitoes on a hot night.

Maybe if the mosquitoes get much worse in Clanton and surrounding country, it will make some converts to the proposition of draining the swamps here abouts. We have a fine crop of these pernicious pests right now, and their argument is pretty convincing.

It is a thousand wonders that about half of Clanton don't wake up some morning about this time of the year and find the other half dead of malaria. With the filthy stagnant swamps all raound us breeding millions of mosquitoes who eat upon our carcasses night after night, and with our city sewarage adding daily more and more filth to the stagnant mess, we hardly see how it happens that we can avoid a serious fever epidemic.

A crib full of corn would be much more conducive to sound sleep and good health than a bed-room full of mosquitoes. Some of you farmers in hollering distance of Clanton are lying awake at night fighting mosquitoes, and perhaps saying things that would not sound good in public, while the same land that produces your mosquitoes, could be made to grow an abundance of corn if only you would join in with your neighbors who are in the same fix and have the swamps drained.

FISHERMAN'S PARADISE

You should not fail to read the story by Capt. W. P. Lay, published in this issue of The Union-Baner. It deals with a subject that is very close to the hearts of some of us, and gives us a very beautiful conception of what we who are spared life and health for another decade or two are to have the pleasure of seeing and enjoying.

For many years we have had a longing to go to Florida on a fishing expedition among the lakes, but now that desire has vanished and given place to a more cherished longing. We hope to live to see the lake of which Capt. Lay so beautifully writes, come into actual existence, and then we hope to live a few more years and see developed right here in Chilton and Coosa counties this veritable Fishermans and Hunter's Paradise. There is no more use in going to Florida; we are going to bring Florida to Chilton county by having flanked along our entire eastern boundary a lake of such beauty and unique charm as cannot be equaled by anything within the borders of our neighbor state on the South.

Keep the map of the Mitchell Lake that is printed in this paper. You are going to need one in the future, and this one if kept, will be just what you want.

HARDING IS RIGHT

President Harding:—"A free American has the right to labor without any other's leave. It would be no less an abridgement to deny men to bargain collectively. Governments cannot tolerate any class or grouped domination through force. It will be a sorry day when group domination is reflected in our laws. Government, and the laws which government is charged with enforcing, must be for all the people, ever aiming at the common good. The foremost thought in the Constitution is the right to freedom and the pursuit of happiness. Men must be free to live and achieve. Liberty is gone in America when any man is denied by anybody the right to work and live by that work. It does not matter who denies."

The Town of Clanton, in justice to the people of the town and surrounding country, should lead the procession in the movement to have the swamps around here drained. The town has not got a proper place to empty its sewerage under present conditions. The sewer now discharges in a creek that is so low and lazy and flat that the refuse is not carried away as it should be. It remains right where it leaves the sewer, breeding flies and mosquitoes, odors and other things that are not good for the health of the community and all this right in the edge of the corporate area of the town. Yes, we say it is obligatory on the town to aid this drainage proposition in every way possible, for if the swamp were drained, then the sewerage would be carried away as fast as discharged, and this filthy condition of the lazy good-for-nothing swamps would be in a great measure eliminated.

Mrs. Clara Mullins is in St. Louis this week looking after the purchase of Ladies Ready to Wear and Millinery for the Fall and Winter for the Clanton Mercantile Company. She will bring back a stock of these goods that will far surpass anything of the kind ever shown in Clanton. Look out for the opening about the first of September.

Mrs. Joe Retherford and children have returned to their home at Gorgas, after a visit of several days with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Greer of Georgia are visiting relatives in Clanton this week.

MRS. SHAW COMPLIMENTS COUNTY AND PAPER

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 20, 1922.
Dear Editor:

The first copy of your paper came to me last week, through the kindness of my father, T. J. Dorminey, having it sent to me for six months. My home is in Birmingham, but no place is so dear to me as Chilton county. No one can realize how your paper has improved, only those that have failed to read it for seven years.

I see you all have lots of good men on the ticket to elect in November. No doubt you will win. For you know how "women" are. They will carry any thing they try. Every thing in Chilton seems to be on the run. I read of many good singings going on in different parts of the county. Any way you all have the material to do most any thing you want to do and last but not least, a very fine paper to back any good cause the people might undertake.

Many good wishes for the county and paper's success.

Still one of you all,
Mrs. CARRIE (Dorminey) SHAW.

NOMINEE FOR SHERIFF IS GRATEFUL TO VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., August 22, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

I am profoundly grateful to the Republican voters of Chilton county for their support and for the honor bestowed upon me as their nominee for Sheriff of this county in the recent primary. My race for this place was based on duty and I hope the party will back me in November and give me a chance to give them the best service within my power. My campaign was conducted on a fair and honorable basis and I have no ill feeling against any voter who voted for my opponents. It was their right to make their selection. I hope all the hatchets are buried and I trust we all work together for the best interest of the Republican party.

Gratefully yours,
T. J. LITTLEJOHN.

LEONARD P. MARTIN SAYS HE THANKS THE VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., August 22, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to express my sincere thanks to the voters and citizens supporting me in the race for Sheriff.

While I was defeated I have no hard feelings towards any one, because as I always said I was only before you for your consideration and as I stated in my letter to the voters of May 18th, wherein I said that every voter should vote for the man they thought would make the best Sheriff for the whole people and suposing that the people have voted that way and the majority saying that Mr. T. J. Littlejohn is the man for the place I will assure Tom and the people that supported him that they have my loyal support as well as the entire ticket in November.

Again thanking each and every one who supported me, I am,

Yours very truly,
LEONARD P. MARTIN.

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes.

Note: Write for valuable free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important authoritative information which every expectant mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend," to Bradfield Regulator Company, BA-23, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

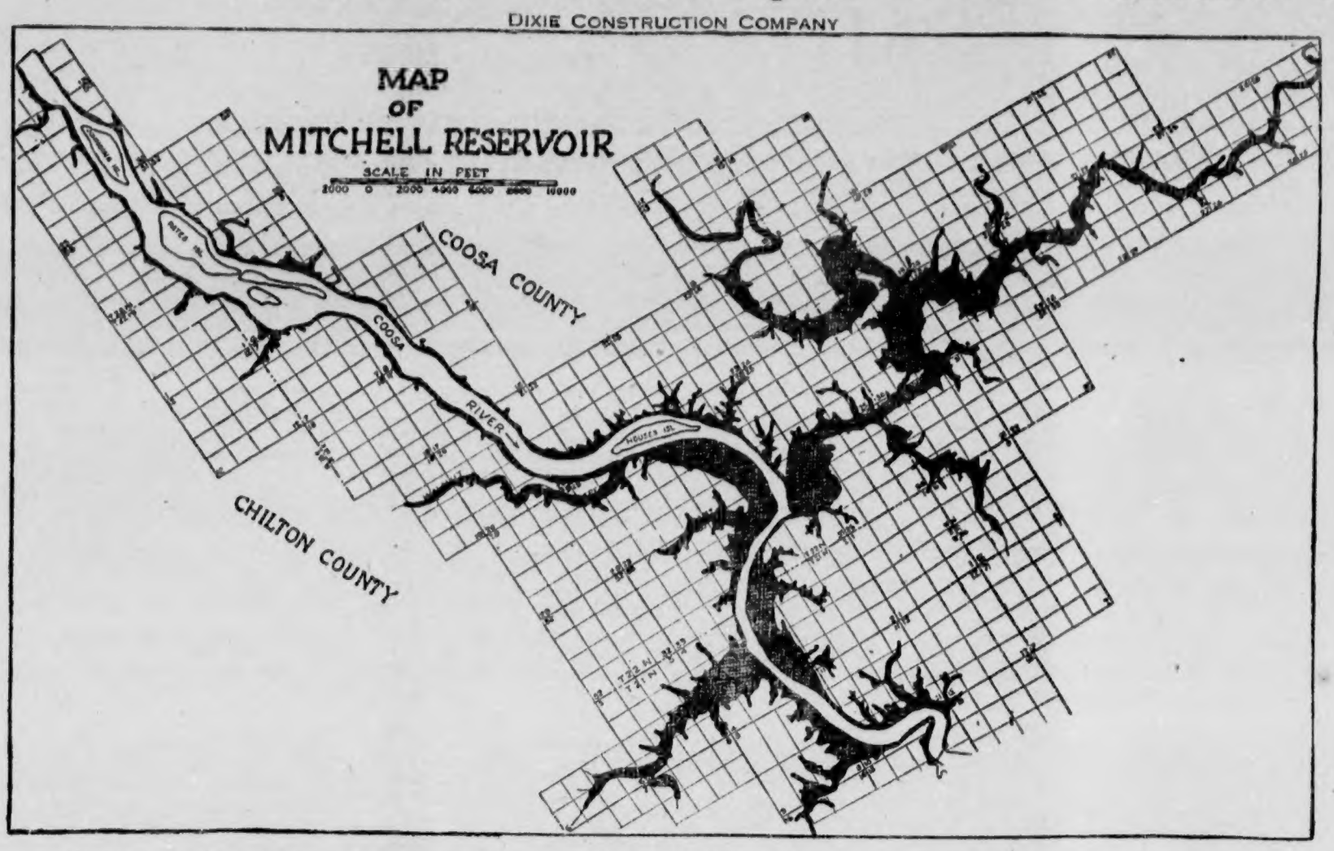
COMPLETION OF MITCHELL DAM WILL BRING TO ALABAMA PITURESQUE GAME PRESERVE



The dark outlines on the map shown above denote the back waters from Mitchell Dam when it has been completed, and which will create a fisherman and hunter's paradise in Chilton and Coosa Counties, almost in the center of the state. Between 75 and 100 square miles of territory will be included in this huge lake and the immediate contiguous territory. Note the many inlets to the lake, occasioned by inflowing creeks and smaller streams. This lake will be stocked with game fish, while all game known to this section abounds in the vast forests surrounding. The lake is 14 miles long on the Coosa and extends back among the hills for a distance ranging from three to eight miles along the creeks.

BEAUTY AND UNIQUENESS OF COMING LAKE TO BE FORMED BY MITCHELL DAM

(By W. P. Lay, Gadsden, Ala.)

By the completion of the Mitchell Dam now in course of construction on the Coosa River near Verbena and Clanton Alabama, on the Birmingham and Montgomery Highway, by the Alabama Power Company, Alabama will be presented with one of the most beautiful and picturesque artificial bodies of water to be found anywhere in the United States. We generally think of the primary benefits that will inure to the people by the building of this dam, the improvement of navigation and the development of power, but we rarely stop to think of what might be termed the secondary benefit it will bestow upon the people.

The Mitchell Dam will raise the water about 75 feet high and will back it up 14 miles to the foot of the dam at Lock 12, thereby making the connection for future through navigation over this section of the river to the Gulf of Mexico. The region that will be flooded by the backing up of this water is mountainous and hilly, with several prominent creeks entering this stretch of the river. We have Walnut Creek, Cargyle Creek and Blue Creek entering from the West, with Hatchett Creek, a large confluent, with its several tributaries, Weogufka, Swamp and Pennymotley Creeks entering from the east, all of which the water will back up various distances from two to eight miles, forming beautiful lakes, havens and inlets of all sizes, shapes and fashions, with medium elevations and high mountainous peaks looming up from all directions, while the main body of the lake formed by the channel of the river, from hill to hill, will be from a half mile to a mile and a half wide, 14 miles long.

Sportsmans Paradise.

This lake and region is destined to become a veritable Fisherman and Hunter's paradise. There will be about 75 to 100 square miles of remote mountainous forests, a perfect wilderness surrounding the lake, the large portion of which lies on the eastern or Coosa county side, with scarcely a human inhabitant. All game known to this section of the country, except deer and bear, are found here. The principal game found in this region on the lake will be squirrel, quail, wild turkey, duck, coot and geese, and in season hunting will be very fine. Fox abound here, the Fox hunters paradise. Fishing and boating, however, will doubtless furnish the greatest source of sporting pleasure.

The water will back up Hatchett Creek about 8 miles, which is a large and very crooked stream. Two miles up from th mouth of Hatchett Creek will be found the little Pennymotley Basin, which will be a perfect dream, the mouth of which will be about 200 feet wide between two very high hills, with the water at this point about 40 feet deep. Immediately after passing the narrow mouth of this stream, the basin will be from a quarter to a half mile wide about two miles long, with many little brooklets, capes and peninsulars leading in from both sides.

The most picturesque basin in this region however, will be that of Weogufka Creek. This creek leads out from Hatchett Creek to the north, with great crooks and bends, practically retracing itself, winding around mountains, through narrows and spreading out into beautiful lakes and bodies of water lying from three to six miles out into the interior. This Basin is distined to be one of the most beautiful and unique that the eyes of man ever beheld. Another interesting feature in connection with Weogufka Creek, is the derivation of the name of one of its tributaries, which is Finnycochica Creek. Tradition tells us that the Indians when thy inhabited this region were able to make great catches of fish out of this little stream, as a result, the Indian christened it Finnycochica Creek. This is possibly significant of what may be expected of the Finny Tribe in the waters of the entire Mitchell Dam Reservoir Basin.

Navigation.

The building of the Mitchell Dam will not only back the water up to Lock 12, thereby making the connection for future navigation to the Gulf of Mexico over this stretch of the river, but will back the water up Walnut Creek on the west, carrying navigation up said creek to a point within five or six miles of Clanton, the county Seat of Chilton County, Alabama, a splendid industrial town. In addition to this, it will back the water up Hatchett Creek on the east side of the river, carrying navigation up this creek to within 7 or 8 miles of Rockford, the County Seat of Coosa County, making possible the development of the mineral and timber resources of this part of said County now lying dormant and would also make navigation more accessible to the busy little town of Rockford and open up the channels of trade in time, from this town and region to all parts of the world.

Lake Front Homes.

The Mitchell Dam Reservoir Lake will offer, I might say, hundreds of beautiful lake front home sites. In Florida land fronting on a lake sells for from three to ten times as much as the same class of land off of a lake, and certainly there is not a lake in Florida as beautiful and unique as will be the Mitchell Dam Reservoir Lake. Furthermore, any of the land, even the hill land, surrounding the Mitchell Dam Reservoir is richer and more fertile than the average land bordering the Lake Fronts in Florida, and lands bordering the Mitchell Dam Reservoir will retain most splendidly any fertilizing bestowed upon it, while the Florida Lands as a general thing will not.

Lake front lands in Florida are all level and about the same class, with nothing to break the monotony, while one could find almost any kind of a home site the heart could desire on the Mitchell Dam Reservior Lake. We will find here high mountainous peaks, islands, with high and level lands, capes and peninsulars in all sorts of shapes, of practically any elevation that might be desired. Then, too, I am forced to the opinion that but few, if any, lakes in Florida, or in the region surrounding them will furnish better fishing and hunting than will be found in the waters of and the wilds surrounding the Mitchell Dam Reservoir Lake.

"The call of the wild hath charm
The song of the bird, the hum of
the bee,
My boat, my rod, my dog and gun,
sweet mem'ries of thee,
A dream I love of the used to be.

the bee,
Flowers there shedding their beauty
for me;
Scenes of the wildwood, a life ever
free,
My heart in its dream is longing for thee."

POOR ORIGINAL

"The lack of further clarification of the proposal to produce fertilizer is a decided disappointment. It was hoped that Mr. Ford would unqualifiedly agree to produce a stipulated amount of finished fertilizer during the entire term of his lease."—Florence (Ala.) Daily News, April 28, 1922.

The Gorgas Units Are Inseparable

The increase of hydro power by the construction of Mitchell Dam makes necessary a corresponding increase of steam power as a standby in time of low water, if the Alabama Power Company continues to render uninterrupted service to the public. Consequently, upon the completion of Mitchell Dam the entire capacity of the Gorgas plant, including the original plant as it was completed by the company, and the additional unit which was installed under contract with the government during the war, will be necessary to assure to the public a continuous supply of power.

If this additional unit, so installed under contract with the government, should not be available to supply steam power during times of low water, it would be necessary for the Power Company to construct a similar substitute unit at the Gorgas plant, or an additional steam plant elsewhere.

The contract with the government into which the company entered looked forward to this very situation, and this condition having arisen through a demand on the system for additional power, the company should not now be deprived of the opportunity to purchase the government unit at a fair value to be fixed by arbitration, according to the terms of the contract.

The physical conditions at the Gorgas plant are such that the original unit which was built by the Power Company cannot be separated from the unit which was installed by the government so as to permit the operation of the two units separately. The government did not acquire lands or construct facilities necessary to make a self-contained plant, but merely obtained from the company the right to install additional power-producing facilities upon the lands and existing foundations owned by the Power Company.

The acceptance by the United States of Mr. Ford's first proposal would have made it necessary for the United States to take the entire Gorgas plant —not only the extension made during the war with government funds, but also the original plant and the lands upon which it is located, which are owned by the Power Company.

Under Mr. Ford's latest modification of his proposal, as announced by the press on April 29th, he agrees to accept an assignment and transfer by the United States of "all rights, title, interest, powers and benefits belonging to or which may accrue to the United States" under the terms of the Gorgas contract with the Alabama Power Company; providing, however, that the validity of the contract shall not be affected by the transfer or assignment.

The Birmingham News of April 30th quotes from a newspaper published in Florence that "considerable disappointment was expressed" in Florence "that Mr. Ford's representatives had not seen fit to eliminate the Gorgas plant entirely from the proposal, instead of offering to assume any liability in connection with the possible legal fight for its possession."

By a modification Mr. Ford seems to say to the United States: "Assign to me your contract with the Power Company. I will then undertake to wrest from that company the property I so much desire. If the contract is only a moral contract, made by the United States merely for war purposes, I will have the courts set it aside."

If this proposal should be accepted and the United States transfer to Mr. Ford the rights, privileges, etc., of the United States under the contract in question, the result would be that Mr. Ford could then become the actor and insist in the courts that he be placed in possession of the government unit at the Gorgas plant, and that he acquire in some manner or fashion the lands of the Alabama Power Company upon which this government unit is located.

This, of course, would be an open violation of the terms of the contract, introducing new parties into its enforcement, which was never contemplated by the United States and the Power Company when the contract was entered into.

These are questions in which others besides the Alabama Power Company and Mr. Ford are interested. The Gorgas plant, as has been stated heretofore, supplies 57 per cent of the output of power by the Alabama Power Company during low water on the Coosa river. Any interference with the Gorgas plant must result in interference with the supply of light and power going to the 58,000 consumers supplied directly or indirectly from the company's system.

PLEASANT HILL

Dear Editor:

Please permit me space enough in your valuable paper to tell of the wonderful meeting we had last Sunday at Pleasant Hill.

I do blieve it was one of the most wonderful sermons I have ever heard. We had two sermons Sunday, which seemed to make everybody feel good. The preaching was done by Rev. S. M. Adams of Thorsby, and followed by Bro. Wiley Davis and was enjoyed by a large crowd that was present. It sure makes us all feel like we were at home again to hear such preaching as we had last Sunday. I do wish to the Lord that everybody could have been with us, but that was impossible. We sure do appreciate the visiting brothers and sisters being with us and helping out in the up building of our Baptist church again and do hope they will continue to visit and help, for now is a time when we need help. We will meet at the same place next Saturday night at 7 o'clock for prayer service and also we will have preaching on the first Sunday in September at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., by Rev. S. M. Adams of Thorsby. Everybody is cordially invited to come and be with us and help us all they can, as our church was almost gone but we feel like we are gaining grounds and if we will all do our part the Lord will do His. So come on and all do our part. If any Baptist ministers that can or will send us in an appointment at any time we will appreciate it very much, as we are without a preacher at this place.

Mr. Thomas Dorminey and wife and little son were at Pleasant Hill and heard the wonderful sermons preached by Rev. S. M. Adams of Thorsby.

Mrs. J. M. Paschal and Miss Lizzie Martin and Miss Zora Paschal and little Gracie Paschal dined with Mrs. J. M. Collins Monday of this week.

BLEED THROUGH

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

Last week we described in a measure the strenuous New York life. This week we shall give a more pleasing picture, our subject being the home life of many who do business in New York but choose to live in open spaces outside the great city, amid trees and grass and flowers, where nature is given an opportunity to bestow its blessings. The automobile has had much to do with widening the circle of human endurance on the part of "the Commuter." Many kinds of business and office work are done within banking hours 9 to 4 o'clock, which gives time morning and evening to make a trip 40 or 50 miles by tunnel or ferry, fast express trains, automobiles and smooth highways within a ten-hour day, and live where there is room to breathe and rear a family under favorable conditions, where it does not require a fortune to either own or rent a home.

While riding back and forth from the city in suburban trains it is a pleasing and familiar experience at almost any station to see an auto with mother at the wheel, and a lively lot of youngersters come to bring or meet daddy, and possibly one or two other members of the family who contribute to its support. It has been our privilege to see the homes and environments of many of these commuters, with their modest comfortable houses, wide porches, generous lawns, flower and vegetable gardens, and such shade trees as Elm or Maple as take years to grow. Here the voices of children are heard on every hand, and their right to live is conceded. Not all of the wealthy live in New York either. We have seen many pretentious and some very beautiful estates in suburban towns.

Morristown, New Jersey, claims to have more resident millionaires than any town of its size in the country. Nowhere else in the world is the automobile in such universal use. Of the ten and one half million automobiles owned in America, fully ten per cent of them are owned in the states of New York and New Jersey, whose combined land area is but little more than that of Alabama. It is evident that this is particularly the season when all sorts of motor vehicles are used to the limit, and never before have they been used as this year in making vacation tours. With a capacity of covering 200 to 300 miles a day on good roads, which are being extended month by month all over the country, it is a familiar sight on all state highways north of the Ohio River to see almost any day a continuous procession of motor cars filled with tourists, which include the whole family and all sorts of camping outfits and baggage fastened on at every conceivable place, all rushing along in such close formation one wonders how they avoid collisions. But that it part of the game, and woe betide the unfortunate "gink" who plays a fool.

One feature of these vacation tours is camping along the way. Uunder auspices of the American Automobile Association, sites suitable for thispurpose have been selected at intervals along many of the highways, and even on by-ways far from any settlement. Here a camp village will grow to considerable proportions in an hour or two, and after supper the folks begin to mingle with people from all sections of the country. After swapping stories of mileage, gas, and bad spots of road they indulge in more general talk of home and crops, living conditions and property values, thus creating and cultivating an interest in other sections of the country and widening the horizion of their mental vision. In the language of the old couplet: "High and lowly people, birds of every feather; on a common level traveling together."

The mingling of the people of our common country will be of inestimable value in breaking down sectionalism and prejudice, by opening the door of understanding and knowledge.

We saw a very interesting "Living Picture," a few days ago while making our way from a train to a ferry boat on the Hudson River. Pater, small, slim, dignified, dressed in black. Mater, short and stout, but nimble and light on foot, neatly dressed. Pater and Mater walking just ahead of us at a lively step to keep up with the crowd. Mater holding by either hand one of a pair of the daintiest little girl twins imaginable. They were probably about four years old, but small for their age. They were daintly dressed in white and each carried in her free hand a very pretty fan. The party, evidently Greek or Italian, showed every evidence of being out for a good time. As they sped along, the little ones seemed to exude joy in every movement. Their little legs and feet fairly twinkled in their efforts to walk as fast as anybody. This they did without once breaking into a run.

As this letter deals with the Suburbanite or Commuter of Greater New York, we want to tell of the very delightful visit we had at the home of one of this class, a cousin of the writer, Mr. Sereno Norton Ayres, who for upwards of fifty years has worked at his trade, repairing high grade watches and other delicate pieces of mechanism. He lived in New York while living conditions there were good; but for the past 25 years has had his home in a house he had built at Plainfield, New Jersey, one hour's trip by ferry and train from his office in New York. For the past few years he has had his shop in a room on the second floor of his house, going to his office but two days in a week to deliver finished work and take new orders. As an example of the fine work he can do he showed us a screw he had made, perfect in all its parts, yet scarcely visible to the unaided eye. Even when seen under a strong glass it appeared exceedingly small. Ten thousand of such screws could be laid in a one-inch square without piling one on another. His work room is equipped with many unusual and ingenuous, some of them designed and built by himself for special purposes. It was a joy to stand in the presence of such a master and watch him work at "watching." Although we were boys together in old Chautauqua County, New York, it had been upwards of forty years since we had met. One of the most pleasant memories of the writer's childhood is the visits made to the home of his parents, Uncle Joseph and Aunt Charlotte Ayres, the latter a sister of my father. With them lived my grandfather Sereno Norton, and Grandmother Norton. Grantfather was born the last year of George Washington's second term as President, and died in 1873, at the age of 95. This home was ideal as a place to visit, and Mr. Ayres is still keeping up its traditions, assisted by his lovely wife and daughter. There is such an air of cordial hospitality and quiet elegance in their home that it becomes indeed a "Haven of Rest." Mrs. Ayres we knew as a young girl, and considered the most beautiful at that age we ever knew. Much of that beauty she still retains, and has added to it the dignity of maturity and motherhood, and efficiency as a home maker par excellence. She employs no housemaid, yet every meal she prepares is cooked and served "fit for the King." The daughter, Mrs. Woodhouse, whose husband is a traveling salesman, shows many qualities inherited from both mother and father. She is expert in the use of tools, can clean a watch, or make a cabinet for her curios. She can paint a picture or cook a meal. She has, with but little help from a carpenter, made a very beautiful and interesting apartment of the bare attic in their home. Here she exhibits to friends her collection of birds, eggs, nests, and arrow heads. She has several pieces of antique furniture that would delight a collector of such articles. Here also we had an opportunity to hear a Victrola at its best. They have a high grade instrument and a choice collection of 500 records, most of them by the world's most noted singers and instrumental artists. One whole evening was greatly enjoyed with vocal and orchestral selections from the opera of Faust; all good music; a treat we shall long remember. This family love to have others share their good things. During and after the war their home was opened for the entertainment of numerous convalescent sick or wounded soldiers from nearby hospitals, who will long hold in grateful remembrance the healing effect days or weeks spent in this comfortable home as honored guests. During our visit they were entertaining a grateful young man making a visit after two years absence. At Chateau Thierry battle he received a bullet which shattered one of the bones of his left forearm. Instead of summarily cutting off the damaged part the hospital surgeon opened the wound, sawed through the sound part of the bone and took out a piece about for inches long. Then opened the left leg below the knee and took a piece of sound shin bone and fashioned it to fit in the place where he had taken out the bone. In due time all was healed, and the man is well and strong today.

One of the institutions of Plainfield is a Fresh Air Camp supported by the churches and people of the town. It is an outgrowth of and auxiliary to a day nursery in New York started 25 years ago by Miss Sara Curry who told us she began with $14 and faith in God. The day nursery takes care of babies and young children while parents are at work in offices, store or factory. It now has upwards of 200 children a day to care for. Eeach summer babies, mother and older children are given free an outing in the country, if found worthy after investigation. They go for two weeks or longer if they need it, and many of the fathers go out to spend the week-end. Thus the camp aften has as many as 500 guests over Sunday, and scarcely ever less than 200 all the time, all of them children and parents who but for this, would never see the country places.

COBB THANKS THE VOTERS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you give me a small space in your paper to thank the voters for the support given me in the Primary of the 8th. I want to especially thank the people in the north end of the county. It was impossible for me to make any canvas on account of sickness.

We have nominated a good strong ticket, so let us all go to work to elect it in November by a big majority. This is one of the most important campaigns we have ever had.

Yours sincerely,
JOS. E. COBB.

Cause of Appendicitis.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence, was a visitor to Clanton Saturday.

THANKS FROM A. L. ROBINSON

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to state to the people my gratitude and sincere thanks for their kind favors in giving me nomination for Member of County Board of Education. Will state first I am going to do my best to win out in the General Election and if elected will serve the people to the very best of my ability.

With best wishes to the Republican party and assuring you that I will do all I can to elect the entire ticket in the general election, thanking you, I remain,

Yours for success,
A. L. ROBINSON.

WELDING AT THE U. OF A.

University, Ala., Aug. 22.—One of the largest pieces of welding ever done in Tuscaloosa County was successfully completed here recently by students in the Trades school at the University of Alabama. A huge engine bed salvaged from a fire at Riverview was turned over to the students and so welded together and repaired as to make it as servicable as before the fire.

Practical experience in shops at the University is given to the class of 250 men who are in the Trades school, An important service to the state is being performed in that these men who have been partially disabled are made experts in various trades and crafts. The sessions of this school continue through the summer, and the men are now taking a vacation of two weeks after working through the hot summer months. They will return to the University at the beginning of the regular term in September, when the work of the Trades school will be enlarged by instruction in several additional lines of practical work.

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me.

"I saw after taking some Cardui . . . that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person.

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me . . . My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED IN REGARD TO PRESENT CATTLE DIPPING QUESTION.

A large gathering of representative citizens from all parts of Chilton county filled the county court house to overflowing at two o'clock last Saturday afternoon when the mass meeting was called for the consideration and discussion of the cattle dipping proposition as it has been put before the County Commissioners by representatives of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board.

Judge Reynolds acted as Chairman of the meeting and W. T. Bean was Secretary. The Chairman called the house to order and stated briefly the purposes of the assembly. He also read the request that had been made of the Commissioners by Dr. Strickler to provide for the dipping of cattle again. The quarantine order of Dr. Carey was read.

Dr. Cary had been invited to attend this mass meeting and a letter which he sent Judge Reynolds in reply to the invitation was read before the meeting. Dr. Cary was not present.

After all these matters had been placed before the meeting and the attitude of the commissioners court explained by Judge Reynolds, the opportunity was gvien to anyone who desired, to discuss the question. Short talks were made by various citizens.

The following resolution was offered for adoption and read by Dudley Collins:

We, as citizens, voters and cattle owners of Chilton County, Alabama, in a body assembled, do hereby draft and adopt the following resolutions in regard to the cattle dipping situation as it now exists in this County.

It appearing to this body that Chilton County has heretofore literally complied with the laws of the State of Alabama in regard to dipping cattle and that Chilton County has been declared tick free and the quarantine has been lifted.

It further appearing that Shelby County, adjoining Chilton County on the North, is tick infested, and that by an intermingling of the cattle of that County with the cattle of our county there has been some ticks brought into some of the boundary Beats of Chilton county. That the Board of Revenue of Shelby County refusing for reasons to make appropriation for the dipping of cattle has been mandamused, which case is now pending in the Supreme Court, and until this case is decided no cattle will be dipped in Shelby County, and the ticky cattle of that County will still be allowed to intermingle with the cattle in Chilton County except so far as the boundary inspectors will be able to prevent.

It further appearing that practically all the dipping vats in Chilton cunty have been blown up, and the facilities for dipping are vastly inadequate, and also mindful of the fact that dipping in the Fall and Winter is nigh impossible.

It further appearing that Dr. Don B. Strickler and Dr. C. A. Carey, State Veterinary Officer, have made demand upon the Commissioners Court of Chilton County to re-build and re-construct vats, replenishing and filling the same, to appoint inspectors and do all things necessary to re-commence dipping cattle, not stating what beats or parts of the County are infested, not stating where to commence building vats, etc., and the Commissioners Court deeming the financial condition of the County not sufficiently adequate to finance these demands, and owing to the uncertainty and indefiniteness of these demads have refused to comply with them.

It is further appearing that as a consequence of such refusal to dip Dr. Carey did declare publicly Chilton County to be under quarantine effective August 24th, 1922.

Now, we, as a fair representative of the people of Chilton County, in consideration of the above facts and situation as it exists in Chilton County do hereby draft the following resolutions:

1st. We condemn the action of Dr. Carey in quarantinging the whole of Chilton county, it appearing that only the boundary beats on the North side are tick infested, and it seeming more expedient and wise to quarantine only the infested beats as this would prevent the tick from spreading to other parts of the County and also in view of the fact that Dr. Carey has dealt more lenient with Autauga county in quarantining only the infested beats, leaving the balance of the county free to ship cattle.

2nd. We further condemn the act of Dr. Carey in attempting to force Chilton County to dip cattle and especially at this time as it is apparent from the above facts set out and mindful of the exceedingly strong sentiment against dipping cattle in this county it would be nigh impossible at this time, only a soft job for some people and further burden and great expense to the tax payers of the county.

3rd. We defy the Chilton County News to prove the correctness of their assertion wherein they lay the blame for cattle dipping at the feet of the Republican Congress, but on the other hand we say that we are forced to dip our cattle under the State Law passed by a Democratic Legislature with the exception of five Republican members who voted against cattle dipping to a man. If the Chilton County News will read the demand made by Don B. Strickler upon the Commissioners' Court based upon the Acts of 1919, and under which he says we will be compelled to dip our cattle, they will see a Democratic Legislature has forced this "unfortunate question" upon us.

4th. We, in mass here assembled, are American loving citizens with that same spirit of loyalty that predominated our forefathers, we are advocates of a govermnt of the people, by the people and for the people. We firmly believe in respecting and obeying the laws of our Nation and State. But we highly condemn the tick eradication law as unjust and that it is now being administered in a dictatorial and unwise manner, by men who are reckless of the expediency and consequences. The tick law as it now stands can be forced upon any county at any time, in any way at the whim and wishes of one man, regardless of whether that county is tick infested or not. That it is wholly unjust, unfair and unAmerican that the greater majority of the beats of Chilton county be forced to dip their cattle when there is not a single fever tick to be found; that it is not right to deprive ourselves and families of milk and butter by forcing us to dip our milk cows, if that cow is absolutely tick free, and, in fact, the entire beat is tick free. Especially when it appears that this law is forced upon us at this time to satisfy the whim of one man who is eager to show his authority and does so in a manner greatly harmful to practically every farmer and owner of cattle in this county.

5th. Lastly be it resolved that we heartily indorse the action of the Commissioners Court and Probate Judge of Chilton county, Alabama, in refusing to make appropriations for dipping cattle and further indorse their action in allowing Chilton county to go under quarantine. Be it further resolved that we as representative citizens of Chilton county declare to them that the people of Chilton County are with them and will stand by them to the end.

Quite a bit of discussion was brought out by the resolution. Some motions were made to exclude certain paragraphs of the document, but were rejected by the body. Finally the entire resolution as printed above was adopted by the mass meeting.

The following resolution was offered by A. F. Childress and adopted:

Be it Resolved at a mass meeting held at the Chilton County Court House at Clanton, Ala., on this, the 26th day of August, 1922, that as it has been reported that there are some cattle in this county that are infested with Cattle Fever Ticks, that we urge all persons who own cattle that are infested with the said Cattle Fever Ticks to make every effort possible to rid their cattle of the said ticks.

We further urge all persons who own such infested cattle to not let their cattle mix with other cattle but that they confine the said infested cattle on their own premises.

We further ask County Commissioners to furnish to all parties desiring cattle dip the amount the county now has on hand.

The most evident disposition displayed by the mass meeting was opposition to dipping sattle again. There were not very many people there who talked like they wanted to dip their cattle again. The true sentiment is expressed in the resolutions that were adopted by the meeting.

Cause of Appendicitis.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

PRAISES CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to write a short article about the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton. There is no finer institution in the country. I owe my life to the efficient operation and good care I received while there. It is a mighty nice place and very quiet. People all over this part of the country should patronize it. They have had such remarkable success, in fact as good as any hospital. Everyone there is very courteous and kind. It is an ideal place for the sick. I would advise everyone who has to go to a hospital not to forget that there is a fine and well-equipped hospital with efficient doctors and nurses at Clanton.

GASOLINE MAY BE TAXED FOR UPKEEP OF ROADS

Montgomery, August 26. — Recomendation that a state tax of one to two cents per gallon on all gasoline sold in the state, the proceeds to be used solely for maintenance of roads as yet unimproved, is a matter that will be put squarely before the convention of the Automobile Club of Alabama in accordance with a suggestion of Commissioner Thomas Orr made at a special meeting of the Highway Commission held here yesterday. The Automobile Club of Alabama meets in Montgomery on August 28th and 29th, and members of the Highway Commission will discuss the matter with the delegates to the convention. The proposal of such a tax took life when Commissioner Orr urged additional legislation for an immediate state-wide maintenance of primary and secondary roads until such time as the state and federal governments can construct such roads. It was pointed out that insufficient funds for such a purpose were available, and that a tax on the sale of gasoline might be a proper source of revenue. Estimated income from a gas tax would amount to a million dollars annually, whereas it was said that yearly repair bills paid by autoists are ten to fifteen times that sum.

At present, it was declared, the state maintains only such roads as are completed under Federal Aid. With the adoption of the gasoline tax the state could at once take over the maintenance of all primary and secondary roads as they are, place them in shape to bear ordinary traffic, and lift a heavy burden from the counties. The idea of taking over the state system of roads for maintenance at an early date met with general approval, provided funds for the purpose could be raised without working a hardship on taxpayers. The gasoline tax would be urged only if advocated by the auto owners themselves. It was shown that some time must elapse before road construction by the state be started in many counties. In spite of the short time since the bond election people in such localities were becoming impatient, and the maintenance of roadways in a passable condition until they could be given a permanent surfacing would be of immediate and direct benefit to such counties. Further, such a tax would put some of the burden of maintaining the roads on out-of-the state tourists who otherwise pay nothing towards the upkeep. By comparison it was found that the price of gasoline in states levying a tax was not materially higher than in Alabama.

This method of raising funds, according to a statement of Thomas H. McDonald, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, is rapidly growing in favor and has been adopted in Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Montana, New Mexico, North and South Carolina, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, and Washington, and several other states are considering such a tax.

PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

The Clanton Public School will open next Monday at 8:30 o'clock. We will appreciate it if the patrons will pay the incidental fees this week so that we may start in "paid up." PAY AT ALRED DRUG STORE.

There has been some wonderings as to raising the amount of the fee. It is argued that some schools are being run six or seven or maybe eight months with no incidental fee, in districts where there is a three mill tax. I do not know. I can not say. I do know that we can RUN the Clanton school for nine months without charging any fee and still not come out at the end of the year in debt. But we can not TEACH the Clanton school in a way that would give satisfaction to a majority of the patrons without charging a fee. If there is anyone who thinks he can do it, or if there is any group that think they can do it, let him or them put up bond to the extent of the budget for the year and I will gladly resign and will at the same time ask the Board of Education to resign and give anyone a fair chance to try his system of economy.

We can get teachers in name for a good deal less than we are paying some this year. I have my doubts as to the teaching ability of any experienced teacher who would agree to teach for less than we are paying our faculty. The present Board or any other Board could get a man and call him principal for a good deal less than I ever intend to teach for. The Board will tell you that I tried to get them to get a principal at as low a salary as possible.

Mr. Pickens will tell you of his efforts in that respect. When Mr. Gore asked me what I would accept for this year, I told him. I would not have accepted one cent less, nor did I ask one cent more. The people in Clanton expect good work from their teachers. To get good work one must pay a good price. Mr. Gore made his report last spring that showed how every dollar was spent, to whom it was paid and for what purpose. A similar report will be made next spring.

It is too much to say that there will be no hazing this year. I do say that there will be none with my permission. Those caught will receive corporal punishment of the most severe kind that I know how tolay on. Hazing is a cowardly practice and tends to develop the mob violence spirit in children. THE BAN IS ON AT THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Respectfully submitted,
IRA PEGUES,
Superintendent.

OAK HILL

Our revival meeting will begin at this place next Saturday night, September the 2nd and run on through out the week. We have been fortunate enough to secure the services of Rev. S. F. Mabrey of Moody Charge. He is a live wire and a good preacher and a man of great power, and we invite everybody of all denominations to come and hear him and take part in the services with us, for we believe in co-operation with other denominations in the service of the Master. This was evidenced Sunday evening when the United Singing Society met at this place, which was composed of all denominations, for we all had a good time and fine singing. Those who directed were: J. P. Bean, J. B. Northcutt, Grady Headley, E. L. Glasscock, Vester Campbell, Flossie Cobb, Paul Wilson, Vernon Northcutt, A. H. Glasscock and little Carl and Edward Glasscock, age 10, (cousins), who directed two songs each. They are students of Prof. A. H. Glasscock who is now teaching at Providence. Organists were: Misses Lena Glasscock, Ruby Campbell Esther Atkinson, Flossie Cobb and Elsie Robinson. Two beautiful quartetts were rendered by A. H. and E. L. Glasscock, Vester Campbell and Vernon Northcutt, which brought many compliments from the audience, which make us feel like saying with the poet who said, "We are glad to see the sun shine, we are glad to see the flowers, but most of all, we are glad to see those loving friends of ours."

Miss Lona Thompson of Selma, will arrive Saturday to begin school work here for the coming term.

THE BOOM ABOUT TO BLOOM

A business boom is approaching this country which will make the poor old Roma look like the bubble in a hypodermic needle. Will industrial strikes be permitted to inflict on it the fate which met that airship? The government says No! "Government insistence that the nation is rapidly approaching a stage where domestic needs will bring about a great business boom, which must be adequately handled, constitutes the controlling influence toward settlement of the mine and rail strikes" says an article in a Washington paper. To meet this promised demand manufacturing plants and industries of all kinds must be kept running, and to be kept running they must have coal and transportation. This fact, say government officials, will bring an end to both strikes very soon.

The boom itself is of course being brought about by the return to more normal conditions, the economy of the government in handling its business, the rise in the value of bonds as the people become more confident in the Administration, the disposition on the part of European countries to get down to business and settle their financial difficulties, having learned that the Administration under Harding will not stand for cancellation, the immigration law which keeps out the flood of cheap European labor, the protective tariff policy which once more hovers in the offing, and a score or more of other legislative measures which have been written into law by the Republican party.

The Democrats, who have been standing idly by and chuckling at the thought of political advantage to be reaped from industlial tie-ups, have suddenly awakened to the fact that the pendulum has started the other way and that they have lost a great deal of valuable time dreaming dreams and abusing the party in power. But it too late: Once the strikes are over the boom will be with us, and no party in power ever lost out when prosperity was on the nest.

We imagine that one reason Tom Heflin is such a loud and continuous talker is that he has developed such a powerful lung power by a period of years indulged in running away from the record of the Democratic party.

Mr. C. W. Scott of Mars Hill was a visitor to The Union-Banner office last Saturday. He publishes this week an announcement of the protracted meeting at Mars Hill, which begins next Sunday.

Running away from their party records and cultivating bad political memories are the two chief occupations of the average Democratic politician. They are the two things he does best. They are the two things he has most need of doing.

President Harding:—"No matter what clouds may gather, no matter what storms may ensue, no matter what hardships may attend or what sacrifice may be necessary, government by law must and will be sustained."

Miss Monnie Baker of Route 7, was in Clanton last Saturday to attend the mass meeting. Miss Baker is an out spoken opponent of dipping cows again, and says she hopes the Commissioners will continue to refuse to put it over the people again.

We are not surprised that the Democrats of Alabama, who are responsible for the cattle dipping law being forced on the people of the state, are now trying to lay the blame on somebody else. If the Republican party had ever been guilty of dealing so recklessly with the rights of the people, we would be ashamed of it just as they are of the dipping law.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Since the question of dipping cattle has arisen again in Chilton County, and inasmuch as some of the defenders of the Democratc party have undertaken to lay the blame for the cattle-dipping law at the door of a Republican national congress, The Union-Banner asks your kind indulgence for just a few words on the subject.

We want to tell you who we think is to blame for this infernal foolishness that has been tormenting the people of Alabama for the past few years without doing them any discernable good whatever.

In the first place we do not care the flip of a finger whether the Federal part of the thing was done by Democrats or Republicans. That has nothing to do with what the people of Alabama are doing with their milk cows.

The point we want to argue is that Alabama is not one of those states which the Federal government contemplated would find a use for the tick-eradication laws which were adopted by that body.

Someone might say that Alabama does ship some cattle to the big markets and therefore needs tick eradication. Even admitting that some cattle may be shipped out of our state, then it will be many years before enough are shipped out to pay the expenses of dipping. Therefore we had as well not ship any and save the expenses of the dipping.

These Federal provisions for tick eradication were enacted at the behest of those states which raise much cattle. Those cattle raising states no doubt needed some means of protection from cattle fever ticks, and congress was willing to give them the right to this protection which was asked for, and which protection was embodied in the federal aid for eradication of ticks, and the federal quarantine of states where the tick was not eradicated.

But when those federal provisions were made Uncle Sam did not say to every state in the union that you must dip your cows and get rid of the ticks. It was left optional with the states themselves as to what they should do about it. Just a plain case of states rights if you please, that thing which the Democrats like to harp on best of all things, except perhaps the nigger.

Those federal provisions may have been good for the great commercial cattle-raisers, and if they were, and they wanted to dip their cattle, all well and good for them.

But what about states that were not raising but few, if any cattle for the commercial markets? What about those states whose source of revenue was something else besides cattle, say cotton for instance, like Alabama was at that time?

The federal government only went so far as to provide those regulations in the cattle business which should obtain in the open markets of the country between those states which were enaged in that business. Congress stopped right there by setting out what rules should govern those states which did not get rid of fever ticks. The rights of those states on the cattle markets were simply abridged by that right of abridgment which the federal government holds over all business relations between different states of the union. But where and how did all this fuss concern states like Alabama, which does not ship but a few car loads of cattle a year to the stock yards?

Now what caused Alabama to get into the dipping business? Was it brought about by a demand of great cattle raisers within our state who had large numbers of cattle ready to ship to market, but could not do so because of the federal quarantine? We don't think so, for Alabama is not now nor has ever been one of the states which raises cattle for the great markets of the country. Cattle has never been the money crop of Alabama, and therefore the people did not care how high the federal fence was built around the stock yards.

But presently along came a crew of tick doctors who saw a lot of federal appropriations that could be swung to Alabama if they could only get the state government to start the war on ticks. To this end, these tick doctors went before the Democratic legislature at Montgomery, and the first thing we knew they had doped out for us a cattle-dipping law that would be just as binding on Alabama farmers who owned one milk cow apiece as it was intended to be on the Western rancher with hundreds of head waiting for the Chicago stock yards.

Did that Democratic legislature ever take the temperature of the people of Alabama to see if they wanted to undertake tick eradication by the dipping process?

Did they ever inquire as to whether Alabama farmers would be any better out from under the federal quarantine than they were under it?

We never heard of it if they did. If they had done these things, the result would have been quite a different story now.

This Democratic legislature fell in for the promises of the tick doctors that if tick eradication were pulled off here, Alabama would become overnight one of the greatest cattle raising states in the union; and our farmers would throw away all their cotton planters and guano strowers and turn their cotton fields into cow pastures, thus ushering into our beloved state that era of milk and honey which we have been hearing about for generations past.

Therefore our Democratic legislature followed the dictation of the tick doctors rather than the voice of the people they were supposed to be representing, and the result is well known to everybody, the forcing upon the people that useless diping law that will continue to harass our peace of mind and deprive us of our milk and butter so long as our state is in control of a political party that will listen to the voice of a few of the elect and trample under their feet the rights of the common people.

There is not many men in Alabama whose interest in cattle has ever had very much connection with the interests of cattle raisers in other states. Then what is there in the proposition that should cause Alabama to have to submit to a great trouble and expense for something that is not worth anything to any of her people?

Nothing could be ascribed as the cause except the wanton disregard of the Representatives of the Democratic party for the interest of the people.

Now, kind friends, that is how we figure this dipping business. So when you carry your old cow down to the vat again, and plunge her into that pool of Democratic poison that washes away all the ticks, and at the same time takes all the hair and hide off her, and takes all the milk and butter out of her, just close your eyes and turn your face toward heaven and thank God for the great ruling "righteousness" of the "merciful" Democratic party that has accomplished the "wonderful" feat of preserving white supremacy in Alabama for the past half a century.

AMEN.

HITCHCOCK'S BUNK

Addressing an audience at the National Merchandise Fair in New York City, recently, Senator Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, declared: "It is obvious that the old restrictions on imports can only lead to disaster. Every shipload of goods that we keep out by tariff taxes means a shipload of American products which cannot be sold abroad, and the goods must pile up as surplus at home." Well! Well! How does it happen, then, that during the last decade under the protective tariff policy, 1904 to 1913, inclusive, we imported about $14,000,000,000 worth of goods and exported nearly $19,000,000,000 worth, giving us a favorable balance for the ten-year period of about $5,000,000,000, or $500,000,000 annually? How does it happen that during the months of 1913, prior to the passage of the Democratic low tariff law, the balance in our favor was averaging about $40,000,000 monthly, but after October, the month the law took effect, the balance began to decrease—to $5,000,000 in March, 1914, and actually against us for April, May, June, July, and August—at length becoming favorable again as war orders began to pour in from Europe? How does the Senator explain this?

Arlie Barber, ex-City Commissioner of Birmingham, is the Socialist candidate for Governor of Alabama. He was nominated in the Convention of the Socialist party in Birmingham a few days ago. He says he is going to give "plain Bill" a run for his money.

Mr. R. F. Littlejohn of Route 8, was a visitor to The Union-Banner last Saturday. He showed us a couple of sweet potatoes that weighed 3 3-4 pounds each, which are the biggest ones we have seen this year. He says his potato crop is good, and will be benefitted by the rain Friday night.

The Birmingham News asserts that it will take a mighty good microscope with which to be able to see the accomplishments of the present Republican administration at Washington. What the News and others of their kind need is not a microscope, but a crow-bar with which to open their eyes. When they don't want to see, they are pretty apt not to see.

Proof that the Democratic party has no leadership, is not founded upon any enduring principle, is largely kept together by the cohesive power of malcontent, and does not know anything about its destination, is the fact that never in two campaigns in succession does it advocate the same policy or go to the people on the same issue. Its policies and campaign slogans are "one night stands," and they are never billed for a return engagement for very obvious reasons.

It would be a mighty good argument for the Democrats of Alabama right now if they could succeed in making the people believe that a Republican Congress and not a Democratic legislature in Alabama is responsible for the cattle dipping law being forced on the people of the State. But we are glad to say that all the people are not fools. The majority of them know the truth of the matter, and have not got to depend on Democratic politicians to inform them. They know that the Federal provisions for dipping cattle were not compulsory on the states. That measure only made it possible for the states to adopt it in cases where the states wanted it. In Alabama the people did not want the thing, but the Democratic legislature made them take it without any regard as to whether they wanted it or not.

LOOK AFTER SANITATION IN THE RURAL SCHOOLS

State Board of Health Will Help to Keep Down Contagion Among School Children.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 28.—With the approach of school days the State Board of Health is turning attention to the question of protecting communities against the spread of disease.

Insanitary conditions about the average school building, especially the country school, cost more in loss of time from school and doctors' bills than any other one defect. These can be remedied to a great extent by the installation of sanitary closets which are not expensive and which have proven very effective in many communities in preventing the spread of disease.

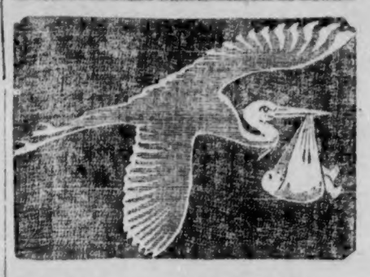
The State Board of Health has furnished to the State Department of Education plans and specifications for a model sanitary privy for public schools and is ready to co-operate with any public school in the state in the construction of this type of privy. A letter to the State Department of Education or State Board of Health will bring these plans and specifications by return mail with full directions for the erection of the proper type of privy to meet the needs of the school in the protection of rural communities against the spread of disease, such as hookworm, dysentery, and other similarly communicated diseases.

No Democrat would have been so bold as to have defied President Wilson and his League of Nations two years ago, with any hope of surviving the consequences. None did. Reed of Missouri attempted it, and as a result was denied a seat in the Democratic Convention at San Francisco in which Jimmie Cox was selected as the goat to "tote the skillet" of the League in the Presidential Campaign. This year though there seems to have been a change some where. Reed ran for nomination against one of Wilson's pets and won. Looks to us like another instance of Democrats running from the past record of their party.

Same Old Story But a Good One.

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery.) I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

D. M. Apperson and Wade Harris of Stanton were here last Friday looking after some school matters.



Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. From this moment on, cast from your mind all dread and fear, and feel every day as the months roll by that great freedom from much of the suffering which thousands of expectant mothers undergo, unnecessarily. And when the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It aids the muscles and tissues to expand easily. It penetrates quickly. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases sometimes recommended by the unknowing. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

NOTE—Write for valuable, free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important authoritative information which every expectant mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend," to Bradfield Regulator Company, BA-15, Atlanta, Ga.

ALABAMA POWER CO. PLANS TO BUILD 4 MORE POWER DAMS

Proposed New Projects Will Be on Tallapoosa River—Will Develop 140,000 Horse Power.

Washington, August 28.—The Alabama Power Company today asked the federal power commission for a permit to undertake an enormous development on the Tallapoosa river.

The plans contemplate the construction of four dams. The total capacity to be developed will aproximate 140,000 horse power. This power will exceed the primary power eventually to be developed at Muscle Shoals.

Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, in a statement for this bureau tonight declared that the Tallapoosa river development was necessary because of the computation of his company that additional power to be developed at Mitchell dam in the Coosa river will have been contracted for shortly after the completion of that project.

Serve Neighboring States.

It is indicated that Alabama is fast becoming as great a user of water power as any other state of the union. It is indicated that the Alabama Power Company, by an interlocking system will soon be prepared to serve regularly neighboring states in the time of their necessity.

Mr. Martin's statement follows:

"The Alabama Power company today filed application with the federal Power commission through its subsidiary company, Alabama Interstate Power company for a preliminary permit, under the federal water power act for a project on the Tallapoosa river in Alabama which will include four dams on that river with a total capacity of about 140,000 horse power.

"The application filed with the commission states that the Tallapoosa river was a non-navigable river but on account of its relation to the navigation of the Alabama river, the war department has heretofore indidated that the developments on that river should be made under government supervision and approval.

Navigation of River.

"The application states that the project will make available a large amount of power by the operation of the power plants in connection with other power developments of the Alabama Power Company in the same region and thus get as great benefit as possible from the stored water. This plan of co-ordinating several projects in different water sheds will develop, conserve and utilize for the public interest the navigation and water resources of the region to the greatest advantage. The release of the flood waters in times of drouth will also have an important effect on the navigation of the Alabama river.

"The power from Mitchell dam now under construction by the company on the Coosa river will be entirely absorbed within a year or two after its completion and in order to meet the rapidly growing demand for power in various parts of the state, the company will proceed with the preliminary work with the view of developing the project to meet such demands."

Alabama Materials to be Used in Work.

Local officials of the Alabama Power company had nothing to add to President Martin's statement last night except to say that in the construction work on the Tallapoosa the same practice of procuring and using Alabama materials and labor as has been adopted in the building of Mitchell dam would be maintained. They seemed enthused that the company is to undertake the largest enterprise of its history and that the state of Alabama was to have that much more energy for the operation of industries.

Just where the dam sites on the Tallapoosa will be is not stated and many other details are yet to be worked out. It is presumed that the permits will be speedily granted and that construction will commence very soon afterwards.

Power in Demand.

The four dams on the Tallapoosa with their total of 140,000 horsepower will have 20,000 more than the Mitchell dam, which is to have 120,000, and 30,000 more than the dam at Lock 12, which has 110,000 horsepower. With the completion of the four dams on the Tallapoosa the company's installed horsepower in Alabama will be as follows: Lock 12, 110,000 horsepower; Mitchell dam, 120,000 horsepower; Tallapoosa river, 140,000; a total of 370,000 of hydroelectrice power; and 50,000 steam horsepower at Gorgas, and 15,000 steam horsepower at Gadsden, a grand total of 435,000 horsepower. Adding the leased plant at Muscle Shoals, if the company still operates that, will give a grand total of 525,000 horsepower, water and steam generated.

Judging by the demand for the power to be generated at Mitchell dam the power to be generated on the Tallapoosa river will be in demand by the time that stream is ready to serve.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The county high school will open Monday, September 4th. All students who expect to attend should enter on that date if possible. Delinquent students usually find it very hard to make up lost work. All students should be prepared to pay their fees the day of entrance. A student cannot be enrolled and properly classified until this is done. Monday will be devoted to the registration and classification of students. Assignment of lessons will be made on Monday also. Regular class room work will begin on Tuesday.

A Triumph for Value

IN the past two months Firestone has built and marketed more tires than in any similar period in its history.

This steadily increasing public preference is proof of the recognition by car owners of the greater values offered by Firestone. It is a tribute to Firestone men—all stockholders in the company—all actuated by the operating principle of Most Miles per Dollar.

The high average performance of Firestone Cords is without equal in the annals of tire making and is reflected by the general tendency to specify Firestone for hard service. Taxicab and bus lines, buying tires by the mile, are universally equipping with Firestone Cords.

There are many reasons for the high quality of Firestone tires but chief among the special manufacturing processes are double gum-dipping, thus eliminating internal friction by insulating each cord strand, and air-bag cure, insuring a well-balanced and perfectly shaped product.

Don't speculate in tires—you will find the right combination of price and quality in Firestone. Come in and let us tell you about the service these Cords are giving other car-owners whom you know.

BETTER FACILITIES NEEDED AT THE PORT OF MOBILE

Warehouses and Wharfs Now Inadequate for Taking Care of Export Business.

Birmingham, Ala., August 28th.—Sixteen counties in Alabama shipped various commodities to foreign countries during the months of July and August, according to the records of the Customs office at Mobile. These commodities went to a score or more foreign countries and included cotton, cotton goods, lumber, timber, wire, nails, fence staples, hogs, cattle, pine headings, coal, coke and other items.

Troy, Selma, Eufaula, Decatur, Attalla, Demoplis, Montgomery and several other places exported cotton. Oxford, shipped cotton sash cords; Montgomery, hog and cattle; Alabama City, wire and wire goods; Gadsden, cast iron soil pipe and cotton; Attalla, cotton and cast iron pipe; Chapman, veneer and plywood; Birmingham, cast iron pipe, wire goods and pig iron; Brilliant, coal; Jefferson county, coke; Sporton, dogwood; Demoplis, cotton and oak lumber; Lockhart, lumber; Fulton and Creola, lumber; Tunnel Springs, hardwood logs; Escatawpa, pine lumber; Georgiana, wooden billets, while various other places shipped several thousand bales of cotton, 6,000 barrels of rosin and numerous other articles.

All of these commodities were exported through the Port of Mobile which is from 100 to 200 miles nearer to almost every community in Alabama than any other rival port. The freight rate on iron and steel and manufactures of iron and steel is 50 cents per ton less to Mobile than to New Orleans, and from ten to 25 per cent less on other items.

Lack of adequate facilities for storing and handling cotton, grain and other farm products has kept down the export business through Mobile. With ample facilities for an unlimited number of ship and for storing merchandise would make of Alabama's seaport one of the biggest in the country in a few years.

WASHINGTON LETTER

SHIP BILL TO BE SPEEDED

Washington, Aug. 29—The ship subsidy bill is to be taken up by Congress at an early date and speeded to final action. No piece of legislation that has or will come before the present Congress is so vitally bound up with the future welfare of the United States. Even the tariff does not exceed the merchant marine bill in importance. Of what use would it be to protect our industries by adequate customs duties if our export trade is to be handled by ships subject to the orders of foreign owners and operators?

Never before has the country found itself possessed of a fleet ready-built to handle our overseas trade. Never before the World War was it so impressed upon the American mind that an adequate merchant marine was indispensable as a part of the national defense. The measure now pending before Congress is the result of years of study given to the subject by the foremost merchant marine experts of the country, and its provisions represent their composite judgment and that of the patriotic men at Washington who are devoting themselves to their country's good. The money cost of the subsidy, held up as a bugaboo by the enemies of the legislation, is insignificant when compared with the benefits to be derived therefrom. No other form of national expenditure will return such a large percentage of profit.

If you happen to be wondering why the present Republican Congress does not repeal the cattle dipping law, you might also ask yourself this question: Why didn't the Democratic Congress of Mr. Wilson repeal it?

The United States government does not compel Alabama to dip cattle. Read the Acts of the 1919 Legislature of Alabama, beginning on page 29, and you will find the power that forces you to dip your cows.

There were five Republicans in the 1919 Legislature of Alabama, and every one of them voted against the cattle dipping law. We don't know how many Democrats, if any, voted against it. But we do know that enough of them voted for it to force it upon the people of the State against their will.

A COAL COMMISH

The legislation recommended by President Harding in his address to Congress will be framed immediately. It is probable that the fact-finding commission for the coal industry will be authorized in a few days, while the amendments to the Transportation Act, and the proposed law to enable the Federal government to enforce the rights of aliens will be taken up in the early part of the next session.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

The State shall not engage in works of internal improvement, nor lend money or its credit in aid of such except as may be authorized by the Constitution of Alabama or amendments thereto; nor shall the State be interested in any private or corporate enterprise, or lend money or its credit to any individual, association, or corporation, except as may be expressly authorized by the Constitution of Alabama, or amendments thereto; but when authorized by laws passed by the Legislature the State may appropriate funds to be applied to the construction, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways, and bridges in the State; and, when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature, the State may, at a cost of not exceeding ten million dollars, engage in the work of internal improvement, of promoting, developing, constructing, maintaining and operating all harbors or seaports within the State or its jurisdiction, provided that such work or improvement shall always be and remain under the management and control of the State, through its State Harbor Commission, or other governing agency. The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature. "Yes....." "No.....". The choice of the elector shall be indicated by a cross mark made by him or under his direction, opposite the word expressing his desire.

Section 4. COUNTY COMMISSIONERS URGE WORK ON PUBLIC ROADS

Letter is Sent to All Overseers And Apportioners in the County.

The following letter has been sent to Road Apportioners and Overseers in Chilton County by the Commissioners Court, which it is hoped will tend to stimulate interest in road work and put the roads of the county in the very best possible condition before the winter rains set in.

The letter is as follows:

"The Commissioners Court in session at Clanton, Alabama, on this, the 26th day of August, 1922, hereby urges all Road Apportioners and Overseers to see that the road hands work ten days of ten hours each day, or the roads in this county, during this year, as this is required by law.

"We especially urge the overseers to work their hands the required ten days and to put their respective roads in good condition immediately and not to wait until the winter rains begin and the bad places to get muddy, as it will be a great deal easier to repair the roads now than it will be after the winter rains begin.

"We desire to express our appreciation of the interest that has already been manifested in road work and it is our desire that they be continually improved.

"The Court stands ready at any and all times to help you all it can in the building up and improvement of the public roads."

Man Loses Hundreds of Dollars

"I am sorry I did not hear of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy a few years ago, as it would have saved me several hundred dollars. Five years I suffered from indigestion and severe bloating. I grew worse all the time. My doctor said an operation would be all that could save me. I took a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy instead and for the past year have been entirely well." Cheap Flour is False Economy

It is a fact that a high-grade flour requires less shortening, less baking powder, fewer eggs. Good cooks have told us that they use just half as much lard when baking with Gilster's Best Flour.

The small difference in cost between Gilster's Best and ordinary flours, is more than made up in the saving on ingredients. It is real economy to use Gilster's Best Flour.

If you prefer a self-rising flour—Gilster's Featherlite or Gilster's Mother's Joy.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

To one who has spent upwards of thirty years in a large manufacturing business, much of that time employed in devising new and better ways of doing things designed for a special purpose, it was a rare treat to receive through our son, Sereno G. Norton, an invitation from the general Superintendency of the Experimental Department of The Hercules Powder Company to visit the "Station," an honor seldom bestowed on people not directly interested either in making or selling explosives. The Company has several large plants scattered over the country engaged in the manufacture of Explosives and Naval Stores. For all these plants the experimental work of devising and testing whatever is to be made is carried on at this experimental station, consisting of an ample area of ground on which are built, at considerable distances apart, several substantial buildings equipped as laboratories, machine shops, library, with many devices for making and testing small quantities of the product under consideration.

To one seated more than a mile distant from the Station the loud reports of explosions, in testing at frequent intervals, sound like a continous Fourth of July. Dangerous? Not at all, the way they do it.

It is not the purpose of this letter to give formulas for making or testing explosives; such information as we obtained is in the nature of business secrets which only very low standard of ethics would betray; but there was enough of common interest to people at all familiar with present day business requirements to set in motion a train of thought that would fill a book.

When the writer was a boy, manufacturing was carried on by "Rule of Thumb" or "Cut and Try." Today few men can attain prominent positions in the world's great industries who have not prepared themselve for concentrated thought and copious reasoning by a College Education. This does not imply that every one who goes through college will attain, but most of them who do have "paid the price." Every man holding a responsible position at "The Station" is a college graduate, and the Superintendent told the writer that so few who are not can succeed in the work to a degree to be valuable to them that they cannot afford to spend time and trouble with them. So universal is this practice in nearly all lines of business and the profcssions that young men and women are waking to this fact and our colleges are crowded as never before. As an instance we learned today that the night classes at the college of the city of New York have an enrollment of upwards of 7000.

Most of the men at "The Station" are Chemists, their Laboratories are equipped with everything needful for their work, and they have a library of several thousand volumes of technical books and magazines, in many languages, giving them the best thought, discoveries, and experiences of prominent leaders in Chemistry, past and present. When one has a problem in Chemistry to solve he is apt to find help in one or more of these books, if he is able to read them. What a fascinating study to find out the constituent elements of the products of nature, to separate, classify, and test them, then devise some product not found in nature by combining two or more of these various classified elements. Not all the work these men do is directly applicable to the manufacture of explosives, nor are all the explosives they devise commercially practicable, but they must know the quality of every element that goes to make the whole of any explosive they do make, that the product may be uniform and reliable. Chemistry is the basis of our great steel industries. It turns the trees of our forest into pulp from which print paper is made, it saves millions of dollars each year from what in the past has always been considered as waste. The pine stumps that incumber so much valuable land in the South are being successfully gathered and converted into useful articles of commerce, turpentine, rosin, oils, perfumes and etc. Corn and cotton stalks, and even the great piles of cane stalks that have passed through the crusher, also sawdust piles, and nut shells all produce elements that, properly conserved, will develop into fortunes and will produce a great variety of things humanity needs. While the farmer who is ignorant of the chemistry of his soil and its products is working like a man blindfolded.

The time has now come when we must leave the very pleasant home where we have been domiciled and bid goodbye to the dear people that we may proceed on our travels. At the last moment Sereno announced that he had made arrangements to accompany us to New York, and with our baggage strapped to to the running board of his little car we were soon speeding toward the great city. The route chosen was through an undulating country interspersed with beautiful lakes and green fields, with many small towns and attractive homes, and a roadway made especially for automobile travel. The principal town we passed through on the way was Paterson, N. J., which has about two hundred thousand population. This town is widely noted for its silk factories and the manufacturing of pottery. As we approached the Hudson River the road goes over the top of the Palisades and down an incline, which is a marvelous piece of engineering work. The bluffs of solid rock have been blasted away to a sufficient width for the roadway, which winds back and forth along the face of the bluff until it reaches nearly the level of the river. Here we go aboard the ferry-boat, and for the small sum of thirty-five cents fare for the automobile with its three passengers we are carried across the Hudson River to the north end of Manhattan Island at 198th Street. Here we find beautiful boulevards, which connect with Riverside Drive along which we speed southward to Park Avenue, which leads directly to the Grand Central Terminal Station. This is one of the noted railway stations of the world; located at 42nd Street and Park Avenue in the heart of the city, it occupies a total space on the two floors of over twelve acres, and the ceiling on the first floor is 125 feet high. The building is built of granite and Indiana limestone. The exterior is imposing and beautiful. Below the floors mentioned space is provided for the trains at two levels, the upper one, which is for express trains, has forty tracks, while that for suburban trains has twenty-five tracks; the combined space will accommodate 1149 passenger cars. Trains on both these levels are drawn by electric engines in a subway that extends for about three miles. At about five miles further out the engine is changed for steam.

We had hoped to be able to go by steamer up the Hudson River to Albany, a trip which we were privileged to take eleven years ago, but on learning that the steamer did not arrive at Albany in time for railroad connections to reach our destination we decided to take the rail route on the N. Y. Central on the east side of the Hudson. This we did regretfully, because the day was fine, and we had a vivid recollection of the beautiful trip on this historic stream, on which Robert Fulton's steamboat, the first ever built, made its experimental trip. The magnificent steamboat on which we took passage that day was named Robert Fulton in honor of this illustrious inventor. There are few water trips to be found in this country wherein so much beautiful and historic scenery abounds. For nearly the whole distance the river is almost a mile wide. The first object of interest on leaving the pier in the lower part of New York is the great Palisades on the west bank, huge basalitic vertical masses of rock hundreds of feet high. On these bluffs overlooking the river are many attractive homes of wealthy people, and here and there on the more sloping banks are neat villages in which reside many New York commuters. At Tarrytown, on the east bank, is the summer home of John D. Rockerfeler, and near it is Sunnyside once the home of Washington Irving, whose legend of Sleepy Hollow had its scene laid in the section that bears that name, while in the distance rise the Catskill Mountains which were the scene of his Rip Van Winkle, dramatized for and made famous by the great actor Joseph Jefferson. On the northern slope of the Highlands we find located the city of Newburgh, one of the numerous headquarters of General Washington. Another place of interest is West Point, known all over the world as the location of the United States Military Academy, with its historic meseum and parade grounds, where many of our noted generals received their military education. The remainder of the trip to Albany is full of interest and scenes which linger long in the memory of any one who is privileged to enjoy this day's ride.

Having elected to go by rail to Albany we were greatly assisted by Sereno in procuring tickets and information covering our trip to Williamstown, Mass. Leaving New York at 12:25, P. M., we ran the 150 miles to Albany at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, stopping only at Poughkeepsie, which is just about half way between the two cities. At Albany we transferred to a belt-line train connecting with Troy, where we again changed to a train on the Boston and Maine Railroad for Williamstown. On this forty-three mile stretch we pass through a very interesting and fertile country, sections of which are located in three states, New York, Vermont, and Massachusetts. Arriving at our destination just before dark we were met by our host with a taxi which conveyed us to his beautiful home on the campus of Williams College, of which we shall write more fully in our next letter.

CLANTON COMMITTEE WHICH WILL DIRECT U. OF A. DRIVE

Campaign Will Be Waged for Expansion of the State University.

University, Ala., Aug. 29.—Rapid progress is being made toward completing the preliminary organization work of the Million Dollar Campaign for the University of Alabama and everything is being made ready for a short and decisive campaign, starting in October. Announcement has been made by Borden Burr, State Chairman, of the local committee which will direct the drive in Clanton.

A strong organization is being built up in all parts of the State and men and women of prominence in every line of activity have enlisted in the campaign forces. Alumni and non-alumni of the University are co-operating in this movement which is of such importance to the entire State.

The campaign is to raise $1,000,000 with which to finance the expansion of the University which has become an imperative necessity. Steadily increasing enrollment in the past several years has rendered the present buildings inadequate.

Unless this condition is relieved at once, the University will be forced to limit its enrollment and many young men and women desiring to obtain an education will be denied the privilege. Facing this critical situation, the University has appealed to the people of the State and every indication points to success for the campaign.

"The most encouraging feature of the campagin so far is the support it has been given by the most prominent and influential people of the State," said Mr. Burr. "They realize how much the University has done for the State in the past and they are determined that its great work shall not be stopped at this time when it is so greatly needed. We are optimistic of complete success for the campaign."

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which griped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

ALABAMA COTTON BETTER IN QUALITY

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31.—That Alabama cotton is a better grade than was generally believed is shown by the work of the Farm Bureau Cotton Association. Up to August 29, this Association had received samples from 486 bales which graded as follows:

	Bales
Strict good middling,	1
Good middling,	17
Strict Middling,	115
Middling,	237
Strict low middling,	88
Low middling,	23

By the individual method of selling cotton most of it is sold on a middling basis or below, but by co-operative marketing farmers will receive pay for whatever grade they have. Therefore, many of them will receive pay for cotton better than middling.

Mr. Earl Golson of Acton, spent last week in Clanton visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lowery are moving to Gorgas this week, where Mr. Lowery will be at work with the Dixie Construction Company.

Five to Ten Cars Sold Daily.

Montgomery, Ala., Augut 31—After being organized comparatively a short time, the Farm Bureau Hay Association, a co-operative marketing organization, is now selling on an average of five to ten cars of Johnson and alfalfa hay each day. Sales are being made to buyers in different Alabama cities and towns but most of it is going to points in Georgia and South Carolina.

This Association was ready for business several weeks ago but the price of hay was so low, due to "dumping" by independent growers, that the officials decided not to sell. At that time No. 1 Johnson hay was selling for $9.00 per ton but the Association by holding its hay off of the market has been influential in raising the price to $13.00 and $14.00 per ton, the price at which sales are being made.

What Democratic Party Did to Our Government

When the Republican administration took over the executive departments of the government after eight years of their administration by Democracy it found a badly damaged and sadly neglected piece of machinery.

There was no co-ordination among the departments and bureaus. There was no economy in the administration of public affairs. The Democratic President had vetoed a budget law which would have brought to the administration agencies of the government some system and order in the operation of the offices and economy in the use of public funds.

Although two years and a half had elapsed since the armistice, Secretary Weeks found more than $1000,000,000 in old war claims unsettled. Action upon a large proportion of them had not been started by the outgoing administration. The Department of Justice had thousands of old untried cases on its dockets; over $1,000,000,000 in claims were awaiting its action. The several auditing bureaus of the Treasury department were from months to two years behind their work. Revenue laws were being flagrantly disobeyed and millions of taxes overdue were being evaded.

The State department was without morale, policy and standing. At no time in the 145 years of the nation's history had the prestige of the United States in diplomatic circles been at so low an ebb as when the Democratic administration went out of power. In practically every department and bureau there were useless employees, there was lack of office discipline or system, an enormous accumulation of back work, failure to keep up with current work and gross waste of public funds in needless expenditures.

Ex-Service Men Neglected.

The various agencies dealing with ex-service men were a reproach to the nation, condemned by practically every organization of ex-service men as well as by tens of thousands of individuals whose treatment by those agencies had been shameful in most cases and brutal in many cases.

Although the war had been over for two years and a half, the Democratic administration was still making enormous loans to foreign nations. The Democratic administration had loaned $11,000,000,000 of the people's money to foreign nations without requiring either a pledge to repay it or keep up the interest or even so much as a written legal evidence of the indebtedness. Moreover, during the closing weeks of the Wilson administration it was negotiating with foreign countries for an indefinite postponement of the payment of either the principal or interst of any of our foreign loans,—a postponement that would have inevitably resulted in the cancellation of these loans and a shifting of the burden of paying them to the backs of the American taxpayers.

Due to the sudden withdrawal or restriction of agricultural credits by the Democratic administration, the agricultural and live stock interests of the country were bordering on bankruptcy when the Democratic administration went out of power. Prices of farm products and live stock were lower than the cost of production on the one hand while the cost of living was higher than it had been at any time since the year 1916. Over 5,000,000 working men were in idleness. The federal reserve bank was still charging seven and one-half per cent interest. Business was still throttled by oppressive war taxes.

Wreckage Had To Be Removed.

This was some of the wreckage left by the Democratic administration. It was wreckage which had to be cleared away before new constructive work could be done. Of equal importance with the constructive work of the Republican administration since March, 1921, has been its work in straightening out the tangle left by eight years of Democratic rule.

It has been a titanic task; getting the governmental machinery in running order again, bringing work up to date, cutting down pay rolls, restoring morale in the rank and file of those who remained on the job, getting co-operation and co-ordination among the various departments, establishing a system and setting up a definite program in the various administrative agencies.

Although a tremendous amount of work has been done toward getting rid of debris and in repairing administrative machinery, there naturally yet remains much to be done. Further improvements in quality of public service are to be made. Further reductions in expenditures are to be made. Further progress in constructive work already initiated is to be made. To accomplish all this it is quite as necessary to have the co-operation and assistance of a Republican Congress during the next two years as it has been during the last two years.

"Lest we forget," it should be constantly kept in mind that the legacy of waste, incompetence and mismanagement which was left the Republican administration and the American taxpayers, was left by the same Democratic party and the same Democratic leaders who are now asking that the people again place them in power.—By John T. Adams, Crairman Republican National Committee.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept 1.—The cotton crop in Alabama has lost in prospect of total production only 6,000 bales in the past month, notwithstanding the condition at present is 10 points lower than a month ago. A condition of 60 at present indicates a crop of 826,000 bales, while a condition of 70 a month ago indicated a crop of 832,000 bales.

The falling off is due to drought and increased weevil activity. The dry weather of the month in some sections brought matured growth and a slowing up of fruiting, together with rapid opening, while in other sections the weevil became more active with increased numbers. The crop in the south two-thirds of the state is about made and is opening and being picked very rapidly. In the northern one-third plants are still blooming in most fields, but the plat gives evidence of early maturity, while picking is getting under way with first bales reported in several counties.

Four-tenths of one per cent is reported to have been abandoned from the acreage growing on the 25th of June between that date and August 25, amounting to about 12,000 acres and leaving 2,983,000 acres subject to harvest on the latter date. This abandonment does not affect the condition and forecast, as heretofore explained.

The expected crop of 826,000 bales is 43 per cent more than was produced in this state last year. Sales are reported as being free at present prices.

The following statement shows the per cent of acerage which was reported abandoned and the condition in the various crop-reporting districts of the state:

PROVIDENCE

Dear Editor:

Please give me only a small space in your good old paper to say just a few words in regard to this place.

Health of this community is very good at present.

Cotton picking seems to be all the go around this place just now.

We have just closed an eighteen day singing school at this place, which was taught by Prof. A. H. Glass, and I must say Mr. Glass did some real good work at this place.

I am sure there is no one that attended this school that is not satisfied with the work which was rendered them, and Prof. Glass only had sixty-five regular attendents in this school and most of them was new beginners all together, and you can see he had a great work before him.

There will be singing at this place next Sunday afternoon. Everybody come and be with us.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this short space.

CHILTON COUNTY MEN ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION OF UNITED FARMERS OF AMERICA

Four States Represented.

Chilton County made a good showing at the National Convention of the United Farmers of America held at Blytheville, Ark., Aug. 28, 29 and 30. Those attending from this county were: O. H. Mastin, county business agent; J. M. Smith and A. Y. Williams, local business agents and members of the county board of directors; C. C. Williams and E. D. Holmes.

The meeting was called to order Monday morning at 10, a. m., by President, J. W. Blythe. After a few introductory words by the president, mayor F. C. Douglas of Blytheville was introduced. In the course of his address, Mayor Douglas expressed himself as believing that the "United Farmers of America is the greatest and most beneficial organization ever attempted for the betterment of all ociety."

Among the other speakers of the day were G. Goodman, county business agent of Pemiscott County, Missouri; C. B. Critchfield, county business agent of Lauderdale County, Tenn.; A. B. Baxley, state manager of Alabama; T. G. Johnson, state manager of Tenn., and J. H. Ball, member of the National Executive Committee.

Monday night all of the delegates attended a meeting at Ekron School House, the birthplace of the organization, where Mr. Lamb organized the first local of The United Farmers.

All three days of the convention were filled with work that furnished much information and inspiration to those attending the meeting and when the convention adjourned at 1:45, a. m., Thursday morning, all felt that the meeting had been well worth while.

Officers and members from Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee and Alabama were at the meeting and all got acquainted with each other and perfected plans which will enable the members of the organization to market their products more atisfactorily.

The delegates from this county were especially well pleased with the national officers of the organization. They found them to be men of high character who have devoted themselves to this work without reserve and who have placed the welfare of the members whom they serve above their own selfish interest.

The following extracts from the Convention address of the General Business Agent, M. W. Lamb, serves well as an example of the vision of the greatness which this organization is destined to attain and also illustrates the high character of the national officers and shows that these officers are devoting themseves to formulating and carrying out plans with the sole purpose of improving conditions in the rural districts and thus certain to build up our whole country.

"My friends, I can truly see today the absolute need of organizatin. I can understand today, much better than I could yesterday, the great possibilities that are in reach of all well planned, and well manned organizations. I have a much better and bigger vision of the things of this world today than I had yesterday. An organization of individuals can accomplish more in one years time than individuals could accomplish in a life time without organization. I see today the need of an organization for the protection of our interest in the marketing of our products. Heretofore we farmers have been content to look after the production end of the game only. This has proved to be a very expensive oversight on our part. in fact, it has almost bankrupted the entire South, and been the direct means of throwing a panic into the legitimate business enterprizes of the world. Until we farmers take the matter into our own hands, the conditions of this country will always be uncertain. . . I see the need of an organization, in order that we may to a certain extent control production in order to stabilize prices and make permanent our prosperity. . . I see the need of an organization that will stand squarely behind the brawn and bulk of agriculture three hundred and sixty five days evry year, and protect their interest in every way possible.

"My friends, I see in the United Farmers of America, just such an organization as I have just mentioned. In the United Farmers of America, I see an organization that absolutely fills the bill and meets every requirement that is necessary to attain our desires. Competently organized. Ably constructed. Phenomenal in powre. Philanthropic in action. My friends, with all due propriety, I make the statement today, that no organization under the heaven has more lofty ideals, is more magnanimously inclined, or is better able to achieve, than the organization you are here to represent.

"My friends, we are engaged in a great work, the work of raising our standard of citizenship, and protecting that citizenship against the encroachments of wrongs calculated to enrich the few and pauperize the many. Let us then as such, conduct ourselves in as becoming a manner as possible. Let each of us always remember that the building which we erect, is only as strong as we make it, and the strength of the building to stand the onslaught of the enemy is dependent on the foundation upon which the building erected. In my humble judgment, if the foundation upon which we build is right, the storms may come, the enemy may fume, grovel minded may howl, and obstructive ones growl, but all to no avail. For the growth of this organization shall continue unabated, and the good work which we may be able to accomplish will at all times stand out as a living monument to our forethought, our patience, our perseverance, and our determination, all things born of a Godly desire to help in rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, or to, in other words, secure a more equitable distribution of the proceeds of our labor."

Better Flour—Better Biscuits

The best cook in the world can't make good biscuits with poor flour. You owe it to your reputation as a cook to use the highest grade of flour you can buy.

There is no better flour made than Gilster's Best. It costs a little more than ordinary flour, because we pay a premium for our wheat—and because the flour is ground finer and sifted oftener. But you can taste the quality in your biscuits.

If you prefer a self-rising flour—Gilster's Featherlite or Gilster's Mother's Joy.

Common Sense About Eczema and Eruptions!

You might just as well know it right now,—the cause of skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, boils and so on, is right in the blood. There is no getting away from it. Science has proved it. We prove it. You can prove it.

When the cause of skin troubles and eruptions is in the blood, it isn't common sense to simply treat the skin.

Let S. S. S. Give You An Angelic Skin!

A bottle of S. S. S. will prove to you what is happening in your blood. S.S.S. is a scientific blood cleanser,—it drives out the impurities which cause eczema, tetter, rash, pimples, boils, blackheads, blotches and other skin eruptions. When these impurities are driven out, you can't stop several very nice things from happening. Your lips turn naturally rosy. Your eyes sparkle, your complexion clears. It becomes beautiful. Your face looks like that of a prosperous, ruddy, well-fed, refined gentleman, or if you are a woman, your complexion becomes the real kind that the whole world so admires. S.S.S. is also a powerful body-builder, because it builds new and more blood-cells. That's why it fills out sunken cheeks, bony necks, thin limbs, helps regain lost flesh. It costs little to have this happen to you. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

"HERE ARE THOSE ANTI-PAIN PILLS"

FEDERAL POSTAL BUILDINGS

Another long step toward putting more business in government is advocated by Postmaster General Work, with the hearty endorsement of President Harding. At the present time only about 1,200 of the post offices throughout the country are owned by the government, while 5,836 offices are housed in leased quarters. The annual rental paid for those offices amounts to about $12,000,000 a year, which is seven per cent or more on the value of the property. Included in that sum are taxes, which the government is paying indirectly at the average rate of about two per cent.

At present rates the government can borrow money at four per cent, and buildings could be erected more suitably designed for postal work and free from all tax charges. That would mean that the cost to the government for housing would be almost cut in half. In addition, every community where a new post office is erected would feel the stimulus of the building activity. "I am confident" says Postmaster General Work, "that there are ample sites and abundant buildings which could be acquired at reasonable prices, and they could be erected and equipped with material purchased in the cities and towns in which the government would purchase property." Mr. Work has placed the result of his investigations before the appropriations committees of Congress, where they are being given careful consideration.

SAM STRUTS

"Labor has every reason to congratulate itself on the occasion of its Labor Day celebration this year," Mr. Gompers reminds his followers. "These congratulations, however, must be accompanied by determination to continue the struggle. Labor Day, 1922, finds the workers in a position of greater advantage than before. The crucial period of unemployment has passed. The wage reduction movement long since lost its principal momentum."

Thus does the labor leader appropriate to himself and his organization the benefits that have accrued to American labor through Republican application of sound economic and political principles. Wage earners may rest assured that it has been in spite of Mr. Gompers' activities, rather than because of them, that involuntary unemployment has about come to an end, and that wage reductions have nearly ceased. Business prosperity, and consequent employment at good wages, in this country is the direct result of drastic retrenchment in government expenditures, reduced Federal taxation, intelligent revision of existing taxes, effective immigration legislation, and the impending protective tariff law. The tide would have been far stronger had it not been interrupted by the inexcusable coal and rail strikes, both of which had the hearty support of Mr. Gompers, and both of which are throwing thousands of men out of work every day.

IMMIGRATION AMENDMENT

Amendment of the immigration laws is scheduled for Congressional attention as soon as more pressing legislation has been disposed of. There will be no let up in the restrictions that are keeping immigration at a minimum, but an attempt will probably be made to find a more efficient method of sorting undesirables from the horde of aliens who seek admission to this country. In line with the policy of the government to bar all individuals not easily assimilable, the State Department has asked Cuba to co-operate in keeping smuggling at a minimum. It is understood that 80,000 Chinese and 40,000 Europeans are in Cuba waiting for an opportunity to enter this country.

BRYANESQUE AND DEMOCRATIC

William J. Bryan, after making the rounds of Democratic leaders in Washington, announces that he will take an active part in the coming campaign. He gave it as his opinion that one of the leading issues would be the tax bill enacted by this Republican Congress, which he asserted takes the burden of taxation off the rich and places it upon the poor.

This assertion is quite Bryanesque in that it is wholly at variance with the facts which Mr. Bryan could easily ascertain and which he probably knows. It recalls the ridiculous statements which he made in his first Presidential campaign in 1896, when he asserted the "goldbugs" had slipped into Congress and "in the dark of the night" committed "the crime of '73" for the purpose of enslaving the American people. Mr. Bryan has many years' reputation of never letting facts interfere with his policy of appealing to the passions of the ignorant and malcontents in order to get their political support.

Mr. Bryan also indicates that the tariff may be an issue in this campaign. Just what he would have to say regarding the tariff is a matter of interesting speculation. He was a member of the Ways and Means committee in the early days of his political career. As a member of that committee, with the Democrats in control, he helped frame the Wilson tariff which produced more unemployment, more soup houses, more distress and suffering among the working classes, more bankruptcies in the business world and more bank failures in the financial world than any other law that was ever placed upon the federal statute books.

Mr. Bryan made his campaign in 1894 in advocacy of the Democratic tariff and promised his auditors that such a tariff would bring prosperity to all classes of people. It was the hard times following the enactment of the Wilson tariff which Bryan helped frame and the utter collapse of his predictions in 1894 that led him to abandon the tariff and attempt to have the people forget it by raising the issue of free silver.

Mr. Bryan's reputation as an authority upon economics and as an adviser of the common people is measured by the slogan which he used in his Presidential campaign of 1896 to the effect that the price of wheat and the price of silver go up and down together. Bryan failed to humbug the American farmer then by such tommyrot and there is no reason to believe that he will be any more successful in attempting to humbug the American farmer this year by some new slogan equally as grotesque.

Mr. Bryan's interviews given out at Wishington were not only Bryanesque but Democraic. He frankly admitted the whole purpose of the Democratic campaign this year is to get control of the House in order that they may deadlock the government, block all legislation and hamper the President and other Republican executives in order that enough turmoil will be created to give the Democrats an issue in 1924.

In other words, Mr. Bryan's idea is not to have a definite, forward-looking, constructive program which can and should be presented to the people for their decision but to adopt the policy of being "agin the government" upon all matters' a policy of obstruction and destruction; a policy of unfair, ignorant and untruthful criticism of everything that is attempted without offering any alternative.

Mr. Bryan's idea, according to his interviews in Washington, of running the greatest business corporation in the world—the United States government—is to elect a board of directors, half of whom believe in one policy and half of whom believe in another policy, and then let them engage in a free for all fight while the business of the corporation goes to smash.

TACOMA TREATY

"Take home a treaty" was the slogan of the three Central American Presidents who met with the American Ministers on board the U. S. S. Tacoma recently and signed a document in which the three Republics, Nicaragua, Honduras, and Salvador renewed and extended indefinitely their general treaty of peace made in Washington in 1907. The purpose of the treaty was to settle amicably and efficacously all differences which have tended to disturb Central America in recent years, and President Melendez, of Salvador declared it was the most important event in the history of Central America. The parties to the treaty were profuse in their expressions of gratitude to the American Ministers for their presence and advice, and to President Harding for the use of the warship. The vessel was anchored three miles off shore in neutral waters while the conference lasted. Thus the Harding Administration has placed a Secretary of State at the disposal of Chile and Peru, through whom the Tacna-Arica controversy "the Problem of the Pacific" has been successfully solved, and three American Ministers and an American warship off a peace job for a get-together treaty to include the Central American disputants. And the league of nations slumbers on.

WHO SAID WAR?

The New York Tribune remarks that "war wages were bound to result in wage wars." Well, we do not see why. The farmer came down from his war prices without making a war; the manufacturer took his loss on goods for which he had bought materials at war prices, and he did not make war; owners of stocks and bonds saw the bottom drop out of values, and they did not make war; why, then, should a reduction of war wages cause a wage war?

IN WHAT SENSE?

"Pan-Americanism ought to be and will be a continental doctrine," declared Dr. Lima, of Brazil, at the Institute of Politics recently held in Williamstown, Mass. "It is not merely a catchword but lies at the root of the greatness of the New World as a continent of peace and progress." True enough. But the United States would not be a very firm supporter of the doctrine if the desires of the league of nations in Europe should materialize. That league is now planning to help organize an "American league of nations" which is to be supplemental to the European league. And there is no difference in meaning to them between supplemental and subservient.

A BONELESS BONUS

It is reported that friends of the bonus bill in both the Senate and House are sufficiently numerous to pass the measure over the President's veto if he should return it without his signature. It is said that no attempt will be made to insert a provision for levying the extra $4,000,000,000 of taxation required to meet its obligations until after the elections. Merely the measure for the payment of the money will be enacted now, it is understood, leaving to a later date the problem of finding the necessary funds and of adjusting the payments with the national budget.

PASTOR'S AND WORKER'S CONFERENCE

The Pastor's and Warker's Conference will meet with Chestnut Creek Baptist Church at 10 a. m., Monday, Sept 11, and a large attendance is hoped for. Dinner will be furnished and the program committee will take care of the program.

W. A. GOSS, Sec'y.

NO NEED OF THIS

A resolution has been introduced in Congress providing for a Congressional probe of the textile strike in New England. In these days of industrial unrest, attendant on the effort to return to something like normal conditions, if Congress is to be called upon to investigate strikes there will be little else which that body can accomplish. There have been, and at present there are, strikes in many industries. The Textile industry is hardly entitled to special consideration in the way of a Congressional investigation. During the first Wilson Administration the Democratic Congress essayed to investigate everything under the sun until that body became a vast smelling committee with legislation shunted to the background. And what did those investigations accomplish? Little else besides a huge line of expenditure which had to be met by the taxpayers of the country.

SERVICES AT SAMARIA

On Sunday, Sept. 10th, regular services will be held at Samaria Church at 11, a. m. The present pastor will preach his farewell sermon. At night Rev. J. S. Judah of Marbury will preach a special sermon on the fundamental doctrines of the church. Brother Judah is a very forceful speaker and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance at both the morning and evening services. The B. Y. P. U. will meet one hour before the evening services.

Succeeding years may see revisions of the immigration laws, but let the revision always be downwards rather than upwards. The present law has kept out undesirables more effectively than any of its predecessors, and the people don't want to see any increase in the numbers admitted, whatever may be the change in their qualifications.

FORD LEADER SAYS HENRY MUST MAKE CHANGE IN OFFER

SEES NO HOPE FOR ACTION AT PRESENT OTHERWISE

Staunch Advocate of Detroiter Says Switch Would Gain Votes.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 30.—As long as Henry Ford insists that the government turn over to him the Gorgas steam plant of the Alabama Power Company, his chances for securing action on his proposal at the present session of Congress will be impossible, according to a statement given out in Washington this week by Congressman Harry Hull, of Iowa, to the Washington correspondent of the Birmingham News. Congressman Hull, who is one of Ford's strongest supporters, stated that, in his opinion, the Alabama Power Company is entitled to the possession of the Gorgas plant.

Congressman Hull is rated as one of the staunchest friends of Muscle Shoals. During his first term in the house he was assigned to duty on the military affairs committee. In the initial fight for the appropriation to provide plants for the production of munitions in times of war and nitrates for fertilizers in peace times he stood shoulder to shoulder with Representative Dent, of Alabama, who was then chairman of the military affairs committee.

Mr. Hull is one of the majority members of the present military affairs committee desirous of having the government accept the bid of Henry Ford for the Muscle Shoals properties. During the present session of Congress he has voted right along with the legislators who favor Ford over all bidders. Members of the house from Alabama and other states in the South who have so much at stake in connection with the proposed legislation have had his constant help and his votes—in one or two instances even when he did not exactly agree with some of the moves that have been made in connection with the Muscle Shoals proposition.

A direct question has been put to Representative Hull by The Birmingham News correspondent as to what chance he thought there was for a showdown on the Muscle Shoals matter before the end of the present session. He said he feared that nothing could be accomplished unless Alabama, Tennessee and other Southern state delegations could prevail upon Mr. Ford to eliminate from his bid the stipulation that he must also get possession of the Gorgas plant.

"I never could understand why Mr. Ford is so insistent upon including that plant in the contract with the government," said the Iowa congressman. "It is not esential to the successful operation of the Muscle Shoals properties in the event he secures the contract."

Would Gain Votes.

Mr. Hull also says that he finds among Republican members quite a number willing to vote in favor of the Ford offer if the Detroit capitalist were to consent to elimination of the Gorgas plant from the contract. They take the position—and Mr. Hull admits that he himself is compelled to agree with their argumen—that the United States government, in view of the contract made during the World War with the Alabama Power Company, cannot turn over to Ford or anyone else the Gorgas plant under the terms of the agreement entered into with the Alabama Power Company.

"I think that if Mr. Ford should let it be known that he is willing to modify his offer so as not to include the Gorgas plant," declared Congressman Hull, "there might be some hope of having the House act upon the Muscle Shoals matter before the end of the present session. But if he sticks to that provision I hardly think it possible to bring matter in abeyance. And if the House ture."

Opinions differ widely as to just how long the present session of Congress will last. Some think that within ten days or two weeks a recess of both the House and Senate can be arranged. Others do not believe that with such uncertainty prevailing as to the coal and transportation situation that Congress could afford to take the risk of either recessing or adjourning for more than three-day periods at a time. Some, however, seem to be positive that just as soon as the bonus bill is disposed of one way or the other there will be a scurrying of senators and representatives from Washington, and that even if Congress remains on the job it will be a difficult matter to maintain a quorum in either branch until after the November elections.

Chester Mims is now at work with the Chilton Hardware Company, having taken the place of Bill Murphy who has gone to College.

INITIAL SALE MADE BY COTTON ASSOCIATION

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31—Announcement of its initial sale of cotton has been made by the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association. It consisted of 50 bales of strict middling cotton sold on August 28 to the Avondale Mills of Birmingham for 25c per pound.

The price was considerably above the market of the day but the premium was paid by the Avondale Mills in order to show that they are deeply interested in co-operative marketing of cotton and anxious to make this the first year in Alabama an outstanding success.

The Average daily receipts of the Association is now greatly above 200 bales. The warehousemen of the state are promptly mailing to the Association all samples which are being graded and stapled by experts in the Montgomery office. Sales will be made whenever and whereever there are proper demands.

Credit amounting to $6,000,000 has been extended to the Association and Allen Northington, general manager, states that the Association could finance every bale of Alabama cotton were it under contract.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution causing indigestion or constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live a ripe old age.

WAR IN CANTON CHINA

(By J. T. Williams.)

When I left home about the end of September last year I did not think it would be so long before I would write something for the papers, but out here we get so busy at other things that we do not often feel like sitting down and writing. However, I think I shall try to do more of it than I have been doing. Perhaps some of the people in Chilton would like to hear a little about our trouble in Canton. I do not know how much of it has been in the papers at home.

Perhaps you know there has been more or less trouble in China for several years. More or less civil war all the time. There is no strong government and the man who has the most soldiers is the one who is in power. There are different ones in different parts of China. A few years ago the president dissolved the parliament in an illegal way. Most of the parliament came to Canton and they established what they called a military government here. That went on for several years. Last year they decided to organize a permanent government. Dr. Sun Yat Sen was elected as president and commander-in-chief of the army. They set out to make an expedition against the North and unite the whole country under the southern government which has been known as the constitutional government.

Things worked smoothly for a while. They started through Kwang Si province with an army of about sixty thousand. While Dr. Sun was up there the man who was left in charge of Canton became suspicious and Dr. Sun with his whole army came back through Canton to make a fresh start by another route to the North. When President Sun and his army were six or eight days away from Canton, supplies were not being sent fast enough. President Sun became suspicious that something was not going well, so he came back to see about it but left his army in the field where it was winning against the North. A day or two after he got back to Canton his mansion was attacked at night, all the guards shot down and he and some of the other high officials had to flee for their lives. He escaped to the gunboats that were lying in the river about ten miles below town. He had no army in Canton but had the navy. The next day he brought part of the navy up the river and dropped anchor just below the city and sent word he was going to attack the next day.

The next day just after we sat down to dinner the guns began to fire. It was one or two at first, then they opened up by the score and such a noise you never heard unless you have been in a war. We got up and went out on the porch to see the gunboats slowly moving up the river and firing as they went. We continued our dinner but the things did not taste as good as they did before the firing started, for we were not sure they would not fire up our way. After about half an hour all was quiet, but, of course every one was excited.

After about two hours we heard the boom of a cannon again and looked out to see the gun boats coming back down the river firing at the soldiers on the bank with their small guns and at the forts on the hills back of the city with their big guns. James and I went up stairs so we could get a good view of what was happening. Mrs. Williams and the baby went to the basement and called for us to come on. Just about the time we got down the forts on the mountain about four miles behind our house opened up and the shells came whizzing over our house. That was a time when we had rather been in Chilton County, Ala., U. S. A., The whistle of those cannon balls was not good music to say the least, for since the Chinese are not good gunners, we did not know what minute they would forget to keep the muzzle of that gun high enough to pass over our house. Our house is on top of a little hill right in the direction of the firing. It looked rather interesting to watch the gunboats up the river as they fired, but there was no fun in hearing those shells come right over the house when we did not know what minute one would land on our house and blow it all to pieces.

After a little while there was a lull in the firing. I heard that the windows in the Seminary building had been mashed, so I thought I would go over to the building. Just as we got to the foot of the hill a machine gun and a dozen or so rifles let loose and the bullets came whizzing over our heads. We got behind a brick wall and waited a few minutes. We decided we did not need to go to the seminary, and went back to the house Just before we got back the big guns on the mountain opened up again and let about a dozen shells come over before the boats moved down the river. Those were exciting times. But God truly took care of us, for neither a missionary nor a native Christian was injured.

The gunboats went back down the river and waited for the return of the army from the North. The traitor general is still in charge of the city and the railroad toward the North. No one can tell whether the army from the North will get back to Canton. They are cut off from supplies and it is a question whether they will have enough ammunition to fight their way back into Canton. A few days ago part of the Navy came back up the river and is now anchored in the river near an American destroyer.

Those who believe in the Constitutional government and the uplift of China hope Dr. Sun's army will be able to get back and drive out the traitor, but we cannot tell what the outcome will be. If the army gets back to Canton there will be more fighting than we have yet seen.

The government of China is in a very bad condition at present. The government at Peking has no power there or anywhere else. Warring military leaders control the country in so far as it is controlled at all. How the country does need the light that comes from Christ. We are glad to meet dangers in order to help give that light to the people here that they may not only be saved but have a better country to live in while here on earth. Perhaps I shall write again later.

Port Amendment

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 6.—In an open letter addressed to Messrs. Sydney J. Bowie and H. K. Milner, Dr. W. B. Crumpton, President of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, urges the ministers of Alabama and the people generally to support the Port Amendment to the Constitution. Dr. Crumpton's letter was written in response to a letter from R. V. Taylor of Mobile calling attention to a previous open letter of Dr. Crumpton's to Mr. Bowie and Mr. Milner, in which he stated that Mobile people had been on the wrong side of moral issues in the State; and while he stated in the first letter that he would vote for the Amendment, it has been interpreted by a number of people in the State as a declaration against the Amendment.

Dr. Crumpton says he will vote for the Amendment for Alabama's sake, and expresses the hope that the Amendment will be adopted. His letter follows:

"An Open Letter to Messrs, Bowie and Milner.

"Gentlemen:

"The enclosed letter from my good friend, R. V. Taylor, with his request is before me. In an open letter to you before, I only reported to you the lack of interest and maybe opposition to the Port Amendment by the ministry whose aid you requested.

"I have great respect for Mr. Taylor's opinion and cheerfully say: Notwithstanding that fact, I mentioned in a former letter to you, that a majority of the voters of Mobile have uniformly been against all the moral reforms attempted in Alabama, I will vote for the Amendment for Alabama's sake.

"I hope that the great improvement that will come to "Alabama's only Port;" will bring many good people into the city who will prove, with good folks that ae there, the little leaven to leaven the whole lump.

"I cannot speak for the ministry of the State, but wish that notwithstanding possible indifferences before, they might do as I am going to do; vote for and use their influence to secure the ratification of the Amendment."

Respectfully,
W. B. CRUMPTON."

MT. PISGAH

Dear Editor:

Will you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a few words from this place.

Health is very good at present.

We are glad indeed to know that Mr. Albert R. Edwards is improving from an operation he underwent for appendicitis at the Central Alabama Hospital some few weeks ago.

I don't think anybody will be bothered with cold hands picking cotton this time, if it continues to open like it has for the last few days, for there was but little left after the boll weevil got his rations and the black root and dry weather damaged the remainder of it.

People of this community got their old shot guns and chased one "mad dog" as if they were going off to war. The dog was finally killed on Joe Headley's Farm by Mr. E. E. Edwards. Dog killing then took place. All that he bit were killed, as far as they know. My advice is when your dog begins to have so-called fitts to send him to the happy hunting ground, where he will bite nothing else.

Mr. Albert Edwards was out riding around to see relatives of this place Sunday.

I guess it is a well known fact that our Holliness Church of near here was burned some time ago.

There will be a church conference at Mt. Pisgah church the 4th Sunday of this month. All members are requested to be present. Come and be with us, and help build this and be with us, and help build this community up to its original stand point.

Thanking the editor for this space, I will bring this to a close.

IN MEMORY

Last Wednesday morning, August 23rd, 1922, the reaper, whose name is death, visited the home of Mr. Monroe Headley and carried away their little 5 months old baby to Heaven, to live with God, and Angels there. It had been sick about 2 weeks with colitis. Everything was done for the little babe that Dr. N. S. Johnson, with the aid of Dr. J. P. Hayes and Dr. Arthur Johnson, and loving parents and anxious friends could do but God in His infinite wisdom knew that this sinful world was not good enough for this little lamb to stay so he carried it home to Heaven to live in endless day.

Dear father and mother, grand-father and grand-mother, brothers and sister, weep not for this dear little baby for it is now sharing the joys of heaven with the most holy of heaven's holy throng. It knows in reality what we are not able to imagine are the joys of being in Heaven.

We can imagine how beautiful Heaven is with its streets of gold, and walls of jasper and set with pearls.

We can imagine how grand it would be to feast our eyes on heaven's pearly gates even, or to see God and angels all wearing crowns of gold and singing and dancing around the throne of God, but this little one does not have to imagine it for it has gone there and is resting on Jesus' bosom and happy, while we are still here on earth where sin is, and it is our duty to shun sin and sinful pleasures and seek after righteousness so that when we are called upon by the same reaper that our grain will be ready for the sickle for we know not the day nor the hour when God will call us home.

There is a reaper whose name is death,
And with his sickle keen he reaps the bearded grain at a breath,
And the flowers that grow between.
"Shall I have naught that is fair," saith He;
"Have naught but the bearded grain?"
Though the breath of these flowers is sweet to me,
I will give them all back again.
He gazed at the flowers with tearful eyes,
He kissed their drooping laves;
It was for the Lord of paridise he bound them in his sheaves.
"My Lord has need of these flowerets gay,"
The reaper said and smiled;
Dear tokens of the earth are they,
Where he was once a child.
They shall all bloom in the fields of light.
Transplanted by my care,
And Saints, upon their garments white,
These sacred blossoms wear.
And the mother gave, in tears and pain,
The flowers she most did love;
She knew she should find them all again,
In the fields of light above.
Oh, not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The reaper come that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth and took the flower away.
—Longfellow.

BLEED THROUGH

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

Our letter of last week was written from Williamstown, Mass., an interesting town located in a delightful valley amid the Berkshire Hills, which form the chief feature of Berkshire County, the western end of Massachusetts. As they extend north they merge into the Green Mountain range of Vermont, from which the state derives its name. The highest of these Berkshire Hills is a considerable mountain, rising upwards of 3500 feet above sea level, called Mount Greylock, which is surrounded by others of less prominence bearing the names of Prospect, Williams, Fitch, and Bald. These mountains are of glacial formation, and the glaciers, together with the great lake in the valleys, gradually disappeared leaving rich deposits of soil, where the Indians and early settlers of the white race found sustenance even in a rigorous climate. The principal drainage of this section is provided by the Hoosick river for the northern part, flowing in a northerly direction into the Hudson River near Troy, N. Y., and for the southern part by the Housatonic, which flows in a southerly direction and empties into Long Island Sound near New Haven, Conn. On the banks of both these streams the thrifty inhabitants have from early times utilized the water power for the operation of a great variety of maunfacturing industries, including many cotton mills, and also wollen and paper mills. It seems to be the irony of fate that the cotton produced in the south should be sent so far from home to be converted into a finished product, and then returned to be doled out by our merchants to the people who grew it. To illustrate the fact that there is a vast difference between the price of the raw material and the finished product the writer recalls that he recently bought from one of our local merchants a fairly good appearing shirt for a dollar and twenty-five cents, which, after being worn and washed, appeared to be so light as to attract his attention, and he put it on the scales and found it to weigh exactly four ounces, which was at the rate of five dollars per pound for the actual cotton used in its manufacture, or for a bale of 500 pounds $2,500. "Can you beat it?" We do not wish to convey the idea from this illustration that the difference between the price that the farmer gets for his cotton and the price paid for this shirt was all profit, but the margin was certainly sufficient to allow considerable for waste and expenses and still provide enough to "keep the wolf from the door."

A notable feature of these mountains and hills is that in many instances the timber has been cut off and they are cultivated clear to the top. We see meadows, pastures, fields of corn and wheat, and other crops all over these hillsides. In other places apple orchards, some of them upwards of a hundred years old, are still bearing heavily fruit of an excellent quality. In the lower sections and the valleys are many fertile fields and dairy farms, where both blooded and grade stock may be seen in abundance.

It was the privilege of the writer recently to visit a demonstration farm of Mr. E. Parmalee Prentice, consisting of a large tract of land among these hills about three miles from Williamstown, where with his wife, the daughter of John D. Rockerfeller, he is conducting on an extensive scale experiments in scientific agriculture, stock and hog raising, and chicken farming. In connection with the latter we saw one group of about one hundred white leghorns hatched in April, of which nearly ten per cent have already commenced laying, being only about four months old. The idea is to develop a breed of early and prolific layers. Each bird in this flock is so numbered and cared for that an exact record of its production is kept. The whole plant, containing about 4000 birds, is conducted on scientific principles.

The cows, of which they are milking at present about fifteen, disposing of their product by butter making and a milk route, are kept under the most favorable conditions, and a careful record is preserved of the product of each animal. The stock is chiefly full blooded Guernsey, and as an instance of the care they receive we saw a beautiful specimen of a full blooded Guernsey bull taking his daily exercise in a treadmill, which requires him to walk at a lively pace for about forty minutes daily, a process which we were told has resulted in a great improvement in his physical condition, and is considered far superior to the former method of driving him about. We particularly noted the kindness with which the men about the place treated all stock under their care, the principle on which the farm is run being that gentleness promotes their well-being.

This section is widely known for its scenic beauty, and as we rode about from place to place we were convinced that it certainly deserves its reputation. The hills, the mountains, the rivers and the valleys offer each day to the beholder some new type of beauty, and we can imagine that in the fall when the maples and other trees on these hillsides take on the glories of their autumn dress they will exhibit a veriety and enchantment of colors seldom seen elsewhere. This region also abounds in things of historic interest, among them the Mohawk Trail, once used by the Indians in their passage between the valeys of the Hudson and the Connecticut Rivers, leading over Hoosac Mountain, which has now become one of the famous scenic highways of New England. We would note in passing that the noted Hoosac Tunnel, which pierces the mountain of that name for a distance of five miles and was one of the first great tunnels of the world to be built for railroad purposes, intersecting the route of this highway more than a thousand feet below it. A large elm tree in a meadow near the historic Mohawk Trail and not for from the town of North Adams marks the site of Fort Massachusetts, built in the first half of the eighteenth century to protect settlers from the raids of the Indians. At one time its commander was Col. Ephraim Williams, the founder of Williams Collegt, after whom Williamstown was named.

Williamstown is located in the extreme northwest corner of Massachusetts, within three miles of the New York State line and only two miles from Vermont. Through the kindness of Prof. and Mrs. Wetmore, friends of our hosts, we were taken on an exceedingly interesting trip to Bennington, Vermont, about fifteen miles to the north of Williamstown. To avoid climbing the big hills we took a lower and longer road, going about twenty miles to reach Bennington, still it was up and up, one rise after another and each presenting some new scene of beauty. Mountains that were invisible from the valley came into view and valleys dotted with fertile farms, grazing cattle, magnificent apple orchards or waving grain unfolded like a stupendous panorama with each mile of our progress. To people accustomed only to low lying and plains country such scenes are an inspiration and illustrative of the intellectual joys obtained through achievement in educational effort in climbing the mountains which beset the road of education. Heights attained serve to reveal still other heights and realities wholly unrecognized before we have "paid the price" which admits us to new beauties which are the handiwork of God and man.

This section is a part of the fringe of civilization scattered along the Atlantic coast beginning with the first settlement of white people at Jamestown, Virginia in 1607, followed by "The Pilgrim Fathers" at Plymouth, Mass., in 1620, augmented by births and immigration and pushing westward from these and other intervening coast settlements for upwards of 150 years to the time of the Revolutionary War, when the entire white population of the counrty was about three million people. Bennington was organized about 1760, and was a small place on the western frontier in 1777, and contained a considerable supply of stores and munitions for the Continental army, which Burgoyne with a force of British soldiers and Indians sought to capture, when he was met by Col. Starke with a force of Continentals, held in check until reinforcements arrived and here fought the battle which resulted in the complete withdrawal of British troops from New England. We were shown the site of the battlefield, in a meadow, also the site of the supply-house on an eminence surmounted by a graceful but imposing monument, built of granite blocks. The structure is 40 feet square at the base and tapers, with no broken lines, to a point 300 feet above the ground, a thing of majestic beauty and visible for many miles around. Other monuments and tablets mark historic spots but we saw no "Washington Headquarters."

On the return trip we took the shorter road, which was mostly down hill and permitted of considerable coasting; in one place a stretch of about two miles required no gas. On our way home we heard a honk behind us and a big Packard touring car swept by conveying two men who were waving and bowing to our party as neighbors, they were Mr. Prentice, formerly mentioned in this letter, and Mr. Harry Garfield, President of Williams College, and the man who served as Fuel Administrator during the world war. We may say in passing that our host was the man who acted as President of Williams College for the two years of President Garfield's absence as Fuel Administrator.

The writer had long known of "The Berkshire Hills," but had scarcely expected to ever see them. In our mind the section was associated with the scene of a humorous story, in verse, committed to memory in boyhood days, to speak in school on a Friday afternoon as was then a custom. It runs as follows:

"Mid Berkshire Hills not far away
A district school one winter's day
Was humming with its wonted noise
Of three score mingled girls and boys;
And, while the master's downward look
Was fastened on a copy book
Rose sharp and clear behind his back
A rustling, cracking, rousing smack,
As t'were a battery of bliss,
Let off in one trmendous kiss.
"What's that!" The startled master cries;
"That thir,," a little imp replies;
"Wath William Willith if you pleath,
I thaw him kith Thuthana Peath."
With frown to make a statue thrill;
The master thundered, "HITHER, Will."
Like a wretch o'ertaken in his tracks;
With stolen chattles on his back;
With downcast eyes and cheeks of flame;
Will, to the awful presence came.
And standing there with birch upraised,
The master faltered I'm amazed
That you, my biggest pupil, should
Be guilty of an act so rude
Before the whole set school to boot.
What evil genius put you to't?"
"T'was she herself, sir," sobbed the lad.
I did not mean to be so bad."
But then Susanna shook her curls,
And said she was always 'fraid of GIRLS.
And daren't kiss a baby doll:
"I couldn't stand it, sir, at all."
"Excuse me, sir, the culprit said;
"I'm sory I was so ill-bred,
But somehow from her looks, Boo-Hoo;
I kind 'o thought she wished me to."

There is so much of interest in and about Williamstown which so far we have not mentioned that we will say: To be concluded in our next week.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since . . . I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too.

ALA. REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

The Big Fight That Was Expected to Come Did Not Materialize.

OLIVER D. STREET NAMED FOR GOVERNOR'S PLACE

The nomination of a full state ticket, to be voted on at the general election in November, and the election of a new chairman of the state executive committee, were the outstanding features of the Republican state convention which adjournd Thursday afternoon after a day's meeting in the Jefferson Theater in Birmingham. The body was composed of 370 delegates from 52 counties of the state.

The following were selected as Republican nominees for various state offices, but it was announced that the list was subject to withdrawals and substitutions. For governor, O. D. Street; lieutenant governor, Jerry Murphy; secretary of state, T. H. Robinson; treasurer, J. I. Abercrombie; State Auditor, C. B. McNaron; Commissioner of agriculture, J. A. Moody; superintendent of education, Miss Lucy Laurendine; attorney general, W. H. Armbrecht; chief justice Supreme Court, William H. Vaughan; associate justice, John S. Isbell; public service commission, William Dodd and Sumpter Cogswell; judges of court appeals, J. B. Atkinson and A. C. Birch; state game and fish commissioner, J. I. McKinney.

Owing to the withdrawal of Pope M. Long, the expected fight on the floor of the convention for the election of a chairman of the executive committee failed to develop. The convention was somewhat enlivened, however, by several hot debates when the nomination for candidates for state chairman was in order. C. B. Kennamer, chairman of the committee on state orgaization, reported the name of J. M. Adkins as its selection. The name was objected to the name of J. J. Curtis offered as substitute, and a heated debate ensued. It was finally agreed to withdraw the name of Adkins and a motion carried to nominate and elect a chairman from the floor. Adkins and Curtis were nominated. By vote of 265 1-2 to 96 1-2 Adkins was elected.

Adopt Platform.

The Republican state platform, drafted and approved, included suggestions for the complete revision of state tax laws and increase of state appropriations for educational purposes. The platform also recommended that convicts be removed from the mines and worked on the county roads instead and advocated adoption of legislation which would give to the relatives of convicts a share of their earnings. Ways and means to amicably settle disputes between capital and labor were embodied in the platform.

Resolutions were adopted by the convention endorsing the Mobile port amendment bill and endorsing the Harding administration. Contained in the committee on resolutions report, was a resolution condemning the action of the national administration in the appointing Democratic postmasters where deserving Republicans were available. However, it was moved to eliminate and table this resolution, which was carried.

O'Neal is Memorialized.

A resolution was introduced and adopted by the convention that the sympathies of Alabama Republicans be extended to the family of Former Governor Emmet O'Neal who died Thursday morning.

The convention was called to order by Pope M. Long, chairman of the state executive committee for the past 11 years, who made a brief talk explaining his withdrawal from the race for re-election. Following his talk he yielded the chair to W. H. Armbrecht, who presided over the convention as temporary chairman.

A bitter fight had been waged between the Long and Street factions over the chairmanship which had caused a split in the ranks of Republicans. Mr. Long stated that he would rather withdraw than represent only one faction instead of the entire party of the state. He pointed to his record as chairman, saying that he had worked to make the party a white man's party. He was heartily applauded when he pointed out that there was not a negro delegate attending the convention.

Due to a split among Montgomery County Republicans no delegates were seated from this county. When the Montgomery County convention was held the party was divided into two factions and each faction appointed delegates. The Long faction appointed J. P. Dimmick and J. N. King as delegates to the state convention. J. J. McKinney and G. E. Newstall, negro, were appointed by the Street faction. Due to some unexplained reason, according to Newstall, all four delegates were eliminated and not allowed to attend as delegates.—Birmingham News.

ARLIE BARBER RULED OUT OF RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 8—Arlie Barber, former Birmingham city commissioner, who filed formal announcement late Thursday with William P. Cobb, secretary of state, of his candidacy as nominee of the Social Democratic League for governor in the November election, is disqualified, it is learned Friday.

This hitherto unheard of political organization has failed to file with the secretary of state a party emblem which the law requires must be done within 60 days before the election. This time limit expired Thursday.

Mr. Barbar named as his campaign manager, Theodore J. Lamar, also of Birmingham. He is one of two opponents who made their appearance Thursday to Judge W. W. Brandon, of Tuscaloosa, Democratic nominee for chief executive of the state.

Judge Brandon's opponent for gubernatorial honors in the November general election, is O. D. Street, of Birmingham, nominated at the Republican state convention held in the Magic City Thursday.

Opening of Jemison High School Very Encouraging

FINE NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING WILL PLACE THAT TOWN IN FOREFRONT OF EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS IN CHILTON COUNTY.

What should be one of the most memorable occassions in the history of the town of Jemison took place there on last Monday, the occasion being the opening of the Jemison Senior High School.

Assembled there was one of the best representative crowds of young boys and girls of Chilton county that the writer has ever had the privilege of being among. The crowd was large and ethusiastic, with representatives there from all the outlying districts around Jemison, including Macedonia, Pleasant Grove and Rocky Mount. Each of these schools had students there to enter the High School department of the Jemison school.

We have for some time past been hearing that Jemison was going to have a High School. Now hear-say is a thing of the past and it is an established fact that there is a High School at Jemison, which only proves that when you go after a thing in the right way that you are bound to succeed. This is an Accredited School of the same standing of the Chilton County High located at Clanton. Rev. Buford Lawrence of Jemison is Principal and is assisted by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Edwards, Mis Jane Anderson and Miss Johnson. There is yet one place on the Faculty to be filled. Mr. E. B. Langston will have charge of all Athletic activities.

One of the headlights of the opening exercises was the address made by that well known and able educator who needs no introduction to Chilton County folks, Prof. J. L. Johnson of Clanton. Prof. Johnson spoke in very forcible terms, driving home his arguments and picturing very vividly to that bunch of among the best of Chilton's young man and womanhood, the opportunities they have in the way of education over the children of their age several years ago. Prof. Johnson also gave them some insight into the things that they could and will achieve in life if they diligently apply themselves to the task of getting an education and never quit the fight until this end is accomplished.

Following Prof. Johnson, Messrs W. M. Wyatt and G. H. DeShazo, also of Clanton made short talks. Mr. Wyatt and Mr. DeShazo were followed by Prof. Edwards who is a member of the faculty of the school. Prof. Edwards' talk was very interesting, quite to the point. He contrasted the methods of getting an education now and some forty or fifty years ago by telling this very amusing story of how the young folks court now and how they courted then.

"Back in those days when a boy rode up to the gate at his girls' home, I say rode, yes, some of them rode oxens, others were fortunate enough to have an old poor mule to ride and the rest of them walked; but any way they all managed to get there. The young man was met at the door by the girl and asked into the big spacious 'front room' and there they sat, one on one side of the fire place and the other on the opposite side and talked of the happiness that lay in store for them in the future.

"The massive old clock on the mantel shelf ticked away and seemed to say, 'take your time' 'take your time,' and as the boy and girl took their time at courting the parents took their time at making progress in the matters of education. But today when the young man gets ready to go to see Jane, he goes out in the back yard and gets hold of the tail of one of these tin mules that has the tail on the wrong end, gives that tail a couple of twists, hops in and is gone. When he gets to the home of Jane, he hops out from a cloud of dust before the mule quits kicking and rushes into a parlor just about large enough for a comfortable chicken coop. He and Jane occupy the same divan over in the corner, and the thing was realy only made for one. The little dollar Waterbury on the mantel says, 'get together,' 'get together,' 'get together,' and they get together and make time with their courting."

Likewise the people of today are getting together on the proposition of better schools and are getting things done. I know of no better illustration of this fact than to point to what has been done along this line in the town of Jemison right here at home in Chilton county. The wide-awake people of Jemison and surrounding territory realize the need of an adequate High School in their section of the county and have gone ahead and faced and overcome what at first seemed to be unsurmountable obstacles and are assured now of one of the best up-to-the-minute High schools in the State, outside of the larger cities. This achievement is something that Jemison and its people are justly proud of, something that any community could be proud of. The building which is being erected is a spacious seven room affair, is being constructed of the best of materials strictly according to State plans and specifications. The building is located on a beautiful seven acre plot just north of the business section of Jemison, facing the Birming and Montgomery Highway. When completed the building will be a very imposing structure and would be a credit to any community.

On account of the transportation conditions beyond the control of the promoters of the project, they have been unable until very recently to get material with which to work, but they now have all material for the completion of the building in sight and work of completing the building will go forward at a very rapid rate. Owing to the building not being ready for occupation the school had to be opened in temporary quarters, but these hustling folks did not let that hinder at all, they are going ahead with their work as though they had a building as large as the National Capitol.

The prospects for the school are very bright, and Prof. Lawrence says that the opening day proved successful beyond his fondest expectations, enrolling far more pupils in the High School department than was expected at this time.

When it comes to doing things that can't be done, you have got to hand it to that Jemison crowd, for when they set their head for a thing you just as well to hand it over to them, for they are sure going to get it some way or other.

As stated in the catalog of this school, the aim of it is to give to the boys and girls of high school age in the Jemison territory an opportunity to get a thorough High School education at a minimum cost, and toward this end there is being planned in conection with the school, a co-operative dormitory where the students will be charged only the actual cost of their keep, and also will be permitted where the student can do so, to pay half of that amount with produce brought from home, such as chickens, eggs and butter or anything that they may be able to furnish. Prof. Edwards will have charge of this dormitory and having had considerable experience along this line there is no doubt that it will be a decided success. This, when put into operation, will be one of the big outstanding features of the school and a considerable help to those who live out in the country and are really not able to pay the prices usually asked for board in town. Here they will get board at cost with the chance to pay half of it with produce from home, thereby enabling lots and lots of boys and girls throughout the surrounding territory to get a High School education that could not do so under different circumstances.

Jemison is one of the best fields in this county for a school such as they have started, and having as it has good roads from all directions it will be no trouble for the people to get to the school and consolidation will come as a matter of course as soon as the people see that it is going to be a success and there is no doubt of that if the start they have already made is any sign of what may be expected of them in the future.

DEMOCRATS DON'T WANT LEAGUE ISSUE THIS FALL

Washington, Sept. 8.—There will arrive in this town next Sunday James M. Cox, fresh from contact with Europe and the League of Nations, and already preceded by cabled remarks, indicating that he continues to think the same as he thought two years ago about the relations between America and Europe.

Because of those cables from London last week, Mr. Cox is going to be met on his arrival here by some Democratic leaders in person and by urgent messages from others. Some of the Democratic leaders who have not been away this summer, but are in touch with events here at home, think that things are going very well with the party. They think they are going to win this year's congressional campagin to as great an extent as they care to win it on the issue of dissatisfaction with Harding and the Republican Congress.

Let Well Enough Alone.

In the view of these Democratic leaders, since Harding and the Republicans are presenting them with as good an issue and as adequate a quantity of campaign material as they want, it would be contrary to all accepted principles of political strategy for Ex-Gov. Cox to raise a different issue.

The Democrats are "paramounting" the issue of Republican mistakes in the Maine election next week.

In Michigan they are "paramounting" the Newberry issue.

In Minnesota the local leaders are paramounting the "dry" issue.

For Mr. Cox now to "super-paramount" the issue of foreign relations on top of all the others might embarrass a campaign which fate seems to be managing quite nicely for the Democrats.

This view that it would be a mistake for Cox next Sunday to trumpet out anything about foreign relations is held almost universally but what may be called the working Democratic leaders, and some of them are much concerned about it.

Cox Knows Subject.

Probably Cox won't hesitate to consider the suggestion of the other leaders. He believes profoundly in his theory about the relations of America to Europe. He has sat back in his office at Dayton and figured out ond thought it out as craefully as any move in his own highly successful business. Thereafter, with the deliberate purpose of perfecting his knowledge, he has spent several months in contact with European leaders of thought and with European conditions.

He will never abandon the conviction that from motives both of principle and of business we must take account of the state of Europe. Believing so strongly that time and economic pressure will soon make this inevitable, he may be the more willing to let time and pressure do the work.

At the same time Cox is quite capable of taking the position that this issue is bigger than winning any one election and that the doctrine should be preached at every avaliable opportunity. He has as much confidence in the ultimate triumph of this issue as even Wilson himself.

Will Cost Effort.

For most men in Cox's position it would cost a good deal of effort to remain silent on his arrival from Europe. He must be aware how dramatic a quality such an occasion is; how great a sounding board is the deck of a steamship fresh from Europe and with the preliminary suspense and hush of seven days on the ocean.

When Bryan, after his disastrous defeat in 1904, took his trip around the world, and returned from Europe to New York in 1906, the occasion made him the center of public attention to a degree never exceeded in his experience. The meeting he addressed at Madison Square Garden on that occasion was in many respects the high spot of his career.—Birmingham News.

All right. Admit it. By that time we will all surely be out of the running. But how about 10 years from now? Or 20 years from now? Then what? Well, at that time the person who is saving, and carefully deposits and invests his money, will be on "Easy Street," that's all. ALABAMA NOTES

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK TOLD IN BRIEF.

Scores of people recently met at the hall of striking railway shopmen at Gadsden to find ways and means for furnishing school books to the children of the hundreds of working men who were said to be unable to purchase them. Efforts were made to secure all the second-hand books that were in the hands of those not in want. It was declared that the strikers specially were without the means to provide school books for their children.

The Twin City football fans will watch the gridiron record of Howard College with more than ordinary interest this year. Bob Dobbins, of Albany, for four years a member of the Sewanee football squad and picked many times for an All-Southern berth, will leave Albany about September 15 to assume his duties as assistant coach at Howard College at Birmingham.

Etowah County Post No. 5, American Legion at Gadsden, has named a committee to select a site on which a clubhouse will be erected. Another committee has been named to incorporate the post in order that it might be free to transact any sort of business. A resolution has been passed denouncing the slack way in which the United States flag is displayed in parades and on buildings in Gadsden and elsewhere.

Max King, of Ariton, has arrived at Decatur to become a member of the faculty of the Decatur high school. He will have charge of the athletic teams and already have launched work of getting a line on his football material. He comes to Decatur highly recommended and it is anticipated a winning gridiron aggregation will be put out this season.

When the Gadsden public schools opened Sept. 4 it was found necessary to assemble the high school students at the First Methodist Church in order to house all of them, even temporarily. It was also necessary to use at bathing pavilion in West Gadsden and, it is said, that its use will be continued for the term at least. Some of the schools will be placed on a double shift.

The strike is being felt by the employes of the Stouts Mountain Coal Company at Hanceville, because they canont get cars enough to run full time. At present they are working only three days each week. Although the company gave its employes a 20 per cent raise at the beginning of the month, many are said to have left.

The matter of building a road from Uniontown to Marion engaged the attention of the Civitan Club at a recent luncheon. This is regarded as one of the most important roads in the state, because its impassable condition in Winter practically cuts off a large number of people from their county seat.

Arlie Barber, former Birmingham city commissioner, who filed formal announcement with William P. Cobb, secretary of state, of his candidacy as nominee of the Social Democratic League for governor in the November election, is disqualified, it has been learned.

Emmet O'Neal, former governor of Alabama, died at his home at Birmingham. The immediate cause of his death was pneumonia, which followed complications, which set in some months ago, and the end, although not entirely unexpected, came as a distinct shock to his friends.

TWO NEGROES KILLED BY L. & N. TRAIN

Some time last Saturday night two negroes were killed by a train about two miles south of Clanton and a third one was so badly injured that it is doubtful if he will survive.

The dead negroes are Roscoe Woods and Charles Redding. The name of the injured is Frank Allen. All three are from Fitzgerald, Ga. The Allen negro was carried to Montgomery on No. 9 Sunday.

Undertaker Martin took charge of the two dead bodies after a coroner's verdict had been rendered stating that it was the opinion of the jury that death was caused by injuries received from being hit by a train. The body of the Woods negro was sent to his relatives at Fitzgerald Tuesday night.

These three negroes had been working at a planing mill in Clanton from last Thursday to Saturday night and had not slept any at all during this time. When they were paid off Saturday night they went over to their boarding place and paid up their bill. About ten o'clock Saturday night they were heard to say that they were going to the top of the hill south of town and catch a train to go home. They were not seen or heard of any more until the north-bound Pan-American came along just after daybreak Sunday morning and found them dead beside the track. The best theory of the killing is that the negroes while waiting for a north-bound freight fell asleep on the track and were hit by the south-bound Pan-American, which came along about midnight.

FARM BUREAU COTTON ASSOCIATION

Mr. Charles E. Massey, the field agent of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, was in Clanton Tuesday, and held a meeting of the members of the organization who live in this county. The purposes of this meeting was to explain to the members the plans and policies of the Association in the handling of cotton.

Mr. Massey states that the Bureau is functioning very effectively now throughout Alabama and the South. There are now over twelve thousand signers enlisted in this state representing over 170,000 bales of cotton. He further states that the local banks and warehouses in Clanton are supporting the movement heartily.

There is on the whole, according to Mr. Massey, a good feeling pervading the entire cotton growing section owing to the success of the cotton pooling movement in the handling of the crop. Those who are enlisted in this movement seem to be highly pleased with the results and we look for many more farmers to get into it from year to year as progress continues.

LAMB COMING TO CHILTON COUNTY

O. H. Mastin, Chilton county Business Agent of the United Farmers of America, has just received word that Mr. W. M. Lamb. The exact date of his visit is not known at this time but as soon as the dates of his various speaking places are known word will be sent to all local business agents of the organization and they will broadcast the news in their respective communities. Every citizen of Chilton county and especially every farmer should make arrangements to attend at least one of Mr. Lamb's addresses.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR VERBENA SCHOOL

Verbena, Ala., Sept. 12.—Verbena Consolidated schools opened Sept. 11 with an initial enrollment of one hundred forty-eight, and with a large attendance of patrons at the opening exercises. The exercises were in charge of Mr. J. C. Pattillo, trustee of the school; Rev. Roberts conducted the devotions, and short addresses were made by the principal, W. E. G. Sutton, Mr. F. A. Gulledge, Mr. S. L. Gibson, Mr. Pattillo, and others. The prospects for a much larger attendance of pupils in the near future are good, as the crops of the section will soon be harvested and parents who are needing the help of their children will be free of that necessity and give their children the advantage of every day possible in school.

The faculty this year is as follows: W. E. G. Sutton, of Linden, Principal; Miss Lucy E. Strickland, of Montgomery; Miss Ida Mae Hull, Birmingham; Miss Essie McLeod, of Ozark; Miss Irene Jones, Clanton; Miss Anne Lynne Strickland, of Montgomery; and Miss Parnell, of Billingsley. Music and domestic science department will be added this year, and additional interest is being manifested from them.

On Friday evening a reception was given at the school building so that the patrons might get acquainted with the new teachers, the Misses Strickland, Miss McLeod, and Miss Jones being here for their first time. The auditorium was well filled with those interested, and a general get-to-gether spirit was evident. Mr. R. E. Ledbetter, of the department of Rural School Inspection, of Montgomery, was present, and delivered an address which contained a stirring appeal to the citizens of the district that they at once begin the work preliminary to the erection of a modern school building here. It is believed that in the immediate future a definite building program will be advanced and that the actual work on the building will not long be deferred. The crying need for a modern building at Verbena will not much longer go unheeded.

The new wagons have been put into service on the several routes, and one truck is being used, for the transportation of the pupils from a distance. Another room has been added to the building, and work will soon be begun on rooms for domestic science and music.

Clanton should be thankful for having had in the past two years a Town Mayor and Council who have shown themselves able and willing to serve the town properly, and who have discharged their duties in a manner that entitles them to re-election.

The Union-Banner has not given up hope of some day seeing the swamps around here drained and ditched. Now and then we find a new convert to the idea. First thing you know we will have something started that wil result in accomplishing the task finally.

UNION SERVICE AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

We are requested to announce that Rev. W. D. Parrish of Nashville, Tenn., will speak at the Baptist Church next Sunday at 11 o'clock, under auspices of the National Reform Association. His subject will be "The Salvation of American Civilization," and both Methodists and Baptists will join in this service. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

HAVE YOU THOUGHT ABOUT OUR HOSPITAL LATELY?

Just stop a minute now and run back over the past few months and think of how much that institution has been worth to the people of Clanton and Chilton county.

Think of the splendid success that has attended the noble efforts of the doctors and nurses in administering relief and cure to the suffering and the sick and injured of our community.

Think of the money that has been saved and the inconvenience that has been avoided for those who have found treatment and cure here, in comparison with the circumstances under which they would have labored had they been compelled to seek relief in a hospital in a distant city.

Think over these things a few minutes, friends, and see if you don't reach the conclusion that our hospital deserves more support from you than you have given it in the past. Don't you think you can afford to invest some money in an institution that means so much to the people of our town and county?

We hope you may take the time to study this question carefully in the next few days.

Remember as you go along that the hospital is making good. It is no longer an experiment. It is an actually successful and assured proposition.

You are not being asked to support a thing that is uncertain, or untried or unsuccessful. There are some who were courageous enough to risk their money in it before it was tried and proven; thanks to their vision nad confidence.

Now that it is a proven success, many others should fall in line and help make it even better and more capable of meeting the demands of the future.

OUR CITY ELECTION NEXT MONDAY.

The general municipal election will be held in Clanton next Monday, September 18th, in which the people of the town will elect their mayor and councilmen for the next term.

So far as we have been able to learn there is only one ticket in the field, which is composed of the same men who have been our city officers for the term just closing. In our opinion this is enough. We believe Dr. Gragg as Mayor, and the other gentlemen who have been serving with him on the council, are all justly entitled to re-election.

When these men assumed the duties of their offices two years ago The Union-Banner expressed the hope and the belief that they would make the town such an adminitration as would win for them the endorsement of the citizenship for continuance in office. Their record has been made and it bears us out in our former prediction.

These men have done more for town than any administration in our recallection, and we believe it is the wish of the citizens of the town that they continue as our city officials.

We don't need any other ticket in the field this time. Let us tell our worthy and well-tried Mayor and Councilmen on next Monday that Clanton appreciates the work they have done for the town, and bid them God speed for another term in doing even better if possible the things that rest upon the shoulders of our city fothers.

SOME SIDELIGHTS ON JEMISON.

The editor of The Union-Banner had the pleasure of attending the opening of the Jemison High School on last Monday morning. We were very favorably impressed with the prospects of the school as shown by the spirit of pupils, teachers and citizens of the town at this opening. It is very evident from different viewpoints that Jemison has undergone a revival of the school spirit in recent months. The biggest sign of this renewed interest in school work is seen in the big new school building that is being erected on a seven-acre tract of land within the town. No town the size of Jemison could erect such a school building as this one is going to be unless the town had the real school spirit and a plenty of it.

This new school building is not completed yet, but it will be in a short time. The opening exercises were held in the Jemison Baptist Church Monday. For a few weeks pending the completion of the new building the school will be conducted in temporary quarters.

Something of the size of Jemison's new school building can be told by a statement of one man that it was big enough for an ordinary cotton factory. It has an auditorium, seven class rooms and an office and library.

Rev. Buford Lawrence, who is pastor if the Jemison Baptist Church, is the Principal of the High School. He was a very busy man on Monday giving aid and instructions to pupils in the work of enrollment and classification.

Mr. W. H. Conway, one of the best known farmer citizens of this county, was present at the opening of the school. Mr. Conway has always been interested in the educational progress of our county, and particularly his home community.

Monroe Hubbard, the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, was very busy buying cotton and writing school tickets when we called at his store. He found time to attend the opening exercises of the school however.

L. H. Bean of the Farmers Hardware Company expressed himself as very hopeful over the prospects of his aluminum sale which is to come off next Saturday. We saw the display of valuable articles which Mr. Bean is going to sell on this occasion. It is going to be a treat to the housewives in and around Jemison to be able to buy such things as those which are going in this sale for 1 cent, 49 cents and 99 cents.

Professor Edwards of the High School faculty, was on hand as he said: "Ready for Work." Mr. Edwards is a new teacher in this county. We don't know where he came from. We will tell you what he told his audience Monday about his previous rendezvous, and you can make up your own guess as to what place he hails from. He said he was from a neighbor county to Chilton, and that his home county was sometimes said to be famous for turning out wildcat liquor and Baptist preachers. (He being one of the preachers.)

A brief visit to the store of George Collum revealed the fact that he was very busy buying cotton and attending to other business matters with customers in his place of business. Mr. Collum is running the business that was begun by his father, the late B. E. Collum, and is doing well with it.

Mrs. Edwards, wife of the professor, is herself a professor, and is a member of the faculty. Her few remarks to the patrons and students were very well fitted to the occassion.

Frank Merchant of the Pleasant Grove community was in Jemison Monday with a bale of cotton. As he put the proceeds from his bale way down deep in his pocket and rode away towards home on a wagon bed full of cotton seed, he looked to us like a man who was very well satisfied with life in every respect, even the price of cotton not excepted.

The gin of Shaw Brothers was busy ginning cotton. Jemison is a good location for a gin, as the town is surrounded by some of the best farming lands in Chilton county.

While in Jemison we were pleased to meet Rev. Brannon, the Pastor of the Methodist church. He is a firm believer in Jemison and the future possibilities of the town. Our opinion is that the people of the town have long since realized the value of having such a man and such a preacher as Rev. Brannon in their midst.

Among those present to enter the Jemison High School Monday we noticed: Messrs Fulton Lenoir and Arnie Merchant of Pleasant Grove and Macedonia respetively.

Mr. Ed Lenoir of Pleasant Grove was in Jemison Monday morning attending the opening of the High School, and also attending to the very important business of selling some cotton and putting the money way down in his "jeens" as tho he meant for it to stay there.

Now, just watch Jemison grow. With this big new High School it will be just like a young pig that is being fed milk and shorts; the only way to keep it from growing will be to knock the whole town and all the folks in the head. Better not try that if you don't want a squealing time.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rasberry and family of Pleasant Grove were among the visitors to the opening Monday.

PATES CHAPEL

Health of this community is good at this time.

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon with a very good crowd. The singing was opened by J. F. Robinson. Directors for the afternoon were: Prof. James Franklin, Harvey Castleberry, Chester Maddox, Miss Mettie Hodgens and Miss Nora Franklin. The organists were: Miss Mea Maddox and Nora Franklin. We were glad to have the visitors with us and cordiallly invite them to come again.

Mr. Willie Blow of Talladega, has been visiting here for the past week.

Henry Patterson visited in this part Sunday.

Mr. S. E. Pate and family dined with Mr. Lem Hays Sunday.

"LIVING WAGES" FOR THE FARMERS.

The radical leaders of some of the unions of transportation employees fail to recognize the reciprocal obligations incident to their particular line of work. They assert and exercise the right to quit in a body, thus tying up transportation. But would they or would the public recognize the right of railroad managers to stop the trains and tie up transportation? Not for one moment. Yet the rights and obligations and responsibilities are just as great and just as binding on one side as on the other.

If we are to recognize the right of employees to tie up transportation, we must also recognize an equal right of employers to do exactly the same thing. There must be equality under the law.

Then, too, the radical union leaders have asserted that it takes about $2500 a year to support a family in the manner that they deem suitable, and they insist that this shall be established as a "living wage." They want a man who works for wages to be assured this income so that he may live decently, to use their words. There is not unanimty of agreement as to the exact amount, $2500, but that is approximately what they claim as the cost of keeping a family for a year. Now, if it is proper to fix a definte "living wage" for rail employes, it is proper to fix a similar living wage for every other workman, whether he be a wage earner or otherwise. If we are to have a legal determination of the income a family is entitled to, it must be uniform and appliable to all persons. If the government is to fix the standard of income, and fix it on the basis of what it ought to cost a family to live decently, the same standard must be recognized for all, regardless of occupation.

We fancy that there are lots of farmers, gardeners, school teachers, mechanics, clerks, merchants, blacksmiths, barbers and bootblacks, who would like to be assured of a "living wage" as defined by the spokesmen for the railroad unions. Likewise, there are a lot of farmers, etc., who see the utter impossibility of every family being placed on an assured income of approximately $2500 a year.

Yet, if the government is to undertake to fix a minimum income for one class, it must fix the same minimum for all.

There's many a farmer in the United States who has not only failed to receive the "living wage" as defined by the spokesmen for the railroad union leaders but has failed to make even his expenses and has lost his farm and cattle and machinery. There's many a merchant who has not only failed to make a "living wage" as defined by the union leaders, but has lost his capital and has been thrown into bankruptcy. There's many a man and woman who had invested the savings of a lifetime in railroad stocks and who has realized nothing on them but loss. The government does not now and never has assured dividends on railroad or other stocks. As a matter of fact, the records show that there are many railroad stocks that are not paying any dividend whatever, and have not paid dividends for many, many years.

Yet, if the government is to insure a reasonable income to labor, must it not, in equity, insure a reasonable income to capital?

If the radical leaders of unionism would recognize the principle of equality or right and responsibility, they would modify their demands upon the government. They would not think of conceding to all workmen, whether wage earners or not, the income they demand for themselves. They know it is an economic impossibility.

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

IN the early days of automobile contests, Barney Oldfield—out to win every race—studied tires. His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications.

Twenty years of road and track victories—with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them—convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tests pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use.

The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right. Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country—and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires—bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of tire making.

This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufacture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring.

Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Test Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 34,525 miles on rough roads proves the mettle of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in everyday driving.

The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and tire cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about.

Your Oldfield dealer has these facts—talk to him.

Mr. Leo Peterson, who is in the Aviation Corps in Florida, spent a few days with his parents in Thorsby last week. Mr. Peterson was ccompanied to his home by John Rausher. They motored to Thorsby from Florida.

Mr. David Paxson, of Thorsby, spent Friday and Saturday of last week in Birmingham.

Misses Agnes and Ruth Gerald motored to Birmingham on Thursday of last week. They enjoyed a very delightful time.

Mr. Harry Thompson and family moved to Lock 12 last Thursday. Mr. Thompson has been working at the dam for some time. They shall be missed by their many friends in Thorsby.

To the Voters of Thorsby:

Having been nominated for alderman of the town of Thorsby I think it only fair that the voters of said town should know my views and what I would work for if elected on September 18th.

First, I would work for the elimination of the whiskey traffic in our town so that our small boys of 12 and 14 years of age would not be offered whiskey and urged to take a drink just to see how it tastes (which condition we know exists at present time.)

Second, I would work for the reduction of all current expenses of the town; the reduction of the mayor's salary one-half, clerks salary one-third and keep streets in repair with the least expenditure of money possible. These reductions to remain in force until such time as we have erected, equipped and paid for a suitable public school building.

Third, I would work for the suppression of profane and obscene language being used on our streets such as is being used at present time, especially on Saturday afternoons.

Further, I would work for betterment of the town of Thorsby in every possible way as time and occasion demands. In conclusion, I ask for the vote of every woman and man that wants a cleaner and better town and who believe I would work for the best interests of all concerned.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution causing indigestion or constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live a ripe old age.

DORMITORY ESTABLISHED

It is with pleasure that we are able to announce that the High School at Jemison has provided a dormitory. A spacious home has been rented that will accommodate a large number of boys. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will live in the Dormitory and will have charge of it. This dormitory will be run on a co-operative plan and the students will pay the actual expense. There will be no profits.

Students coming from the farm are given the privilege of paying one half of their boarding expenses with produce that can be used in running the dormitory. Not only boys are in on this plan, but girls can room near by and take their meals at the dormitory at cost.

In this way, boys and girls desiring the advantages of an education in an accredited High School, can obtain it at a very low expense. It is hoped that this dormitory will be filled in the near future with ambitious students.

Work on the addition to the school building is progressing nicely, and if there is no hitches unforseen now, there will be two new rooms for the accomodation of the pupils by the time the school opens, which will be the first Monday in October.

If the present weather conditions continue there will be but very little cotton in the fields here in two weeks.

Those who are not busy picking cotton are busy saving hay. The hay crop here is not as good as it generally is, but if what we have can be saved, everyone will have plenty.

Sunday afternoon we had the pleasure of having with us the Clanton quartette. This quartette is becoming very widely known over the county and as expressed by one person Sunday, we often times fail to appreciate what we have right around us. These singers are very rapidly gaining for themselves a place among the best singers of the day. This quartette is: Messrs G. D. Retherford, Jesse C. Jones, Renfroe Jones and wife. Singing tenor, soprano, basso and alto respectively. These singers rendered some very fine selections which were enjoyed by all who were present. By special request they sang "Looking Beyond" a second time. Other singers present were Mr. L. N. Henderson, Prof. J. C. Veazey and our highly esteemed chorister. Mr. Henderson, Mr. Veazey, Mr. Jesse C. Jones and Mr. Retherford of the quartette and Mr. Davenport each directed for 10 minutes, the quartette rendering a selection between each lesson. We also had Prof. J. L. Johnson with us, who gave us some very inspiring remarks along the line of community uplift.

We extend to the Clanton quartette and all lovers of music a hearty and cordial invitation to come and sing with us any time you can.

Rev. Buford Lawrence of Jemison filled his regular Saturday and Sunday appointments at Mulberry, preaching two very able sermons.

Mr. Mack Broadhead of Clanton was among the visitors here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rasberry and family of Pleasant Grove and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Williams and family dined with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. DeShazo Sunday.

We were indeed glad to have the Macedonia folks with us Sunday.

This is possibly the last issue of the "Doings" that the present editor will be able to write, owing to my present business connections keeping me away from home and out of the community. But nevertheless, I will endeavor to have some one else take up the work and keep the "Doings" doing.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women,—whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people, it puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from the eyes, and it fools Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, tetter, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

Fourteen Feature Hippodrome Acts Will Add to Fair's Program

The Hippodrome acts, to be staged in front of the huge grandstand on the open air stage, will be one of the main features of the Alabama State Fair, which gets going October 2, and which will close October 7. The management has booked fourteen Hippodrome acts for this feature of the annual state show this year. Not only is this the biggest quantity of attractions ever booked into the State Fair, but it contains more quality, too. The management did not go about selecting these formidable feature acts in a hap-hazard manner. To be explicit these thrilling sensations were booked from the cream of vaudeville. Sample entertainments were given. President Brown and Secretary Dent witnessed these private showings from 150 acts and then selected the fourteen they desired to bring to Birmingham. Of course the thrillers they selected cost more money than lots of the other acts offered, but the management paid no attention to this. They had made up their minds to give the people of Alabama the best show money could buy, and unstintedly they opened the purse-strings and signed on the dotted line for the biggest and best feature attractions the United Booking Company could offer.

With these fourteen thrillers being given in front of the grandstand twice daily, this feature of the state's annual show promises to outstrip past achievements far and away. Add music by one of the most celebrated bands in the world, and solo singers, who sing to beat the band, and one has the greatest show ever offered the amusement-loving public of America.

No Substitute Offered

Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic and Diarroheoa Remedy, when the best medicine for diorhoea is asked for, and do so because they know from what their customers say of it, that it can be depended upon.

Merchant Financial Wreck

"I am a financial wreck because of the expense of doctors and medicine for my wife. She has been a chronic sufferer for 10 years. NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

Most people who come to Williamstown, Mass., have a purpose of taking either a full or short course in Williams College, and having arrived at the seat of this historic institution we embraced the opportunity to "go through college" by a short, in fact a very short course.

To begin at the beginning of things, Colonel Ephram Williams, who by the way, was a distant relative of the wife of the writer, commanding a detachment of the Continental army, was killed in battle with Indians at Lake George New York, Sept. 8th, 1755. Before starting on this campaign he had a presentiment that his end was near and made a will, in which he bequeathed to what was then West Township, in Berkshire County, Mass., $8,000 with which to found a FREE school, on a site he had selected in a beautiful valley among the Berkshire hills, at that time almost uninhabited except for here and there the cabin of an intrepid pioneer on the western border of civilization.

When this fund had grown by interest and other accretions to about $14,000 a substantial building was erected and the free school was opened in 1790. In 1793 a College was organized as successor to the free school and, in honor of the founder, named Williams College, and the small settlement which grew up around it was called Williamstown. As an instance of the character of buildings constructed in those days, the walls and exterior of that building stand unchanged today, except for a coat of paint; the interior has recently been remodled for Dormitory purposes. We have noted the very substantial character of all the college buildings erected here since the one was put up over 130 years ago. The walls are from two to three feet thick and foundations are laid deep to get below the line of frost in winter. From this humble beginning with one building of less proportions and imposing exterior than our Bates Hall has grown one of the famous educational institutions of our country with a site covering 235 acres, over which are scattered many large and costly buildings, the whole aggregating a value of upwards of two million dollars, and an Endowment of three millions to which will soon be added a million and a half as a result of a recent campaign for endowment. Her graduates number many thousands, over 5000 now living, many of them among the foremost of our nations statesmen, educators, proffessional, and business men. President James A Garfield received his college education here and thought so much of it that four of his sons have since taken the course and graduated here, one of whom, Harry Garfield, is now its President. Here also our own Dr. Jenkins took his college course. Here also is the birthplace of American Foreign Missions. Five students in the college in 1806 held a prayer meeting during which, sheltered by a hay stack from a heavy rain storm, they laid plans for establishing Missionary work among the heathen in foreign lands, and some of them were the first to engage in this great work. The Centennial celebration of this event was held in 1906 by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions on this spot where stands a mounment, commemorating the birth of foreign missions. It is but a stones throw from the home of our host and hostess to whom we are much indebted for the information gathered for this letter. And who could be better equipped than they to give it?

Professor Henry D. Wild has been an instructor in this college for thirty one years, and his estimable wife has been his home-maker and helpmate for nearly that whole period. Mrs. Wild is a cousin, who seems like a sister to Mrs. Norton. They live in unostentatious comfort in a commodious house on the college campus, and although Mrs. Wild keeps no servants, they are most delightful entertainers, permitting guests, at least us, to share their home life freely and at the same time helping us in many ways to see and learn as much as possible of places of interest in the town and vicinity. That they have many friends here who desire to help them in this matter is evident from the fact that they have more offers to give us auto rides than we can accept. Mr. and Mrs. Wild have two sons, both graduates of Williams College; the older, now at home for vacation, is taking a Post Graduate curse at Chicago University, the younger is connected with the Standard Oil Company in China. We were very enjoyably entertained by his mother on a recent evening by hearing several of his very interesting letters.

When one "Goes to College" he usually enters first the office of The Dean or Registrar. In our case we found Dean Howes and his Secretary already "On the Job" although a month before the fall opening of the college year. Having been properly vouched for by our guide and interpreter, we found the Dean in no wise an ogre but on the contrary quite sociable. After a brief visit we were led to the office of President Harry Garfield, who happened to be absent but his lady secretary graciously received and bowed us out. By the way, this bowing in and bowing out is quite an art at "Williams" and these lady secretaries are adepts in the practice. It must be remembered that we are not visiting a co-ed institution, no indeed. The first year and most of the second year, or Sophomore, students room in the dormitories. The third year men, Juniors, and the fourth year men, Seniors, mostly live in what are designated fraternity houses, which are really the club houses for very old organizations, where the membership is automatically increased from year to year, but once gained is apt to be cherished through life and these houses form the rendevous for many reunions of college men long after they have left their college home.

Williams College has about 600 students; over 200 Freshmen will be enrolled this year and upwards of 100 graduated. There are about 60 instructors, many of them full Professors, some assistant professors, a sort of probation position, and others just plain instructors, who have not yet attained to either of the higher ranks. With most of them it is a life work but by no means a "Soft Snap." Although the actual hours of class room work are comparatively few, there is a world of study in preparation for those few hours, and besides that there are many other duties in committee work. Men like Professor Wild, become an inherent part of the machinery that runs the institution. Prof. Wild has shown capacity to manage any office to which he may be elected or appointed by the trustees, from President of the college or Dean, both of which he has filled during vacancies, to the chairmanship of any important committee.

These men are not turned out to die, like an old horse, when age and physical infirmities overtake them, but like an army or navy officer, are retired with sufficient salary to keep them above serious want.

We are next conducted to the chapel where all students are required to assemble at stated times for religious service. The building is of Gothic style, with an imposing tower which shelters a very interesting chime of eight bells. The exterior of the building is of granite, while the interior is of white marble. The windows are of ornate designs painted in England. By way of exception there is a stained glass memorial to President James A. Garfield, made by Tiffany, in New York. In the floor before the chancel is a memorial tablet covering the burial place of Ephriam Williams, founder of the college. The auditorium is arranged to seat about 700 people and it is worthy of note that although the building has been in constant use for 18 years there are no signs of desecration or marring of its furnishings.

We next visited the Central Heating plant where six great boilers, of 150 horse power capacity each, provide steam for heating all buildings on the campus that are used for college purposes, thus saving much valuable space, waste of labor, and dirt in all the buildings. Another interesting building is Chapin Hall, used as an Auditorium, which has a seating capacity of about 1100. This hall is the scene of the general meetings of "The Institute of Politics," a sort of miniature peace conference, which, beginning in 1921, meets here for the month of August for three years with delegates from all parts of the world, making what a "New York Tribune" editor dubbed "The Intellectual center of this country." We attended the closing session for this year when the speaker of the evening was the Hon. T. H. Kerr, Secretray of Lloyd George. Like most of the college buildings this building, Chapin Hall, bears the name of the donor, Mr. A. C. Chapin, a wealthy New York lawyer, who later gave to the college, of which he is a graduate, a library of rare books and engravings, valued at more than half a million dollars, on condition that a suitable fireproof building should be prepared to receive them. This building "The Stetson Library," is now nearing completion, probably to cost at least half a million.

For the construction of this great building funds were appropriated from a will of the late F. L. Stetson, a prominent New York Lawyer, also a graduate of Williams College. The college as "Residuary Legatee" will probably receive about one and a half million dollars from this estate, of which enough is now available to complete the new Library building, in which a large space to be known as the "Chapin Section" is specially prepared and devoted to Mr. Chapin's great and valuable library. The main building is four stories high built with exceedingly thick walls of brick with trimmings and basement walls of granite. The interior finish is wood panelling and ornamental plaster, with marble floors and stairways. The readig room is 30 x 75 feet and full two stories high and lighted on both ends, and one whole side, from the second story window, leaving the entire first floor walls without break, except for the doorways. On the ground floor are also provided the delivery room and the Librarians offices together with a periodical room, elevator entrance and stairways. The second floor is devoted largely to the "Chapin Room" and other rooms for exhibits, while the third floor is mostly taken up with small class rooms where the instructors can meet classes studying special subjects, and the fourth floor is given over to Professors' private study rooms where they may work in seclusion and yet be in close touch with any book in the great "stock Rooms" at the rear of the building, by Telephone communication and electric book elevators. These stock rooms are not so high as the rooms in the front of the building, so there will be eight or nine floors wholly devoted to storage and care of books, each floor containing upwards of 2,000 feet of iron adjustable shelving and the whole making provision for about 250,000 books, about half that number being already in the present library.

Thus are we shown the importance of books in educational matters and how essential it is that all students shall have ready access to a great variety of sources of information.

Scattered over the beautiful and park like "campus" are recitation halls, dormitories and refectories, athletic and science halls, students' buildings and Professors homes together with some Fraternity Houses or Students' Clubs.

A good deal of attention is given to athletics for the students at Williams College, and though they have a large and substantial gymnasium well equipped for this purpose it is now considered wholly inadequate and a new building will soon be erected costing about half a million dollars, for funds provided by donations from "The Alumni," a source from which most of its buildings and endowment have been provided. We told our host who was acting as guide and interpreter, when they were through with their present gymnasium building, if they would wrap it carefully and send it to us by Parcel Post we could make good use of it.

We were intensely interested in the Laboratories and their equipment for scientific analysis and research, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Geology, each housed in a separate building of good size and providing facilities of untold value to students in any of these branches. The students building also gave evidence of recognition of opportunity for development of various phases of life and character. Here are the editorial rooms of the college magazines, also Y. M. C. A. rooms and a moderate size auditorium and stage for student meetings and class plays, concerts, lectures, etc. Having thus added greatly to our sum of enjoyment as well as information we have yet to mention the extreme pleasure afforded by visits to a Camp or "Cabin" which our host and his family occupy at frequent intervals during vacation days. Although located in an isolated section within the state of Vermont, it is only about two miles from Williamstown, and most of the distance is traversed by a trolley line, from which a trail leads into the hills which are surrounded by mountains and valleys in all directions, a veritable "Sylvan Dell."

But since the traveler is always migratory we will soon be leaving Williamstown for other scenes carrying with us grateful remembrances of the gracious courtesies and kindly hospitality bestowed on us by Mr. and Mrs. Wild and their son, Douglas, together with their friends who have contributed not a little to our comfort and enjoyment while here.

Williamstown and its friendly, helpful people will long be held in grateful remembrance.

DRIVE IN SEVENTH DISTRICT BY REPUBLICANS

Enthusiastic Rally Held, and Party Strength Shown to Be Very Promising of Success.

Attalla, Ala., Sept. 19.—All seven counties in the Seventh congressional district were well represented in an enthusiastic meeting of the Republican executive committee here Saturday afternoon, in response to a call issued by John F. Sutterer, of Cullman, Chairman, Joe Franklin, of Gadsden, acted as secretary in the meeting.

Plans were adopted at the meeting of the district executive committee Saturday for a campaign to be waged vigorously in every county of the district during the next few weeks in the interest of the Republican nominee for Congress, B. L. Noojin, of this city. H. G. Ashley, of Ashville, was named chairman of the district campaign committee while Homer Mitchell, of Cullman, was elected vice-chairman and R. O. Noojin, of Attalla, treasurer. Mr. Mitchell agreed to devote a considerable portion of his time to work of organization throughout the district.

While the congressional campaign in the Seventh district this Fall will be free from the usual pyrotechnics displayed in this district every two years for a long period between the two parties, it is freely predicted the Republican nominee will prove a strong contender for the congressional honor, owing to his strong character and splendid ability. Mr. Noojin has repeatedly announced he will not be a party to mud-slinging and villifying, but will conduct his campaign above board and along clean lines. His maiden speech during the campaign was to be delivered Monday at Asheville.

Judge Reynolds Gives Information to Chilton News

Furnishes Democratic Paper With Entire Correspondence That Has Taken Place With Dr. Cary Relative to the Dipping of Cattle in Chilton County.

Judge Reynolds has given to the Chilton County News, the Democratic newspaper of Chilton County, a complete copy of all the correspondence that has taken place between himself and Dr. Cary in regard to the cattle dipping question in Chilton County. In addition to the correspondence his letter to the News makes some discussion of the subject based on this correspondence, which shows clearly the position of the Probate Judge and Commissioners Court on this cattle dipping proposition as applied to Chilton County right now.

We publish below the entire communication which was sent to the Chilton County News by Judge Reynolds.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 18, 1922.
Editor Chilton County News:

In the issue of your paper dated September 7th, you said you wanted to be fair, and publish all information on the cattle dipping question. Therefore I am giving you the entire correpondence that has taken place between Dr. Cary and myself in regard to the matter.

The following communication was handed to the Court of County Commissioners by Dr. Don B. Strickler, with an urgent request that the same be made an order of the Court and entered upon the official minutes thereof:

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 14, 1922.
Hon. Board of County Commissioners,
Chilton County, Ala.
Dear Sirs:

The Live Stock Sanitary Board of Alabama and the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, request the Board of Commissioners of Chilton County to conduct the work of Tick Eradication in Chilton County, as provided by the state-wide tick eradication law, approved Feb. 17, 1919, and make requisition as follows:

That not less than two (2) more inspectors, besides the one now working, be employed and put to work at once.

That the necessary number of concrete dipping vats be constructed, repaired, cleaned out and replenished with water and chemicals to take care of the quarantined cattle infested with cattle fever ticks.

That the necessary amount of standard tick-killing arsenical dip be provided to take care of those quarantiner cattle.

That if more cattle and a greater area be found infested with cattle fever ticks and quarantined, more inspectors, vats and dip be provided, to take care of the situation as it may arise.

That this request be entered upon the minutes of this Board meeting. this 14th day of August, 1922.

Respectfully,
DON B. STRICKLER,
Veterinary Inspector.

Copy to
R. E. Jackson
Filed.

As has been stated before, the Commissioners did not take any action on this order, owing to the fact that it was so indefinite that it could not be determined to what extent the Court would be required to go with the matter, and also because of the fact that the county was not able financially to spend any more money for dipping cattle. A few days after this order was presented to the court Dr. Cary came to Chilton county, and published a general quarantine order which tied up our entire county under strict quarantine of all cattle.

On Saturday follwing the publication of this quarantine a meeting of citizens was held at the court house to discuss the matters involved in the order that was presented to the court, and the quarantine. Following this meeting I wrote Dr. Cary as follows:

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 23, 1922.
Dr. C. A. Cary,
Auburn, Ala.
Dear Sir:

About two hundred people held a mass meeting at the court house last Saturday and requested me to ask you to come to another meeting to be held here next Saturday, August 26th, at 2 o'clock P. M. Please let me know if we may expect you.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 25, 1922.
Judge L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.,
Dear Sir:

When the Chilton County Board of Commissioners want to comply with the law and take care of the tick infestation, anywhere it may be found in Chilton County, the state and federal authorities are ready to co-operate with them.

When you are ready, notify me and a date will be made to meet or confer with the Chilton County Board.

Yours truly,
C. A. CARY,
State Veterianarian.

P. S.—I cannot be at the mass meeting Saturday, the 26th.

Yours, C.

After the mass meeting the 26th, I wrote Dr. Cary as follows:

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 31, 1922.
Dr. C. A. Cary,
Auburn, Ala.
Dear Sir:

The Commissioners Court requested me to write you and find out how many herds of cattle in this county were infested with ticks, where they are and who owns them.

We are now furnishing some dip which we had here to the people in the northern part of the county, whose cattle have ticks.

While we were dipping cattle under your instructions we bought several test tubes. Do you know where any of them are, and if there is any fluid on hand?

We have requested the people who own cattle that are tick infested to get rid of them and to keep the cattle confined so as to keep the ticks from spreading.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

On September the third I received the following answer:

Auburn, Ala., Sept 3, 1922.
Judge L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Sir:

Your letter came while I was away from home. We shall be glad to co-operate in locating ticks and dipping etc., if your county will supply the vats and the required inspectors to take care of this work. Also we shall expect that you enforce the law.

We have not asked you or the people to co-operate or work where there are no ticks.

You may get this done at an early date and thus permit your cattle men to get in good condition to move their fat cattle or grass finished cattle. If this is delayed there may be no movements until the entire county takes up dipping.

Yours truly,
C. A. CARY,
State Veteriinarian.

On September 13, I wrote Dr. Cary as follows in reply to the above letter:

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 13, 1922.
Dr. C. A. Cary,
Auburn, Ala.
Dear Sir:

I am very much surprised at your letter of the 3rd inst., in which you state "We shall be glad to co-operate in locating ticks and dipping etc., if your county will supply the dip and vats and the required inspectors to take care of the work." This statement shows that you do not know that our cattle have ticks, but that you are only hunting them. I am especially surprised at is, since you have quarantined the whole county.

The whole affair seems more like politics to me than anything else.

You remember that you came to see me a few days before the Primary Election and talked over the tick situation in our county, and did not tell me that we had tick-infested cattle, but requested me to have Mr. J. B. Wiggins, who was guarding the line bewteen this county and Shelby to put in full time, to prevent cattle from crossing from Shelby into this county. After you had gone it was whispered over town that if I were nominated the people would have to dip their cattle again; and after the Primary your representative filed an order with the Commissioners Court, which, if it had been adopted, would have left the whole matter in your hands, as to how many vats would have been built and what cattle should be dipped.

You had a letter published in last week's sisue of The Chilton County News, Democratic paper, which is altogether different from the request you filed with us. You try to put the blame on the Commissioners Court for having the county quarantined, when you know as a matter of fact if you had the interest of the county at heart you would have quarantined the infested herds and not the whole county, as this would have confined the infested cattle and not permitted the ticks to scatter over the county.

Your letter addressed to a citizen of this county should have been addressed to the Democratic Chairman with instructions to be used for Campaign purposes only.

You say in your letter to that paper that it can be arranged to dip only the cattle that have ticks on them. I am sure you remember having us dip cattle that had never had ticks

OUR CORRESPONDENTS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

Some of those who send in news from the rural communities of the county have gotten rather careless as to when and in what form they send in their news each week. So we wish here to make a few suggestions to you, which, if you will govern yourselves by, you will save us much time and trouble and at the same time give your community a better representation in our columns.

We would sum up a few simple rules about as follows:—

First.—Write the name of your community at the top of the first sheet, followed by your own name. (Please don't forget to write your own name there.)

Second.—Write news that will be of interest to the whole county, and not merely something that will interest only one or two individuals.

Third.—Write your words plainly and distinctly, especially proper names, and WRITE ON ONLY ONE SIDE OF PAPER.

Fourth.—Send your copy in so that it will reach our office NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY AT NOON.

Now, let us explain that we do not wish to discourage the efforts of any of our correspondents, but we feel sure that if you will co-operate with us in carrying out these few simple rules that we will be able to give you a better neater and more interesting paper every week. We appreciate very deeply the interest that our people take in sending in the the news of their communities, and our intention is always to make the Banner a better, cleaner paper for you to read.

MILK MARKETING ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 16,—What is known to be the first co-operative milk marketing association ever formed in Alabama and thought to be one of the first organized in the entire country was recently completed when the Jefferson County Farm Bureau Milk Association was organized with 109 dairymen, representing the product of 4,000 cows.

The sign-up campaign for this association was launched several weeks ago under the direction of J. L. Liles, County Agent and the Jefferson County Dairymen's Association, with the co-operation of the Alabama Farm Bureau Fedreation. The 109 dairymen already signed represents 90% of the milk produced in the County.

The association expects to establish a central milk distributing plant which will greatly reduce the cost of handling and improve the quality of milk without increasing the price to the consumer.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CAMPAIGN ORGANIZED

Campaign Manager and Central Committee Selected at Meeting Last Saturday.

A meeting of the Republican county candidates, together with several other citizens who are interested in the success and welfare of the party in Chilton County, was held at the court house in Clanton last Saturday morning at ten o'colck for the purpose of organizing the campaign.

Mr. Marion D. Foshee was elected as Campaign Manager, with the following men composing a central campaign committe to aid and assist him in the conduct of the same: H. A. Harris, W. T. Bean, J. D. Collins, J. N. Dennis and Martin Nix.

The meeting was short, and in addition to the transaction of this business, some short talks were made concerning some matters relative to the campaign.

It is the purpose of the candidates and the campaign committee to wage an intensive fight for the success of the Republican ticket in the November election. It is the sentiment among Republicans of the county that the question of Republican success this year is one that is very vital to the interests of the people of the county. Nothing will be left undone to bring this success.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

The Pastor's and Worker's Conference met with Chestnut Creek church on Sept. 11th, with a very good attendance. A number of subjects were discussed, including the Supplemental 75 Million Campaign, which was presented by Rev. S. J. Ezell and spoken to by othres.

A very vital subject that received close consideration was "The advantages and disadvantages of the indefinite call," but it seemed to be a one sided question, for all agreed that about the only advantages there were to the "Annual Call" was that some persons would go to church that day who never went any other time and generally go to vote for a new pastor.

Every one present, both men and women, expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of the indefinite call of pastor which was recognized as God's only plan.

The conference will meet October 9th, at Clanton.

THE OLDEST BANK In Chilton County

100 YEARS HENCE

You often hear this word: "Oh, what's the difference? One hundred years from now things will be much the same for all of us."

All right. Admit it. By that time we will all surely be out of the running. But how about 10 years from now? Or 20 years from now? Then what? Well, at that time the person who is saving, and carefully deposits and invests his money, will be on "Easy Street," that's all. We can't well look forward a hundred years, but the shorter period demands the attention of all thoughtful people.

REYNOLDS LETTER TO CHILTON NEWS

on them and after they had been dipped fifteen times one year, you then had them dipped again the next year.

You refer to our people as benig law violaters. I resent this insinuation and say to you that the people in Chilton County are as patriotic and law abiding citizens as can be found at any place.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

I received a reply to the above letter from Dr. Cary under date of September 14, 1922, as follows:

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 14, 1922.
Judge L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Sir:

Your letter of September 13 just received. I had no letter published in your county paper; nor did I authorize anyone to publish a letter I wrote them individually. You have published my letters and I have not authorized you to publish them. But I am not kicking on that account; and I have not taken any part in your political fight. I can simply say from my view of the question that you and your county Board are not complying with the laws of the state As to the fact of ticks being present in Chilton County, I know that there are ticks in that county, and I know where some of them are, but I cannot know where all of them are, when there are not inspectors to prevent the extension of them, and naturally they will extend more and more because there is nothing to prevent them from doing so.

As to my letter being addressed to the Democratic Chairman, I did not know the politics of the gentleman who wrote me, and did not ask him. I have never tried to further tick eradication through politics, and I have never advised it. I can simply say to you as I have said to all your county commissioners: You and the people of Chilton County have no right to refuse to obey the laws of the State of Alabama. The Supreme Court so says, the highest authority in the State.

I am indeed sorry that you and your court do not see your duty as you should, and go on with the work of tick eradication, and stop the extension of ticks in the county, and handle it so the people can get rid of the worst cattle pest that ever infested the South.

I repeat (as I have written you in a number of instances) that both state and federal authorities stand ready to co-operate in the eradication of the cattle tick from Chilton County.

Yours truly,
C. A. CARY,
State Veterinarian.

For the information of any who may not have read the letter that Dr. Cary wrote to a citizen of our town, which was published in The Chilton County News of Sept. 7th, and which The News says was written on Sept. 2, I request that you publish this letter again in connection with my correspondence above. That letter to a citizen, as published in The News, is as follows:

Dear Sir:

Your letter came while I was absent from the State, and I send this reply to it as soon as possible. It would be possible for the inspectors to localize the dipping in the infested and exposed areas. If the county authorities will furnish the dip and the pay for the inspectors and enforce the law we will arrange to require only the infested and exposed animals to be dipped, and permit all other cattle to be shipped out with as little inconvenience as possible. I am sorry about this delay in reply and I hope the whole matter can be adjusted by the county commissioners. I hope you can talk to the Judge and the county board and I hope they can arrange it. I will write a letter to the Judge at once.

Yours truly,
C. A. CARY,
State Veterinarian.

The letter which Dr. Cary says above that he will write the Judge at once is that one which is published above under date of Sept 3. Let me call your attention to a little comparison of Dr. Cary's letter to me of Sept. 3, and the general order that was first presented to the Commissioners Court with an urgent request that we adopt it as the order of the dipping program then proposed to be instituted in Chilton county by the state and federal auhtorities. Dr. Cary's letter to a citizen published in The News, makes a considerable modification over the general order presented to the court. But what has that to do with the matter that confrons the court officially? What difference does it make what Dr. Cary tells any citizen publicaly or privately, or what he may publish in a newspaper so long as he does not say one word officially that will change the order which he has filed with the court in the beginning. Anybody can see where they might force us to go under this order. There is no limit to it, and that is just where they want to get us. Hence the reason that Dr. Cary refuses to amend the order before the court and make it as liberal a s he did in the letter to a citizen.

If Dr. Cary and the authorities are willing for the county to take up cattle dipping only in those areas where there are ticks, why do they not officaly proclaim to the court where those infested areas are, and so state in their official order that only those cattle are to be dipped. Then why do they not quarantine only those areas where they have ticks, and let the other parts of the county be free, just as they have done in other counties?

If you will carefully read this line of correspondence and the letter of Dr. Cary printed in The Chilton County News of Sept 7th, addressed to a citizen of our town, I think you will readily see the real purpose of Dr. Cary in demanding that Chilton County recommence dipping. The first demand made on the Commissioners Court to rebuild vats, replenish them, employ inspectors, etc., not telling the court where the ticks were to be found, nor even as much as telling them whether there had been any ticks at all found since the quarantine had been lifted upon the completion of dipping over a year ago, when read along with his other correspondence, sounds like nothing more nor less than a mandate of the late Kaiser of Germany to his subjects. In conformity with that same dictatorial spirit, Dr. Cary quarantined our entire county because the Commissioners would not accede to his unlimited demands, while to have done so would have been equal to turning over to him every cent of money that the county hopes to have to spend for any purposes for as long as he and his lieutenants might choose to bleed us for the dipping of cattle; and we have no assurance whatever that we would not be required to dip cattle that have no ticks on them.

Neither Dr. Cary nor Dr. Strickler have ever shown to the Court where the ticks were to be found in Chilton County, although they have been urgently requested to do so.

Mr. J. B. Wiggins, one of the inspectors on the northern line of the county, stated several days ago at a mass meeting in the court house, that he and Dr. Strickler looked for ticks and none could be found except on cattle brought in from Shelby County; and that on several occasions Dr. Strickler wrote him that he just had to find some ticks in Chilton county; and that he wrote back to Dr. Strickler that none were to be found.

Is it hard for you to decipher why the tick men are so anxious to find ticks in Chilton County, especially since it is so near election time? Perhaps too, some more soft jobs are needed.

If you will read the letter Dr. Cary wrote to me on Sept 3, and printed above, you will see where he states he is willing to co-operate in locating ticks, yet he has persistently made demands upon the Court to commence dipping, and according to his own words he did not know where the ticks were.

I don't know to whom the letter which you published on the 7th was addressed, as you only stated that it was from Dr. Cary to "a citizen of our town." It should have been addressed to the Democratic Campaign Committee, to be used for political and campaign purposes only.

Frankly, I will say that I don't believe the dipping agitation was begun at this time for any other purpose than political, or to give away a few more soft jobs to somebody. Dr. Cary could have come before the Commissioners Court and told us about the ticks, if there be any, and ordered the Court to commence dipping those that have ticks, then placed his quarantine on the infested areas leaving the free areas open to ship or move their cattle as desired. This would have prevented the ticks from spreading over the entire county. But instead, Dr. Cary saw fit to quarantine the entire county, thereby leaving the ticks free to spread, because the tick infested cattle are now free to go to any part of the county and intermingle with tick free cattle. In the letter to "a citizen" Dr. Cary blames the Commissioners Court for the entire county being quarantined. I want to ask you frankly, whom do you think is to blame?

Mr. Editor, you seem to try to create the impression that the Republicans are responsible for the dipping law. I have the Federal law in my possession, and will be glad to let you read it. I find nowhere in that law any requisition or demand for the people to dip their cattle. This law was passed in 1884, and until 1919, when our state dipping laws were passed by our Democratic legislature (all the Republican members of that body voting against it) we were not forced to dip any cattle.

It would be unconstitutional and an interference with the rights of the states for the Federal government to attempt to force such laws on the states, as you seem to want to lead the people to believe was done by a Republican Congress. Now if you want to be so honest and fair with your readers, take a look at this federal law, and then tell them the truth as to how it came about that Alabama is forced to dip cattle.

For a period of thirty-five years we had the federal laws that relate to this matter insofar as the federal government has any right; but we never in all these years from 1884 to 1919, were forced to dip our cattle. It was then done, as you know, Mr. Editor, by force of the laws of Alabama that were enacted against the wishes of the people, by the Democratic legislature of our state. You cannot make the people of Chilton county believe that the Republican party is responsible for this mess in Alabama. If you don't know it now, you are going to find it out before very long, in my opinion.

The Commissioners Court refused to comply with the order of Dr. Cary that we recommence dipping cattle, for the reason that no good could have been accomplished in doing so, and for the further fact that the cunty has not got the money to waste. The Court feels that before Dr. Cary requires us to recommence cattle dipping he should first tell us where the ticks are so that we might have some definite idea as to where and how many vats to build, and to what extent we will be required to go. We have upon our shoulders a tremendous proposition of financing this county, and we cannot do it if we turn these tick doctors loose on our tax money with no limit to the extent they may go. If we should do this they would be sinking every dollar the county collects for years hence in dipping vats all over this county.

Although Dr. Cary insinuates that we are not law abiding citizens, I still believe in a free American government and that the people are not to be absolutely disregarded in their rights. The people of Chilton county are anxious to obey the law, when that law is attempted to be enforced in a legal manner. But when the men in charge of these laws seek to subvert the rights of the people the people then have a right to buck the line. They done this in Chilton county, because they believe that their rights under the law have been trodden under the feet of men who are charged with the enforcement of these laws.

At a recent meeting of about 1,000 people in the court house, that body of men voted to stand with the Probate Judge and Commissioners in refusing to allow the peoples' right to be arbitrarily trodden under the feet of anybody who would show any disposition to disregard the same.

I want to say that the Commissioners Court has no apology to make to anyone. We were elected to take care of the interests of the people. We have tried to do so in this case. We are here to represent the citizens of our county, and we feel that we have done our best in this instance.

In conclusion I want to say that if The Chilton County News is for turning Chilton County over to the tick doctors and making our people subservient to their aritrary dictations, let them get off the fence and say so, and sate that they agree with Dr. Cary and his policies as shown in this correspondence.

If the Democrats purpose to make this cattle dipping question an issue in politics in Chilton county; let them declare themselves openly as in cahoots with Dr. Cary. As for myself and my political associates on the board of Commissioners, I am willing for the above correspondence to stand as our position, politically, officially, and otherwise.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

A Statement for Fair-Minded People;

Service--Not a Commodity

Electricity must be sold as it is generated—or generated as it is sold. Until a storage battery of large capacity is perfected electricity cannot be generated and stored away for future use; consequently, electric power generated at our plants must be coincident with the demand and vary according to that demand.

The ideal system of the Powpr Company which serves Alabama and the territory to the west and southwest will constitute a network of transmission lines interconnecting with the power companies in Georgia and the Carolinas on the east and Tennessee on the north, extending through Memphis as far west as Little Rock, covering the states of Alabama and Mississippi and extending along the gulf coast from Pensacola to New Orleans. The Alabama Power Company is in position to best realize this ideal of public service.

Perhaps within ten years, certainly within twenty years, every industrial center within that territory will be linked together with every other industrial center, and, in fact, with every other community within a radius of hundreds of miles. They will be receiving electricity for light and power and for commercial and industrial application from the great power plants on the Coosa, Tallapoosa and Tennessee, and from plants located at the mouth of the coal mines in the Warrior coal fields. Interconnection of the great power plants now in existence, or proposed within this territory, will enable the company to take advantage of the diversity of the natural stream flow between drainage areas and also supply with the greatest economy any amount of steam power required in the territory.

Furthermore, great water powers in Alabama and adjacent states, which within themselves otherwise would be always unserviceable to man, will be made serviceable by means of the interconnected system. The extension of this network of lines means bringing electric power closer to the farms, and there is no question that within a short space of time a great amount of electric power will be used for drainage purposes in the swamp lands of South Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, thus converting great waste areas of fertile land into producing territory which will rival the irrigated lands of the west in productivity.

Since the Alabama Power Company came into this field of public service in 1912, it has studied the needs of the various parts of this and adjoining states with the view of developing power and bringing it to the home and the factory. The sixty-three cities and towns in Alabama now directly in touch with the lines of our company are thus insured for all time of an adequate supply of energy. Many sections of the south and southwest are too far removed from water power to enjoy its benefits as the years pass and the price of coal advances; so will the benefits of hydro-electric service to the communities now served become the greater. Indeed, the time should come when the cities and towns which have hydro-electric power will have a great natural advantage over other sections which have none, and this fact alone will be the means of attracting industries and development.

It is, therefore, a matter of grave importance to every community in Alabama and other sections of the south and southwest for a great source of power as Muscle Shoals to be withdrawn from public service.

WHY SUCH SILENCE? THE REASON IS OBVIOUS

We have heard some of our Democratic friends inquiring why the daily papers of the state have not had anything to say about the Republican State Convention that was held in Birmingham a few weeks ago. These fellows are perhaps wondering why they have not seen the flaring headlines proclaiming the Republican party in Alabama as a black and tan or mongrel mixture of whites and blacks.

The main reason for this silence is the fact that there were no negroes in that convention. This being true, our Democratic state dailies are somewhat "out of soap." They have never offered any sound argument why the Republican party in Alabama should not exist; they always holler nigger at every Republican and that is all they say. This absence of the nigger cry is causing some of the Democratic legionaires to wonder where their spokesmen fell off.

With the Democratic leaders in Alabama in years past, the niggers has been the end of all argument. If you ever had a Republican meeting of any kind with no niggers in it, you will greatly disappoint those Democratic spellbinders who have always used the nigger as the basis of their harangue against the Republican party. A Democratic meeting without a "nigger speech," would be as dry as a Methodist love feast.

Yes, the Democratic dailies are like the little boy the calf ran over. They have nothing to say. They are disappointed over the Republican State Convention. They foresaw a great fight coming up in that Convention, and had reporters there to chronicle the glad tidings to all the world. They had their stories already planned, doped out according to the old Democratic recipe, ready to tell of the nigger delegates that were to be there, and of the Long-Street controversy which had the G. O. P. of Alabama hopelessly divided.

Indeed, with all the fuss and division, and niggers sitting as delegates, they were going to have some story to give to their palpitating Democratic readers over Alabama.

But what did those reporters see? They saw a Republican State Convention as white and respectabe as was even the lily white Democratic convention which was in session in Montgomery at the same time.

They saw the reputed feud between Long and Street turned into absolute harmony by the sacrifice of Mr. Long who was loyal enough to the party to forego his own personal interests and ambitions for the sake of the higher interests of the whole party in Alabama.

They saw visions of a Republican party in Alabama that is more inviting and more representative of the interests of the common people than the do-nothing Democratic machine for which their papers have been doing time-service for long and dreary years.

They saw these things and were disappointed; and that is the reason there has been so much quiet on the subject of the Alabama Republican State Convention.

PUBLIC WILL RESIST IMPOSITION

Washington, Sept. 18.—"The great American Public has a marvelous resourcefulness in finding ways to right its wrongs," declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "When prices were too high we had what was called a 'buyers' strike'—not an organized movement but one that was even more effective because it permeated the whole country. In recent months we have heard much of the proposal to form 'one big union.' Such a union already exists—with no dues to be paid, no card to be carried, no leader to obey. It is the great unorganized mass of orderly, industrious, fair-minded citizens. This one big union has had enough of the coal strike and the shopcraft strike, and the members of the one big union are going to strike at the strikers at every opportunity. The public is long-suffering, but when its patience has been exhausted it finds ways to protect itself. One of these ways will be full and enthusiastic backing of the government in every effort to curb violence and protect every man who wants to work.

"There is another method which the public would be extermely reluctant to adopt, but which would be effective, if resorted to. It is a method of which the unions have tried to take advantage at various times in the past—the boycott.

"In the effort to strengthen themselves, the unions have urged the purchase of only such goods as are manufactured in union shops, and lots of people have demonstrated their friendship for unionism by supporting that policy. Now, however, if unionism in general is ta give its moral and financial support to the strike which threateed to tie up the transportation of the country, the one big union, the public, can, if it thinks best, retaliate by refusing to buy any goods made in any union shop.

"Such a move as that would be drastic, but it would be effective. It would be adopted with great regret. But labor leaders should understand that as a last resort the public will adopt such a policy, if necessary, in order to protect itself from such gross injustice as the coal and rail strikes. If unionism stands together for imposition on the public, the public will stand united in resistance.

"Unions that were not directly participating in the coal and rail trikes may as well understand that simple fact. If they are not in sympathy with the outrages of the past few months, they should say so. If, on the other hand, they propose to contribute from their funds and by their influence to help the unions that disregard public welfare, they must expect to find the public not only united but aggressive in self defense."

SOUND U. S. FINANCE

The sound financial policies that have governed the operation of the United States Treasury since Mr. Mellon took charge have completely won the confidence of bankers and the investing public, and have steadily reduced the rate of interest the Government has had to pay for its borrowed money. When the Republican administration took office on March 4 of last year the rate being paid for short term loans was around 6 per cent. The other day Secretary Mellon announced a new issue of $200,000,000 one-year Treasury certificates that will pay interest at 3 3-4 per cent. The issue is a part of the refunding operations by which billions of dollars worth of Victory Notes, War Savings Stamps, and Treasury Certificates maturing in the near future are being cared for. There is little doubt that the issue will be largely oversubscribed.

WHAT'S COMING TO 'EM

Some of our humorists combine a lot of good sense with their wit. For instance, F. F. V., of the New York Tribune, remarks that "If the union leader doesn't stop squaking about his constitutional rights somebody is going to come along sooner or later with sufficient courage to give them to him." Now we wonder what the judge's name will be.

JUG-HANDLED DEFLATION

Mr. Hearst says that the theory that a country can benefit from a reduction in wages is a mistake. If he had wanted to be fair he would have said, also, that it is a mistake to assume that three can be deflation in everything else without a deflation in wages.

WHERE DO YOU STAND?

People who depend upon the prosperity of American industries for their own prosperity are not overlooking the significance of the activity of importers in fighting the Republican tariff. The importers are interested in building up prosperity abroad—not in America. When you vote on the tariff in the November election, you take your place beside American producers or foreign importers. The choice is yours.

Some day we will get around to a situation which will justify the assertion, "Work, and the world works with you; strike, and you strike alone."

PREPARED FOR PROSPERITY

In the first seven months of this year the railroads placed orders for 95,199 new freight cars, which was 25,763 more than were ordered during the corresponding period of last year. Had it not been for the coal and rail strike, with their consequent restriction of production, they all would have participated in hauling to market the greatest tonnage of agricultural products and manufactures that has been produced in many a year. But the prosperity has been only postponed, and the equipment so wisely provided by the fore-thought of the roads will all be put to heavy use this fall and winter.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution causing indigestion or constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live a ripe old age.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

The proposition to stock the waters of Alabama with game fish is one that every lover of sport would endorse. On the other hand, in developing any activity which has for a sole defense, entertainment and pleasure, we must look at it carefully lest we regret.

The State Board of Health has spent a good deal of time and some of the State's money in stocking the streams and water courses of Alabama with top minnows (gambusia affinis.) The mosquito has been proven to be the sole carrier and distributor of malaria. The top minnow is his most effective natural enemy. Trout and bass are the most effective natural enemies of the top minnow. It may look a little ironical that the State should spend its money to stock its waters with top minnows to destroy malaria, and then stock its waters with trout ad black bass which destroy the top minnows. It must be remembered that malaria interferes more with the progress of the South than any other cause, and any activity which would interfere with the control of malaria entails an economic loss upon the whole people which is irreparable.

According to National Health Authorities, Alabama is doing more at the present time for the control of malaria than any other southern state and it is confidently believed that large areas of the State will be ridded of this pestilence within the next few years.

It would be a pity if the sportsmen of the State should, by stocking the waters with the natural enemies of the top minnow, destroy the greatest ally which those who are trying to control malaria have.

Let us look first to our economic progress and the control of those agencies which make against that economic progress. When these are controlled, then we may develop our sports of the field and rod and give our sportsmen the free hand.

EVERYBODY LOSES

The coal strike has ended and both soft and hard coal minerh are back at work at the same wages and the same working conditions that prevailed on April 1st when the strike began. The net result of the walkout is a loss of hundreds of millions in strikers' wages, more millions in operations' profits, still more millions to consumers in higher prices for fuel, and a great deal of discomfort to all concerned. It is true that a commission will inquire into the coal industry with a view to recommending beneficial reforms, but otherwise the status quo of last spring has been maintained. Whether the fault lie with the workers or the owners, the fact is that the stupidity of strikes has seldom been so glaringly revealed as in the coal controversy. Neither side gained its object, and both sides and the public lost heavily.

THE LAW OF CONSPIRACY

Quite likely the United States Supreme Court will decide if it ever has the chance, that the same limitations that apply to combinations of capital also apply to combinations of labor. We have in mind just at this moment the decision rendered in a suit brought by a bank to enjoin a group of banks from gathering up a lot of checks and presenting them all at once in order to embarrass or "break" the bank against which they were drawn. The banks that presented the checks contended that they had a right to present the checks whenever it suited their convenience—that they could present them for payment one at a time or they could accumulate them for a month and present them all at once. The purpose of presenting them all at once was to coerce the bank into doing something it did not want to do.

The Supreme Court held that while the banks holding checks against another bank had a right to present them whenever they chose to do so in the ordinary course of business, they did not have the right to accumulate the checks and present them in a bunch for the purpose of breaking down the business of the bank called upon to pay. In other words, what men may do legally when acting separately and in the usual course of business, they may not do if they act by concert and for an evil purpose.

The same principle would seem to apply to the right of men to quit work. While they may quit severally, and in the ordinary course of employment, it would seem that their conduct in quitting collectively for the purpose of breaking down another man's business would be just as unlawful as the collection and presentation of bank checks.

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes.

TRAVEL LITTLE DELAYED

The facility with which the railroads have handled the heavy summer travel testifies to the almost complete failure of the striking shopmen to tie up traffic. Everything points to the efficient handling of the tremendous coal shipments that are now being hurried to market, and a slight dislocation of train schedules is the only indication that matters are not as usual. The roads won their victory not only because of their own energy in finding and hiring new workers, but also because they had the support of public opinion, without which no great struggle can hope for success.

HARRIS THANKS HIS FRIENDS FOR VOTES

SAYS HE WILL NOT RUN AS INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 20, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:
Dear Sir:

Please give me space in the Union-Banner to express my thanks to the friends and voters who so loyally supported me in the Republican Primary of August 8, last. I have delayed writing this letter for personal reasons and not for lack of appreciation.

Words fail to express my gratitude and appreciation to them for their support and aid in my race for Judge of Probate and I want to assure them that I shall ever be mindful of their interest and ready at all times to assist them in any way I can.

The count showed that I was defeated by 61 votes and I shall abide by that decision. I promised at the beginning that I would make a fair, clean and honest campaign. This promise I have kept, and will ever be found working for a fair and square deal to every one.

I have been told that it is being rumored that I would head an independent ticket. Now this is absolutely false and any one who talks such does so without any authority from me, because I am not in favor of an independent ticket as I stated to the Republican Convention at the court house on August 11.

I am a Republican because I believe in the principles of the party and because I believe the true principles of the Republican party stand for the best interest of the common people.

I am opposed to the present primary laws, especially to that clause relating to second choice votes. I believe that the majority of the people belonging to a party should say who their nominees should be for the various offices.

Again thanking my friends for their support and assuring them that I shall ever be found in the future as in the past working for their interest and success, I am,

Respectfully,
H. A. HARRIS.

Judge Reynolds has accepted an invitation from the Republicans of Shelby County to speak at the Court House in Columbiana on next Saturday.

COTTON MARKETING ASSOCIATION PROGRESSES

Three Million Seven Hundred Thousand Bales Signed up For Pool.

Montgomery, Alabama, Sept. 19.—"Three million, seven hundred thousand bales of cotton in nine Southern States are now under contract for co-operative marketing and this number will be increased to considerably more than 4,000,000 bales in 1923," said F. R. Shanks, representative of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange, Dallas, Texas, who recently made an official visit to the Alabama Association.

According to Mr. Shanks, the work of the nine State Associations, federated into the American Exchange which is an overhead sales agency, are making great progress and every day brings many new friends to the movement.

At present, the upland cotton growers of Mississippi are preparing to put on a sign-up campaign for 200,000 bales. The cotton growers of Florida are considering forming a pool to be handled in connection with either the Alabama or Georgia pool, the Virginia cotton growers expect to organize to become associated with the North Carolina Association which is now in operation and those in six or seven counties of Missouri will very likely become part of the Arkansas Association. The Louisiana growers now have a campaign in progress to form a giant marketing pool, beginning with the 1923 crop.

Mr. Shanks was particularly impressed with the work being done in Alabama, stating that the Alabama Association will doubtless be one of most successful, because of its strict business methods, the type of men managing it and the loyalty of the more than 11,000 members scattered throughout Alabama.

"What is a Republican?" asks the Democratic Omaha World-Herald. Well, it would take some time to fully describe a Republican, but a Democrat can be described as one who lets Woodrow Wilson do the thinking for him.—Yellow Jacket.

(By S. E. Norton)

Leaving Williamstown, Mass., about 8 p. m. and making changes of cars we arrived at Albany, New York, at 10:30, where we boarded a sleeping car in which we had secured reservations of a berth two days previously. We were comfortably in bed before the train pulled out at about midnight, for Binghampton, New York, over the Deleware and Hudson Railroad. At Binghampton our sleeper was held until the arrival of the New York and Chicago Express over the Erie Road, to which after much shoving and hauling, snorting and bumping, our car was attached. We pulled out about an hour and a half late. We were quite ready when "Breakfast is now ready in the dining car" was announced at 8:30 A. M. On the Erie Road we saw the first evidence of the effects of the great railroad strike. Many trains had been cut out, time schedules practically abandoned, making all trains far behind their regular time. Such trains as were moving seemed to proceed with great caution and considerable difficulty. At Hornell we were held up for nearly an hour to secure another engine to replace the cripple one that had been hauling our train. We were told that at this place there were over 300 dead engines on the yards. Loaded coal cars were strung along the siding by the thousands, standing still for want of engines to move them. However we were landed at our destination two and a half hours late, at Wellsville, New York.

At the station we were met by our host, Mr. Ralph White, with his "Overland Sedan," in which we and our baggage were quickly stowed and whirled away to a cozy home where we were cordially welcomed by its presiding genius, a niece of the writer, and a proud mother of two beautiful and healthy young children.

Wellsville has many objects of interest which we are confident will provide valuable information for our readers as it did for us.

One of the first places we visited was the village High School. The state of New York does not grant a city charter to any town with less than 10,000 population. Therefore, although Wellsville has a population of 6,000, they still have village government. This particular high school is of the Junior and Senior variety and take 7th to 12th grades. In this school we did not see anything materially different from what is to be found in any well regulated school of this class.

The thing that interested us most was the great basement of the building where they taught manual training for the bys; also large rooms on the top floor devoted to domestic science for the girls.

We saw a room full of seventh grade students all working on mechanical drawings, and were told that those who kept this work through the entire high school course were prepared to do very creditable shop work. The same results are obtained in the wood working department where they have electric driven machines such as jig, band and table saws, planer and several wood turning lathes, not toys, but real machines, with a full set of tools for each. Here they learn cabinet and furniture making. The shop, machines, tools and instructore are furnished free. The material used is paid for by the student, and what he makes is his own to take home or otherwise dispose of.

This stimulates the student to the best work of which he is capable and makes of him good material from which to select the best and most efficient workmen for the trade in years after he has completed his school courses.

Wellsville, with its 6,000 population, has her factories that turn out goods that find a world market. Here are two large plants making steam engines and turbine pumps. One of these plants built the pumping outfit for the Chicago waterworks. Sometimes one single order will amount to $250,000.

There is also located here big machine shops, a casket factory, and one for upholstered furniture, a silk factory, and a steam boiler works factory. But the one big industry from which the town derives its name is natural gas and oil wells. There are hundreds of these in Allegheny County, where Wellsville is located. We visited the great refinery which handles the products of the wells.

This county produces not only oil and gas, but appears to supply also an abundance of water. In the township of Ulysses, 1,700 feet above sea level, there is a place where three rivers have their start, and all within a circle of half a mile. The Genessee flowing north into Lake Ontario; The Susquehanna, flowing southeast into the Chesapeake Bay; the Allegheny flowing southwest to join the Monongehela River at Pittsburgh, Pa., where the two form the Ohio River, which empties into the Mississippi, and finally into the Gulf of Mexico.

Having spent three delightful days with Mr. and Mrs. White and their kiddies, we were planning to move on by train to Chautauqua, New York, to visit a sister of the writer. Our hosts determined to go along also, and we made the trip 100 miles by auto.

The trip was accomplished on a state highway through undulating country, past prosperous cities and villages, farms, etc. Eighteen miles of our road passed through the Seneca Indian Reservation, which now has about 1,000 Indians, many of whom we saw. We arrived at our destination shortly after one P. M., in time for dinner.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles .... and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The Chilton County High School now enters upon the third week of this session with a splendid organization of all the activities perfected, and a record enrollment of 164 students. The number listed in the graduating class of this year is 28, being eleven more than were in last year's class. A fact of good significance is seen in this constant increase of the number in the graduating class from year to year, that a tendency is growing constantly among high school students to continue in school until they have graduated.

Several more students are expected to enroll in a few more days.

The Tutwiler and Lanierian Literary Societies have been re-organized with a spirit of the highest enthusiasm for splendid work in ultra-curriculum activities.

The football team is making good progress under the efficient direction of Coach Whatley. A splendid game with Marbury is to be played here Friday afternoon.

THE CITY ELECTION

Very little interest was shown in the city election held on Monday. Only 67 votes were cast. The only ticket in the ifeld was that composed of the same men who have been our city officials for the past two terms.

Dr. Gragg was re-elected as Mayor with the following men composing the city Council: J. B. Atkinson, M. L. White, Tom Kemp, Watts Moore and Dr. N. S. Johnson.

Mr. George Edwards is moving closer to Clanton, having traded for the Jim Popwell place near the Section houses. Mr. Popwell, we understand, is moving to the Edwards place.

"THE OLD NEST" AT WADESONIAN THEATER

Mr. C. W. Wade, manager of the Wadesonian Theater at Clanton, has billed for next Monday and Tuesday a very famous screen production entitled "The Old Nest." This is a story the object of which is to portray the genuine meaning of the word "home," a heatr-touching word to every one; and the way this picture brings out the story is said to be very interesting and elevating. Mr. Wade says this is the best picture he has ever had to offer his fans, and urges everyone who can to take advantage of seeing the wnderful production.

There is also a comedy to be run in connection with "The Old Nest," which promises also to be quite a treat.

BAPTISTS ARE BUILDING NEW INSTITUTIONS

The benevolent as well as the missionary and educational work fostered by Alabama Baptists has received a great stimulus from the 75 Million Campaign, it is announced by superintendents of the various institutions involved in the benevolent program. The orphans home which is being removed to Troy where a number of excellent permanent buildings have been erected, has received a total of $142,016.13. The new buildings that have been provided are fire proof and up-to-date in every respect and the site is said to be a very beautiful one.

As a result of the Campaign the Alabama Baptist Hospital at Selma has been erected and opened and is now rendering a large service to humanity. Inspired by the Campaign the Baptist association at Birmingham has purchased a well equipped hospital in that city at a cost of $250,000 which is now being operated under the Baptist auspices.

Through the contribution of approximately $60,000 by the Baptists of this state to the Relief and Annuity Board of the Southern Baptist Convention at Dallas, Texas, a number of retired dependent ministers in this state are now being aided along with their families. But contributions to these institutions represent only a small part of what they have done since the 75 Million Campaign was put on in the fall of 1919. During the Supplemental Campaign that is now being put on they hope all individuals and churches will catch up with their pledges and that their new members may make a contribution to the work.

COTTON GRADES CONTINUE GOOD

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 16.—The Cotton received at the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association continues to show good grade and quality. Of the first 2702 bales received, 219 grade good middling; 1292 strict middling; 930 middling; 234 strict low middling and 27 low middling. The low middling came from the 1921 crop.

Officials of the Association are highly pleased over the grade and staple of this cotton. Correct grading and stapling is only one of the many advantages of the Association.

MAN POSTPONES HIS FUNERAL

"I am 66 years old and for past two years have been suffering so badly from stomach and liver troubles, bloating and colic attacks that I did not expect to live more than a few months and was arranging my affairs and even my funeral. Three doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy have entirely cured me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appenditicis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

SOME UNDESIRABLE CITIZENS

Washington, Sept. 18.—"There is something fundamentally wrong with a man who can get vehement in denouncing what is claimed to be an error of the Attorney General but has not one word of denunciation for the destruction of property, the interference with traffic, the personal assaults and the murders which have characterized the coal and rail strike," asserts the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr.

"A man who can see only the possible mistakes of government officials and blinds his eyes to unquestionable and notorious crimes committed by the enemies of law and order, is at heart an anarchist, whatever may be his pretensions in his public utterance. His sympathies are with the idler, not with the worker. His concern is for welfare of the rioter, not for the welfare of the law-abiding citizen. He glories in the success of crime and bewails the supremacy of law. He exalts tyranny by intimidation and destroys respect for courts. In his zeal for protection of the right of some men to quit, he has no thought for the right of other men to work. He justifies himself by quoting constitutional guarantees of free speech, but he is in league with men who defy the constitutional guarantee of freedom to live. He is against this government or any government that proposes to protect the rights of all from the brute of a few. He is an undesirable citizen in any country at any time."

Their Row.—The couple were married and traveled to the lakes for their honeymoon. As soon as they arrived they took a boat out upon the lake.

WHAT THE COUNTRY NEEDS

Sitting around the country stores on goods boxes, whittling, and the caboose of their breeches worn as slick as glass, you will find plenty of men today who can tell you off-hand just what the country needs. Some of them will tell you we need Free Trade, others will tell you we need the Plum plan of government ownership, and others that we need a system of government that would make all men equal. Yes, by heck, they all have their governmental blunderbusses loaded to the muzzle, but they couldn't hit the bull's eye.

What this country needs is not a new birth of freedom, but the old-fashioned birth of common sense.

What this country needs is not more liberty, but fewer people who take liberties with their own liberty.

What this country needs is not a job for every man, but a real man for every job.

What this country needs is not to get more taxes from the people, but for the people to get more from the taxes.

What this country needs is not more miles of territory, but more miles to the gallon.

What this country needs is more tractors and less detractors.

What this country needs is not more young men making speed, but more young men planting spuds.

What this country needs is more paint on the old place and less paint on the young face.

What this country needs is not a lower rate of interest on money, but a higher interest on work.

What this country needs is to follow the foot-steps of the father instead of the foot-steps of the goods-box whittler and ne'er-do-well.

What this country needs is a good supply of preachers who will preach, teachers who will teach, and workers who will work with old-time zeal and energy. Supply these things and the country is all right.—Yellow Jacket.

REYNOLDS AND FOSHEE DENY CHARGE OF KELLEY GENTRY

FACTS GIVEN AS TO PROCEDURE IN REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 26, 1922.

To the Citizens of Chilton County:

We were very much surprised to see a letter in last week's issue of the Chilton County News, from Mr. Kelley Gentry, insinuating that we voted to seat a negro in the State Republican Convention.

The facts are these: Two delegations came from Montgomery County, each claiming to be the legal delegation. As this was a contest and as it is the duty of the State Executive Committee to hear a contest and to present a list of the temporary delegaes, they heard the Montgomery county contest and reported to the Convention, leaving Montgomery county blank. We were not Members of the State Executive Committee and could not hear the contest, but the Committee reported unanimously and Mr. J. B. Atkinson is a Member of the State Executive Committee and we heard no objections from him or any other member of the State Executive Committee when the report was made.

After the report was made from the Executive Committee, a Committee on credentials was appointed and they came back and reported, leaving Montgomery County blank. After the second report was made Mr. Ford made a motion to seat Mr. King and Mr. Dimmick from Montgomery county. We did not hear Mr. Gentry's name mentioned, and we voted to stand by the report of the Committee, for they had heard the facts and we thought they knew what they were doing; and since we voted to stand by the reports of the Committee we are glad we did, for we have learned that Montgomery county had negroes in their mass-meetings and had negro chairman, and we are working for Alabama to have a great white Republican Party and we will vote against everything that has a negro representative.

We did not see a negro present in the Convention, and in fact none were in the Convention; but as we have stated before, the question of seating each delegation came before the State Executive Committee, and they voted to leave Montgomery county without representation. Montgomery county has never had a Republican party, and the Democratic negroes which they control, and at their suggestion go to every Republican meeting not to help build up a Republican party, but to try and keep from having a Republican party, for their presence will always do more harm than good.

We all know that every registrar in Alabama is a Dmocrat and every negro that is registered gets his certificates from a Democrat, and in the black belt just such negroes are registered as the Democrats can use. The Republican party has never got but few votes in Montgomery county.

We believe in a white man's Government and always will. It seems to worry the Democrats because there were no negroes present in the Convention and we say it was composed of the strongest set of white men that we have ever seen in a convention; however, there were a few politicians that did not get the office which they are always seeking.

We say that if any one states or even intimates that we voted to seat a negro, he states a wilful and malicious falsehood, and that they know the statement that they make is not true.

We publish for your information a letter from Hon. O. D. Street, National Committeeman, and who was on the Committee that heard the Contest from Montgomery county and also a letter from J. A. Bingham, who was a Member of the Committee that heard the contest.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
M. D. FOSHEE.

September 24, 1922.

Dear Judge:

The facts are just these: The delegation headed by J. A. McKinney (White) and on which George Newstell (Colored) was a delegate came with their attorney before the State Committee, Committee on Credentials, and State Convention; and after showing beyond any part or doubt that they were elected and that the delegation headed by G. N. King had no rights whatever to seats and no sort of regularity behind them, the McKinney delegation in order to strip King and all others of any opportunity to howl about the negro, withdrew their claims to seats. We then refused to seat King and his crowd because they had no title to seats. King and his crowd wanted to play a little game of demagogy and they were simply stopped of any ground for that sort of play, and they are now howling. These are simple facts and you can make such use of them as you think proper.

Sincerely yours,
O. D. STREET.

Talladega, Ala., Sept., 23, 1922.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Judge:

I have read with interest Mr. Gentry's letter relating his grievances at our late State Convention.

As a member of the State Committee I heard all contests and am fully cognizant of every thing that occurred on that occasion.

The contest from Montgomery county, according to the statements before the State Committee arose as follows:

George Newstell, a colored man, was chairman of the county committee of Montgomery county; and a mass convention was called over his signature to elect delegates to the State Convention and any other business that might come before the meeting.

In response to this call Messrs Dimmick and King and probably Mr. Gentry also, although this is the first time I have heard his name called, met with Chairman Newstell nad participated in his convention, according to the statement of Mr. King himself until on a count of noses they were beaten by the vote of 49 to 23 on the election of temporary chairman. The 23 then withdrew and elected Mr. Dimmick and Mr. King, and the 49 elected Major McKinney and George Newstell.

Over this issue there was no question; before a dicision was had, however, Major McKinney in the interest of harmony withdrew without however waiving any right he had to a seat in the convention as a delegate from Montgomery county. Therefore there was nothing for the State Committee to do but to declare that Montgomery county was without representation, which was done. On no occasion was Mr. Gentry or any one else mentioned as an alternate.

The fact that these gentlemen participated in that mass convention called by George Newstell, chairman, shows conclusively that they recognized George Newstell as the chairman in Montgomery and certainly stopped them from setting up a separate movement on that occasion, with any show of legality for seats in the State Convention as such delegates.

On neither the temporary roll of delegates nor on the roll of delegates submitted by the Committee on Credentials did the name of any delegate from Montgomery county appear. Mr. Ford, on the floor of the Convention made a motion to insert the names of J. P. Dimmick and Geo. N. King as the delegates from Montgomery county, which motion was tabled by an overwhelming majority.

Therefore Mr. Gentry is wholly in error, about any one voting against him and if he will be as zealous in fighting Montgomery democrats in the November election as he is now fighting Republicans throughout the State, I am satisfied he will bring enough recruits to the party to make his next effort successful.

Mr. J. M. Pennington, a member of the State Committee from Walker county and the leader of the forces in opposition to Mr. Street remarked at the conclusion of the contest that all contests had been settled fairly and on their merits and that Mr. Street's friends had met them more than half way on every proposition.

Yours truly,
J. A. BINGHAM.

False Report That Says Reynolds Voted to Seat Negro in Republican State Convention.

To the Republicans of Chilton County:

I wish to announce that I will speak at Baker School House next Friday night, September 29th, at 7:30 o'clock.

As it has been reported over the county that I voted to seat a negro in the Republican State Convention, I want to state that such report is absolutely false, and any person who makes this statement knows that it is not true.

I especially invite any person who has made this statement to be present at the speaking Friday night, and I will gladly divide time with them if they desire to try to prove their false assertions.

I do now, and will again in my speech Friday night, brand this report that I voted to seat a negro as a wilful and malicious falsehood, and I will prove by the facts in the case and by reliable witnesses that the same is false.

I will also explain the dipping of cattle in my speech Friday night, and show why I am opposed to re-dipping our cattle now. Everybody is invited to be present at this speaking, especially the ladies.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 26, 1922.

SPEAKING AT OAK GROVE LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Judge Reynolds, M. D. Foshee and W. M. Wyatt went up to Oak Grove last Saturday night to speak to the citizens of that community in the interest of the Republican ticket that is to be voted on in Chilton county in November. The meeting was well attended by a large number of voters both men and women. Those present showed a renewed interest in the cause of the Republican party, and there is no doubt but that on Nov. 7th Oak Grove community can be depended upon to go to the polls and cast a solid vote in support of the Republican ticket.

OUR CORRESPONDENTS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

Some of those who send in news from the rural communities of the county have gotten rather careless as to when and in what form they send in their news each week. So we wish here to make a few suggestions to you, which, if you will govern yourselves by, you will save us much time and trouble and at the same time give your community a better representation in our columns.

First.—Write the name of your community at the top of the first sheet, followed by your own name. (Please don't forget to write your own name there.)

Second.—Write news that will be of interest to the whole county, and not merely something that will interest only one or two individuals.

Third.—Write your words plainly and distinctly, especially proper names, and WRITE ON ONLY ONE SIDE OF PAPER.

Fourth.—Send your copy in so that it will reach our office NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY AT NOON.

Now, let us explain that we do not wish to discourage the efforts of any of our correspondents, but we feel sure that if you will co-operate with us in carrying out these few simple rules that we will be able to give you a better neater and more interesting paper every week. We appreciate very deeply the interest that our people take in sending in the the news of their communities, and our intention is always to make the Banner a better, cleaner paper for you to read.

SPEAKING AT CLANTON SAT. OCT. 7TH.

We are requested to announce to the Republicans of Chilton County that Judge A. P. Longshore and Judge G. W. Weaver of Shelby county, will speak at the Court House in Clanton Saturday, October 7th, at 2 o'clock P. M.

They will explain some interesting things about the cattle dipping business. Judge Weaver is Probate Judge of Shelby County, and by virtue of this position, he is able to tell the people of some experiences that Shelby County has had with the dipping business. The case of that county is in the Supreme Court because Judge Weaver and the Shelby County Board of Revenue undertook to prevent their people from being run over by the tick doctor and made to dip their cattle. Judge Longshore will tell us who it is that is responsible for the enactment of the cattle dipping law in Alabama.

These are good speakers. They have been here before in the interest of the Republican party, and we have no doubt but that there will be a very large number of citizens who will be glad of the opportunity of hearing them again.

BAPTIST W. M. U. SOCIETIES CALL THEIR MEMBERS TO PRAYER

The Baptist Womans Missionary Societies over the state are asked by their leader, Miss Mary Northington, Secretary of the W. M. U., to give the week of October 1 to October 8th to prayer for the success of the work with suecial reference to State Missions. The idea is in keeping with the plan of the Supplemental Campaign which is now being put on all over the Southern Baptist Convention. Hence all the members of the Baptist Churches are urged to give much attention to prayer during the week. October is designated Stewardship Month among the Baptist churches and their pastors will present the doctrine of Christion giving as both a privilege and duty. November will be known as re-enforcement month and November the 26th to December the 3rd will be designated loyalty week. At this time they hope to enlist all new members and those who have made no pledge to the 75 Million Campaign in their foward movement.

You often hear this word: "Oh, what's the difference? One hundred years from now things will be much the same for all of us."

All right. Admit it. By that time we will all surely be out of the running. But how about 10 years from now? Or 20 years from now? Then what? Well, at that time the person who is saving, and carefully deposits and invests his money, will be on "Easy Street," that's all. We can't well look forward a hundred years, but the shorter period demands the attention of all thoughtful people.

VALUE OF STEAM PLANTS STRESSED

Alabama Power Company Now Operating Four Steam Power Plants

"It is very fortunate for Alabama and very fortunate for the cotton mills and other industries of the Carolinas as much as 600 miles distant from Birmingham that Alabama has steam plants auxiliary to its water plants to supply electric power at a period when we not only have a low stage of water in the rivers, but also a car shortage preventing many plants from securing coal for fuel," said W. E. Mitchell, assistant general manager of the Alabama Power Company.

"At this time the Alabama Power Company is operating four steam power plants as follows:

"The Gorgas plant on the Warrior with a capacity of 75,000 horsepower.

"The local plant of the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power company with a capacity of 10,000 horsepower.

"We are sending about 35,000 horsepower per diem from these plants to cotton mills and other industries in North and South Carolina through connecting lines. Some of them are as far away as 600 miles. We are sending power to Greenville and Spartanburg, S. C., thence as far east as Raleigh, N. C., and as far north as Greensboro and Henderson, N. C.

Coal Market.

"While we are serving where coal cannot serve on account of the car shortage, we are helping out the coal market to the extent of 2,200 tons a day, which we are consuming in steam plants. We mine coal at the Gorgas plant in our own mine, but we are purchasing 60 per cent of our coal requirements in the open market.

"We are not only saving Alabama industrial operations through operation of the auxiliary steam plants, but we are repeating the neighborly service of last fall when the Carolina mills appealed to us to let them have power lest they shut down. Closing down of these mills would be particularly disastrous at a time when full operations are warranted by the demand for their product.

"What we did last year in saving the Carolina textile industry and in keeping our own mines and mills going during a low stage of water in the rivers, will probably be repeated every autumn when the rivers run low and there is a minimum of hydroelectric power.

"Yes, it is very fortunate for Alabama to have her auxiliary steam power plants and very fortunate for Alabama's neighbors as well."

The fifth annual session of the Southern Forestry congress will be held at Montgomery during the early part of next year. State Commissioner I. T. Quinn has been notified of the acceptance of the invitation and told to fix the date. There are 400 delegates in the convention of the congress.

The second brood of army worms has appeared in the cotton fields of Madison County, and, in places, is stripping the foliage from the plant. Cotton experts have been urging the farmers to prepare for this and the planters are now being advised to dust their cotton with poison to protect it from the insect.

Cotton is arriving at Haleyville and is opening up in the fields fast. The first bale of long staple cotton was brought in and a price of 10c per pound above the regular cotton was offered and refused for the bale.

Leo W. Cawthon, who was connected with the attorney general's office for three years, during the administration of Judge W. Logan Martin, has been elected secretary of the Alabama Supreme Court by members of the court. He will succeed Noble Seay, who has been appointed reporter of decisions of the supreme and appellate courts of the state following the resignation of Lawrence H. Lee. Mr. Lee's resignation and Mr. Seay's appointment will be effective October 1.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Cullman County Farm Bureau, it was decided to place another order for nitrate of soda. Fifty tons more were ordered, making a total of 85 tons at $59.50 per ton plus the charges of getting it delivered in Cullman, delivery to be made next March. Fifty tons of this amount has already been sold to various members of the bureau.

Tuscaloosa's, second of a series of five, Merchants' Trade Day was held on Sept. 20th. The farmers offered for sale in front of the courthouse, an assortment of farm implements, produce and live stock which was sold to the highest bidder. The auction was given under the auspices of the local merchants bureau.

Barge line rates from points north of St. Louis to Mobile have been published to become effective October 3, according to a copy of the new tariff received in Mobile by the traffic department of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. S. F. Kelley of Thorsby, spent Saturday of last week in Clanton.

Mrs. A. M. Johnson, Mrs. Tagg, Mrs. Junkerman, and Dr. Howard Junkerman, motored to Jemison last Wednesday and spent the day with Misses Sue and Ella Simpson, former residents of Thorsby.

Captain and Mrs. Schreoder of Birmingham motored to Thorsby on Saturday and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison.

Mrs. Harper spent a couple of days of this week visiting in Birmingham.

The Annual Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on October 10th. All members are requested to see Mr. Reagan and pay their dues so that they will have voting privileges.

Mr. Albert Anderson spent Sunday in Birmingham. He will leave on Thursday for Wainesville, North Carolina, where he will take up his work again.

Mr. Reno Villadsen made a trip to Aldrich last week to look over a position with the Montevallo Mining Company. Mrs. Villadsen made a trip over there on Saturday and they motored back together to their home in Thorsby. Mr. Villadsen will have the position of Engineer and Assistant Mining Superintendent, and expects to move his family to Aldrich in the near future.

Mr. Clark Putman and his mother, of Brooks, Ga., arrived in Thorsby on Saturday. Mr. Putman, who is the uncle of Mrs. C. M. Williams, brought his son to put him in school. He will stay at the home of Mrs. Williams.

Mr. Herbert Wright, Mr. Tom Glass, and Mr. Proctor Nix, were visitors in Thorsby on Sunday.

School Notes.

Because of the increased attendance at Thorsby Institute it has become necessary to place additional desks in the Assembly Hall. An order has been given to a Chicago firm for six new desks that will be of the same make as the ones installed last year. There are but two rows of the double desks left in the room and it is hoped that it will be possible to complete the placing of single, modern desks before the year is over. The large number of students now in attendance at school, means an increased audience at all evening affairs held in Bates Hall and it is certain that the seating problem will need careful consideration. The school would be very glad to receive any assistance from any one in the town who might like to aid in the placing of new desks in the room.

The first meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society will be held this week. The officers who were elected in June for this semester are Truman Pierce, President; Arthur McCrory, Vice-President; Mary Ella Gerald, Secretary, Floyd Jordon, Treasurer, Porter Lee Music, Custodian.

Among the students who are living with friends or relatives in Thorsby, on order that they may attend the Institute are Etta Foshee, Iva Bean, Irene Benson, Fellie Stephens, Opal Garrick and Clark Putman, Miss Mae Maddox is living at the girl's dormitory.

On Friday evening the Ladies Guild of Thorsby gave a reception to the students and Faculty of Thorsby Institute, the Trustees and their wives, and contributing patrons of the school. The dining room and waiting room at the New Dormitory were found most admirably fitted for this gathering. An unusually large number of people were present at the reception and they not only enjoyed the social side of the evening but also expressed their pleasure in seeing the splendid, up to date building that the school is using this fall. During the evening, addreses were made by Miss Helen C. Jenkins, Principal of Thorsby Institute and Rev. Mr. Petterson of the Lutheran Church. Members of the Thorsby Orchestra furnished music during the evening. Miss Agnes Gerald rendered a piano solo and Miss Perry gave a reading. An interesting feature of the evening were the selections given by the Ladies' Quartette, composed of Miss Agnes Gerald, Miss Naemi Turnquist, Miss Esther Johnson and Miss Cathrine Perry. Thorsby Institute was very glad of this opportunity for the town people to meet the students of the school and the school felt that the community spirit shown by the Ladies' Guild is to be highly commended.

The registration at Thorsby Institute has shown that there are more boys than girls in the boarding department. Since all the work at the dormitory is done by the students, it seems that this would be a good opportunity for the boys to show their ability in Domestic Science. Last week the boys began to take charge of the dinner and all the cooking of dinner, the washing of dishes, setting of tables and cleaning of the kitchen and dining room were done by the boys of the school, under the supervision of Miss Lois Leech, Matron of the school. In many schools of the country, work is done by the boys and Thorsby Institute boys are showing once more that they can do anything that anyone else can do.

Connected with all the English classes of Thorsby Intitute, Miss Cathrine Perry will give work in Public Speaking during the year. Miss Perry has had special training in this work, since she is a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, of Boston. It is the desire of the authorities of the school that every student who goes out from the school shall be able to speak in a clear, concise manner when an occasion demands.

Mr. Earl Leary and Mr. Arthur Villadsen, who are working on the State Highway, arrived in Thorsby on Monday afternoon to spend a few days. They expect to return to Shelby County for work on the Highway there.

Miss Agnes Leary left on Tuesday for Mobile, where she expects to spend the winter.

"Section 93. The State shall not engage in works of internal improvement, nor lend money or its credit in aid of such, except as may be authorized by the Constitution of Alabama or amendments thereto; nor shall the State be interested in any private or corporate enterprise, or lend money or its credit to any individual, association, or corporation, except as may be expressly authorized by the Constitution of Alabama, or amendments thereto; but when authorized by laws passed by the Legislature the State may appropriate funds to be applied to the construction, repair, and maintenance of public roads, highways, and bridges in the State; and when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature, the State may at a cost of not exceeding ten million dollars engage in the work of internal improvement, of promoting, developing, constructing, maintaining, and operating all harbors or seaports within the State or its jurisdiction, provided, that such work or improvement shall always be and remain under the management and control of the State, through its State Harbor Commission, or other governing agency. The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature."

Section 2. The State shall not engage in works of internal improvement, nor lend money or its credit in aid of such except as may be authorized by the Constitution of Alabama or amendments thereto; nor shall the State be interested in any private or corporate enterprise, or lend money or its credit to any individual, association, or corporation, except as may be expressly authorized by the Constitution of Alabama, or amendments thereto; but when authorized by laws passed by the Legislature the State may appropriate funds to be applied to the construction, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways, and bridges in the State; and, when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature, the State may at a cost of not exceeding ten million dollars engage in the work of internal improvement, of promoting, developing, constructing, maintaining and operating all harbors or seaports within the State or its jurisdiction, provided that such work or improvement shall always be and remain under the management and control of the State, through its State Harbor Commission, or other governing agency. The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature. "Yes....." "No.....". The choice of the elector shall be indicated by a cross mark made by him or under his direction, opposite the word expressing his desire.

Section 4. The votes cast at such election shall be canvassed, tabulated, and returns thereof made to the Secretary of State, and counted in the same manner as in elections for Representatives to the Legislature; and if it shall thereupon appear that a majority of the qualified electors who voted at such election upon the proposed amendment voted in favor of the same, such amendment shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the State of Alabama. The result of such election shall be made known by a proclamation of the Governor.

ALABAMA NOTES

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK TOLD IN BRIEF.

L. Sparkman, of Little Rock, Ark., and W. M. Wilson, of Beaumont, Texas, were in Boaz recently conferring with citizens on a proposition to build a railroad from Boaz to Albertville, to a point opposite Trenton, Ga., and down into the valley at Trenton. Meetings were also held at several other points to sound the sentiment of the people of that section. It is thought that the promoters may take up the old project to build a railroad from Chattanooga to Birmingham along the backbone of Sand Mountain. Partial surveys were made for this road several years ago, but the promoters were unable to finance it on account of the World War.

The schools of Butler County opened their 1922-23 sessions Sept. 20th. There have been improvements to many of the rural school buildings during the past summer and a number of new consolidated school buildings have been erected. The last one completed is at Industry, in the southern part of the county. The new consolidated schools at Garland and at Searcy have not yet been completed, but school opened on time in temporary quarters.

Frank Richardson, negro, is being held at Huntsville on a charge of grand larceny. Officers claim that following a slight smashup of a freight train near Greenbrier, on the Southern Railway, he stole a grip belonging to Conductor R. A. Haden and brought it to Huntsville. Mrs. Haden, wife of the conductor, saw the negro on the street with the grip and notified the police who soon had Richardson in custody. The prisoner will be taken to Athens for trial.

Argentine ants, the family pests of Alabama, are not the ants which are aiding the drive against boll weevils. Dr. W. E. Hinds, state entomologist, has ended the discussion by announcing that Argentine ants are good for nothing and that another special kind of ants called the fire ant is responsible for the raids which are now being made on boll weevils in the cotton fields of Alabama.

A special three mill school tax election has been called in Huntsville suburban school district No. 72 to ascertain the wishes of the voters on a proposal to levy a special three mill tax for school purposes. Nearly every district in which elections of this kind have been held in recent months has voted the special tax and as a result the schools have a great deal more money than is provided by the state and county.

Miss Sadie Blaxston, daughter of a well-known Lawrence County planter, was shot and killed at the front gate of the Blaxston home, near Moulton by Herman Hughes, when the young woman refused to elope with him, according to county authorities who are searching for Hughes, who escaped after the shooting.

The Anniston post of the American Legion at a regular meeting elected the following as delegates to the state convention in Montgomery: Post Commander J. H. Killebrew, Past Commander L. H. Klein, Past Commander Charles S. Leyden, Charles R. Barker, Hubert Dent, Elbert Willett, Frank McCraw.

The Madison County Board of Health has begun an examination of all children in the Huntsville schools and is weighing, measuring and testing them for physical defects. Corrective measures will be recommended to the parents of all children who are found to be deficient in any respect.

Police at Mobile are seeking for the automobile which is said to have been seen to leave the front of the house at No. 7 New St. Francis street where Mrs. Minnie Lee Puckett was found in a dying condition.

According to fruit and nut growers in the Spring six lady teachers orchards are being overrun with caterpillars and much damage is being caused.

A Committee of Wetumpka ladies words "Welcome to Roanoke," presented to Roanoke by the Alabama Power Company, has arrived and will be put up within a short time.

Fire of unknown origin caused considerable damage at Opp when one of the passenger coaches of the Opp and Florida train was partially burned. Two freight cars in the yards at Opp were discovered to be on fire a short time before the flames broke out in the passenger coach.

The town election of Thorsby was held September 18. A good deal of interest was manifested in its outcome as there was some competition two candidates for mayor and 10 candidates for councilmen being up for office.

REPUBLICAN DISCORD NOW MEANS ENCOURAGEMENT FOR DEMOCRATS

Whatever may exist or be practiced now in the way of discord or dissatisfaction among the Republicans of Chilton county can be considered as nothing more nor less than just so much of ecouragement and assistance for the Democrats and injury to the cause of the Republican ticket. Men who pretend to call themselves Republicans, and who persist in furthering any feeling of discord among Republicans at this time are not Republicans, but traitors out and out.

The above may sound like rather hard doctrine, but we believe it is sound and appropriate to some people who are at present engaged in the propagation of some things that are calculated to hurt the interests of the party which they have claimed to support in the past.

Our behalf and opinions in this respect was the ground upon which we refused to publish the letter of Mr. Kelley Gentry week before last. We believe that letter was designed and intended solely to promote discord among the Republicans of Chilton county, and carefully calculated to injure the cause of the Republican ticket which is now before the people, and at the same time to lend aid and comfort to the Democratic candidates.

The Union-Banner will not submit its columns to use by anybody to injure our Republican cause in the general election. We feel like any loyal Republican will be willing to abide by the nominations made in our Primary. But if any are not willing to do so, and desire to oppose the Republican ticket, they should go over and join the camp of the enemy just as Mr. Howard Foshee did last week, and enlist themselves straight out in the effort to defeat the Republican party. We have no time to waste with them, nor any space to give or sell them in The Union-Banner.

As to the statements made in Mr. Gentry's letter, and in the letter of Mr. Howard Foshee published in The Chilton County News, we leave that that to be answered by the men whom it concerns. Their reply will be found published in another place in this paper. We commend what they say to all fair-minded and honest people, and we urge the Republicans of Chilton County to beware of the dangers that threaten our party and our county if we are to follow the leadership of so-called Republicans who would deliver us over to the Democrats when they find that they cannot be the dictators of the Republican party.

We have written Mr. Gentry and told him fully our reasons for not publishing his letter. We also explained these reasons to Mr. Howard Foshee last week when he asked us why we did not publish Mr. Gentry's letter.

Let us drop this little bit of information to you: If you hear anybody saying that Reynolds and Marion Foshee or anybody else in the Republican State Convention voted to seat a negro, just put it down as one of those campaign lies that is being circulated to injure the cause of the Republican party in Chilton county. There were no negroes in that Convention, and there were no votes cast upon the proposition of seating any negroes.

REPUBLICANS, DON'T BE LED TOO FAR ASTRAY

The Union-Baner would caution the Republicans of Chilton county right at this time to be very careful last you be led too far astray by someone who may not have the best interests of the people of the county at heart. You should not allow yourselves to trust too much in an assumed leadership, without giving the motives behind those leaders the closest scrutiny.

Remember, citizens and fellow-Republicans, that you have a right to do your own thinking and rasoning. Do not delegate too much of this your important duty as a citizen, to somebody else.

You who have lived in Chilton county for probably all the years of your life, certainly have a knowledge of county affairs during those years that qualifies you to exercise a reasonable degree of judgment as to whether the affairs of your county have been best served by Democratic or Republican officials.

And the important thing to remember right now is that it is a question of which party shall be given control of our county for the next six years. It is not now a matter of who shall be your party candidates. That was settled in the primary election on the eighth day of August. Before that primary it was not out of place to consider those questions concerning candidates and issues that were strictly confined to the limits of the Republican party. We feel like that primary campaign was made a sufficient test as t who should lead the fight for the Republican party in November. That primary should be the end of all division and factionalism within our party. If we are sensible and sanely devoted to the interests of our party and the success of the ticket that was nominated on the eighth of August, we will not now allow ourselves to be led astray by traitors within our own ranks who would destroy our party just because they cannot control it.

You may make this prediction: If the Democrats win in November it will be due to the indifference, or fale position, or intrigue of men within the Republican party. And if defeat comes to the Republican party from such causes, long before you again have a cahnce to restore your county to the rule of your own party many will be the regret for such indifference or falsity or intrigue that might have been responsible for your calamity. We say calamity because every Democratic administration that we have ever seen in county, state or nation, has indeed been nothing short of a disastrous calamity for the interests of the common people.

Let us warn you Republicans, to be careful that you are not swept off your feet by every new Moses that would set himself up to lead you out of "your political captivity" and into a newly found "land of Canaan."

SENATOR TOM WATSON DEAD

Senator Thomas E. Watson "the stormy petrel of Georgia," died unexpectedly in Washington Monday night. Thus ends the career of one of the most eccentric and brilliant men that the South has ever produced. As is very appropriately remarked by The Montgomery Advertiser: "For Thomas E. Watson, the strife, the triumphs and the victories are ended. In the grave his unquiet spirit will find a rest that it never knew in life."

TELL THEM THIS AND SEE THEM FADE

When those fellows who have gall enough to tell you that in the past the Democratic management of affairs in Chilton county has been better for the people than the administration of Republicans get to spieling forth their "doctrines," just tell them the following facts and see them hunt the tall timber.

When Judge Reynolds gave up the Probate office in 1911 to Judge Deason, there was in the county treasury over ten thousand dollars in cash, and the county did not owe a single dollar. At that time the county had been managed by Republicans for many years.

When Judge Deason delivered his office back to Judge Reynolds six years later the county was hopelessly "busted," the treasury owed over two hundred thousand dollars, and county warrants were worth just about as much as Confederate green back.

The Democrats themselves even went so far as to state that they had gotten the county into such a financial mess that Judge Reynolds and the Republicans could not do anything but pay debts, even if they could do that.

But by a wise and judicious management of the business the administration of Judge Reynolds and the Republican Commissioners for the past six years, has kept the county business running on a cash basis; they have greatly reduced the debt of the county; these things in spite of the fact that they have had to incur expenses of building a new court house and dipping of cattle besides the ordinary expenses of keeping the county business running.

If you will throw a little bit of such facts as these into the camp of the Democratic calamity howlers who infest the streets of Clanton, you will not be bothered by them the next time you come to town.

HOW THEY LIVED IN 1885

In these days of prosperous times when nearly all the farmers own Ford cars and live in the swift current of modern progress, it is an interesting diversion to look back a few years and compare conditions and customs now and then. An instance of this kind of comparison is furnished by a sheet from an old account book of S. J. Heath, who used to run a store at Strasburg. This sheet, which was miraculously discovered by Dudley Collins on the streets of Clanton a few days ago, shows the account of his father, Sank Collins, at the store of Mr. Heath during the years of 1885 and 1886.

Here are the entries that were made in the book against Mr. Collins for 1885:

Jan 8, balance due $1.30; Coffee $5.00; tobacco $5.12 1-2; one pair shoes $1.00; April 21, paper of seed 5c; April 22, plug of tobacco 20c; July 25, cups and saucers 50c; Aug. 27, cash loaned $15.00; Oct. 19 two barrels $2.00. This is all the advances which Mr. Collins secured for that year in making his crop and in supporting his family, which numbered eight souls. Think of a farmer running his family and farm a year on a total of $30.15. Also notice that the things bought were those things which could not be raised on the farm.

This looks now like a very meagre allowance for a family of eight a year, but we will wager that Sank Collins and his folks in the year of 1885 were a happier family than many a one today whose home is mortgaged for the price of the flivver in which they ride to town on Saturday afternoon and waste more money for foolishness than was spent by this farmer in all of that year.

ADVISES NEGROES NOT TO VOTE REPUBLICAN TICKET

A letter from one Walker Dacus, of Brewton, Ala., to the Montgomery Advertiser, and published in that paper Wednesday morning, is interesting, because it sheds a ray of light on the discusions that are now going on in regard to the Republican party and the negro.

This felolw Dacus, although he does not say so outright, would lead us to the impression that he is himself a negro, by the asertions made in his letter.

He begins his discourse by asking the editor of The Advertiser to "please allow me a space in your valuable paper to publish some facts that was carried on in the Republican convention to debar the colored people from participating in the Republican State Convention."

His letter continues by saying: "I want you to notify every colored qualified elector through your paper (The Advertiser) both male and female, not to support the Republican candidate for Governor, and we will notify all the qualified voters that we possibly can."

Continuing his objections to the way the negro was treated in the Republican State Convention Dacus says: "This is my first time to be debarred out of a convention by a set of young men 35 to 40 years old that we helped to educate and to raise."

It would seem from what this fellow says, whether he be a negro or white man, that he does not think the negroes got very much recognition in the Republican State Convention. And for that indifference of the Republican party toward the negro he wants to elist the aid of the Advertiser in bringing all the negroes of Alabama to vote the Democratic ticket.

Somebody has got the facts of this negro business and the State Republican Convention badly mixed. There is a crowd of fly-by-night Republicans here in Chilton County, with the aid and assistance of the Democrats, who are trying to make the people believe that Judge Reynolds and some others voted to recognize negroes in that convention. Then here in the testimony of a negro himself who is trying to incite the whole negro element in Alabama against the Republicans because he says the negroes were not allowed a voice in the State Convention.

Yes, it is a fact that there were no negroes there. There were no votes cast in that Convention in favor of seating or in any way recognizing negroes in the Republican party in Alabama. As for us, we say let the negroes go to the Democratic party if they don't like this procedure among the Republicans.

We can run the Republican party in Alabama without the negroes, and we must do it that way if we are ever to have a clean and decent party that is worthy of the support of the white people of the South.

If the negro wants to get into politics, let him go north, where he will receive a cordial welcome into either the Democratic or Republican party, whichever he may wish to join.

THE VETO OF THE BONUS BILL

Prsident Harding's veto of the bonus bill is a logical conclusion from the premises on which he nas so consistently stood in dealing with this question since it was first mooted. He champions aid to the utmost for those who "left armies injured, disabled or diseased, so that they could not resume their places in the normal activities of life"—and that this championship is not of words, but of deeds is evidenced by the impressive total of expenditures under his administration for maintenance, benefit and improvement of such. He is conscious of the debt of gratitud that the nation owes its ex-service men. But he is aso conscious of obligations of stewardship that are on him as the nation's chief magistrate to guard its coffers against unnecessary expenditure, to safeguard its future from unnecessary burdens, to subordinate political to national considerations in dealing with proposed legislation that would confer questionable benefit on a few million at the expense of all the people, to render justice to the many rather than favor to the comparative few—and therefore he has vetoed the bonus.

The President's veto message is a statesmanlike document that will carry conviction to every fair-minded citizen than its author wrote it as he heard the nation's welfare dictate and that the bill to which it refused assent is unworthy of enactment. With clearcut logic the President exposes the injustice that would be worked on the American people by such legislation and demolishes this proposal to donate approximately $5,000,000,000 of the people's money.

The bill would donate, but not finance. The majorities that put it through the two houses would enact the role of bonus donors, but the task of supplying the wherewithal they would leave to others and to other days. The whole thing smacks so plainly of an effort to curry favor with ex-service men, regardless of consequences to the nation, that it is vetoed by the logic of citizenship as convincingly as by the President's message.

The veto will create no surprise in those who have followed the President throughout his dealing with this subject. What he said yesterday merely applied what he said when he first expressed himself with respect to such legislation earlier in the year to a new state of facts. Certainly the veto message should not create any surprise in Congress. For the President made it plain to that body at the outset that he would not approve any bonus legislation without provision for its financing and that he would not agree to imposition of unfair burden on the American people in carrying it out.—Washington Post.

POOR ORIGINAL

A Statement for Fair-minded People:

The Story of a Lost Industry

Encouraged by the attitude of the public and looking to the future expansion of various industrial activities in Alabama requiring cheap and reliable power, Mr. James Mitchell and his associates sought permission in 1912 for another large development at Lock 18 on the Coosa River. The plan proposed, enthusiastically supported in congress, contemplated the erection at Montgomery of an immense plant requiring abundant power for the manufacture of nitrates for fertilizer in times of peace and munitions in times of war. The necessary bill was prepared by Mr. J. W. Worthington, then Vice-President of the Power Company, and was introduced by Representative Heflin and passed by congress. The capital for this development was to be entirely foreign,—but it did not occur to anyone that foreign capital was not welcome in these lines of public service. The then Governor of Alabama telegraphed the President urging him to approve the bill on the ground that it would vitally affect the material interests of the state.

President Taft, however, vetoed the bill on August 24, 1912, on the ground that it did not contain certain provisions now in the Federal Water Power Act, and in the course of his message the President said:

> "I deem it highly important that the nation should adopt a consistent and harmonious policy of treatment of these water power projects which will preserve their value to the government whose right it is to grant the permit. The necessity for the adoption of such a policy has recently been pointed out, with my approval, by the Secretary of War, and I see no reason why this bill should be exempted from the safeguards which have been recommended by him in the cases of other bills now pending before congress."

The nitrate plant proposed in 1912 to be located at Montgomery was forced to locate outside the United States and this great industry was lost to the south.

Do the people of Alabama propose that future large developments which might be proposed in this state shall be banished to other sections, or will they assume an attitude of friendliness and encouragement?

THE REAL CHAUTAUQUA

Chautauqua County comprises the whole western end of the State of New York and is bounded by Lake Erie on the north, Cattarangus County, N. Y., on the east, and Pennsylvania on the south and west, where Erie County, Pa., slips in between New York and Ohio clear up to Lake Erie. The town or village of Chautauqua is located in the towsnhip of Chautauqua in the County of Chautauqua, New York, on the west shore of Chautauqua Lake, 19 miles from Jamestown at the southern end of the lake, and three miles from Mayville, the county seat of Chautauqua County, at the north end of the lake with a trolley line 30 miles long which runs from Jamestown to Westfield, N. Y., connecting the two extremeties of the lake, which has a state highway completely around it.

Chautauqua takes its name from an Indian word signifying a bag tied in the middle, indicated by the form of Lake Chautauqua, which though from one to three miles wide for most of its length is but one-fourth mile wide at its "narrows" near the middle. This lake is 1400 feet above sea level and was at one time, and probably still, the highest body of water in the United States, on which a steamboat floats, and as long ago as the late 50's was a favorite resort for the writer and his brothers to go fishing when the corn was laid by.

Mrs. E. L. Ploss, a widowed sister of the writer, has lived either in the vicinity or actually at Chautauqua, where we are now visiting her, for upwards of fifty years, and attended the first camp meeting ever held on the Chautauqua Grounds, which incited their selection in 1874 as the cite for meetings of what was first named "The Chautauqua Assembly" and with but one exception Mrs. Ploss has attended each annual session of this great organization. The name and scope of the assembly was later changed to "The Chautauqua Institute." The assembly adea originated with Bishop J. H. Vincent of the Mehtodist Episcopal Church, who was born in Tuscaloosa, Ala., in 1832, but moved with his parents to Pennsylvania when six years old. When grown he entered the ministry and was prominent in establishing and promoting literature for Sunday Schcool teachers, and in 1874, in cooperation with Lewis Miller of Akron Ohio, the father of Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, established the Chautauqua Assembly, sometimes called "the school in the woods," which was in reality a summer school for Sunday School teachers, its sessions lasting ten days. Until his death in 1899, quoting from the remarks of Bishop Vincent at his funeral, "The name of Lewis Miller is inseparably and forever associated with the name of Chautauqua. There he did pioneer work in laynig the nethermost foundation of the structure. But for him Chautauqua in its present form could not have been." In Mr. Miller Bishop Vincent found a sympathetic and successful business member, a co-worker in developing and financnig his purpose and aims, these were "To promote habits of reading and study in nature, art, science and in secular and sacred literature, in connection with the routine of daily life, especially among those whose educational advantages have been limited, so as to secure to them the college students general outlook upon the world and life and to develop the habit of close connected, persistent thinknig." To accomplish this ideal educational innovation the following method was adopted: "A course was planned to cover four years, to encourage individual study in lives and by text books which shall be indicated; by local circles for mutual help and encouragement in such studies; by summer courses of lectures and student sesions at Chautauqua, and by reports and examinations."

Chautauqua Institute, the corporate name of the organization, has a New York State Charter as an educational institution, with power to confer degrees upon students who complete the prescribed course. The total number enrolled, but not all of whom have graduated, number approximately one million. Chautauqua circle, student bodies, are scattered all over the world, and are composed chiefly of men and women who, although deprived of the ordinary process of education have a keen desire for it, who, by climbing the steps of the course, even amid home or business duties, have attained a mental and spiritual outlook not otherwise obtainable. Chautauqua Institute has proven that mankind is capable of mental development long after school room doors have closed behind them. It is lamentable that so many forms of perfectly laudable entertainment for people all over the land purport to be imitators of the real Chautauqua, we so create misconception of the purposes and scope of the original and only Chautauqua Institution, as lectures, readings and concerts during the sessions of Chautauqua (now extended to 60 days each sumer) are only a small part of its work. The four years course of reading and study include subjects usually taught at college, except languages and laboratory work i sciences, for which provision is required that is inapplicable to the methods employed by this institution, which aims chiefly to stimulate and to aid self development in many ways that can be accomplished without the aid of a teacher in person or costly experimental equipment. Because with the habits formed and knowledge gained in a four years coure as a Chautauqua student those interested in special subjects and well prepared to follow them up under favorable conditions in a post-graduate course at some university or college where their particular choice is specially stressed, a common course, because no college or university is equipped to give a student the best of everything. Bishop Vincent, who died in 1920 at the age of 88, had marvelous power of bringing into disturbed lives a new vision of things that might be accomplished. Thus thousands who had considered themselves as "down and out" intellectually have caught a new spirit which has greatly enrichced their lives. In one of his best addresses, a baccalaureate sermon, he said "Who wants to die and go to Heaven when he can live and bring heaven to earth." A notable feature of Chautauqua influence is in its prevention of the stagnation of arrested mentality with its crushing influence on humanity, its devotees continue mental development and remain young at heart in spite of advancing age. This fact is vividly illustrated by thte presence of so many aged people who are spending their declining years in the atmosphere of the visible Chautauqua. One meets them everywhere about the grounds, gray or white haired, calm faced, erect, bright eyed and alert, cheerful, intelligent. Chief among them is Mrs. Wightman, 103 years old, to whom we have had the honor of an introduction at church where she was accompanied by her daughter, a white haired blushing maiden of probably 70 summers, but still actively engaged as a school teacher.

For 45 years Mrs. Wightman has spent her summers at Chautauqua and with her daughter recently purchased a house and lot where they can stay the year around. During the months of July and August, or while the institution is holding its sessions, the population of Chautauqua is from 10 to 15 thousand, and the attendance on special days sometimes is 25,000. But during the balance of the year it dwindles to about 500. Permanent residences and many large rooming or boarding houses and some hotels stand closed until the next season.

The site of Chautauqua is on a beautifully wooded slope adjoining Chautauqua Lake, and although completely isolated from the disturbance of traffic or industrial plants, it is easiy accessible by the Erie railroad at Jamestown, the Pennsylvania railroad at Mayville, and the New York Central at Westfield. All these places are connected by a good trolley line which passes the Chautauqua gate. There are also several steamers on the lake and good automobile highways in all directions. The grounds comprise approximately 360 acres, mostly forests of maple, beech hickory and chestnut. Since no automobiles are permitted to enter the grounds during the summer sessions. it becomes an ideal family resort and many people of moderate means have their summer homes here.

Golf is provided for by an 18-hole standard course; athletic fields are also furnished, together with aquatic sports and boys and girls manual training and domestic cience clubs, with houses equipped for these purposes. A notable feature is the Amphitheatre. This building covers a large natural bowl shaped area with a large platform or stage at the bottom, and seats rising in tiers up the sides of the bowl all around it. The seating capacity is 6,000 and the whole is covered with an immense roof and ceiling supported by many large wood posts. The building is open on all sides, and in good weather several thousand more can find standing room where they can see and hear whatever is done or said on the platform. The building contains a large pipe organ in a specially constructed compartment and seats for a large chorus choir, and here are given guest concerts, lectures, addresses and moving picture entertainmets. This is the part of Chautauqua that is so feebly imitated in short Chautauqua course in all parts of the country.

One day each season is set apart as "Recognition Day" when members of "The Chautauqua Literary and Society circles from all parts of the world, who have completed the prescribed course of reading and study, and have made satisfactory reports, may come it possible to Chautauqua, and in a most impressive ceremony, in company with many others who have likewise "paid the price" enter the Golden Gate and climb the steep ascent to "The Hall of Philosophy," there to receive the much coveted and hard earned diploma of Chautauqua Institutiom

Another building of great interest is the Hall of the Christ, built in the form of a cross, material being terra cotta bricks and marble, at a cost of $50,000. It was a conception of the late Bishop Vincent to be devoted exclusively to the study of and intended as a receptacle for copies of all books, manuscripts, pictures etc., obtaniable relative of the Christ, also where all who desire to do Him homage may come for meetings of worship, regardless of deominational affiliations, a real Church of Christ.

Other features of importance are The Chautauqua Press, which prints all publications of the Institution, a book binding, arts and crafts departmet, a central heating, light and power plant, etc.

The writer has two sisters whose early educatiqnal advantages were limited, each became the wife of a farmer, but amid their home duties took the four years prescribed Chautauqua course, and with many fellow students entered the Golden Gate at Chautauqua. To one of them, Mrs. E. L. Ploss, and to officers of the Chautauqua Institute, we are greatly indebted for information secured which has helped very much in the production of this letter.

BRANDON STAMPS POST AMENDMENT WITH HIS APPROVAL

Next Governor Predicts Great Impetus to Industrial and Commercial Alabama Through State Development of Her Seaport.

Birmingham, Sept. 16.—Judge W. W. Brandon, of Tuscaloosa, who was recently nominated for Governor of Alabama by the largest majority ever given a candidate for office in this State, has come out in one of the strongest endorsements of the Port Amendment to the Constitution yet given it by any one.

In a letter to Chairman Sydney J. Bowie, of the Alabama Seaport Committee, Judge Brandon says he unqualifiedly endorses and approves the Amendment and pledges himself as Governor to see that the interests of the State and of the people are thoroughly safe-guarded in every way. His letter follows:

"Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Sept. 12, 1922.

"Dear Sir:

"Answering through this letter to you numerous inquiries which have been made as to my view and position with respect to the Alabama Seaport Amendment to be voted on in the November election, I make the following statement:

"1. I unqualifiedly endorse and approve, and will vote for, the said Amendment.

"2. If the Amendment be adopted, I, as Governor, will approve only a conservative plan of development, the money raised upon the State's credit to be used only for acquiring facilities as needed, the issuing of bonds to be limited to the amounts necessary to secure such facilities, no excessive prices to be paid for any property, and the State's right to condemn needed property to be always available.

Only Business Men Selected.

"3. As is contemplated by the proposed amendment, all property acquired in the development will always be owned absolutely by the State and remain under its control through such board, commission, or other agency as the Legislature may designate, and I assure that in making all appointments to such positions, I will select only experienced business men of outstanding ability and unquestioned character, ignoring entirely politics, politicians and all political considerations.

"4. My endorsement of the said development is not in conflict with my platform of retrenchment, reduction of taxes and rigid economy in the administration of the State's affairs, because full investigation of the present volume and character of traffic has convinced me that State owned and controlled terminal facilities at Alabama's only seaport, acquired and developed in keeping with the principles here stated, will be self-sustaining; that the income therefrom will not only pay the interest on the money invested, but also will be sufficient to build up an ample sinking fund for the retirement of the bonds at maturity; and that such income after the retirement of the bonds, will afford large revenue to the State.

Mobile Port Best Serves State.

"5. Inquiry into the matter has further convinced me that water transportation to, from and through our seaport carries distinct advantage to every portion of the State; that the cheapest possible transportation from either the East or West Coast of the United States to any point in Alabama is by water to our seaport and thence by rail to point of destination; that enormous quantities of merchandise in daily use throughout the State may be so handled; that this advantage is multiplied as to all points on our splendid river system where an all-water route may be used; that shipment either to the East or West Coast of this country, or to foreign countries of our vast surplus of agricultural mineral and forest products is facilitated and cheapened by reaching water transportation at the nearest possible port; that the difference just mentioned is well illustrated by the fact that the all-rail rate from the Birmingham district to the Pacific Coast on cast iron pipe is $27.00 per ton, while the rate by barge to Mobile and from there to the Pacific Coast by Steamer is $12.50 per ton or $14.50 per ton less than the all rail rate, which saving is sufficient to keep our furnaces going when otherwise they would be forced to shut down; and that the building up of a great port in this State will add largely to taxable values, increase our population, supply better markets for our products, and give us liberally of the manifold benefits which accrue from progress along safe and conservative lines.

Publicly Owned Ports Successful.

6. Several other states, notably California and Louisiana, have met with splendid success in owning and controlling terminal facilities, and I am quite sure that we are at least equal to them in relevant natural resources and in the integrity and business ability of our people. What they have done, we can do, and in the near future a flood tide of commerce should be flowing through our seaport bringing in whatever we need and carrying out to all parts of the world the surplus products of our farms, our forests, our mines and our factories, including the surplus output of the great factories which will be driven by the now wasting water power at Muscle Shoals when the National Government shall have confided the control and management of that power to Henry Ford, the people's choice.

POOR ORIGINAL

A Brief Explanation of Howard Foshee's Political Maneuvers

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 26, 1922.
Editor Union-Banner:

For a long time we have been hearing a little word here and there that leaked out from the camp of the Democrats in Clanton, which asserted that there was bound to come such a split in the Republican party before the election that the result would be the defeat of the Republican candidates and the election of Democrats.

As for myself, I will admit that I have not believed such reports, and I took it all along as being the boast of some over-optimistic Democrat who was hoping for something that would never happen. Nor do I yet believe that the Republican party will go to pieces in such a manner as to allow any such disastrous consequences to befall us in November.

Heretofore, I have been unable to understand why the Democrats were so certain that a split would come. I could not see where they were getting their infrmation which made them so sure that there were any Republicans who would split off from the party and not vote the ticket.

But I think the last issue of the Chilton County News explains the whole mystery. The stand that Mr. Howard Foshee has taken shows us now who it is that has been keeping the Democrats so well informed about the split that would surely come in the Republican party.

Do you suppose that Howard Foshee has been telling the Demacrats all the while that if the nominations in the Republican primary did not suit him, he would come over and join their gang and help them defeat the Republican ticket?

If he has been promising them such outrageous things as this, do you suppose he also included in the bargain a lot of his followers in the Republican party whom he was also to deliver into the Democratic party along with himself?

If Howard Foshee has been making such bargains with the Democrats, who do you suppose it is that he was going to take into the Democratic party? Listen Republicans, will you consent to listen to and follow a supposed to be Republican like this fellow, who will sell you out in advance to the Democratic party?

What else can we conclude about his motives when we see him publishing letters in the Democratic newspaper that can have no other purpose than to injure the Republican ticket? He not only published such a letter in the Democratic newspaper, but even went so far as to send out several hundred of these Democratic papers to Republicans whom he seeks to lead into his conspiracy with the Democrats.

Think of this for a minute and let it soak into your system good. You may be the Republican whom this treacherous fellow has been telling the Democrats that he would bring into their party.

I feel like there are some honest and loyal Republicans in Chilton County who have had confidence in the motives of Howard Foshee in the past. But how will one of these honest Republicans feel now when he sees that Mr. Foshee has gone to the Democrats in an effort to defeat the Republican ticket in November, and when he knows that all the time Mr. Foshee has been telling the Democrats that he was going to bring his followers to the support of their ticket if he did not get the Republican nominees to suit him. Can an honest, intelligent Republican follow him any further?

I think friends that we can follow whomsoever we believe to be honest and fair and best devoted to our interests in the Primary election. And we should not fall out with one another for these minor differences. But I think it is time for Republicans to refuse to follow when they come to see that their leader has got them already signed, sealed, addressed and ready to deliver over into the Democratic party.

I want to say to my fellow citizens of this county that you cannot afford to listen to such stuff as Howard Foshee has been trying to make you believe. You cannot afford to follow him into the Democratic party, because it means too much to the future welfare of your county.

Don't forget the great disaster which befell Chilton county during the last Democratic administration. Just think of that and you can see what it means if you let Howard Foshee lead you into voting against the Republican ticket.

I want to say in conclusion that we have a good ticket nominated this time, and the best interests of the county demands that we stick together and elect them. We cannot afford to do otherwise. Just let Howard Foshee go to the Democratic party or anywhere else he wants to. Let us show him that the sane citizenship of this county have got too much sense to follow him, and ignore all the important and vital interests of our county.

Repectfully,
W. H. HAYES.

NIX WILL NOT HELP IN REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN AT PRESENT

Editor Union-Banner:
Clanton, Alabama,
Dear Sir:—

Your paper of last week contained an item giving the names of those who had been appointed as members of the campaign committee of the Republican party for the coming election and I notice that my name appears as one of them. I have already advised the chairman of that committee that I could not serve on same, but I wish to announce to the people through your paper that I can not serve because my political activity has heretofore been along the line to build a party in harmony with the wishes of the majority of the people. Also I wish to say that I would be glad to give my entire time in the interest of our party, however, I find that my ideas are not in accord with those of certain candidates on the ticket and I fear that I would be a handicap to the committee rather than a help. I feel confident that there are others, whose ideas are in full accord with the nominees, and who are better known to the people of the county and who will be glad to serve in my place.

Thanking you in advance for giving this letter as prominent place in your next issue as the one last week announcing me a member of the committee, I am,

Respectfully,
J. M. NIX.

OAK HILL

Our revival meeting has just closed at this place with twelve additions to the church and some converts who have not yet joined. The church is greatly revived and the future prospects are brighter than for years past.

Rev. Mabrey could not be with us on account of the illness of his wife, but our pastor, Rev. L. H. Jones, did the preaching with Prof. A. H. Glasscock to direct the singng, and God blessed their labors and with the help of the others consecrated members did a great work for the church and community.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely and our singing socety is still growing. This was evidenced Sunday afternoon by the large crowd of singers and lovers of music that attended the united singing society that met at this place, with all the classes represented, which is composed of Oak Hill, Union Grove and Jemison and Collins Chapel. Prof. James Franklin and his class visited us and did some fine singing. Rendering two beautiful quartets, as well as other songs which were very much enjoyable to all who heard them, for which we are very thankful.

We were also glad to have Professors Harris and Collins of Thorsby with us again.

Also our friends from Oak Grove and Mt. Pleasant who did their part in making the singing the great success that it was. All of which we are thankful and invite you to come again, for we are always glad to have you with us and will give you a hearty welcome at all times.

Do not forget those Walk-Over Shoes. We have them.

MRS. HEARD MADE CHM. U. OF A. DRIVE

University, Ala., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Victor Heard of Clanton has been appointed chairman of the women's committee for the University of Alabama Million Dollar Campaign in Chilton County, according to announcement by Mrs. Frank B. Clark, of Birmingham, State women's chairman.

Active interest in the success of the campaign which starts October 5th, is being taken by the alumnae of the University, especially since the announcement that it was necessary this year to refuse admission to the University to fifty young women. Lack of dormitory space made it impossible to accommodate them.

The plea of the University in the campaign for $1,000,000 is that of necessity, the necessity of erecting additional buildings at once to supplement the present buildings which are already crowded to overflowing. The fact that it was not possible to admit all those who applied this year has brought sharply to the attention of the people the serious lack of sufficient buildings.

"The women of Alabama are determined that the campaign shall not fail because they know it is of such great importance to their children," said Mrs. Clark. "We demand that our children shall have the best opportuntites for success in life, and we cannot permit a condition to continue which will deny any of them the opportunity to attend the State University. If these fifty young girls have been denied a college education this year because we have failed to prepare for them at the State University, hundreds of others will suffer the same fate in the next few years. The time for action has come."

Women's committees have been formed in every county in the State and the University alumnae will assist in the campaign in various ways. The details of their work will be determined by the county chairmen and local committees.

University, Ala., Sept. 25. — At simultaneous dinners in every community in Alabama on the evening of October 5th, the Million Dollar Campaign of the University of Alabama will be formally opened. In every city and county of the State the campaign will begin to move at the same time with the united strength of the thousands of University alumni and other campaign workers behind it.

Every former student of the University who is not physically incapacitated is expected to be present at one of these dinners. The responsibility for success in the campaign rests upon the University alumni and with the great strength of their united influence and activity the campaign is expected to move rapidly toward the goal of $1,000,000.

Teams have been organized and are already at work in all part of the State preparing for the opening of the campaign on October 5th. Before this date an effort will be made to see every former student of the University to align all of them strongly back of the campaign and secure their pledges of loyalty. Every one of them is expected to give $305 or more, payment of all subscriptions being in five annual installments.

The success of the campaign will determine the future of higher education in Alabama. The State University has grown more rapidly in recent years than any other collegiate institution in the United States. It has completely outgrown its buildings, and the people of Alabama are now face to face with situation where they must either enlarge the University or deny the opportunities of a college education to their children. This is the issue to be decided by the campaign.

RETHERFORD FURNITURE CO. OCT. 2ND

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 26, 1922.

To my Friends in Clanton and Chilton County:

I take this means of announcing to you that I will be ready to open my furniture store in Clanton the 2nd of October. I have some nice suites of furniture that I will see at a bargain as an opening sale. You are invited to come to see me.

If I haven't got what you want I am in a position to get it for you at the right price. But even if you don't want to buy anything, come to see me anyway. I always enjoy seeing any of my old friends and talking with them.

I went to the market myself and picked out my stock of Furniture. I know that the stuff I have is something that I can sell to you and stand behind it as being all right. I didn't buy any "shoddy" stuff. It is well made up and well painted, and will not have to be made over after you get home with it.

Remember my place is located in the new building next to Dr. Arthur Johnon's office.

Hoping you will come around to see me when you are in town, I am as ever,

Yours truly,
G. D. RETHERFORD.

250 Pimples, 736 Blackheads and 3 Boils!

No reward is offered, because they are lost forever! No question will be asked, except one question, "How did you lose them?" There is but one answer,—"I cut out new fad treatments and guesswork; I used one of the most powerful blood-cleansers, blood-purifiers and flesh-builders known, and that is S. S. S.! Now my face is pinkish, my skin clear as a rose, my cheeks are filled out and my rheumatism, too, is gone!" This will be your experience, too, if you try S. S. S. It is guaranteed to be purely vegetable in all its remarkably effective medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. means a new history for you from now on! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

Found,—that glorious feeling that comes with a clear, pure, ruddy complexion.

Frequent Headaches

"I suffered with chronic constipation that would bring on very severe headaches," says Mrs. Stephen H. Kincer, of R. F. D. 1, Cripple Creek, Va. "I tried different medicines and did not get relief. The headaches became very frequent. I heard of and took it for a headache, and the relief was very quick, and it was so long before I had another headache. Now I just keep the Black-Draught, and don't let myself get in that condition."

Thedford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this way. It is the natural way. Be natural! Try Black-Draught.

Parrots were also seen upon the chandelier. After several out door games successfully conducted by Miss Selman and Mrs. Mack Wyatt, the little folks were invited into the dining room where parrots marked the places of each little guest. Here a most delightful ice course was served, which further accentuated the color note. The cutting of the birthday cake afforded much laughter and fun when Cathryn Hayes cut the thimble, John Samuel Ezell, the Heart; Mary Heard the Silver wish bone, and Elizabeth Pearson the ring, and the button fell to Jessie Frank Foshee. Late in the afternoon the 48 guests bid the young host farewell with a wish for a hasty return of another birthday.

Typhoon in South China

One of the most terrible disasters in history occurred in and around Swatow, South China, in the early part of August. It is now estimated that more than one hundred thousand people were killed and as many more made homeless. There are typhoons every summer out in this part of the world, but seldom one so terrible as this one. This section around the South China Sea touching the east coast of Indo China, South China, Formosa and the Philippine Islands is the only place in the world where this particular kind of storm rages.

Perhaps it is not out of place to give here some idea of what typhoon is. The word seems to be from the Chinese word taai fung which is pronounced almost like we say typhoon. It means a big wind and the thing itself certainly lives up to its name. It is impossible to describe a typhoon. One has to be in one to know what it is. But it is terrible. It makes one think that the earth and sky is going back into chaos. The wind blows in a circle in opposite direction from which the hands of a clock go. The diameter of the circle is from one to several hundred miles. Of course, on the outer fringe of the circle the wind does not blow as furiously as near the center. From the outer edge of the circle the wind is harder and harder as the center is approached. But when the center is reached there is a cone of from eight to fifteen miles in diameter which is perfect calm In the center one would not know a storm was on. The typhoon mozes forward from twelve to fifteen, or more, miles an hour while the wind n the circle has a velocity of from eghty to one hundred miles an hour. If the typhoon is three hundred niles in diameter it would take more than twenty four hours for it to pass over a given place while the most furious part of it might not last more than five to ten hours. That is quie sufficient.

Swatow is on the shore of the China Sea There is more or less broad bay ending from the main sea up to the harbor. One night about nine ocloc the wind broke with a terrible spied and blew furiously until twelve o'clock. At this time the wind was llowing from the land out to sea. From twelve until five minutes after one there was perfect calm. Then it started again more terrific than before and caused terror, destruction and death such as had never been seen before in that section of the country. This time the wind was from the sea toward the land. (After the center passes over the wnd blows in the opposite drection from what it was before the center reached any given point.) The wind came sweeping in with unimaginable fury and brought with it a great wave from the sea which covered the city and all the country for miles around. Tens of thousands of people were killed and drowned; the majority of whom were washed out to sea as the water went back. Many villages were wiped out entirely while others had only a few people left. Some villages of a thousand people had as many as a hundred who were not killed. The awful horror of it can never be told.

One American woman whose husband is with the Standard Oil Co., wrote to a friend that the roof was blown off her house but the walls stood. All the first floor was flooded but they were safe on the second floor except for the down pour of rain. She said the wails that came out of the darkness from the hundreds of drowning people all about them were terrible beyond all description.

Two paragraphs from a friend of mine give some idea of the awful destruction that followed. "Speaking of the typhoon, we have never had anything like it in this region before. The loss of ilfe is probably over 30,000. The losses in the districts where the storm was worst have been tabulated, but there are scores and hundreds of villages, where only a few were killed, where there will never be any record made of the dead.

The main force of the typhoon struck the delta of the Han River and carried with it the wave at least ten feet above the normal high tide. This simply swept clean away the smaller villages. In some of them a lone tree or shrub is the only vestige to mark the place where the village stood. Everything is absolutely gone. In some places even the earth beneath the villages was carried away. A great deal of the loss of life is to be attributed to falling walls which in many cases were smashed by junks (native boats) that were carried up over the land.

"Ten or a dozen of our chapels are either down flat or badly damaged. A big junk was driven through the chapel here at Chaoyang and stopped only in time to save the school building. It will cost perhaps $50,000 to restore our Mission property in all the stations. Four or five steamships at Swatow were driven ashore, and the most of the launches were carried so high that the companies have not been able to get them down yet. It looks strange to pass along the road and see a steam launch up in a can patch some fifteen feet above the water, but they are there. The family of my traveling evangelist and the family of the head-master of our school here were almost or entirely wiped out. A former magistrate of this place had only one or two of a family of about twenty. Another family which has had a Christian teacher for the girls for two or three years, preparing for a wedding. All the family and all the guests were crushed r drwned. Only one of the family was left and he was at Swatow. And so it goes. Tale after tale like these can be told."

China has her sorrows. Typhoons, floods, famines. It makes ones heart sad as he thinks of these things, but that which touches the very depths of the soul of the real Christian is to see the millions here who are livig in spiritual darkness without Christ. When you read these words will you pray for the salvation of China.

DEATH OF MISS MAMIE EDWARDS

On Sept. 19, 1922, God sent His death angel into our midst and took from us a very dear loved one, Miss Mamie Edwards. She was 33 years and one month old. She professed faith in Christ and joined the Baptist Church when young and always faithful to the cause of Christ. She was humble and obedient to her parents. Sh was loved by all that knew her.

Her removel from our midst leaves a vacancy that can't be forgotten, but our loss is heaven's gain, and may it lead us to bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well, and remembering that our sister is not dead but sleeping till bright and cloudless morning when the roll will be called up yonder.

Mamie leaves a father and mother, one sister and two brothers to mourn her loss.

We do thank the people for their kindness during her sickness. We do especially thank the doctors and nurses at the Central Alabama Hospital for we believe they did all they could to give her relief.

She was laid to rest at Shiloh Church Wednesday evening. Brother Parrish conducted the services.

Respectfully,
Mr. C. E. EDWARDS,

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution causing indigestion or constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live a ripe old age.

WHAT REPUBLICAN CONERESS HAS DONE

Summarized by Senator Reed Smoot September 22, 1922.

Mr. SMOOT.—Mr. President, I had expected to occupy some of the time of the Senate today in rehearsing the accomplishments of the administration for the last two years, but that is entirely out of the question, for it is but a few minutes before adjournment. Perhaps it will be just as well for me at this time to read the headline of what I intended to speak upon. Furthermore, I notice that yesterday, in the House, Hon. Frank W. Mondell delivered a speech covering about the same subject matter that I intended to speak upon today; so I will content myself by just reciting the subject matter without any further discussion. There are a great many of them here that I should like to discuss in detail, and many that I have not enumerated.

The Congress has completed 18 months of constructive legislation, which is without parallel in the history of this country. No Congress ever came into power facing such chaotic conditions calling for deliberate and constructive efforts.

The Republican party has pledged to give the country constructive legislation. No Congress has ever enacted a greater percentage of legislation promised by its party. Consider its record:

First, and of vital importance, it has enacted no destructive, no sectional, no class legislation.

To put more business in government, it enacted the Budget law, under which the economy program of this administration was made possible.

It reduced the public taxes $818,000,000 a year, the bulk of which is lifted from the family and individual of average income. That taxes might be still further reduced, it unsparingly cut public appropriation.

It found 5,000,000 men ilde. To prevent further aggravation of the unemployment situation, it enacted the restrictve immigration law.

It found agriculture facing ruin. To relieve the situation it revived the War Finance Corporation and furnished it with a million-dollar revolving fund to loan the farmer in his emergency tariff, which stopped the emergency tariff, whichc stopped the flood of import that was contributing to agricultural distress. It increased the funds of the Federal farm loan bank in the sum of $25,000,000.

The result was the revival of agriculture, which brought the farmer who purchases 40 per cent of the manufactured products of the country, again into the market, thus giving employment to ilde men.

It enacted a permanent tariff, insuring industry and agriculture alike protection from destructive competition and the working man steady employment at a good wage.

It enacted the Sweet law, which created the Veterans Bureau, consolidating all government agencies dealing with ex-service men and facilitating the work of relieving disabled war veterans. It appropriated for the use of that bureau more money than was apprpriated for any other purpose except payment of the public debt and interest thereon.

It found the country officially in a state of war with Germany and Austro-Hungary, and by a joint resolution reestablished peace with these two nations.

It enacted that great piece of humanitarian legislation asked by the women of the country, the maternity act, to safeguard the welfare of infancy and maternity.

It created a refunding commission to place our foreign loans on a businesslike basis and formulate conditions for their payment.

It authorized the formation of cooperative marketing associations that will be of mutual benefit to the producer of food and to the consumer. It enacted the packers and stockyards act for the live-stock interests, and the grain futures act for the farmer.

To promote our foreign trade it amended the Edge Act to facilitate the organzation of corporations engaging in export buiness.

It provided for the reorganization of the Philipine financial system and an extension of Philippine credit in order to save the islands from bankruptcy, which they were facing as a result of eight years of government under the Democratic regime.

It came to the relief of the drouthstricken areas of our own country, extended the time of payment due on irrigation and reclamation projects, granted liberal aid for public roads, extended relief to the starving millions of Russia, reorganized the Indian Bureau, strengthened the enforcement of the Federal prohibition amendment, provided for the creation of more Federal courts in order to relieve the congestion of business and expedite justice, and created a commission to investigate the coal industry.

In addition, the United States Senate in less than 30 days ratified seven treaties formulated at the Arms Conference, which moved the world toward peace and committed the nations to a reduction of naval armament and a consequent reduction in taxation.

Mr. President, I could stand here for one solid hour and rehearse what has been accomplished by this adminitration, and I say without a question of doubt that no legslature that ever met has passed so many beneficial laws as has the present Congress under this administration.

NOTE OUR GROWTH

Howard Foshee Says He is Working Solely to Beat Reynolds.

Would Draw the Whole Republican Party Into Turmoil and Strife and Possibly Defeat Just Because He is Personally Opposed to Reynolds on Account of Certain Allegations that Have no Place in This Campaign.

Mr. Howard L. Foshee, our County Superintendent of Education, who has been posing in years past as an advocate and supporter of the Republican party in Chilton County, and who was so highly commended last week by the 134 teachers in the Chilton County Teachers Institute for keeping the school business out of politics. turned up again Tuesday morning of this week at The Union-Banner office, with another long and laborious harangue of very much distorted and vicious political bunk of strange concoction, with a request that we publish the same.

When asked what the purpose and intention of the great row that he is and has been seeking to stir up in Chilton County recently, Mr. Foshee admitted to me that it was for the SOLE INTENTION OF KEEPING L. H. REYNOLDS FROM BEING ELECTED AS PROBATE JUDGE IN NOVEMBER.

He further stated that he did not recognize Reynolds as the nominee of the Republican party of Chilton County for Probate Judge; and for that reason, and the further reasons that the Judge was charged by him of being guilty of taking some stands in politics that were not pleasing to himself, (Mr. Foshee), he was taking it upon himself to see that he was not elected as Probate Judge in November.

I desire to state that Mr. Foshee's letter was refused publicaton in this paper. Our reasons are obvious to every man who cares anything about the success of our Republican ticket. This paper believes in supporting the Republican ticket that was nominated in our Primary, and this support is whole hearted and honest. Therefore we will not submit our columns for use by such as Mr. Foshee who seek to apply the knife to certain ones on that ticket. Such tactics are not becoming to men who claim to be loyal and faithful Republicans.

The man who is fighting Judge Reynolds or any other one candidate on our ticket, cannot be classed as a man who is true to the interests of the party. We do not countenance such action and will not be a party to such by allowing them to use space in our paper for advertisement of their incendiary motives that can do nothing but drag down our party and lend encouragement to the Democrats.

Mr. Foshee was advised by me to carry his article to the Chilton County News for publication. They make a business of fighting the Republican party with that paper, and it is there that such methods as those of Mr. Foshee properly belong to be recognized. The Democrats, we feel sure, will, and have already, heartily endorsed the fight that Mr. Foshee is making to beat Judge Reynolds. They know that opposition to Judge Reynolds also means opposition to all the Republican candidates, therefore the warmth of their love for Mr. Foshee is growing to a high degree. We see every day many Democrats embrace him on the streets and in the alleys, and even go to his office. No doubt they are constantly lauding his great and glorious fight against the Republican candidates very highly.

If Mr. Foshee can see wherein he is to get any glory out of this traitorous effort to defeat Judge Reynolds and the balance of the Republican ticket, he is at liberty to pursue his course to any limits that his foolish ideas may lead him. As for The Union-Banner, we here and now, once and for all announce to the people of this county, and to Mr. Foshee that we have no space to give or sell to him or anybody else, to be used in fighting the Republican ticket that is now before the people of this county to be elected to fill our county offices.

I presume that the Republicans whom Mr. Foshee is seeking to lead away from the Republican party will soon receive some more special marked copies of The Chilton County News bearing the wonderful wisdom of his latest eruption to them.

My advice to the Republicans of this county is that you pay no attenton to the fuss that Mr. Foshee is raising. You will some day be sorry of it if you let him deceive you into voting against the Republican ticket next November and allow the Democrats to take charge of the affairs of our county again. Let us be loyal to our party, which has stood by us so nobly in the past. The interests of all the people of the county are more to be considered than the personal grievances of Mr. Foshee against Judge Reynolds. Our people should vote to take care of the affairs of our county rather than to satisfy the vicious ravings of one man who has gone mad about his own personal misfortunes in politics.

Respectfully,

W. M. WYATT.

STRETCHING THE TRUTH

If some one should say that our Bank was not a good bank, we would not call him a liar, but we would at least offer the suggestion that he was one of those fellows who sometimes stretch the truth too far.

For we know that our Bank IS a good bank. Our pleased customers say so. Our growing business proves it. We try to please, try to be accommodating, try to be of service, but over and above all, we absolutely safeguard every dollar entrusted to our care. Is that the kind of a bank you are looking for? ALABAMA NOTES

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK TOLD IN BRIEF.

An order for materials to be used in an ant eradication campaign at Mobile was given by the special committee of women appointed to take charge of the work there, and it is expected that the materials will be received without delay. While all the money needed for the eradication work has not been subscribed, there was sufficient on hand to pay for the materials and the order was placed so that there might be as little delay as possible in starting the work.

Alabamians in New York City have planned an elaborate luncheon in the interest of the University of Alabama million dollar campaign which was held at the Waldorf Hotel on October 2nd. This announcement has been received at Tuscaloosa from Robert Thatch, Jr., alumnus of the University, now in New York. Mr. Sharpe was elected mayor at the recent election in Brighton, and his term will begin the first of October.

It is thought it will be at least several weeks before all the cotton is picked and ginned.

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thos. E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1922, an election will be held for the vote of qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz.:

Be it enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

The following amendment to Section 93 of the Constitution of Alabama is hereby proposed and an election is hereby ordered by the qualified electors of the State upon such proposed amendment, which election shall be held at the general election next succeeding the present extra session of the Legislature at which this amendment is proposed. The proposed amendment is as follows, viz.:

"Section 93. The State shall not engage in works of internal improvement, nor lend money or its credit in aid of such, except as may be authorized by the Constitution of Alabama or amendments thereto; nor shall the State be interested in any private or corporate enterprise, or lend money or its credit to any individual, association, or corporation, except as may be expressly authorized by the Constitution of Alabama, or amendments thereto; but when authorized by laws passed by the Legislature the State may appropriate funds to be applied to the construction, repair, and maintenance of public roads, highways, and bridges in the State; and when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature, the State may at a cost of not exceeding ten million dollars engage in the work of internal improvement, of promoting, developing, constructing, maintaining, and operating all harbors or seaports within the State or its jurisdiction, provided, that such work or improvement shall always be and remain under the management and control of the State, through its State Harbor Commission, or other governing agency. The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature."

Section 2. Notice of the election hereby ordered together with the amendment hereby proposed shall be given by a proclamation of the Governor, which shall be published in one newspaper once a week in each county in the State, for at least eight successive weeks next preceding the day hereby appointed for such election.

Section 3. At the election hereby ordered to be held as herein provided, the qualified electors shall vote on said proposed amendment, and on the official ballot printed for such election there shall be printed the following, viz.: "Shall the following be adopted as Section 93 of the Constitution of Alabama? The State shall not engage in works of internal improvement, nor lend money or its credit in aid of such except as may be authorized by the Constitution of Alabama or amendments thereto; nor shall the State be interested in any private or corporate enterprise, or lend money or its credit to any individual, association, or corporation, except as may be expressly authorized by the Constitution of Alabama, or amendments thereto; but when authorized by laws passed by the Legislature the State may appropriate funds to be applied to the construction, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways, and bridges in the State; and, when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature, the State may, at a cost of not exceeding ten million dollars, engage in the work of internal improvement, of promoting, developing, constructing, maintaining and operating all harbors or seaports within the State or its jurisdiction, provided that such work or improvement shall always be and remain under the management and control of the State, through its State Harbor Commission, or other governing agency. The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature. "Yes....."

"No.....". The choice of the elector shall be indicated by a cross mark made by him or under his direction, opposite the word expressing his desire.

Section 4. The votes cast at such election shall be canvassed, tabulated, and returns thereof made to the Secretary of State, and counted in the same manner as in elections for Representatives to the Legislature; and if it shall thereupon appear that a majority of the qualified electors who voted at such election upon the proposed amendment voted in favor of the same, such amendment shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the State of Alabama. The result of such election shall be made known by a proclamation of the Governor.

HOWARD FOSHEE MUST HAVE IT HIS WAY OR HE WILL NOT PLAY

A recent development coming out of the dissatisfied element of the Republican party of Chilton County, led by Mr. Howard L. Foshee, has revealed the hope of that crowd that they may be able to raise so much confusion in the party that it will be the means of bringing about the withdrawal of Judge Reynolds from the Probate race, and the substitution of some other candidate who is more acceptable to Mr. Foshee personally.

Such notions as these, which would set aside and disregard the legal and regular nomination of Judge Reynolds in the Republican primary could produce nothing but the disintegration of our party, if the advocates of such procedure are allowed to get control as they seek to do.

We would like to ask a few questions right in connection with this idea which they are trying to advance.

If Judge Reynolds should be taken out of the race, who is it that is more entitled and better fitted to have it than he? Is Mr. Harris or Mr. Bean more acceptable? If they are then why were they not nominated by the people instead of Judge Reynolds?

What is the basis of the claims of Mr. Foshee and his few dissatisfied followers for their assertions that Reynolds is not the legal and regular nominee of the Republican party for Probate Judge?

If we are not going to recognize and support the nominees of our party, what is the use of having primary elections?

How long would we have a party if we are to turn it over to a few who would arbitrarily set aside the verdict of the people when the people's choice failed to be in accord with their own personal ideas?

If we are to listen to such things as Mr. Foshee is trying to pump into us, we just as well abandon all our rights of choice within our own party and turn the job of selectnig our nominees over to our enemies, the Democrats. In fact the actions of Mr. Foshee right in connection with this very proposition smacks strongly of Democratic intrigue, and we are of the opinion that he is closely aligned with the ideas of leading Democrats who would have the Republican party to act a fool by doing the very things that Mr. Foshee wants us to do.

Republicans should not be deceived into following such leaders as Howad Foshee, whose only purpose, admittedly, is to set aside the nominees of our party jut because the nomination of Judge Reynolds is personaly objectionable to him. If we listen to such rot as that we will not have any party very long, and all the efforts that have been put forth in the past by those who have been loyal and zealous for the interests of the county through the proper function of the party will at once come to naught.

We just wonder if those who are listening to Mr. Foshee's foolish ravings and following him in his mad career, fully realize what a dangerous business they are engaging in. Such tactics if encouraged and pursued will soon bring our party against the rocks and dash us to pieces. Then when the wreck comes we can do nothing but lay the blame upon those who were so unwise as to lend him their aid and encouragement.

It is now time to stop and think, Republicans, before you go into these unwise plans of a mad and irresponsible fanate who would disregard your party and every interest of the people to appease his own personal wrath.

The Union-Banner would be nothing less than a raving fool to allow those who would seek to defeat the Republican candidates in this campaign to use our columns to poison the minds of the people with their own personal and individual grievances about sundry political matters that have no place in the campaign. And the fellow who will ask us to do such a thing is no less a fool than we would be should we publish these things.

THE TRAP WE ESCAPED

Washington, Sept. 26.—"The present emergency in the Near East ought to cause Americans to reflect what would have been the position of the United States now if the recommendations of former President Wilson that we become a member of the league of nations and accept a mandate over Armenia had been endorsed," declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "The prime purpose of the league covenant is to preserve the peace. Economic measures to that end are to be first resorted to, but if they fail military force is to be called upon. It is manifest that economic pressure would have no deterrent effect on the Turks in their campaign against the Greeks, and it is up to members of the league to call on their armies and navies if the Greek and Turk combats are to be separated. But the fact is that neither Great Britain nor France has any considerable number of troops at hand.

"It will be remembered that Gen. Harbord made a thorough investigation two years ago of the whole Armenian situation. He estimated at that time it would cost the United States $756,000,000 to accept a mandate over that country for five years, the cost for the first year being $275,000,000. He recommended a military force of two American division, or 59,000 men, to maintain order in the country. If the mandate had been accepted according to the Wilson program, the United States would be the only Christian nation on the ground with an effective force, although even that would be entirely inadequate to cope with the Turkish army estimated at 200,000.

"Being a member of the league, it would have become the immediate duty of the United States to threaten Turkey with attack if she did not cease her campaign against Greece, also a member. It would have required no action of the other members of the league to determine that course—the duty of each individual member being clearly indicated in Article X of the covenant. Armenia is too far removed from the scene of the present fighting to have made it possible for an American army to join with the Greeks in meeting the Turks, but it would have been feasible for our two divisions to have conducted a counter demonstration against Turkey along the American frontier, which would have had the prompt effect of calling a halt to hostilities in Asia Minor while the Turks met the new menace in the east.

"Then the United States would have found itelf launched in a war against Turkey. And not only Turkey but probably against Russia as well, for it is understood that the soviets are going to assist the Turks in the recapture of Constantinople. It is easy to conjecture the further possibilities. Bulgaria is likely to join with the Turks against the Greeks, and it is the confident prediction of men familiar with Near Eastern affairs that the conflict will reolve itself into a religious war, Bulgaria, Egypt, Palestine, Mesopotamia, and India arrayed against the Christian world. Where would the United States have been in that situation? The two lone divisions in Armenia would have been wiped out long before reinforcements could have reached them, and we would have been embarked on a long and dreary war, probably many times more costly in men and money than the World War.

"These are not fanciful imaginings. They are the present and probable future situations into which the national honor of the United States would have forced our country had it assumed the international responsibilities urged upon it by Mr. Wilson. Fortunately the Republicans of the Senate stood steadfastly against such entaglements, and every day brings further proof of their far-seeing wisdom."

UNIVERSITY OF ALA. CAMPAIGN STARTS

$1,000,000 NEEDED AT ONCE FOR NEW BUILDINGS ON CAMPUS.

ENROLLMENT GROWS RAPIDLY

Increase of 247 Per Cent in Ten Years Makes Expansion Necessary.

University, Ala., Oct. 2.—The gates of the University of Alabama must be kept open to every young man and woman in Alabama who desires a college education.

Admittance to the State University has already been denied to a large number of young women, because the applications this year far exceeded the number which could be accommodated in the women's dormitory. Soon the number of young men who can be given the opportunities of college education will have to be arbitrarily limited, because the State University with its capacity of 600 students and its present enrollment of nearly 1900 cannot possible receive many more.

The gates of the State University will soon be barred against a throng of young men and women unless relief is obtained. The Million Dollar Campaign of the University of Alabama is to supply that relief.

In all parts of the State, teams of alumni and non-alumni are now at work. With the urgent necessity of the University at their driving force, with $1,000,000 as their goal, they hope to obtain the entire amount within a short time.

The throng of students pressing toward the gates of the State University—many of whom cannot enter unless the campaign is a success—is not visionary or imaginary.

The rapid growth of the University has been chiefly due to the increasing number of high schools and high school graduates throughout the State. The University has grown most rapidly in the past ten years. The increase in the number of high school graduates has also been most rapid in the past ten years.

Before 1909 when the State Legislature provided appropriations for establishment of county high schools, there were scarcely any standard four-year high schools in Alabama outside of the larger cities. That appropriation caused the establishment of many new high schools.

In 1915 a still more powerful impetus to education in Alabama was given by the authorization of the 3-mill tax for school purposes. Since then the growth in the number of high schools and common schools has been more rapid than ever before in the history of Alabama.

Last year there were 4300 graduates of high schools in Alabama, an increase of 15 per cent over the number graduated the year before. This year the number of graduates is expected to exceed 5000 boys and girls.

The State University is already filled far beyond its normal capacity. Where will these high school graduates obtain a college education if the gates of the University are barred against them? Many cannot afford a college education unless they attend a State institution. In many fields of instruction, the University of Alabama is the only State institution offering them the opportunity to study and prepare themselves for life. It has no competition from any State institution in many branches of its work.

Before this educational awakening in Alabama, the State University was small and grew very slowly. In 1902 it had only 235 students. In the ten years following, its enrollment showed an increase of only 145 students, to a total enrollment of 380 at the end of the session of 1911.

The next year the present period of rapid growth was started. In 1912 the enrollment was 543, a greater increase in the number of students in one year than had been shown in all of the ten years before. The enrollment has climbed steadily and rapidly since then to 833 in 1917, to 1108 in 1918, to 1211 in 1919, to 1480 in 1920, to 1633 in 1921, and this year the total is already 1887.

In the past ten years the enrollment has increased 247 per cent. In the past twenty years the enrollment has increased more than 800 per cent. For the past five years the increase in the number of students each year has been greater than the total enrollment was twenty years ago.

Logically, there should have been a large increase in the number of buildings and other physical facilities of the University during the past ten years to keep pace with the tremendous growth in enrollment. Such has not been the case. It is this fact which has made the success of the Million Dollar Campaign an imperative necessity.

The only State appropriations for new buildings at the University in the past ten years have been $85,000 to pay part of the cost of erecting a new men's gymnasium and the women's dormitory, and $115,000 for the new medical building. The latter building was necessary for a newly created need at the University, and it aided not at all in giving relief from the dangerously congested conditions. The University today needs additional classroom space for 1300 students and additional dormitory space for 700 students.

The gates of the State University are closing. They must be kept open for the sake of Alabama's young men and women! One Million Dollars must be given to keep the gates open.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

In our last letter we mentioned the State highway around Chautauqua Lake. A few days later it was our privilege, as guest of Mrs. Ploss, to take an auto ride over the entire circuit, a distance of about 50 miles, including a short side trip at Jamestown to see some of its great furniture factories and many of the fine homes on the hillsides. We heard a good story of a wealthy Jamestown man who built a very fine house and must needs go to New York for to elect the furniture for it. He got what he wanted, and after it was placed in his house some friend showed him that most of it had been made in Jamestown.

The highway is constructed of concrete and is smooth as a cement walk. The ever changing scenery as we glide along makes a memorable picture, as an example of what is probably coming to Chilton County and many other places along the new highways planned for Alabama. We found the thrifty farmers dispose of much that they produce for sale by setting it out in attractive diplay at the roadside, and we patronized; had comb honey, red raspberries, raosting ears, apples, both cooking and eating, and withal a neat, attractive and businesslike young woman to serve patrons, mostly tourists. At another place we found in front of a farm house a very substantial booth for the sale of maple sugar and syrup also home made candies, in charge of the farm wife, and it was very evident that her goodies have obtained a wide reputation as in the few moments we stopped we counted seven customers which she was serving as fast as possible, and all cash business. Summer resorts, boarding houses and attractive summer homes line the lake shore, so that in season there is plenty of amusement and recreation for visitors. The man who owned and drove our car told us that he had made nearly 300 such trips the past summer, and he certainly was a "good scout" as he took pains to call attention to all places of beauty or interest along the way. We shall long remember this trip as a fitting close to our delightful Chautauqua visit.

Having gathered and packed our belongings on a bright September morning we boarded a trolley car for the first stage of a 400 mile trip to Brooklyn, Michigan. The trolley took us to Westfield, a station on the New York Central R. R. in the heart of the great grape growing section along the shore of Lake Erie. As we approached the station at Westfield we saw a sign on a large building reading "Welch Grape Juice Factory," and thought at once we might get some material here for our next letter, since many people, even the noted W. J. Bryan, are interested in grape juice. While waiting at the station for our train, we met a Mr. E. P. Harrison, whom we found was in some way connected with the office of the Welch plant. Being an intelligent young man, not averse to talk, we proceeded to "pump" him for information which we knew would be of interest to our readers. We soon had the base for description of a large and growing industry.

In 1869 the father of the Mr. Welch who is now president of the Welch Company, had twelve bottles of grape juice (unfermented) to be used at communion services in the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Vineland N. J., where he then resided. This proved so satisfactory to himself and others of their church members that he conceived the idea of making and bottling unfermented grape juice for sacremental purposes commercially. Naturally, a concientious man would seek only the best material obtainable for this purpose, and in 1889, being unable to secure in the Vineland section enough grape of the quality desired to meet the needs of his rapidly growing business, he moved to Westfield, N. Y., where, in the midst of the great Chautauqua-Erie grape belt, he could supply his needs. Every product of the soil grows in abundance and perfection under conditions where nature's laboratories are best equipped for their particular needs, and here on the low lying sandy plains about three miles wide between Lake Erie and a ridge of sand hills at the back which protect it from chilling winds and early frosts, and stretching for sixty miles along the northerlp border of Chautauqua County, New York and Erie County, Pa., that most delicious of all grapes, the Concord, grows and ripens to per-Catharines, Ontariohere,nUw bg gbg fection under autumn skies. At St. Cahterines, Ontario, just across Lake Erie and at Lawton in the great Michigan fruit belt, there are other smaller sections of the same general character, and at these place and at North East in this section, there are other Welch Grape Juice factories. If we correctly understood Mr. Harrison there are 36,000 acres of Concord grape vineyards in this section alone, which with the other mentioned, produce annually about 180,000 tons of grapes, of which about 60,000 tons are used for grape juice, the balance being marketed while in baskets.

When Mr. Welch entered this field the growers were getting $10.00 per ton, since then the average price has risen to $45, and last season, owing to a combination of circumstances, rose to the almost prohibitive price of $131.00 per ton, or upwards of 6c per pound to the grower.

We obtained from Mr. Harrison a very clear idea how process employed in making and preparing grape juice for market, which we feel sure will be of interest to our readers.

In the first place, only the best grade of Concord grapes, grown under favorable conditions, are considered suitable for this purpose, as quality in the product is of first importance. Crates holding 25 pounds each of the grapes in bunches are used in the vineyard. The bunches are carefully cut from the vines and laid, not thrown, in the crates, which are then hauled to the factory in trucks or spring wagons having a cover to protect the fruit from sun, rain or dust. On arrival at the factory they are washed by spraying with water at the rate of 35 tons per hour. This is done by built conveyers, and in no case are the grapes handled by any person. From the sprayer they are conveyed to picking machines which take the grapes carefully from the stems, which are passed on out and burned, while the grapes roll down tubes to kettles and subjected to heat which cracks the skin and releases the red coloring matter and rich aroma lying between the skin and pulp. All metal used in handling the grapes or juice is aluminum. From the kettles the mass is conveyed to the great hydraulic presses, where, in suitable quantities, it is run into strong cylinders made of slate set upright with clothnquas tttoufofi bgwk bgk g bgk small spaces between. Heavy cotton cloth is first put in the cylinder, and when sufficient pulp has been run in the cloth is folded over the top of the mass externally as cheese is prepared for the press. The plunger of the press is gently lowered and sufficient pressure applied to extract every drop of juice, but so uniform is the pressure that not a seed is broken. From the presses the juice is run into pasteurizing kettles and then into five-gallon glas bottles called carboys, sealed and left for months to settle and separate the gritty acid crystale called argols; which is in reality cream of tartar, the base of all good baking powder. After this the juice is syphoned from the carboys, a process which does not disturb the precipitated sediments at the bottom. It is then bottled in one or another of the various sizes of commercial packages, pasteurized once more, labeled and packed for shipment. These bottles contain nothing but the pure juice of the best Concord grapes, pasteurized to prevent fermentation, and comes to the purchaser in all its richness and flavor so well known all over the world.

Nature perfected the juice of the grapes within the globule by sunny days and cool nights of this favored section. Of this we had good evidence, as after leaving the station at Westfield we passed hundreds of acres of well kept vineyards heavily loaded with great bunches of the purple fruit in which the harvest was just beginning.

On the way to our destination we passed through Erie, Pa., which has grown within our memory from a town of a few thousand people to be an exceedingly busy port on Lake Erie and also a manufacturing city of national reputation.

The next place of importance was the city of Cleveland, Ohio. We noted from our car window many great factories and other things of passing interest, but as we were not stopping there we could not secure information of value to our readers. At Toledo, Ohio, we had hoped to stop a day or two to visit some old friends but the use of the telephone at the station informed us that they were out of town. After two hours waiting at the statin we boarded a train on the Jackson branch of the New York Central for Napoleon, Michigan, where we were met by a sister of the writer, whom he had not seen for nearly thirty years, and conveyed to her home at Brooklyn, Michigan, where we are invited to make a good long visit and shall probably stay for the next two weeks, after October 1st. This sister is a widow named Mrs. A. W. Dunn, in whose care mail to us may be addressed.

OUR CORRESPONDENTS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

Some of those who send in news from the rural communities of the county have gotten rather careless as to when and in what form they send in their news each week. So we wish here to make a few suggestions to you, which, if you will govern yourselves by, you will save us much time and trouble and at the same time give your community a better representation in our columns.

First.—Write the name of your community at the top of the first sheet, followed by your own name. (Please don't forget to write your own name there.)

Second.—Write news that will be of interest to the whole county, and not merely something that will interest only one or two individuals.

Third.—Write your words plainly and distinctly, especially proper names, and WRITE ON ONLY ONE SIDE OF PAPER.

Fourth.—Send your copy in so that it will reach our office NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY AT NOON.

Now, let us explain that we do not wish to discourage the efforts of any of our correspondents, but we feel sure that if you will co-operate with us in carrying out these few simple rules that we will be able to give you a better neater and more interesting paper every week. We appreciate very deeply the interest that our people take in sending in the the news of their communities, and our intention is always to make the Banner a better, cleaner paper for you to read.

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked. In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superor to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one can hardly realize that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities became better known. It is the standard and main reliance for these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

Miss Jewell Abbott has just returned home from a few days visit with her aunt, Mrs. Hattie Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Abbott and daughter, Ruth, Miss Grace Abbott, and Miss Gladys Williams made a pleasure trip to Salem Church last Sunday night as the protracted meeting started Sunday. They report a good time of course.

Most of the people around here have been busy picking cotton for the last two or three weeks.

Well, our school will start Monday I guess. Of course, we all hope it a success.

Miss Eunice Jones was the guest of Miss Lillian Abbott last Sunday.

Miss Ruth Abbott was the guest of Misses Rosa, Lila, Gertie and Reebie Cherry Thursday, attending the meeting.

Mr. Walter Cherry seems to be having a grand success with his new mill, but that is what we all wish him, of course.

Mr. Lewis and Dave Chandler is visiting home folks now.

Mrs. Georgia Jones and daughter, Eunice, went to Maplesville Friday to have some dental work done.

The Missionary Baptist Association will be on Wednesday and Thursday, after the second Sunday in October, at Pilgrims Rest Church, two miles south of Pletcher. Everybody come that can and bring a basket but not an empty one.

Sunday was our regular preaching day and Rev. Moore's last service with us. We all hated to see him leave us. He has served faithfully for a year. There was a large crowd at preaching.

Hey, there, you white people, lets come out every Sunday to Sunday School and make it one of God's schools.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Bob Lockhart has been on the sick list, but is improving now.

Miss Gladys Williams, Miss Ruth Abbott and Miss Willie Poole were the guests of Misses Gracie and Jewel Abbott Sunday.

Mr. Elbert Cherry, Mr. Erby Traywick and Mr. Elmer Kendrick were out walking around Sunday evening. They sure looked sporty too.

HOSPITAL PAYING TWELVE PER CENT DIVIDEND

This week the stockholders of the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton, will receive dividends on their stock to the amount of twelve per cent per annum covering a six months period.

Everybody perhaps will readily agree that this is a good record of financial achievement for this institution, which a year ago was untried and looked upon by many as a risky proposition financially. Those who put their money in the hospital will no doubt be amply satisfied with a twelve per cent dividend for the first six months of operation.

The success of the hospital has been thorough and complete in every way. The future is brighter than it has looked at any time. There is no risk to run now. The man who has money invested in the hospital can be sure of a good return on his investment.

BETHANY NEWS

Well, here I am again after some few weeks absence. Upon believing that you all have just about forgotten this old place I am determined to tell you everything that I know which I think will interest you.

Health is very good at present.

We are glad indeed to state that Mrs. Ressie Chandler is rapidly recovering from her recent trouble with side plurisy.

Messrs I. D. Huett and W. B. Williams made a business trip to the Mitchell Dam Saturday.

We notice with much pleasure that the cotton production of this vicinity is reasonably good this time. Of course Mr. Boll Weevil got his share, but we are compelled to allow for that.

We congratulate Mr. C. W. Gray because of his new wagon which he recently set himself up to.

Mrs. J. W. Cagle spent Friday night with Mrs. C. B. Huett.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gray of Coopers visited relatives in this community last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Willie Williams and Miss Cloie Deloach motored down to Bethsalem Sunday afternoon.

Mr. C. B. Huett made a business trip to Clanton Thursday of last week.

The Enterprise school opened up last Monday morning with a reasonably good attendance. However, we hope for better attendance when the people finish up their work more thoroughly.

We have as our principal Prof. G. C. Weldon. He was principal last year and it is the wishes of most of us pupils that he will teach here again next Winter.

As for our first assistant we are trying a new man, Mr. Curtis Hann, of Deatsville. He seems to be a very nice young man. We can tell by the intellegent look which he carries in his eyes that he is a straight forward business man.

All eyes were turned to Miss Florence Farmer as our sceond assistant. She taught here last winter and was elected for this term at the end of last term.

With this matchless teaching faculty we cannot hope for anything but a successful term of school.

Quite a crowd of people from this comunity attended the singing down at Bethsalem last Sunday afternoon. We all had a nice time as usual.

Well, as news is growing scarce, I will leave you for this time to return again next week.

ALABAMA SEAPORT DOPE

Birmnigham, Oct. 2—Muscle Shoals will develop more electric power and make fertilizers cheaper than any other place in thte United States. Alabama producer can ship their products to coastwise and foreign markets through their own seaport in less time and at less expense than through any other port.

The development of these two projects, one by the Federal Government and the other by the State of Alabama, seem now to be certainties. At least the voters of Alabama, judging from reports received at State headquarters of the Alabama Seaport Committee, believe so and have made up their minds to put over both projects if it is in their power to do so.

They are linking the two propositions, one as a great producer of wealth and the other as a superior channel of commerce, through which their own products can flow to the markets of the world.

In the last few days a large number of prominent men and women have voluntered their services in the campaign for the adoption of the Seaport Amendment, and speaking dates are beni grraanedg,haveot b dates are being arranged for them.

Both the Democratic and Republican State Conventions have endorsed the Amendment, and so have Judge Brandon, the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, Alabama Federation of Labor, Alabama Bankers' Association, American Legion, Travelers Associations, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and other women's organizations; Chambers of Commerce and many other civic organizations throughout the State.

Facts About Child-Birth

AN eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months, right up to the moment when the Little One arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 107 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without 'Mother's Friend' during expectancy if she only knew the value of comfort."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as month follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-17, Atlanta, Ga., for a free wonderful book containing information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

Dept. of Archives and History, Thos. M. Owen, Director.

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY REPUBLICAN PARTY LAST SATURDAY

In response to the call of Chairman W. G. Culp, the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County met at the Court House at ten o'clock last Saturday morning. In connection with the meeting of the Executive Committee the Republican Campaign Committee also met for the consideration of matters concerning the success of the present Republican campaign in Chilton County. There were about 150 representative citizens from every beat in the county in attendance at the meeting. Reports were heard from every beat. The prospect for success of the ticket as seen through these reports looks good. Everything indicated that the citizenship of the county maintains confidence in the ability of the candidates of the Republican party for the county offices, and that on the 7th of November the result of the election will be a safe majority for all Republican candidates.

A brief statement of the principles of the Republican party in Chilton county was adopted by the meeting of the two committees and signed by those present. This platform seeks to put before the people of the county the exact position of the Republican candidates on many of the important questions that confront us now. It has ever been the policy of the Republican party of Chiltn county to let the people know where the candidates of the party stand on important matters, and this is no exception now. The Republican candidates do not want anybody to vote for them blindfolded. Hence this statement publicly of the attitude of the party and its nominees.

The following is the platform as adopted by the meeting and signed by members of the committees and citizens generally, for publication in The Union-Banner:

Platform.

1. Thoroughly believing in the honesty and competence of the Republican Nominees, and believing that the Republican Party in Chilton County is a party of the common people, and fully believing that the common people's interest will be best protected by electing every Republican nominee, we endorse the Republican Ticket as a whole.

2. We are opposed to the dipping curse that has been thrust upon the people of Chilton County and we condemn the Democratic Party for the passage of this law. We lay the blame for the recent attempt to force Chilton county to re-commence dipping of cattle, to the Democratic Party. We point with pride to the manner in which Judge Reynolds and our County Commissioners have recently kept our people from this dipping menace.

3. The Republican Party re-affirms its traditional policy of opposition to extravagance and uselessly putting our County in debt; we stand for reduction of taxes, operation of the County on a cash basis and thereby preventing script dealers from speculating on our County Warrants, and by economical management of the county's affairs to get the County out of debt.

4. We believe in exerting our vigorous efforts in the betterment of the schools of our County and to this end we believe that every dollar of taxes which are paid by the people for school taxes should be spent directly to the education of our children, giving the rural schools an equal chance with the city and town schools.

5. We believe all officers should be elected by the people, including the county superintendent of Education and the county treasurer.

6. We are opposed to the present method of outrageously raisiing taxes and we believe the office of tax adjuster should be abolished.

7. As white citizens, we resent the political insinuations of the Democratic politicians against the Republicans on the negro question. The Republican Party believes in the supericrity and supremacy of the white race. The motive for the Democratic schemes being only an attempt to mislead the voter and because of a lack of sound principles and merits in the Democratic Party.

8. We endorse the National Administration of the Republican Party, and we commend them for extending credit to the Southern farmers, through the Federal Reserve Bank, which has enabled the Southern farmers to get better prices for their farm products, and has enabled him to get 20c for his cotton, as compared with 9c when Mr. Wilson was President. This help was repeatedly refused by the last Democratic Administration.

9. We warn the Republican voters not to be deceived by the Democratic Party and their usual campaign methods. We call upon you to remember what happened twelve years ago when some of you were deceived by voting the Democratic Ticket when you did not know what the Democratic party stood for. Their only hopes now are to get the assistance of some Republicans to elect their ticket. Will you to-day vote again for a Democrat without knowing where they stand on any public question?

10. We stand for the improvement of the rural roads and we believe that the Republican Ticket, if elected, with the improved financial condition of the county, will improve the rural roads of the county.

The above platform was adopted and endorsed by the meeting and was signed for publication by the following members of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton county.

Republicans Will Win In Spite of Opposition

The Republican party of Chilton County was re-baptized in the faith of the fathers at the meeting of the Executive and Campaign Committees at the Court House last Saturday. The reports that were rendered from every beat in Chilton County show that the Republican party remains intact as ever, in spite of the efforts of some enemies within our own ranks who are seeking to tear down and destroy that which has been the bulwark of our citizenship in years past.

The few irreconciliables who are mad and disappointed because the Republican party of Chilton County has not been given to them to do as they please with, together with our eternal enemies, the Democrats, have sent up a great cry over the land about the awful "split" in the Republican party, and this and that and the other. We looked very close and listened very attentively throughout the whole procedure last Saturday, and we could see no signs of a "split" anywhere.

The only "split" we know anything about is that which Mr. Howard Foshee and a few of his sore sympathizers have staged. But that will not amount to as much as a ripple on the surface of the smooth and comfortable Republican majority on Nov. 7th. There have been many such "splits" in the party in years past, but they have not amounted to anything serious. The party needs to be cleaned out every once and a while, and it is never a drawback to be freed from the burden of dead limbs.

Yes, they have told us great stories about how many of the faithful old Republicans of days past were going to kick out of the harness and not support the ticket this time. Those tales were made to sound mighty thin when in the meeting last Saturday such fellows as Uncle Tom Hubbard, W. Y. Nix, Z. J. Jones, John S. Dennis, Stealey Jones, T. L. Robinson, Dock Gentry, and many others we might mention got up and declared that themselves and the people in their beats were solid for the election of the Republican ticket on Nov. 7th. We were made to wonder where has all this talk about a Republican "split" been coming from, and where does it claim any foundation?

Howard Foshee was in the house when the meeting started, but those loyal Republicans made the test of fellowship so strong for him that he was compelled to seek cooler climates. There was only one man out of the 150 who went with him. This was Mr. John Littlejohn.

That meeting Saturday showed about the true proportion in which Republicans will follow the dictation of Mr. Foshee in November election. There will be about one in every 150 who will "split" off with him.

DO YOU WANT YOUR MONEY TO MAKE A PROFIT FOR YOU?

If you want any more stock in The Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton, you will have to act at once. It has been decided by the Board of Directors to let out additional shares up to the amount authorized in the incorporation papers of the institution. And it will go fast; it is already going fast.

At a meeting Tuesday night which was attended by only seven stockholders, these seven bought a total of three thousand dollars stock in addition to that which they bought at the organization of the hospital.

Those who already have stock will be given the first opportunity to buy the additional stock. It is felt by the officials that those who had the confidence at first to back the proposition with their money should have the refusal of the additional stock.

Only this week there were mailed out to the old stock holders their dividend checks for the first six months of operation of the hospital. This dividend was declared at the rate of twelve per cent per annum.

Any man who has any extra money will no doubt be glad to put it in such a progressive enterprise as our hospital that will render him a return of twelve per cent.

If you want any more of this stock, you must act now. The very minute it is offered to new stockholders outside of the old ones already enlisted, it will be absorbed instantly by some parties who are anxious to put their money to work for those splendid dividends that are daily accuring.

TO MY FRIENDS

I wish to say to all of my friends over Chilton County that I am a contestant for the Premocar to be given away by Mr. G. C. Armstrong, and that I shall greatly appreciate your votes in this contest. If I don't see you to sell you a trades ticket, go to Mr. Armstrong's to buy your goods and give your vote to me. No one will appreciate your help more than I.

MRS. JEAN WYATT.

SUPPER AT OAK GROVE NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT

Mr. W. A. Glass requests us to announce through The Union-Banner that the Women's Missionary Union of Oak Grove will have a supper there next Saturday night for the benefit of the new Baptist Church which is being built. Everybody is invited to attend. All help that may be given on the church will be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. M. J. McDonald of Mt. Creek was a visitor to Clanton Monday attending Circuit Court.

MULBERRY DOINGS

As the writer has quit seeing any news from Mulberry we are wondering where Mr. G. H. DeShazo has disappeared. We are sorry he is gone some where. So hurry back. We are calling you.

We are sure needing rain in this community and a good rain would do the dust a job.

Our school opened Monday with a good roll. We have five teachers this time. Mr. Griffen is our same Principal. He is from Marbury; Mrs. Jessie Harmon, from Montgomery; Miss Eva Jones, from Highland; Miss Dennis, from Deatsville; Miss Stanley, from Elmore, is the assistant. We hope our school will be numbered as one among the best and the new teachers will say they are glad they came.

Mrs. D. O. Manning was called to the bedside of her grand-daughter, Floretta Edwards, of West End, Birmingham, last Tuesday, who had pneumonia. She reutrned Sunday and says she left Floretta some better.

Mr. Will Wright has bought him a Ford.

Miss Nola D. Reynolds, of Plantersville, one of our last years assistant teachers passed through here last week going to attend the teachers institute at Clanton.

Miss Vera White left last Sunday to take up her school as assistant teacher at Lakeview. We wish her all kinds of good luck.

Mr. Edwards went up to Birmingham last week to see his little grandchild, Floretta Edwards, who has pneumonia.

Mr. T. L. Lecroy went out to Clanton Monday to buy school books for the children.

Mr. D. O. Manning went to Plantersville Tuesday to see about his new saw mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex LeCroy of Coosa and their two sons, Curtis and Arthur, have been visiting in this community this week loking for homes to buy.

If this don't find its way to the waste basket will come again, if Mr. DeShazo don't come back again. So hurry up Guy.

ALL DAY SINGING AT LIBERTY HILL

There will be an all day singing at this place the fifth Sunday in this month.

Everybody come and bring your 1922 New Joy and Praise song books. If you can't sing and enjoy good singing just come and be with us.

The Ganus class from Birmingham are expected to be here.

We are expecting one of the best singings ever held in Chilton county. So don't forget to come and bring a well filled basket.

Hon. F. Loyd Tate of Wetumpka was a court visitor here the first of this week. Judge Tate has many good friends here who were glad to shake his hand once more. There is an interesting article in this week's paper clipped from the Weekly Herald of Wetumpka, concerning Judge Tate's law partnership, that will prove of much interest to his friends in this county.

THE SOUTH IS EMBRACING PROTECTION

Washington, Oct. 9.—"Probably no other transformation in American industry promises more for the future prosperity of the nation than the rapid drift of the Southern states from an almost purey agricultural basis to one of well-balanced agriculture and manufacturing," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "It has been well said that the willingness of the South to remain a farming section was its greatest curse. Slowly but steadily the South learned of its possibilities along the line of manufacturing, and in recent years production of manufactured goods has increased at a rapid pace.

"It is noteworthy that during consideration of the tariff bill in the recent session of Congress, numerous Southern organizations endorsed protective rates. This is a comparatively new attitude for a Southern organization to take. Nevertheless, it is apparent that Southern statesmanship has not kept step with Southern business acumen, for Southern Members of both Houses of Congress were almost unanimous in voting against the protective tariff bill on its final passage. Southern politicians, like many Southern journalists, stubbornly adhere to outgrown economic theories. Their eyes are upon the past rather than upon the future.

"In many respects the Suth is peculiarly endowed with resources which promise a marvelous development in manufacturing. The South has coal; it has almost every form of raw material; it has abundant unused water power; it has facilities for both domestic and transoceanic shipping. These, among other advantages, have resulted in a great growth of textile manufacturing until today one-half of the cotton goods manufactured in the United States are produced in the South.

"In years gone by Southerners have been content to produce a few food products and cotton which they often sold at ruinous prices, while they bought their manufactued goods from the North or from foreign countries. That policy kept the South impoverished. The want of factories limited the market for the products of the farm. With the establishment and extension of manufacturing industries and the consequent building up of a larger town population, there will be a nearer, a more constant, a more dependable and a more profitable market for the products of agriculture.

"These are facts which no thoughtful Southern business man will question. Yet his representatives in Congress oppose the protective tariff which helps to build up American manufactories and propose in case the Congress shall once more become Democratic, to repeal the protective tariff recently enacted. This should be kept in mind by every Southerner when he goes to the polls in November. The voter who wishes the South to be self-reliant in industry and who wishes to keep in his own section of the country money heretofore sent outside to purchase manufactured goods, should take care to mark his ballot for a candidate who is expressly and unqualifiedly pledged to the support of a tariff policy which will insure the stability of those factories already established in the South and constantly add to their number."

For we know that our Bank IS a good bank. Our pleased customers say so. Our growing business proves it. Mose Thomas Appeals to Republican Voters

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the voters of the County. I did not take an active part in the Primary for I knew the voters were competent to select our nominees and was willing to abide by the decision of the people, but now as our nominees are selected it is up to us to vote and work for them all we can, for no one should be so selfish and narrow-minded that he is not willing to abide by the decision of a primary, for surely several minds is stronger than one.

In this campaign we must realize that "United we stand, divided we fall" and great will be the fall if we have to fall from the prosperous Republican Administration which we are now having and when we are getting spot cash for the work that we do for the County and the material we sell it, to a Democratic Administration and only get a little over half of the amount our Warrant calls for and give the rest of our hard earned money to some script buyer who is hanging around the Courthouse waiting to scoop up the tax money that we farmers have to work so hard for to pay. Voters, do you think it right for us to drive to Court and stay all day and get a warrant for $1.50 and sell it to some script dealer for 90c. Remember that this 90c is all we got for our day, and then give him 60c profit for taking our Warrant and rushing to the Treasurer the first time our Tax is paid and getting a full $1.50 of the money that we have paid? You know it is not right. You know that you do not want conditions like that, but we had them during the last Democratic Administration and we will have them again if we have another Democratic Administration. You know if an individual were to make you a promise and do exactly opposite that you would not trust him again, and I am sure you know of the wonderful promises the Democratic Party made you twelve years ago, and what did they do? Put your County over $200,000.00 in debt which we will have to be taxed for it to be paid, and which we now have to pay about $10,000 per year taxes to pay this interest, then why should we listen to their traitorous arguments again?

The Democrats pretend they are making their fight on Judge Reynolds, whom we have selected as our nominee for Probate Judge. Why should they fight him more than the rest of our Ticket? They are doing this because they know if they can control the Probate Office they will control the finances of the County and that is what they are after. They are fighting our entire ticket and doing all they can aginst it.

There have always been a few narrow minded people that were so dictorial and Kaiseristic that if they could not have their way absolutely they would go to the Democratic Party, but neither Party has any confidence in him and therefore he has no influence or followers.

Mr. Howard L. Foshee is a teacher and I am sure remembers that Benedict Arnold betrayed this great country of ours and went to the British Army because of some petty grievance, and I am sure he knows how he died unloved and unrespected by even the British whom he had betrayed his country for and when the election is over Mr. Foshee will stand in the eyes of the people of Chilton County just as Arnold did with the American people.

Voters, don't let the Democrats deceive you. We have tried them and know what they are. I am a member of the campaign committee in Beat 16 and am proud to say that my Beat is going solid Republican in the next election as it has been in the past, and I hope that every other Beat Committeeman will do all he can to make his Beat a Republican Beat.

One thing is sure, either a Democrat or a Republican will be elected. Will you vote for a Democrat and have our County under debt and have us slaves to taxes, or will you vote a Republican Ticket and let us pay our debts and get spot cash and full value for our work? You don't want a debt on your home and it is more important that we have our County free from debt, the way to do this is to vote a Republican ticket.

Respectfully,
MOSE THOMAS.

LIBRARY WEEK AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Next week is Library Week at the High School. Beginning next Monday the students of the High School will begin one of the most intensive campaigns ever attempted at this institution. Each student has pledged himself to raise one dollar for the purchase of additional books for the library. The enrollment is now nearing 200 and this campaign, if successful, should add about 200 of the best books that can be obtained to the splendid collection in the library at present. The books will be selected from the list selected annually by the Department of Education for use in county high schools, thus assuring students of the most wholesome and profitable books that can be secured.

Each studnt will raise his dollar in any way he can. If he or she approaches you and asks you for a few cents you cannot afford to turn down this opportunity to add such a splendid selection of books to the library at the cost of not much more than one soft drink to you. All students are highly enthused over this undertaking. It will last just one week. The books will then be ordered promptly and should be in the library for use in two or three weeks.

This undertaking, if a success, will comply with one more requirements for accreditment in the Southern Association of Colleges. Help the boys and girls in this laudable undertaking, and place in reach of the students of the high school the best collection of good books that can be obtained.

We take this opportunity of inviting all people of the community to use the library of the school at your convenience. The librarian in charge will be glad to issue any book to you for a short period of time.

S. E. ALVERSON,
Principal.

Stands Upon Its Own Merits; Facts That Should Be Known

Questions asked by the men and women who honestly desire further information on the Alabama Seaport Amendment are welcomed by true advocates of State Ownership and Control of the Gateway to Alabama's commerce.

All of these questions can be answered to the satisfaction of reasonable inquirers without deviating from proven facts.

The inquirers most frequently heard and the answers thereto are:

Q.—Will port improvements under the amendment cost the taxpayers of Alabama anything?

Ans.—No.

Q.—How will the principal and interest on seaport development securities be met?

Ans.—By charges made for wharfage, storage of freight and for the use of the terminal facilities.

Q.—How do you know these charges will produce sufficient money for the purpose?

Ans.—By the income from the volume of commerce passing over the present wharves and terminals and by the experience of state-owned and controlled seaports such as New Orleans, San Francisco, Boston, Portland, Oregon, Houston, Charleston and others.

Q.—Will the present volume of port commerce be maintained?

Ans.—Yes. It is the experience of seaports that additional facilities increase the volume of a port's business.

Q.—How will handling and storage charges at port terminal be fixed?

Ans.—The state, having control of the seaport, will fix the charges over its own and other terminals, thereby guaranteeing that such charges will always be sufficient to meet the cost of maintenance, interest and sinking fund for retirement of seaport securities.

Q.—Who will decide when and where seaport improvements shall be made?

Ans.—The legislature, assisted by state-employed port engineers and the State Harbor Commission.

Q.—How will water front property be acquired?

Ans.—From the City of Mobile, or, islands owned by the state or from private owners, under condemnation proceedings, if necessary.

The Seaport Amendment will be No. 1 on the official ballots used at the November election.

Call at or write to Alabama Seaport Committee, State Headquarters, Mezzanine Floor, Jefferson County Bank Building, Birmingham, or Seaport Committee, care Chamber of Commerce, Mobile, Ala., for information desired on the Seaport Amendment.

"Yes....." "No.....". The choice of the elector shall be indicated by a cross mark made by him or under his direction, opposite the word expressing his desire.

Section 4. Costs a Little More

Gilster's Best is not a cheap flour. It is a quality product, made for those who know and appreciate finer flour. It costs more to manufacture, and sells for a few cents more than cheaper flours.

But the delicious flavor, the dependability of your baking, and the fact that Gilster's Best requires less lard—more than make up for the slight difference in cost.

If you prefer a self-rising flour—Gilster's Featherlite or Gilster's Mother's Joy.

That was some awful split when Howard Foshee and John Littlejohn got up and left the Republican meeting at the Court house last Saturday. We did not see anybody who looked like they were very sorry to see them leave.

Republicans of Chilton County, do you think you can afford to let Howard Foshee and the Democrats keep you fussing about something that never happened at the Alabama State Republican Convention, while they deliver you into the hands of another reckless and extravagant and wasteful and burdensome Democratic administration of Chilton County's business affairs? Think of the last dose of Chilton County Democracy which you had, and see if you think we need another one.

If Kelley Gentry and his friends in Montgomery county are so eternally bent on having a white Republican party, why did they go into a county convention that was called by and presided over by a negro chairman? If they wanted to get rid of the negro organization, they ought to have had sense enough to have stayed out of the negro convention, and never have recognized the negro as their county chairman. They need not get mad because the white Republican State Convention, in getting rid of the negroes of Montgomery county, also kicked him and all the other white men who were mixed up in that negro business.

Somebody is now circulating another false report that Judge Reynolds told Howard Foshee and John Littlejohn to leave the Republican meeting last Saturday. Those who are circulating this story seem to want to know what authority Judge Reynolds had to ask anybody to leave the meeting. We wish to say that Judge Reynolds did not do this as is reported. He had nothing to do with it whatever. Those two men left the meeting because they realized that they stood alone in their attitude of trying to defeat the Republican ticket. They realized that they were out of fellowship with the Republican party of Chilton county. They ought to have left; they did the right thing by leaving. They ought to have had better sense than to have gone in there in the first place.

JUST IN TIME

Imports totaled $178,000,000 in July, 1921, and $271,000,000 in August, 1922. During September these figures were swelled greatly as importers raced to beat the Republican tariff law. That law takes effect at a most oppropriate time as a business boom was just around the corner waiting to grab it by the hand. Imports for the first eight months of 1921 totaled $1,693,000,000, compared with $1,943,000,000 for the first eight months of the current year, notwithstanding the fact that the Emergency tariff law was in operation.

NOT SO FRIENDLESS

The Democratic N. Y. World heads an editorial with the words, "A Friendless Congress." We notice, however, that nearly all the Republican members who have sought renomination in this year's primaries have received the endorement of their party constituents. Not so friendless, after all.

THE FLEXIBILITY CLAUSE

The people of the country will do well to keep in mind one fact concerning the tariff law that has been pointed out by Chairman John T. Adams, of the Republican National Committee. The bill provides a means of adjusting tariff rates to changing conditions during the period of adjustment following the trade derangements brought about by the war. On this subject Mr. Adams has well said:

"During the discussion of this tariff a new argument has been advanced to the effect that world conditions are so unstable it is impossible to frame a tariff that would meet these changing conditions. This objection has been met by the clause in the McCumber-Fordney act giving the President power to change, within certain limits, the rates so that the tariff while permanent, is also very flexible. This clause upon one hand will protect the American producer against competition that may develop from unexpected depreciation in foreign values. On the other hand, it will protect the consumer against any attempt upon the part of any class of producers to abuse the protection by attempting to raise prices beyond a legitimate level."

The above statement fully answers the criticisms of those, nearly all Democrats, who set up after-war conditions as a reason for longer deferring tariff legislation. The law was not enacted until nearly three years after the war ended. It was not enacted until imports of foreign commodities had begun to grow at an alarming rate, and exports decreased, cutting our favorable balance of trade to such an extent as to present real cause for concern.

The Republican platform of 1920 recognized the unusual conditions existing, and pledged the party against hasty action. There was no haste The Republican Congress not only acted with the greatest deliberation but went further and made provision for adjustment of rates, within liberal limits, if changing conditions show that changes are needed.

Not from any viewpoint is the Republican tariff open to sound criticism.

HIS REAL ROLE

Former Justice Clarke of the Supreme Court anounced that he was resigning in order to devote himself to work for the league of nations, but in his first speech since his resignation he never mentioned the league but urged members of the tar to join in defense of the United States Supreme Court against what he termed "the present period of criticism." If Judge Clarke confines his activities to propaganda of that sort he will render a real service to the country.

RIGHT FOR ONCE

Mr. Baruch says it will be difficult to convince the American people that foreign nations cannot pay their debts to this country. Indeed it will, and those who have attempted it thus far have made no progress.

THE ARISTOCRATIC PLASTERER

Speaking of wages, how would you like to be the plasterer? One of Chicago's largest contractors says: "A plasterer is entitled to $44 a week under the Landis award. On one house I am building in the suburbs, a plasterer receives $12 a day as regular wages and $6 a day overtime, or $90 for five days, excluding Saturday. For Saturday he receives $6 for his regular morning's work and $12 for the afternoon, which is overtime. This gives him $108 for six days work. Some plasterers work Sundays and for eight hours overtime receive $24 additional or a total for the seven-day week of $132. In 1917 it cost approximately $500 to plaster an average house. Now it costs $2200." In other words, it costs almost as much to plaster a house today as it did to build a substantial structure in 1917. If the average farmer makes as much a month as the Chicago plasterer does a week, he is apt to be pretty well satisfied. And he doesn't call eight hours a day either.

DEMOCRATS AND DEFLATION

Washington, Oct. 9.—"Our Democratic brethren are having a hard time deciding just where to stand on the question of deflation," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "When it was first charged that the Wilson administration had precipitated deflation, the charge was vehemently denied by high authorities.

Then a few weeks later it was asserted by an equally high Democratic authority that the only mistake was that the administration did not start the deflation sooner.

"Now a new position is taken. It is charged that the deflation, which was precipitated several months before the Republican administration came into power, was brought about by Republicans.

"However, there will be no possibility of removing from the minds of American farmers of recollection that they were hard hit in the Summer and Fall of 1920 and that they experienced no degree of recovery whatever until the Harding administration took three measures of relief; enactment of an emergency agricultural tariff, revival of the War Finance Corporation, and increase of funds for the Farm Loan Board."

Mr. W. R. Redden of Beat 14 was among those who attended the Republican campaign committee meeting here last Saturday. Mr. Redden is a loyal Republican, and is deeply interested in the success of our ticket in this election.

Lee Vickers of Beat 9, who is a member of the Republican campaign committee, was here last Saturday attending the speaking. Mr. Vickers has been for many years one of the best Republican party workers in our county, and his interest in this campaign is none less than in years past.

Uncle Tom Hubbard of Beat 14 was here last Saturday in the interest of the Republican campaign.

BLEED THROUGH

NOTES OF TRAVEL

(By S. E. Norton)

Brooklyn, Michigan, is a town of about 700 people in the midst of a prosperous farming section in the middle of the southern part of the state.

Sixty years ago this fall the writer came here with his father's family and spent several years within the borders of this, Jackson County, and the adjoining county of Hillsdale. So far we have found only two men and one woman, a sister of the writer, Mrs. A. W. Dunn, who lived here at that time. Some have moved elsewhere, but a great majority are no longer among the living.

Two prominent features of the town at once impress the traveler, and add a charm and dignity to its appearance. The wide and well-kept streets lined on both sides with great trees of maple, elm or black walnut; these trees are greatly prized by the residents. As an instance, one of these trees stands in the front yard at my sister's home. The house was moved to this lot a few years ago. The price to be paid for the work had been agreed upon; but when the contractor told the owner he would have to lose that big tree, he was paid an extra $100 to do the job and save the tree. The man is dead but the tree is liable to stand as a mounument to his love of nature and humanity, and be a blessing to generations yet unborn.

The second attraction is the miles of splendid concrete walks which border the streets in all directions. This may be partially due to the proximity of all ingredients required for making the walks. A large cement plant, and sand and gravel pits are all in easy hauling distances.

In a community of sober industrious people a tragedy may occur once in a while, but when four occur within a month, it is certainly unusual.

A woman doing her own washing in the back yard of her home, was found by her husband dead on the ground beside her tub; heart trouble. A young man, eldest son of a widow in town, had been taking a summer course at Columbia College, New York, preparatory to entering for the fall term. Took employment as switchman during interval between summer classes and fall opening. He was struck and killed in the night by a switch engine.

Another young man whose home was next door to and only a few feet from my sister's home, went to a city in north Michigan to finish his course in pharmacy. He was engaged to marry one of the young women of the town as soon as he had finished his course at college. One evening he visited the county fair in company with some of his fellow students. On the way home they stopped at the home of one of their college professors to greet him with some cheers and college yells. A policeman suddenly appeared and the boys ran away. The officer opened fire at them and one of the shots struck this young man in the back. He died a few minutes later. The officer claimed he had been sent out to round up a company of burglars who had been operating in the community, and had mistaken those boys for his quarry.

The next case was that of a farmer in the community who went with a team and wagon to a warehouse for a load of seed wheat. To enter the warehouse he drove up an incline of considerable height. When loaded the man in the warehouse suggested that he or they should take the horse by the bits to back out. This he refused, saying he could handle them with the lines from his seat. In about a minute wagon, wheat, man and horses, had fallen in a heap off the side of the incline and the man was picked up dead.

Since the days of the civil war, when the writer was familiar with farming conditions in this section, there have been many changes in farm crops and methods of farming In these days no farm is considered fit for cultivation until all the stumps and loose stones have been removed. Farms thus prepared can be worked by machinery. The up-to-date farmer needs to be a good mechanic in order to handle his tractor, gang plows, drags, grain drills, cultivators, mowing and reaping machines, corn harvesting and husking machinery, milking machines, cream separators, manure spreaders and other devices too numerous to mention. These mechanical conveniences make man power many times more effective than old time hand labor.

In a farming community conditions are most favorable when the crops and products can find a good market close at hand. We have noticed a combination of such conditions in practically all the towns and cities which we have visited. Some of these industries would seem to be a foolish proposition for building up a town or community. Brooklyn, Michigan, has two such factories.

When you buy from your grocer or at a general store a ten cent package of pop corn shelled ready for popping, do you ever stop to think of it as a part of a great industry located somewhere in this "land of Liberty?"

The larger of these establishments, The International Pop Corn Products Co., have a capacity to use 25,000 pounds a day of the shelled corn, put up in 100 cartons packed in largeer cartons holding 48 of the smaller packages. Both the small and large cartons are filled and sealed by automatic machines turning out 80 packages per minute. They also pack the corn in 100 pound sacks for use by concerns that make a business of selling pop corn in its various forms. Sill further about 10,000 packages a day of a product similar to Cracker Jack.

The smaller plant, Hart & Howell Company, put up only the shelled corn in 100 pound sacks, but they handle a lot of it.

The corn handled at these plants is all grown by farmers in this section of the country. The average price they get for it is 4 cents per pound in the ear, delivered at the factories. This yields the farmer a return of from fifty to one hundred dollars per acre. We were told that about 10,000 acres in this section are grawn to this corn crop. A large number of the farmers are stock holders in one or the other of the companies.

We sincerely hope the day is not far distant when the people of Chilton County and Alabama will establish factories for working up their products and so reap more fully the benefits to be derived from manufacturing as well as agriculture.

BETHANY NEWS

We are going to come into your sight once again. We are going to deliver what thoughts that we think will best appeal to your interest as a whole.

Health of this place is very good at present. Everybody seems to be enjoying life just fine now, as the schools around have all opened.

And just now while I am speaking of schools, I am going to announce that the Enterprise school has made a very gallant drive this week.

Several of the farmers around here met with severe disapointment when they were rained out of going to Clanton last Friday. They were all anxious to hear a speech made by Mr. M. W. Lamb, who I understand, to be a man who laid the foundation upon which is built the organization known as the United Farmers of America. When they were deprived of the priveledge of hearing Mr. Lamb speak they were deprived of a grand priviledge, which I myself would have enjoyed. However, I regret that I am too young to belong to the organization. I cherish it with my best and most sincere wishes.

Messrs Dewey and Tommie Hill, of Bethsalem, spent part of last week picking cotton for Mr. J. A. Huett. I guess they accomplished pleasing results as they got all he had gathered.

Mrs. C. W. Gray visited Mrs. C. B. Huett Friday afternoon.

We know that it is polite for a pupil to love his teacher, but it seems as if some of the Enterprise pupils won't stop at loving their own teacher. Their actions prove that they are going to have an affection for the teachers of our neighboring schools. However, I guess that's a polite action too.

Mr. R. C. Morris spent Saturday night at the home of Mr. C. B. Huett.

Mr. I. D. Huett has again resumed his winter occupation of log cutting.

Mr. J. W. Cagle of Mitchell Dam, visited home folks Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. J. A. Huett made a business trip to Clanton Saturday.

Everybody around here seems to be having an easy occupation since all of the farm work is about finished.

Prof. J. W. Cagle and family spent Sunday visiting friends around Haynes.

Messrs Dewey Huett and Tommie Hill went Sunday afternoon and had their fortunes told, which resulted in an interesting manner.

Miss Lena Dykes, who is attending school at Thorsby, was visiting home folks Saturday night and Sunday.

All of the pupils seem to like Mr. Weldon about as well as they did last year. He rules with an iron hand, yet he does it in a mild way.

Both of the other teachers are doing just fine. All three of them are awfully tender hearted from the simple fact that no one has got a whipping yet.

Again I will take my leave for this week, but look out for me again next week.

Wishing the editor much success, I go.

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked. In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superor to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one can hardly realize that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

FIRE AT WEST END LAST THURSDAY

Fire about noon last Thursday destroyed the barn of Mr. Jonifer Headley at West End. The contents of the barn were consumed, which we learn, included a quantity of hay, corn, fodder, and a hog and a cow. The blaze threatened to spread to other buildings close by, but was prevented from doing so by the city waterworks firefighting device.

Hon. W. L. Longshore, Circuit Judge of Shelby, Coosa and Clay Counties, was a visitor to Clanton last Saturday. He says he believes he will be safely elected again in November.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities became better known. It is the standard and main reliance for these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

LONGSHORE AND WEAVER SPEAK

The court huse was crowded with eager listeners when Judge Weaver and Judge Longshore spoke last Saturday afternoon in the interest of the Republican party of Chilton county. These two eloquent speakers made a stirring appeal to their hearers in support of their party, and the response given them was indeed pleasing. Judge Longshore stayed over Saturday night and went with Judge Reynolds to New Cedron where they addressed the voters of that community.

JACKSON CHAPEL

The health of this community is fairly good at present.

There will be sniging here every first Sunday in the old books and every second Sunday in the new books. There will also be prayer meeting every Sunday night. Everybody is invited to come and be with us.

GETTING READY FOR BACK WATER

Capt. W. P. Lay of Gadsden will be here for the next month, looking after the removal of all property from the basin of the Mitchell Dam reservoir. He says the power company hopes to have all property in the basin removed by December the first, as they may be ready soon after that date to close the gates at Mitchel Dam.

There are several citizens who have crops and various kinds of property in the area that will be covered by water. It is his purpose to enlist the efforts of those people now in the work of removing their property so that none of it may be inundated.

Capt. Lay will have headquarters at Clanton while he is engaged in this work.

Rev. J. D. Hughes of Coopers filled his regular appointment last Sunday at Liberty Hill. He stayed over in Clanton Sunday night, and was present at the services of the Clanton Baptist Church. He also attended the Pastors and Workers Conference Monday.

It is probable that the Music Club will form one of the three divisions of the Helen Keller Literary Society. The other two divisions may be the Debating Society and the Dramatic Club. It is expected that all three Clubs will unite, having a joint program on November 25th. Because of the fact that the attendance at Thorsby Institute is so large this year and because of the cost of furnishing rent, light, heat, and janitor service for the evenings entertainment given by the school societies, it has been decided to ask an admission price of 10c from each person attending the entertainment who is not a member of the school. This money will be used toward the purchasing of new desks which are greatly needed in the room. The program for Saturday night will be as follows:

Devotins, Miss Jenkins; Chorus, Music Club; Liszt, the Musician, Bernice Williams; Piano solo, Cola Mae Ruffin; An Incident of the War, Gresham Lowery; Piano Duet, Miss Agnes Gerald, Miss Inga Erdahl; Quartette, Lois Primm, Lorena Primm, Glover Smith, Spurgeon Kelley; Violin Solo Lillian McKee; The Star Child, A Pantomine; The Star Child, Mabel Howard; Prince of the Wildwood, Mary Ella Gerald; King of the Wildwood, Susie Adams; Princess Eglantine, Pearl Carlson; Heralds, Annie Hughes, Ena Grenn; Pages, Cola Mae Ruffin, Dorothy Butler; Musical accompaniment, Miss Agnes Gerald Lillian McKee.

TATE AND WHITE FORM LAW PARTNERSHIP

Alexander City Man Cmes to Wetumpka—Firm Among Best In State.

The following article appearing in the Wetumpka Herald of Oct. 5, 1922, may be of interest to the people of the 19th Circuit:

Wetumpka has a splendid new law firm, the partners are Hon. Henry P. White, late of Alexander City and Judge F. L. Tate of the local bar They are located in Judge Tate's same offices in the Johnson Building and are now ready and practicing in all of the Courts of the State and the higher courts.

Mr. White was born in Marion, Perry County forty one years ago. After finishing his literary education he graduated with honor from the Law School of the University of Alabama and was admitted to the bar in 1902 and has been successful in the practice. He was a member of the State Tax Commission under Governor O'Neal and held the office of Assistant Attorney General of Alabama in 1920-21. Mr. White is a lawyer of the highest type, with a keen regard for the ethics of the profession and all that it stands for, his ability is unquestioned. He specializes in Probate and Chancery practice though he is none the less a fine trial lawyer. He is a Mason and he and Mrs. White are active members of the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. White is the daughter of Capt. H. Clay Reynolds, founder and first president of the Montevallo Girls School. They have no children.

Judge Tate is too well known to our people to need any introduction at this time. He is undisputedly one of the leading lawyers of the local bar and of this circuit. Since coming to Wetumpka some twenty years ago, he has risen to the top in the legal profession. He served this circuit as Solicitor and was considered among the best in the State. He has also served Alabama as both Attorney General and Supernumerary Judge with credit to himself and the public, and practiced law successfully with a large Montgomery firm for more than a year. But all of this time Judge Tate has continued a resident of Wetumpka and is now devoting his time entirely to the practice of his profession. He is one of the best trial lawyers in Alabama, having a wonderful gift of oratory and a clear, analytical mind.

The new firm of Tate and White is a strong one and is headed for success in all phases of the legal profession.

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes.

Note: Write for valuable free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important authoritative information which every expectant mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend," to Bradfield Regulator Company, BA-23, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

REGULAR APPOINTMENTS OF REV. M. J. PARRISH

Rev. M. J. Parrish of Providence, Beat 16, was a visitor to The Union-Banner office Monday. He requested us to publish his regular preaching appointments for this year which are as follows:

At Cane Creek the first Sunday in each month, and Saturday before.

At Poplar Springs the second Sunday and Saturday before.

At Refuge the third Sunday and Saturday before.

At New Cedron the fourth Sunday and Saturday before.

Brother Parrish wishes these dates published in order that the public may know the regular days of service at the various churches. All people are invited to attend the meetings, and help in carrying on the work of the Lord in our country.

NOTHING NEW

Far from complimentary to the intelligence of its readers is the special dispatch the New York World has from its London correspondent. This dispatch, which the World not only procured, but had copyrighted, says among other things that since the Republican Congress has enacted a protective tariff law Great Britain will hereafter buy largely of Canadian Wheat while in return Canada will buy largely from Birtish manufacturers. As though that were anything new. Great Britain has always favored the mother country in buying manufactured goods. Each has bought elsewhere whenever the purchase could be made at a lesser price. There will be no change whatever in the policy—but the World, in an effort to discredit the protective tariff will try to make its readers believe otherwise.

BEAUTIFY ROADS WITH TREES

Mr. W. B. Jones of Verbena, was a visitor to The Union-Banner office Monday, and asked us to print the following statement in regard to beautifying our roads by the planting of trees alongside. He said:

"By the proper planting of trees along the roadside our country can be made to look very beautiful, and the property owners should take great pride in this splendid means of improvement. Trees should be planted at sufficient distance apart to allow them to develop naturally, and to leave open views from the roads, and openings for the sun to reach the road between them.

"We have roads in Chilton county that we ought to be proud of. Let the citizens along these roads resolve now that we plant three fruit trees by our roadsides within the next four months. We should take pride in our country and in our property, and use the advantages of trees to bring about splendid improvements."

BAKER EMBALMED

Commenting on the criticism of himself in the latest edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, former Secretary of War Baker says, "I have little interest in distribution of individual praise or blame." As we review Mr. Baker's connection with the war, we can readily understand his lack of interest in having the story published broadcast.

Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence Beat 16, was in Clanton Monday to attend the meeting of the Pastors and Workers Conference held at the Clanton Baptist Church.

Answer to Questions of Supt. Howard Foshee

The Chilton County News, the Democratic newspaper of Chilton County, which is run under the management of Mr. J. L. Johnson, Democratic candidate for Representative of Chilton County in the next Legislature of Alabama, in its last week's issue contained another long letter from Mr. Howard L. Foshee, County Superintendent of Education of Chilton County, in which a number of questions are propounded to me. In addition to these questions, Mr. Foshee's letter contains some other arguments which he uses to further his contentions against the election of the Republican ticket in Chilton County on Nov. 7th. Mr. Foshee started out to work against the election of Reynolds as Probate Judge; now he is fighting both Judge Reynolds and me, and we may reasonably expect him to wind up by the 7th of November in opposition to all the Republican ticket, and for the Democrats straight.

It gives me great pleasure to take up Mr. Foshee's questions and answer them one at a time. The first statement of his which I want to explain, is as follows:

"Mr. Wyatt very emphatically stated that he will not submit the columns of his paper for use of anyone to express a view as to the political situation in this county, unless such view is in high praise of L. H. Reynolds," etc.

In reply to the above statement of Mr. Foshee, I wish to state that I did not say exactly what he attributes to me. I DID say that we would not submit the columns of The Union-Banner to use of those whose motives were expressly to defeat the Republican ticket. We again reassert that position, and feel that we are perfectly justified in doing so. My brother, Mr. T. E. Wyatt, and myself own The Union-Banner, of which I am the editor, and he the Business Manager. We are therefore responsible for the political attitude of the paper. I am a candidate for the legislature on the Republican ticket, nominated for the office along with the men whom the Republicans of the county nominated for the other offices. Now I think that if we should turn our paper over to the use of Howard Foshee or anybody who is openly working to defeat any one or all of the Republican candidates who are on the ticket with me, it would be very ungrateful to and inconsistent with our party which nominated me and placed me on the ticket. If I should consent to such a thing, I would not be worthy of the association and confidence of honest men, and the paper would not be considered as dealing honestly with the Republican party, which it has always claimed to support. Mr. Foshee knows that our stand in refusing him the use of our paper for the purposes he wanted is wholly justifiable and altogether consistent with the policy of a straightforward and honest support of the Republican party and the nominees thereof.

We have nothing to do with the individual privileges and rights of anybody in this campaign. If a man wants to be against me or against any other Republican candidate, that is his business. In expressing his opposition to me or any other candidate, he may talk just as loud and long as he pleases, so far as I am concerned. All that is his business and his privilege. But we have got a right to draw the line when they come and demand that we use our paper, which is the same as our own personal efforts, to exploit their personal grudges against the party and its legal nominees. If anybody else wants to try that, he will meet with the same fate as Mr. Howard Foshee.

The Union-Banner is not "toting the skillet" for Judge Reynolds. He is amply able to paddle his own canoe which fact is the very reason that Mr. Foshee hates him so bad. Judge Reynolds happened to be smart enough to be able to run the Probate Office without having to call in the valuable advice and assistance of our great superintendent of education, "the only man in Chilton County who is able to hold down that tremendous job of keeping the school business out of politics." Therefore the great and matchless genius of the superintendent's office has got awfully mad at Reynolds for having so much business sense and ability to be able to manage the Probate office successfully without calling on his lordship.

The Union-Banner is not any more interested in the success of Judge Reynolds in this campaign than it is in the success of Zeb Mims or Tom Littlejohn, or Tom Dorminey or Jim Mims, or Alfred Robinson or William Billingsley, or Percy Pitts. They all look alike to us, because they are Republican nominees on the same ticket with me. We will not allow our newspaper to be used by anybody to try to defeat any one of them.

If that wonderful wizard in the superitendent's office wants to blame The Union-Banner for being so loyal to our party he may do so with all the might he can command. I do not believe that the loyal Republicans of Chilton County will blame us for taking such a stand for safeguarding the interests of the Republican party.

Now listen to this evasive denial of Mr. Foshee: He says,

"I did not state to Mr. Wyatt that my sole aim and purpose in asking him to print my letter was to defeat L. H. Reynolds."

All right, Mr. Foshee, if you did not state to me that your purpose in raising all this agitation was to defeat Reynolds, will you tell the people what WAS your reply to my direct question as to what your purposes and intentions were? I asked you that question and you answered it. I told the people what your answer was, and now you deny what I said your answer was. Then if I told the wrong story about it, you should tell the people what is really the correct statement which you made to me.

I do not suppose that Mr. Foshee meant to say directly that I lied in my letter published in The Union-Banner of Oct 5th, wherein I said that he told me his sole aim and purpose was to defeat Judge Reynolds. No, I am sure that he did not mean to say that I lied, but just wanted to let me know that I was mistaken.

Now I shall be as considerate of the feelings of Mr. Foshee as he was of mine. Of course I will not say that he lied when he said last week that he did not make the statement which I credited to him. No, I would not call him such a mean name at all; but I want to remind him just here that he had better tell the truth about it from now on, or else somebody who is not so considerate of his feelings as I am might call him something that would sound a little bit unwholesome.

MR. FOSHEE DID TELL ME THAT HIS PURPOSE WAS TO DEFEAT L. H. REYNOLDS. He KNOWS he told me that. There are others who heard him, and they also KNOW he told me that. But folks do not have to be told by me in order to know what Mr. Foshee is trying to do. Any man with an ounce of sense can see that he is working, not only to defeat Judge Reynolds, but some of the other Republican candidates as well, myself not excepted.

Will Mr. Foshee continue to deny to the people of this county that he is fighting and knifing the Republican ticket when he sat still in the committee meeting at the Court House and did not rise to the proposition of Dock Gentry asking that all who would support the Republican ticket in November stand up?

If anybody wants me to prove by witnesses that Howard Foshee told me in The Union-Banner office that his purpose was to defeat Reynolds, I stand ready to do so at any time.

Mr. Foshee, will you tell us what reason you had for bringing with you when you came to The Union-Banner office on the occasion referred to, your friend and co-conspirator, Mr. J. B. Atkinson. He seemed interested in some work that he said was to be done on the street near our office, but I knew that was a blind he was putting up hoping to keep me from seeing the real purpose of his presence with you. I suppose that if any question arises as to what happened or was said between us, Mr. Atkinson will be ready to substantiate anything you might wish to prove. But that is all right with me. I am just as ready to face both of you as I am either of you alone.

But I wish Mr. Atkinson would do that work on the streets as he said he was planning to do.

I notice that Mr. Foshee did not deny that he told me he did not recognize Judge Reynolds as the nominee of the Republican party of Chilton County for Probate Judge.

He did ask me if I thought a man nominated by a minority was entitled to the support of Republicans, or something about like that. My reply was a question asking him whether or not Judge Reynolds were nominated regularly under the provisions of the primary election laws of Alabama. Mr. Foshee knows that the laws of Alabama do not necessarily require that one of three or more candidates receive a majority of the votes in a primary in order to be the legal nominee. He admitted that, but also said that because Judge Reynolds had failed to convict somebody charged with violating the compulsory school attendance law, he thought the Republican party of Chilton county should disregard the election laws, in order to get a nominee for Probate Judge that would suit him personally, and a few others who object to Reynolds for purely personal reasons.

Mr. Foshee says that Harris or Bean either one would be more acceptable to him as a candidate for Probate Judge. But I want to remind him that Reynolds is acceptable to more Republicans than either Harris or Bean, as shown by our recent primary, hence he is our candidate, and as for The Union-Banner, we are willing to elect him again as our Probate Judge. If the nominee had been Harris or Bean we would feel the same way about the matter.

Mr. Foshee seems to think that he will spread the news over this county that I am favorable to Reynolds as the candidate for Representative, and thus get the people who did not vote for Reynolds in the primary to vote against me in November. If there is anybody who does not want to vote for me just because I am for Reynolds for Probate Judge, I want to say to them that whatever suits them to do about the matter is perfecty all right with me. If I am to be defeated because The Union-Banner believes in standing by the nominees of the Republican party, then I say let it come.

If I am deprived of that most lucrative salary which I am depending so much upon getting out of the legislature, then I will try to manage some way to get along in the future. Maybe if I am not elected to the legislature, I can get a job of teaching school in this county. I am sure Mr. Foshee would contract with me, because he has such a fine record for "keeping politics from getting mixed up with the school business," he would not likely bar me from teaching in his schools, just because of our political differences.

I suppose all the people have heard what happened to Prof. Wm. R. Baker the other day at the hands of our wonderful superintendent of Education. Mr. Baker was refused a contract to teach school in this county just because his political activities happened to be offensive to the superintendent of education. This in the face of the fact that Mr. Baker's application was for a school where he has taught several years, and was endorsed by every patron of the school district. THAT IS A SAMPLE OF THE WAY MR. FOSHEE IS "KEEPING THE SCHOOL BUSINESS OUT OF POLITICS." The teachers institute ought to have passed a special resolution endorsing that particular action of the superintendent. This is about the most glaring example we have seen where Mr. Foshee made special effort to show to the world that he is not "mixing politics with his schools."

Here is some more of Mr. Foshee's questions in his letter in last week's Chilton County News:

"Mr. Wyatt, why did you, after being given the office of County Treasurer, decline to accept? Tell the people whether or not you turned it down because the commission you get out of the county for printing was larger than your salary as Treasurer would have been. How much has Chilton County paid you during the past twelve months?"

In answer to the above questions I will say first that I declined to accept the office of County Treasurer because I could not be County Treasurer, and at the same time sell supplies to the county, such as printing, stationery, etc. Therefore I refused the office of Treasurer for the very sensible reason that it would have paid me much less money than we get out of the business which we do for the county in the way of printing. We would have been foolish to have virtually closed the doors of our newspaper and printing plant, out of which we make a reasonable living, to have accepted a measley seven hundred dollars a year as the Treasurer of Chilton County.

In reply to the last question above, relative to the amount which we received from Chilton County for printing during the past twelve months, I will say that I am glad to give these figures to Mr. Foshee and the public. I will not only give the total amount the county has paid us, but will itemize it to show just how much we received for furnishing printing to each of the various county offices. In other words this statement will show the people just how much they have paid for printing in Mr. Howard Foshee's office, as well as Judge Reynold's and the others.

Supt. of Education	$ 366.35
Probate Judge	176.10
County Treasurer	203.50
County Advertising	370.00
Election Supplies	471.50
Tax Collector	30.21
Tax Assessor	42.20
Tax Adjuster	6.00
Circuit Clerk	156.05
County Solicitor	10.75
Register in Chancery	7.50
Sheriff	26.50
Total	$1,866.66

Now voters, you may look at the above and see how much you are paying for printing to each of the county officers. Look at the amount the superintendent's office cost the county for printing, and compare it with some of the others, say Judge Reynolds's for instance. Howard Foshee's printing bill cost you $366.35. The printing bill of the Probate Office cost you $176.10. Do you think that you are getting twice as much service out of the superintendent's office as you are out of the Probate office? You are paying for twice as much for Howard Foshee to "keep the schoos out of politics" as you are Judge Reyolds to run the Probate office, and I venture to say you do not get one-tenth the service from Howard Foshee that you get out of Judge Reynolds.

It is a fact that will be borne out by the records that it is costing the people many times more for Howard Foshee to run the schools than it did while Prof. Bean was in the office of superintendent. Are you getting many times more out of the schools?

During the past year Mr. Foshee had us to do some printing and charge to the county by his instructions, which Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners refused to pay, because it was for matter which it was not the duty of the county to pay for. Those items have not been paid yet.

I am informed by Judge Reynolds that there is on file now with the Comissioners court, an account to the amount of over $300, for stuff that was charged to the county by Howard Foshee, which it is not the duty of the county to pay for, and which has been refused payment by the Commissioners.

Now listen, voters, RIGHT THERE IS WHERE THE SHOE IS PINCHING HOWARD FOSHEE. He has long ago found out that he cannot boss the official acts of Judge Reynolds, hence he has set himself to the task of getting a Probate Judge elected to whom he can dictate, and who will PAY ALL HIS BILLS WITHOUT QUESTION. That is the secret of his unrelenting opposition to Reynolds. Isn't it Howard?

Now, Mr. Foshee, if you do not mind it we would like for you to tell the people something about the money that you have spent in the administration of your school business. Your report published in The Union-Banner of Oct. 20, 1921, was supposed to be a detailed statement of your disposal of the people's tax money. I notice the following items in that report that do not show very clearly what the money was spent for:

New Equipment	$1,134.72
Liquidation of debts	918.50
Refunds	150.59
Supt. Salary and assistants	2,438.18
Compulsory attendance	70.00

Tell us what new equipment that $1,134.72 went to purchase, and where that equipment is. Tell us what debts were liquidated with that $918.50. Tell us what you refunded with that $150.59. Tell us what was your salary and the salary of your assistants out of that $2,438.18. Tell us what children you forced to attend school with that $70.00.

We have told you what you asked us about our financial dealings with Chilton County. Now we think it will be interesting reading for the citizens of the county if you will make some explanation of your financial operations, especially in regard to the above items.

I say to you, Mr. Foshee, that there is no such thing in existence as the court house ring, which you charge is vested with the power to dictate who can and cannot be a member of the Republican party. But I do say that there is a Republican party which is big and strong and sensible enough to tell a fellow where to get off when it is plainly seen that he is playing the role of an enemy within the ranks of the party. You know that nobody has told you that you could not be a member of the Republican party; but you have shown by your actions that you were not eligible to sit in the counsels of the party, and therefore, when the test of fellowship was put to you you had to hunt a cooler climate. You need not blame me or anybody else but yourself for your getting into that fix.

You display the attitude of a mere simpleton, Mr. Foshee, when you seek to argue that just because it is the court house, that you have a right to attend and sit in any kind of a meeting that might be held there. You know that the court house belongs to the people of the county. It is as much yours as it is mine. It is as much the property of any Democrat as it is that of any Republican. But that does not make it justifiable for a Republican to demand a seat in the counsels of a Democratic meeting that might be held in the court house; nor does the mere fact that a Democrat, by virtue of his own small individual interest in the material character of the court house, thereby become entitled to a seat in Republican meetings that might be held in the court house.

Likewise, by the same reasoning we may determine that one who says by his own words and actions, that he will not support the Republican ticket, is also not entitled to sit in the secret counsels of the Republican party and take notes that will aid him in furthering his efforts to defeat the Republican ticket, either as a whole or in part. It is under the last category that you found yourself unwelcome in the recent Republican meeting at the Court House. Do not blame The Union-Banner for this precarious mess which you have gotten yourself into with what was once your party, that renders you unfit now to sit in its coupsels.

Mr. M. D. Foshee had the power to test your fellowship in the recent Republican meeting at the court house, by virtue of the fact that he is the chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County, and as such presided at the meeting of said Committee on the day and at the time you left the meeting.

I am glad to say to you that I, as a Republican, and as a candidate, and in whatever other capacity you may wish to apply it, do most heartily endorse the action which Mr. M. D. Foshee took in that meeting, which action it was that made the water so hot for you that your traitorous conscience could not sit there and face the scorn of those loyal Republicans, many of whom have trusted you in past and have believed you to be a loyal Republican. I am glad to say that I am not alone in my endorsement of what happened in that meeting. I have every reason to believe that it was endorsed by everyone who was there except you and your one friend who retired with you. And I am constrained to believe that even you and he will admit to yourselves that you had no business in that meeting, and that it was proper for you to retire.

Were you not surprised, Mr. Foshee, when you got up to leave the court house that day, to find that only ONE lone follower came out with you? I can imagine you thought you were going to stage a Teddy Roosevelt coup, and take about all the Republicans away from that meeting and go off and hold you one of your own and nominate you a candidate for Probate Judge who would suit you and need your valuable assistance when he got into office. I know that you had such a notion in your head because I heard it leak out that morning before the meeting was called.

Now, before I close I want to have just a word with you and the 134 teachers who recommended you so highly for "keeping the schools business of Chilton County out of politics." I will just say that the teachers of Chilton County are a loyal lot of patriots. I have ever held that the duties and responsibilities of a school teacher are the most honorable and most sacred of any public duty that may devolve on anyone. But whatever may be said that is good and noble and elevating for the splendid teachers of Chilton County, we are bound by the tenets of truth and honesty to say that they sure did pull a bone when they went on record in favor of that resolution much of which is false and unsuported by any facts whatsoever. Anybody who has half way pretended to keep up with public matters in this county knows that you have given much more attention to politics during your term as County Superintendent than you have to the schools. Then too it is universally known that you have allowed politics to influence you in the administration of many of the duties of your office. You have played politics in the three mill tax business; you have played politics in the selection of teachers; and most of all you have played the very devil in many places by your unwise and unscrupulous cutting and slashing and changing and consolidating of school districts, against the will and interests of the people who were to be effected by the changes.

Now as to the attitude of the teachers in regard to my candidacy for the legislature, I will say that I am glad that they know my ideas as to education. I am willing for them to have full knowledge of my plans for the enactment of what you call "reactionary" educational laws, if I am elected to the Legislature of Alabama. You may call my ideas "reactionary" if you please, Mr. Foshee; but I wish to assure you now that if I am elected to the legislature, it shall be my purpose to help change the election laws of Alabama so as to put the school business BACK INTO THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE, and take it out of the vest pockets of a few who perch upon the top of Alabama's educational ladder, and have no feeling or sympathy or understanding of the problems of the common people of the state. There has never been a grosser imposition upon an intelligent people than our present educational law; and if I could vote to blow it into smithereens, I would gladly do so. I could take the wreckage that would be left and find enough timber out of which to build an adequate and sensible school law for Alabama.

Yes sir, Mr. Foshee, I am in favor of the people of each and every county in Alabama ELECTING THEIR OWN COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION. And that means I favor it in Chilton County too. I shall have ready if I go to the legislature, a local bill granting to Chilton County the right to elect her own county superintendent. I want Chilton county to have this right FIRST; then if I can help give it to all the other counties of the state, I will gladly do so.

Yes, the teachers no doubt have a great deal of influence in Chilton county and Alabama; but let me tell you that this county nor this state does not need school laws that are made to suit only county superintendents and teachers. That is what is the matter that the common people have no rights under these laws today. They have been framed and put up and choked down the throats of representatives in the legislature by a set of high-brows who are interested in only that which gives them the advantage, and the other fellow can root hog or die.

I have the highest regard for Chilton county's teachers, but I am honest and bold enough to say to them that if I represent Chilton county in the legislature, I shall represent school teachers by the same rule which I represent any other common ordinary citizen of the county. Your interests as a citizen, Mr. School Teacher, are the same as the man who plows a mule for a living to make bread for his family.

I know that you are not a leader, Mr. Foshee. Your actions on many occasions have demonstrated your inability to lead, although you so much aspire to be a leader. And then too I also know that you are not a follower. That is the reason I accused you of joining hands with the Democrats, because you fell down in your efforts to capture the leadership of the Republican party; then after the verdict of the primary was rendered, you did not have grit enough to follow and submit to the will of your fellow Republicans. Yes, Howard, your SMALLNESS as a leader is about the SMALLEST THING I know of except your STILL SMALLER SMALLNESS as a follower.

You seem to want to take unto yourself a great deal of smypathy from the people for the outrage which I committed against your virgin political purity when I accused you of going to the Democratic party. You seem to think my accusation was somewhat presumed, inasmuch as you had not written anything at all in the papers before I made the accusation. You did not have to get in print for me to know that you were hobnobbing with the Democrats. That has been common knowledge with all of us who have observed your actions, and the constant callers at your office before and after the primary election. I am not the only one who knows of your connection with the Democratic party, Mr. Foshee.

I want you to tell the people WHO is YOUR candidate for Representative in the legislature from Chilton County. Is it not a fact that there is an understanding between you and J. L. Johnson, my Democratic opponent, whereby he will not be so "recationary" in his views on educational matters if he is elected to the legislature? I want you to have nerve enough to come out openly through the Democratic organ which you have been using to carry your messages to the Republicans of Chilton county, and tell the people which one, I or J. L. Johnson, you are in favor of for the Legislature. Then give them your reasons for your choice. Will you exercise the courage to do this?

I know why you are against me, Mr. Foshee, and you know why. I now give you an opportunity to come clean next week and be honest with yourself and the people of Chilton county, whom you propose to lead from a great darkness into a marvelous light. If you do not come out with the truth, and tell the people just where you stand and why, then I shall tell it myself. Don't come out with that old story of yours that you are against me because I am "in the Reynolds crowd." Let us have the straight goods now or nothing.

Mr. Foshee, I want you to tell the people of Chilton County, and especially the Republicans, in whom you seem so much interested, who it was that prepared that resolution adopted in the teachers institute, congratulating you for "keeping the school business out of politics." Tell them about the activities of J. L. Johnson and one or more other Democrats of Clanton, who left their places of business and went to the meeting place of the teachers institute and greased up the steam roller which ran that resolution over the teachers. Tell us also just how many of the 134 teachers in that institute actually signed their names to that resolution for publication.

I charge you, Mr. Foshee, of being in secret agreement with some of the leading Democrats of Clanton, to put such a resolution as that through the institute, SOLELY FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES; and that very resolution itself, although declaring for the principle of "keeping the schools out of politics," belies its own doctrine, and from every word of it there oozes the most designing and crafty political intrigue that you have ever attempted to exhibit to this county.

Those teachers, who by endorsing that resolution, thought they were commending you for keeping the schools out of politics, were possibly not the least aware that by taking such action, THEY THEMSELVES were actually dipping their fingers in the pollution of your own perfidious political trickery.

Now, Mr. Foshee, when you give the people of Chilton County the information I demand of you in this letter, I may have some more things I shall want to say to you.

Respectfully,

W. M. WYATT.

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 17, 1922.

Further extensions in its service and distribution systems by the Alabama Power Company has been indicated in a petition filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission. This petition asks for the granting of a certificate of convenience and necessity for the construction by the Power Company of an electric transmission line from a point at or near Leeds to a point at or near Lewisburg, both in Jefferson county. It is explained in the petition that the company desires to construct this line, which will be about 16 miles in length, in order that it may better serve the city of Birmingham by providing an additional point of delivery to the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power Company; also in order to serve the region north of Birmingham from which territory, it is stated, the company has received many applications for service.

September activities on the Warrior river on the last day, includeo another shipment of 1,000 bales of cotton from Moundville. The cotton is shipped to Mobile and New Orleans, where it is classified, then sent to eastern mills, while a large part of ti is exported. There are now more than 600 bales from the local district awaiting shipment from the municipal wharf at Riverview, which will be loaded as soon as a barge is available.

A new law partnership has been formed in Birmingham, which will be known as Martin, Thompson & Turner. William Logan Martin, counsellor for the Alabama Power Company, J. F. Thompson, who recently resigned as solicitor of the fourth Judicial District of Alabama, and Perry W. Turner, an ex-Assistant Attorney General for the State, constitute the personnel of the new firm.

The cotton of Coosa county is being gathered rapidly. The farmers of the entire county have been fortunate in having several weeks of fair weather for gathering their cotton and the cotton is being gathered and ginned at a rapid rate. Judging from the amount already ginned in the county, Coosa county's crop this year in cotton will possibly more than double the production of last year.

Many old soldiers on October 1st presented themselves for their pension claims at Moulton before the judge of probate. The old veterans came early in the morning and by the time of the opening of the banks they stood about the doors with their warrants to be cashed. Lawrence county still has a good number of old soldiers.

The Warrant Warehouse Company, has filed a request with the Mobile City Commission for a permit to construct an aerial railway from the company's warehouse at Mobile to the waterfront. The railway would be used in transporting cotton from the warehouse to shipside.

Water, usually more plentiful than most anything else in Lawrence county, is a scarce commodity at present. Stock water can scarcely be obtained in many instances and a few gins and sawmills in the county have had to close down temporarily.

The members of the Elks Lodge at Eufaula are planning to purchase a radio receiving set in the near future. Each member will be assessed a certain amount. Regular concerts will be held after the radio set is installed.

Donie Royle, held in the Baldwin county jail for more than a year on a charge of being a party to the murder of Isham Tillman, which occurred during the spring of 1921, will be released provided she can furnish bail in the sum of $1,000.

Workers at the Dallas Lumber and Manufacturing Company's plant at Selma, recently, had a narrow escape when the big fan that blows shavings from the planing mill tore loose from its supports and tore away a part of the discharge pipe.

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked. In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superor to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one can hardly realize that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

There will be fish ponds for the children, and the regular side shows of the usual street fairs—fat men, slims, biggest babies, ugliest men, prettiest ladies, fortune telling, grab bags, prize cakes, prize candies 'n everything.

In addition to all the above there will be a regular show of high class magical and sleight of hand tricks, done by a performer of ability.

All attractions will be separate and distinct, and nominal charges will be made. The public is cordially invited to attend and partake with us of a thoroughly enjoyable time, with the assurance that the usual goodness of Verbena's entertainments will be maintained. The affair is being given by the Parent-Teachers Association, and the proceeds will be applied toward the purchase of school equipment. The school is enjoying a very healthy growth at present. There were present today 238, equalling the total enrollment of last session. The present enrollment is 254, and prospects of further increase.

A number of new desks were added last week. The building for the music department and Domestic science is nearly completed. The new school piano, especially designed for school work, arrived Thursday and is quite an addition to the school work.

The Lanerian Literary society held its third meeting Monday afternoon. The program consisted of a study of the life of Sidney Lanier, and the reading from some of his works.

The high school boys have been putting in some basket ball practice on the new court just across the street from the bank, and are about in shape to turn out a winning team There will be a majority of last year's men in the game this season, and the team promises to give a good account of itself.

KEEPS CONTROL OF HARBOR IN HANDS OF THE PEOPLE

Seaport Amendment Vests Legislature With Sole Power to Issue Bonds and Regulate Building of Port Terminals.

Amendment No. 1 to be voted on at the November election, enables the people of Alabama to develop their own and only seaport into an efficient agency of commerce, this power now being denied them, if through the action of their legislature and their governor they see fit to do so. It confers no power on the State Harbor Commission to issue bonds or incur debts. Its adoption carries no mandate to the legislature to order bonds issued or sold, but permits to to do so.

The Amendment fixes the maximum limit of bonds that may be issued at $10,000,000. These will not all be issued at one time, but only as needed.

The Port Terminals will be built in units, and as each unit is completed and put into operation it will begin earning revenues and be self-sustaining.

The Amendment stipulates that the improvements so made shall always be and remain under the management and control of the State. The State will make regulations and fix fees for their use. It will make the fees adequate to meet all expenses and pay the costs of construction. The properties so built will be owned and operated by the State in the interest of all the people of the State. They will be assets of the people of Alabama, and their earnings will be the people's earnings.

Uninterrupted and equal interchange of freight between the docks, piers, wharves, warehouses and grain elevators and ships is essential to the economical handling of ships and merchandise and to the commercial growth of a port. Conflicting regulations and discriminatory restrictions must be avoided and, if existing, eliminated.

To secure uniformity of charges and prompt deliveries of freight, relieved of all discriminations, single ownership of harbor facilities is necessary, and this can be effected only through the public owning them. Port data shows this to be true, and it further shows that cost to ships and shippers is materially less at ports where terminal facilities are owned by the public than where they are owned by private interests.

Other States Own Terminals

Public ownership of port facilities is the established policy in practically every seaboard State. It has long been the policy in most of the other maritime nations. In Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Louisiana, Texas, California, Oregon and Washington, the public owns part or all of the harbor facilities. In Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Florida, harbors are being improved by the public at Norfolk, Wilmington, Charleston, Jacksonville and Tampa. In Georgia, a campaign is now in progress to authorize the issuance of $15,000,000 of bonds backed by the State's credit, to improve the harbor of Savannah.

Will Alabamians let it be said that they are the only people in America who are afraid to trust themselves?

In adopting the Port Amendment, Alabama will be falling in line with her sister States. If she fails to adopt it, she will be out of step with the balance of the country and must necessarily fall behind in the progressive march of commerce and industry. The Amendment specifies that improvements by the State may be made only under appropriate laws passed by the Legislature. The Legislature, therefore, has the power, and assuredly will exercise it, to erect the necessary safeguard to promote the interest of the people.

"He has kept the schools of Chilton County out of politics," sounds to us just like "He kept us out of war."

We wonder which is the most correct to say, "He has kept the schools out of politics," or "He has kept politics out of the schools."

Maybe we should not blame those teachers for voting for superintendent Howard Foshee's resolution that declared that "he has kept the schools out of politics." They possibly were afraid they would lose their jobs if they should oppose it—and our opinion is that they were about right in that conclusion.

We hear a few of the Republican voters inquiring what they must do about Howard Foshee and the big racket he is trying to raise in the Republican party. Our advice to them is to pay no attention to his greatly exaggerated noise, and go to the polls Nov. 7th and vote the Republican ticket. This solution of the matter will prove to be the best thing for the future of Chilton County.

Mr. J. W. E. Gulledge has just returned from a conference in Birmingham in the interest of the Seaprt Amendment, which proposition is to be voted upon at the same time of the General Election in November. We are not thoroughly acquainted with all the details of this proposition, but we are inclined to believe that the voters of Chilton County will make no mistake to support this measure. We urge every citizen to study the matter carefuly in order that a proper verdict may be rendered thereon.

THE MACEDONIAN CRY NOT NECESSARY

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from the Chairman of the State Democratic Campaign Committee, which tells us about the ten indictments of Tom Heflin against the Republican party, which indictments are being urged upon the voters in different parts of the state.

The Chairman of that Committee was doubtless following that peculiar idea of the big Democrats of the South that all the South is Democratic, and evidently thought that he was addressing his letter to one of those narrow-minded and prejudiced newspapers, of which there are so many in Alabama, that are accustomed to swallowing everything that is labeled "Democratic" without ever giving one thought as to whether it will kill or cure.

He says that he doesn't know that the Macedonian cry, "Come over and Help Us," is needed to bring about a Democratic victory in Chilton county on Nov. 7th, but he feels that the voters of Chilton County, even though they are already sure to vote the Democratic ticket, ought to have the valuable information that is contained in Tom's ten indictments, and therefore asks us to give it to them.

We would like to say to the Chairman of the State Democratic Campaign Committee that the Macedonia cry of Democracy in Chilton County is so weak that it cannot be heard by even many of the prominent Democrats who are right here in Chilton County. The Democrats will have to have infinitely more than "Cotton Tom's" ten indictments if they are ever to have a hope of winning in Chilton county this year.

Then too, we would like to ask that the Democrats send Tom up here to speak to the people about the political issues. If they are so anxious fo the people of Chilton County to know the glaring truths which Tom has brought back from Washington, let them send him up here to tell us about them. We will furnish him all the entertainment he needs or wants. We have some Republicans in this neck of the woods who might hunt up something interesting about the Democratic party that could be told to the people along with Tom's ten indictments of the Republicans. We want Tom to come and have a few rounds with men like Judge Reynods and Judge Longshore. If he will consent to come to Chilton county, we feel sure that an interesting time can be had.

THE DEMOCRATIC WASTE IN WAR TIMES

We notice that Senator "Cotton Tom" Heflin has landed in Alabama and already opened up his great campaign thunder of tirade and calumny against the present Republican administration at Washington. He is said to have filed in the court of public opinion ten terrible and sweeping indictments of the Republican administration, that show that the Republican policies have been a complete failure, and will sweep the Democrats into power again the first chance the people have at the polls.

His first indictment of the Republicans is that they made an effort to pass the anti-lynching bill. He appeals to the Republicans of Alabama not to support the Republican party because to do so would be to support somebody who would be in favor of the anti-lynching bill. We want to remind Senator Heflin that the Republicans of Alabama and the South are as much opposed to the anti-lynching bill as the Democrats.

His other indictments are against the various economic policies of the Republican administration, such as the tariff, deflation, merchant marine, taxation etc.

He says he indicts the Republican administration for the payment of bills on war contracts without establishing the legality of the obligations and without determining whether or not provisions of the contracts were followed. Why did not Mr. Heflin go into full details of those contracts and tell the people something about what the Democrats under Wilson had to do with the making of them? That would have been interesting.

If he had desired to he could give the people of Alabama some such information as follows, which is of record against the Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson in carrying on the war masures:

The Ordnance Department spent $3,991,000,000 and obtained 72 cannon.

The sum of $116,194,000 was spent on nitrate plants which produced no nitrates.

The sum of $20,000,000 was spent on coke ovens, which produced no coke.

The sum of $35,000,000 was spent on picric acid plants, which produced no acid.

The sum of $116,000,000 was spent for poison gas, and no poison gas was obtained.

The sum of $127,661,000 was spent for terminals and docks at which no ship was ever tied up.

The sum of $1,051,511,000 was spent for airplanes and no fighting machines were ever delivered in France.

The sum of $200,000,000 was spent on powder plants which produced no powder.

"Lest we forget"—

None of this vast expenditure helped win the war because it produced nothing that was used during the war. Nevertheless, the billions thus expended were added to the tax bill of the American people.

These billions squandered on contracts which produced nothing toward winning the war, constitute a part of the indebtedess which the Democratic administration left as a legacy to the Republican party when it came into power. It is a legacy which calls upon the tax payers of this country to raise enormous sums each year for a long period of years. It is a legacy which mortgages the future generation instead of benefiting it.

Nor is that all of the scandalous tale. Contracts were entered into between this government and European governments for supplying the American army with ordance, munitions, and other war materials. Like the contracts made with American concerns, these carried no clause providing for their cancellation in event of the cessation or hostilities. Factories in England and France were kept running producing ordance and munitions for the American army until July 3, 1919, eight months after the war had closed and after the bulk of the American army had returned home. Long after the Armistice was signed, France turned out of her factories and delivered to the United States War Department, 944 pieces of artillery of a certain caliber; 198 pieces of another caliber: 700 pieces of another caliber. England, not to be outdone in equipping an American army, which no longer existed, to fight a war, which had been over for several months, delivered to the United States War Department after the Armistice was signed, 200 English 60-lb. guns; 100 6-inch guns, 355 8-inch howitzers.

Mrs. Mattie Woolley, formerly of Birmingham, is now with the firm of Elmore's in Clanton. She will be glad to have all her friends call to see her.

A GOOD TIME FOR CLANTON TO GO AFTER SOME INDUSTRIES

There has been for a long time a good deal of intermittent talk about Clanton's possibilities for the location of some kind of industries. The matter has been mentioned occasionally by the newspapers, and now and then we hear something said about it by some of our leading citizens.

It seems to us that it is now time for our city to go after something of this kind with an organized and determined effort that will not take any kind of discouragement for an answer. Our city council is disposed to help in this work. Our Chamber of Commerce is ready and willing to give the matter all the push that it can command. And all the surrounding natural advantages are most certainly heavily in our favor. All we have to do is to get ourselves together and go after what we want.

In this connection we wish to say that the assistance which may be given us by the Alabama Power Company is a very valuable asset in furthering our aspirations along this line. Right now the Power Company is undertaking some work along the lines of boosting Alabama to the outside world, with a hope that their efforts, combined with the efforts of local business and civic organizations, may induce new industries to locate in our state. A news story outlining some of the plans of the Power Company in this respect is published elsewhere in this paper.

We have it upon authority from the Power Company, that Clanton will not be overlooked in its efforts for the location of new industries in Alabama, if only Clanton herself will show the proper spirit of co-operation.

This opportunity to connect our efforts with those of the Alabama Power Company should never be allowed to pass by. It is the golden opportunity of our town's history for making a great campaign of industrial development possible, and not only possible, but an actual accomplishment.

Clanton has plenty of native labor which we may attract from surrounding communities, most ideal climate conditions, an abundance of raw materials, and hydro-electric power in quantity and under more favorable circumstances than can be found any other place in the whole state. If we can therefore attract industries that will consume our farm products, and work up our raw materials into finished products, we are bound to see a much better town, and a more prosperous citizenship.

Let us get something started at once. There is no use to delay further. It seems enough on the part of the Alabama Power Company that they have seen fit to favor us with that eminent advantage that is invoved in having their hydro-electric power available for use in our town to an unlimited extent. But they do not stop there by placing themselves in aposition to gather a harvest of income to themselves. They are willing to help us locate those industries that will soak up our surplus labor and raw materials, and thereby bring added advantages to every citizen in our county.

The Union-Banner stands ready to help push the matter to a successful conclusion. All we want is to get a bunch of good wide awake and enthusiastic citizens and business men on the band wagon with us.

WHOLESALE KILLING OF NEGROES AT VERBENA LAST SUNDAY

The railroad trains engaged in a wholesale slaughter of several members of the colored population at Verbena last Sunday, killing a total of four in one day.

The Pan American coming north early in the morning hit Arthur Pelham, a negro man, at the crossing about a quarter or half a mile north of the station, and made mince meat of his body. He was picked up piece by piece some time after the train had mangled him.

Then about noon the fast passenger train No. 1, going south, hit a Ford Automobile on the same crossing, and killed the three occupants of the car, Bud Clark and his wife, and a negro preacher named Atkins. The three had been to preaching and were on their way home when the accident occurred.

The car was torn to pieces and scattered down the track all the way to Verbena, and the three negroes were killed instantly.

A PART OF CONGRESSMAN DENT'S RECORD

For the benefit of those voters who are hearing so much of the Democratic cry about Republicans and negroes, we want to call attention to the indictment of Judge Tyson, Democratic Congressman of Montgomery, of the attitude which was displayed by the Democritic administration of Woodrow Wilson in favoring and petting the negroes.

The following extract from a campaign circular of Judge Tyson has some interesting facts concerning the Democratic party and its activities with the negroes. Judge Tyson was running for Congress in the second District at Montgomery, as a Democrat, and was opposed to Mr. Dent, who was the Democratic representative of the Montgomery District in the Wilson Congress during the war.

Bear in mind that the things which Judge Tyson tells on the Democrats about their nigger business, comes from a Democrat himself who now represents the Second Alabama District in Congress. Remember what Judge Tyson says when the Democrats come around trying to make you believe that the Republican party is the only party that caters to the negro. Remember especially the comparison which he draws of the war administration of William McKinley, a Republican, and Woodrow Wilson, a Democrat, in regard to the favors and positions of power that were accorded the negro.

S. H. Dent by reason of being the successor of Hon. A. A. Wiley became a member of the Millitary affairs Committee and by long membership became its Chairman and was the Chairman during the war in Europe. Legislation with respect to Military matters was referred to that committee which gave it perhaps more power than any other committee in Congress, except the similar committees of the Senate. The majority of that Committee of course were Democrats with Dent as its Chairman.

In the organization of the army there were a large number of negro troops. Some of these negro troops, about five hundred thousand were sent to France, others remained in this country. Emmet J. Scott, a negro, who is connected with the negro school at Tuskegee, Alabama, was appointed special Assistant Secretary of War and of course was second in authority in the war department, superior in the service over the white officers including the Generals. Under the regulations not only the Generals and all other officers, but all the privates were compelled to salute him just as they saluted Baker, the Secretary of War.

Many thousand negoes were appointed and Commissioned as officers, given authority, power and precedent over all enlisted white men. Those negro officers demanded recognition as white officers. The white private as well as colored was forced to salute, obey, and show the negro officer the same outward military coutesy and respect as white officers, and a failure to do so was punished by a fine or hard labor, one or both.

Hospitals were established in this country, and in France. The negro soldier and the white soldiers were sent to the same hospital and occupied bunks along side of each other. The young white women of this country who volunteered their service as nurses were compelled to nurse the negro inmates of the hospitals and to administer to their wants just as she did the white soldier. These conditions prevailed to the knowledge of Mr. Dent yet the record does not show that he ever entered a protest against the appointment of a negro as special assistant secretary of war, the commissioning of negro officers, or of conditions that prevailed in the hospitals and other places. In the war between the United States and Spain, the United States did not commission a single negro officer, although a Republican was Chairman of the Committee on Military affairs and not Mr. Dent. (McKinley was President.) Furthermore, the President, a Democrat, was forced to accept the service of Mr. Kahn, a Republican member of the Military Affairs Committee in procuring the enactment of legislation which he had, and the war department regarded as necessary for the success of the war, though Mr. Dent was Chairman of that Committee. The President publicly expressed his appreciation to Mr. Kahn for the services which he rendered.

The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature."

Section 2. Notice of the election hereby ordered together with the amendment hereby proposed shall be given by a proclamation of the Governor, which shall be published in one newspaper once a week in each county in the State, for at least eight successive weeks next preceding the day hereby appointed for such election.

The adoption of this amendment shall not affect in any manner any other amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which may be adopted pursuant to any act or resolution of this session of the Legislature. "Yes....." "No....." The choice of the elector shall be indicated by a cross mark made by him or under his direction, opposite the word expressing his desire.

Section 4. The votes cast at such election shall be canvassed, tabulated, and returns thereof made to the Secretary of State, and counted in the same manner as in elections for Representatives to the Legislature; and if it shall thereupon appear that a majority of the qualified electors who voted at such election upon the proposed amendment voted in favor of the same, such amendment shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the State of Alabama. The result of such election shall be made known by a proclamation of the Governor.

To Gain a Good Reputation.

"The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear." That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. People have found that it can be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.

NOTICE TO FARMERS AND SYRUP GROWERS

Mr. Farmer:

If you are awake to the present condition of things you will not be persuaded or made to believe by the small grocery dealer or anyone who is buying for the purpose of selling again, that the 1922 syrup crop is going to trail in the dust simply because the 1921 crop was sold below production cost. They will tell you that just across the river or down in south Alabama or over in Georgia all the farmers have turned their attention to syrup and that there is going to be an enormous crop, and that if farmers can get 50 cents a gallon for their syrup early in the season they will be lucky. All this with many other great stories of over production they will tell you to try to convince you that it is going to sell even cheaper than last years crop. But listen.

The writer of this letter has investigated very closely along the lines of supply and demand, and finds that the supply is going to be unusually short, and in addition to this, there is going to be thousands of gallons shipped away from Alabama through the two agricultural organizations which are in existence. Almost all over the entire south the prospect bids fair for the spring of 1923 to find us in the midst of a syrup panic and the price soaring around $1.25 to $1.50 per gallon. So take warning in due season, and don't listen to all the bluff that is so commonly thrown out by the smart guy to get something for nothing. You will do well to hold your syrup off the market until spring if you can, but if you are disposed to sell during the early part of the season, when you accept a price lower than 75 cents net you are hurt. The right way to sell all such products as this is to leave it at home until the price is agreed upon, then deliver it at a later date. A word to the wise is sufficient. What I say unto one, I say unto all. Watch.

A FARMER.

BLEED THROUGH

For Republican Ticket Straight

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 13, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

I hope you will allow me space in your paper to make a few suggestions in reference to the political campaign which is now being waged in our county.

I am a Chilton county man and have been reared in this county. I am a Republican and have always supported the nominees of the Republican Ticket, and expect to vote for all the Republican nominees at the next election, but it is reported that some of the Republicans will not support all the nominees.

It seems like the Democrats and a few dissatisfied Republicans are going to make a strong fight against Judge Reynolds. I have known Judge Reynolds all my life. He sold me merchandise when he was a merchant at Jemison and later when he came to Clanton and I have always found him to be square, in all his dealings.

I was tried before Judge Reynolds not long ago for violating the Prohibition Law and his sons, Grady and Omar, defended me. I was convicted by the Judge and I believe he was honest in his decision, and it is my opinion that no influence nor any lawyer can keep him from doing his duty as he sees it. One of the great objections a few have to him is that they are unable to pull him about and dictate to him.

Some Federal Prohibition officers and State Law Enforcement officers sometimes try to dictate the decisions in his Court but those who are familiar with him and his workings in the Courts know that no one can sway him from doing his official duty, for he convicts his best friends when he thinks they are guilty and acquited his worst enemies when he thinks they are innocent. I want to ask what right and privileges would we have if the Federal Officers and State Officers dictated the Chilton County Courts? All they want is publicity and do not care what they may make a poor and many times an innocent man suffer.

Republicans, I ask you to stop, look and listen, before you go to the polls and vote to change our Probate Judge.

I ask you what could a man expect of Rev. Messer, he being about 60 years of age and preaching practically all his life. Would he know how to deal with a man who is so unfortunate as to some times take a little liquor? Could we expect him to understand the unfortunate man who is charged with violating the Prohibition Law, or wouldn't it be his idea that every man who was caught with whiskey should have the full penalty of the law? Would he know to sympathize and give him justice in such cases, as Judge Reynolds does?

In conclusion I want to suggest to the voters of the County that we reelect Judge L. H. Reynolds and all the remainder of the Republican Ticket and then we would take no risk in the management of our county.

Very truly,
B. G. GORE.

ROBINSON LUMBER COMPANY LOCATED IN CLANTON

The establishment of headquarters of the Robinson Lumber Company in Clanton is a valuable addition to the business activity of our town. This Company, which is owned and operated by Mr. W. C. Robinson, has for many years been one of the leading lumber concerns in this section of Alabama.

Mr. Robinson has bought the old warehouse property of the Chilton Warehouse and Manufacturing Company just west of the railroad yards at Clanton. He already has one planing mill in operation and is installing another one this week.

One notable feature of Mr. Robinson's mill here is that all his machinery is to be driven by electricity.

The Robinson Lumber Company here will handle the product of many of the small mills in this county, dressing and finishing the rough lumber and putting the same on the big markets of the country.

Mr. Robinson has also moved his family to Clanton, and lives in his home next to the Baptist Pastorium. His many friends here are glad to have him locate his business in our city, and also to have him and his family as permanent residents of our town.

PUPIL MAKES PERFECT SCORE

The following examination was written by a pupil in the Seventh grade of the Clanton school. Read the questions. Note carefully the the wording of the answers and see if you would not have given 100%:

U. S. History.

1. Explain the Monroe Doctrine.

The Monroe Doctrine was a doctrine written by James Monroe in 1823. He told the world in a letter to Congress explaining that no European could colonize any more of America and that no European nation could interfere in the affairs of the United States; and that the U. S. would not interfere in the affairs of any European nation. This was done because Russia, who owned Alaska, was planning to get control of the Oregon territory.

2. State the cause of the Panic of 1817; of 1837.

The causes of the Panic of 1817 were wild speculation, business failures, the pressure of the National Bank upon the State Banks for money lent them, and the pressure of the State Banks upon the people for money lent them.

The causes of the Panic of 1837 were, (1) Wild speculation, (2) President Jackson's refusal to accept paper money in payment of public debt, (3) The going out of business of the National Bank, and (4) The peope lost confidence in the State Banks.

3. Give the causes and results of the Mexican War.

The cause of the Mexican war was that after Texas had withdrawn from Mexico and had been admitted to the U. S., the Mexicans came upon an American scouting party and killed all of them. The American general reported to the President who sent word to Congres that American blood had been shed upon American soil. The answer Congress sent back was War.

The result of this war was that California and New Mexico were given to the United States and in return the U. S. paid Mexico five million dollars.

4. What was the Missouri Compromise?

The Missouri Compromise was a compromise between the North and the South. Missouri wanted to be admitted into the Union and so did Maine. As both were supposed to be free states, this compromise was signed to balance the states and Maine was admitted as a free state, while Missouri was admitted as a slave state although it was north of the Mason and Dixon line.

5. Tell of the progress in every way from Washington's time to Taylor's time.

The progress in every way from Washington's time to Taylor's time was that instead of night watchmen they had police, the homes and scenery of the towns were made more beautiful, they had gas lights, there were many inventions, among them the sewing machine, the hay mower, and the discovery that ether would make a person insensible during an operation and that chloroform would do for the same use. There were many telegraph lines and railroads. The pump had come into use instead of the open well.

6. Explain why you have or have not learned History this year.

I have learned History this year because, (1) Dileted by the teacher, (2) My lessons were easy and I could not help but know them, (3) I took my book home every night and studied in it, (4) I have listened attentively to every thing that has been said in class, so that I would know it in case I should need the information.

ANOTHER ENDORSEMENT OF THE CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL

Editor Union-Banner:

If you will kindly allow me the space, I shall be glad to say a few words of endorsement for the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton. Since undergoing an operation there, and observing the manner in which patients are treated and cared for, I feel that I am qualified to speak for the benefit of the institution.

I want to thank Dr. Gragg, the surgeon, Miss Gardner, the superintendent, and all the other nurses for their kindness shown me while there. I think that this hospital is an institution which we all should appreciate.

I received the very best of attention in every way, and I do not think it necessary to go away from our home hospital, while we have such competent doctors and nurses, and such splendid equipment here at home.

I wish to thank everyone for the kindness shown me in every way. That the hospital may continue to be a great success, which it surely deserves, is my earnest desire.

Respectfully,
MRS. C. H. ROBINSON,
C. H. ROBINSON.

POWER COMPANY ADVERTISING ALABAMA IN MOVING PICTURES

Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, which company is this month celebrating its tenth anniversary as a Birmingham enterprise, concurring in a recent declaration from Roger Babson, noted statistician, that "Alabama is destined to become the leading industrial state of the union," has begun a movement which officials of his company believe will greatly hasten the day when the state shall reach the goal which Mr. Babson predicted for it.

"This month marks the tenth anniversary of the Alabama Power Company as a Birmingham institution," Mr. Martin, stated, "and it is with particular pride that on this eventful occasion we can point to the remarkable achievements this company has wrought during its few years of actual development work in Alabama, and to the fact that probably no other organization is doing more to promote the industrial growth of the state.

"This is due, in measure, to our exceptional facilities for conducting a systematic promotion campaign and to the fact that our interests are almost statewide, and not confined to any particular section. There is, naturally, a selfish motive behind our efforts; as Alabama grows, so grows the Alabama Power Company."

Making Movies of the State.

Mr. Martin then outlined some of the methods which are being pursued by the company for selling Alabama to the nation. He referred to full page advertisements being run in some of the leading technical publications of the country, detailing the wonderful advantages which Alabama offers to manufacturers, and particularly to some moving pictures which the company is completing picturizing these advantages. These pictures, he state, are first to be shown in every county in Alabama in which there is a moving picture theatre, and they will then be shown throughout the whole of the United States, including showings in many of the colleges and universities of the country.

Mr. Martin explained that there are five of the pictures, one reel each, so arranged as to tell a complete story of Alabama's resources and advantages, featuring the water power resources of the state, and particularly the development of the Alabama Power Company.

Selling Alabama to Alabamians.

It was stated by Mr. Martin that these pictures will first be used to sell Alabama to Alabamians. Arrangements are being perfected, he stated, to show the pictures in 108 theatres, and several high schools and colleges of the state. The showing in the schools will give the students a much better idea of the state's resources and better acquaint them with its possibilities. The pictures will also be shown at public gatherings, conventions, etc. In addition to showing the pictures in colleges and universities of the country, the national organization of the Y. M. C. A. will distribute these films through their New York office, which will give them additional showings in every section of the United States.

Maintains Promotion Department.

Mr. Martin stated that the company maintains a promotion department, which devotes its time to inducing new industries to locate in those sections of Alabama served by the company. He stated that only recently representatives of the company were sent to the New England textile district, where they conferred with heads of some of the largest of these interests, telling of Alabama's plentiful and cheap native labor, ideal climatic conditions as affecting living conditions, superior transportation facilities and abundant hydro-electric power.

As a result of the efforts of these representatives, Mr. Martin stated that several large textile manfacturers sent their representatives to Alabama and these gentlemen returned north a few days ago with expressions of entire satisfaction with what they had been shown. "We confidently believe that Alabama will ultimately receive many benefits from these efforts of our representatives," Mr. Martin stated.

Running Large Ads.

The Power Company has been running a series of full page advertisements in a number of industrial publications, directing attention to Alabama's resources. These include the Iron Age, Textile World, Cotton, and American Wool and Cotton Reporter. It is known that a number of inquiries have been received by various civic organizations in the cities located in the territory served by the company from manufacturers who have had their attention attracted to this state by virtue of these ads.

Mr. Martin stated that it is the policy of his company to work in conjunction with the various civic authorities of the state in its promotion work. He stated that every chamber of commerce in the state has been invited to tell the outside world of the advantages offered in their respective communities over the company's highpowered radiophone broadcasting station located in Birmingham. A number of the civic bodies have accepted this invitation. The power company is said to have been the first industrial organization in the United States to make use of the radiophone for such purposes.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

The shame of a blemished face!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Blackheaded pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun,—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear-pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

ALABAMA NOTES

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK TOLD IN BRIEF.

Need for bargers for the Warrior River service has has again been referred to authorities at Washington, barger which can be towed by steamers plying this channel. By the use of barges, it is set out, considerable overhead, which cannot be eliminated by the self-propelled barges, will be cut out, the expense will be only with the tow boats. As in the self-propelled barges, the crew of the boat must remain practically idle while unloading and loading, while with the barges, the terminal force is kept busy and the steamer is preparing for other work, probably starting out immediately on another trip with loaded barges. The traffic on the river is constantly improving, the down stream freight growing steadily with prospects of continued growth. Considerable coal is again moving on the river, while other products of the Birmingham district are moving steadily to Mobile, mostly for export. The bins at Mobile now contain 18,000 tons of manganese ore belonging to the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, to be melted at the Bessemer blast furnace where ferro-manganese is being produced for use at the steel plant at Ensley.

A report of the work of Brewton's public health nurse for the year ending October 1, has been made public and those who have sponsored the work are gratified at the accomplishments of Miss Della Coxwell, the nurse in charge, as shown by the report. Hundreds of cases have been treated by the nurse during the year and more than a thousand visits made to homes in the interest of health and sanitation, the report shows. The financial statement shows that approximately $2,000 have been expended by the nursing service with a balance of nearly $2,500 now in the treasury.

Strong protests against any cut in the appropriation of the health department for the present fiscal year was voiced by a delegation of women headed by Miss Sallie Black, representing the Axis Club, the Council of Clubs, the Jewish Women's Clubs and other organizations at a conference with President D. E. McLendon, of the Birmingham city commission. Mr. McLendon outlined the city's financial situation and suggested that a cut in the appropriation probably could not be avoided. It is stated that a reduction of $10,000 was suggested.

Active steps on the part of the officials of the Alabama Power Company to organize their entire company for the University of Alabama "Million Dollar Campaign" drive was made known late last week. The company will organize its forces in each of the 35 cities of the state where it has offices and not only the university alumni of the firm will be solicited, but, after solicitation among the alumni has been completed, the power company will offer its organization intact to the campaign heads of the university drive to be used at their command.

Letters which are in the form of official notices of the death of the late state treasurer, Judge R. L. Bradley, and the appointment of George W. Ellis, by Governor Kilby, to fill the vacancy created through Judge Bradley's death, have been mailed by State Treasurer Ellis to all county officials and other parties paying money to the state. Together with these letters, Mr. Ellis is forwarding a certification of his appointment as treasurer, over the signature of William P. Cobb, secretary of state.

Mail now being received at the offices of the pig iron manufacturing companies in Birmingham include inquiries for pig iron for delivery during the first quarter or first six months of 1923. With a few exceptions all inquiries are still being held in abeyance, the furnace interests not being anxious to get into next year's business until a market has been settled on. Sales right now are still in small lots and on a basis of $28.50 to $30 per ton.

The greatest need that Bessemer has for further development is the building of a large number of houses, according to real estate dealers of that city. All of the dealers state that they are not able to list a sufficient number of any class of houses to supply their demand. One dealers stated recently that he had calls for at least 100 houses more than he could supply, and that there was a great demand here for rental property.

The Beltonia Hotel, after being remodeled inside and out, has been opened to the public with J. F. Creel as proprietor.

More than 400 miles of unpaved streets and alleys were worked, over 87,000 tons of garbage was removed and a large amount of other work was accomplished by the street and garbage department of Birmingham during the past fiscal year, according to the annual report of George C. Moore, city street commissioner.

The American Fuel Company has opened a first-class restaurant adjoining their commissary at Beltona. W. A. Mitchell, manager of the local market at that place for the past year, is proprietor.

Alonza Poole of Montgomery was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

Twenty-one towns on the branch lines of the Louisville and Nashville railroad will not have their telegraph service restored and the state will be unable to collect penalties aggregating $914,000 against the Western Union Telegraph company as a result of decisions of the supreme court recently. The decisions affirmed the decisions of the circuit court of Montgomery county which held that the Western Union Telegraph company could not be forced to reinstate the service which was abandoned when the federal court ordered it to vacate the right of way of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Revenues derived by the state through the department of agriculture from Oct. 1, 1918, to Sept. 30, 1922, which reverted into the general fund totaled $335,529.96, according to a report for that period submitted by W. B. Allgood, chief clerk of the department, to Gov. Thomas E. Kilby. Total receipts for the same period are shown as $536,386.23 and total disbursements include, besides running expenses, appropriations made to the experiment stations, soil survey work and county agents' salaries.

A large quantity of export cotton from Memphis to Mobile will be handled by the Warrior River barges from Cordova if a plan now under consideration between official of the barge line and the Frisco Railroad is adopted. The railroad would handle the cotton from Memphis to Cordova, where it would be transferred to the barges and brought to Mobile. The barge system has offered to accept a reasonable division of the freight charges.

B. W. Pruet, president of the Anniston National Bank, has been elected vice president for Alabama and a director in the Atlanta Joint Stock Land Bank recently organized in Atlanta. Acceptance of this position in the new organization will not interfere in any way with Mr. Pruet's connection with the Anniston bank, it was said, and he will continue to live in Anniston and in his present position.

Information has been received from W. G. McGowan, Baldwin county demonstration agent, by Guy A. Hart, drainage engineer for the experiment station and extension service at Auburn, that the Alabama Tobacco Growing corporation of Summerdale has purchased 24,000 feet of drain tile to be installed on 20 acres of land located between Summerdale and Robertsdale.

Alex Giles, a young farmer, son of S. A. Giles, of Keyes Mill, Madison County, was killed near that place while at work in a gravel pit, from which gravel was being taken for road construction work in that locality. A steep gravel bank caved in upon him and he was dead before his comrades could dig him out.

Two 60-gallon stills were destroyed and about 700 gallons of beer were poured out by Federal Prohibition Officers C. R. Stone and B. H. Crumpton, Sheriff Cornett and Deputy Perry Campbell in a recent raid in Kentuck Mountain near Anniston.

Definite instructions for the standardization of exhibits of fruits and vegetables at community and county fairs are contained in a circular prepared by R. G. Briggs, extension horticulturist, and sent to the county agents and other agricultural leaders.

Pell City's new $12,000 kindergarten is now nearing completion. The new building when completed will consist of an open air room, infants' school, nursery, dining rooms, two bed rooms, four baths, and a sleeping porch.

Cotton is fast coming into Collensville and is being sold at a very satisfactory price as buyers are giving 21 cents. More than 1,000 bales have come in per week and have been since the middle of September.

T. J. McSweany, for the past 12 years the British vice counsel at Mobile, died at Mobile after a brief illness. He had resided at Mobile for a long time and was well known in local shipping circles.

Renewal for another year of the lease under which the Alabama Power Company operates the government's electrical generating steam plant at Muscle Shoals has been announced by Secretary of War Weeks.

The new $20,000 Junior High School at Nanceville is now under construction. Sand, gravel and cement are being brought there daily, making ready for the real work which is to begin soon.

The Anniston High School will be opened for the fall term Monday, October 23, in the new $250,000 high school building, according to a statement made by Superintendent D. R. Murphey, of the city schools.

Practically every business house in Huntsville was closed at noon October 12th to permit employes to attend the Madison County Fair.

The state highway department has announced that they would take over the policing of all highways of the state and appoint inspectors with police power for each county. The fines for violation of the state traffic laws will range from $10 to $500. The new rules go into effect October 22.

The second annual field trial of the Alabama Coon Hunter's association will be held November 20, 21 and 22, on the Molette and Saffold plantation, near Selma and Orrville, as decided by the executive committee of the association.

Green Retherford was a visitor to Birmingham Monday in the interest of his furniture business.

I desire, as the Chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County, to take this means of expressing my thanks to the many loyal Republicans of the county who have manifested a great interest in the success of our Republican candidates on Nov. 7th, and have shown their faith by their works. Many of you have rendered a degree of cooperation to the management of the campaign that merits you the highest praise, and the most profound honors at the hands of your party.

I want to say to the Republicans that the splendid work which you have been doing in various ways has served in a great measure to assure the election of every candidate on the Republican ticket on Nov. 7th. But let me leave this one thought with you. If we stop work now, it could be possible that we would lose all the ground we have gained, and enough more in addition to cause the defeat of some or all of the Republican candidates. I want to urge you to stand by the posts of duty loyally from now until the election, just as you have since the Primary, and we shall win the victory without a doubt.

I especially want to thank the members of the Executive Committee and the Campaign Committee for the splendid response they have rendered to every request that has been made of them in the interest of the campaign. The attendance of the members of these committees at the meeting at the Court House on Saturday, Oct. 7th, was a wonderful exhibition of your loyalty and faithfulness and zeal for the sacred causes which we have always sought to have our party espouse in Chilton County. No finer demonstration of unity and devotion to the party has ever been shown. I as the Chairman of your Campaign Committee, want to personally thank everyone of you who were there to represent and report the conditions of your communities.

Now in conclusion, let me again urge you that you keep the trail hot from now until the 7th of November. The opposition party do not seem to be doing very much, but you may be fooled if you think they are not. They are conducting one of the most sweeping "still hunts" that has ever been inaugurated against the Republican party in Chilton County, and we must match their efforts with a like degree of interest and thorough work for our candidates.

I want to urge every Republican to communicate with me in regard to any and all matters which you find or know about for the interest and success of our ticket.

Yours respectfully,
M. D. FOSHEE,
Chairman Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County.

LIBRARY CONTEST IN FULL SWING WITH TUTWILER SOCIETY LEADING

With only three more days to work interest and enthusiasm continues to grow in the biggest contest ever undertaken in the High School. Library Week is proving a great success. The campaign has become a grert contest between the two strong literary Societies, the Tutwiler and the Lanierian. At the time of going to press the Tutwiler Society is in the lead by a very small margin.

Each student has set himself to the task of raising one dollar for the High School Library. Many have already far exceeded their quota. "Every Student, One Dollar" is our slogan. The students will ask you for TEN CENTS. That is all. You may give as much as you wish and to as many as you wish.

Friends of the school are welcoming this opportunity to give a small bit which will mean so much for the student body when the final count is made. May we add two hundred of the most wholesome books that can be obtained to the library of the high school? For a few cents on the part of each individual in the community your boys and girls will have access to some two hundred more of good books.

May we not lay off one or two little luxuries for a day or two and help the boys and girls "Go over the top."

Not to Be Trusted.—Some years ago in a Western State, then a territory, a popular citizen became involved with an influential and overbearing character and killed him.

Public sentiment leaned toward the defendant, but the law was against him, and, when the day of trial came the defendant, his counsel and friends held a consulation, and, fearful of the consequences, they decided that that defendant should plead guilty and beg the court's mercy.

The jury was charged by the court and retired. Presently it returned, and the foreman said:

"We find defendant not guilty."

The judge viewed the jury in surprise and said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, how be it? This defendant pleads guilty, and you find him not guilty?"

The foreman answered:

"Well, your Honor, the defendant is such a liar we can't believe him under oath."—The Progressive Grocer.

MRS FRANCIS DUKE DEAD

Mrs. Francis Duke, widow of the late A. D. Duke, died Tuesday afternoo, Oct. 17, 1922, at the home of her son, Ben Duke. She was buried Wednesday morning at New Salem. Burial was in charge of Martin. Funeral was conducted by Rev. Nelson.

"Well! Strong!"

Mrs. Anna Clover, of R. F. D. 5, Winfield, Kans., says: "I began to suffer some months ago with womanly troubles, and I was afraid I was going to get in bed. Each month I suffered with my head, back and sides—a weak, aching, nervous feeling. I began to try medicines as I knew I was getting worse. I did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me."

If you have been experimenting on yourself with all kinds of different remedies, better get back to good, old, reliable Cardui, the medicine for women, about which you have always heard, which has helped many thousands of others, and which should help you, too. Ask your neighbor about it; she has probably used it.

POOR ORIGINAL

RED CROSS PUTS UP $9,739,872

Year's Budget Stresses Relief and Services at Home and Overseas.

MILLIONS FOR VETERAN AID.

Over $3,000,000 Allotted to the Disabled—Foreign Work Lessens.

Washington.—Expenditures totaling $9,739,872.47 for carrying through its program of services and relief during the fiscal year in the United States and overseas are authorized in the budget of the American Red Cross, effective July 1, 1922. This total is $2,735,975 less than the expenditures for the last fiscal year, when disbursements reached $12,475,847.69, it is announced at National Headquarters in a statement emphasizing the necessity of continued support of the organization by enrollment during the annual Roll Call, November 11-November 30 inclusive. This total for the budget is exclusive of the large financial operations of the 3,300 active Red Cross Chapters, which, it is estimated, will more than double the total.

War Veterans Have First Call

First call on Red Cross funds is for the disabled ex-service men, of whom 27,487 were receiving treatment from the Government on June 1 last. This work for veterans and their families in a wide variety of service that the Government is not authorized to render and for which it has neither funds nor facilities has the call on $3,030,692.90 during the current year, or about $366,000 more than was expended last year for soldier service. Adding the funds disbursed in this humanitarian work of physical reconstitution following the World War by the Chapters throughout the country will approximate a total for the current year approaching $10,000,000. This work, in the opinion of the Surgeon General's office, will not reach its peak before 1926.

Through its Chapters the American Red Cross is equipped to find the individual ex-service man, help him in his problems and difficulties, provide immediately for his necessities, and open the way for him to the Government compensation and aid to which he is entitled. The extension of this work to the families of such men proves to them that the Red Cross has lost none of its sympathy nor will to service manifested in wartime. Similarly the service goes out to the men still in the Army and Navy, 11,087 of whom were under treatment in Government hospitals on June 1, 1922.

Greater Domestic Program

This year—after five years of constructive effort during the war and after the armistice—brings with it a greater responsibility for domestic service to the American Red Cross. The budget for foreign operations, however, totals $3,404,000, but of this amount $1,834,000 is for medical relief and hospital supplies for Russia, which is a part of the gift made by the American Red Cross in 1921 to the Russian famine relief work of the American Relief Administration program. The child health service in Europe continues, moreover, and $654,000 is appropriated for this work undertaken in 1920. Other items in the stringently diminished foreign program include $200,000 to support the League of Red Cross Societies, $22,000 for nurses' training schools instituted by the Red Cross abroad, and $600,000 for liquidation of the general Red Cross foreign relief program.

Prepared for Emergencies

For disaster relief the Red Cross has set aside $750,000, and for emergencies in Chapter work $500,000 to be available for domestic, insular and foreign demands. This is more than $395,000 above last year's expenditures. For service and assistance to the 3,300 Chapters and their branches $1,293,000 is provided by the National organization.

Other budget items of importance in the domestic program include $200,000 for assistance to other organizations and education institutions for training Red Cross nurses and workers; $190,000 for Roll Call assistance furnished to Chapters; $100,000 for unforeseen contingencies.

Of the total budget less than $500,000 is allotted for management in the National organization. No cash estimate, of course, is possible to weigh the value of the service by volunteers in the Chapters.

Red Cross Water First Aid Makes Life-Saving Gain

More than 325 Chapters engaged in life saving or water first aid last year with the result that the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps has set a new high mark for enrollment and the number of qualified life savers developed. The influence of "learn to swim week" in many localities is reducing the water fatalities through instruction and the wider dissemination of resuscitation methods demonstrated by the Red Cross representatives. Excellent work has been done in teaching a large part of the American population how to take care of itself in the water. Growing appreciation for this Red Cross Life-Saving Service is shown by the compulsory instruction adopted in many cities for members of the police and fire departments in the prone pressure method of resuscitation.

Help to Help Others

You can't "give until it hurts"—for giving an American dollar to join the American Red Cross helps you to help others who are hurt and who need relief.

ALABAMA NOTES

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK TOLD IN BRIEF.

Considerable interest was shown in the postponed contest between Jack Carrath and W. B. Lee, candidates for sheriff of Lawrence county in the recent democratic primary. The case came up recently and charges were made that the election at the Moulton box was illegal in as much as it was claimed that some of the tickets were marked outside the booth. But little evidence was offered at that time. The executive committee on the evidence produced decided in favor of W. B. Lee, who claimed the nomination by a majority of four votes.

Company M of the Alabama National Guard at Birmingham, has moved into permanent quarters in the old post office building. Very soon there is to be a swimming pool constructed in the building which will be for the men of the entire Birmingham battalion, comprising five companies. There will also be placed in the building a billiard and pool parlor.

H. Grady Christian, of Samantha arrived in Tuscaloosa recently for the purpose of having himself arrested for murder in the first degree. He assisted in filling out the warrant gave the names of the witnesses then asked that he be placed in jail. Christian stated that two negroes were fighting and that while attempting to separate them, one turned on and attacked him and he shot him twice in self defense.

A deed has been filed in the probate court of Madison county transferring ownership of the Mastin Lake property of 313 acres from T. Lacy Mastin to the W. R. Rison Banking Company, for a consideration of $33,010.98. The farm which is regarded as one of the finest in Madison county, has a large fishing lake and is ornamented with a fine old ante-bellum residence.

Residents of the prairies in the vicinity of Greensboro are hauling water in barrels to water their stock, as a result of the protracted drouth. The artesian well at Cedarville, which usually flows a large stream, has dwindled until it is scarcely as large as a pencil. Great suffering will follow further prolongation of a dry spell.

The appointment of a probation officer for Madison county has been taken under advisement by the board of revenue on suggestion of Mrs. L. B. Bush, of Huntsville, head of the child's welfare organization, who appeared before the board and said such an officer is necessary to the welfare of delinquent children.

Dallas county will spend $36,000 on roads and bridges for the fiscal year, which began October 1, is the announcement which comes from Judge Watkins Vaughan of the probate court and in addition to this sum the county will add a sum for painting all the steel bridges in the county.

A special election was held October 3 in five school districts in Winston county for the purpose of voting upon the three mill tax for special school purposes. The tax passed in all districts by large majorities. In Wetumpka only one vote was cast against it.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Marie B. Owen, director of the department of archives and history at Montgomery that plans are under way to mark the place on the Alabama river where the notable incident in the war of 1813 known as "the canoe fight" took place.

The capture of four more convicts who enjoyed a brief period of liberty when they, along with 17 others, escaped from the Wegra convict camp, has been reported. The men were caught by deputies and police in various parts of the state and were returned to the camp.

Appointment of three new deputies, completing the addition of six extra officers to the sheriff's forces as recently requested by the Birmingham Law Enforcement League to aid in suppressing lawlessness in the district has been announced by Sheriff J. C. Hartsfield.

Falling into a barrel of vinegar, head foremost, is thought responsible for the death of the little baby daughter of Mrs. Lee Marshall, living a few miles from Fayette. The child was revived after the distressing accident but died later of pneumonia.

The industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce at Tuscaloosa has signed a contract with R. E. Davis, of W. B. Davis & Son, for the location of a hosiery mill in Tuscaloosa.

The A. W. Brown Drug Company at Andalusia has installed a high-powered radio receiving set with a large amplifier and high voltage batteries in their home and will give entertainment each evening.

Papers of incorporation have been filed at Gadsden which show that Dr. C. B. Foreman, of Attalla, will be the president of the Alabama City Bank, which is now ready to open its doors.

The planing mill of the J. F. Goddard Lumber Company at Wetumpka recently suffered a damage by fire estimated at $50,000.

Spread Christmas Joy Abroad

More than 100,000 Christmas boxes for the children of Central Europe were packed by the Junior Red Cross last year. The spread of Christmas joy through these boxes will be largely increased this year because of the plans already under way.

FAST LIVING IS ALARMING TO A READER OF THE BANNER

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to say a few words to the young people and the mothers of our country. Boy's have you ever stopped to think what is confronting you in the way you are living and conducting yourseves? I went to a singing last Sunday afternoon and two young people on the back seat kept up such a disturbance that it almost ruined the services. Do you think it was the fault of the girl? I do not; it was either the fault of the girl's mother or the young man she was with.

Mothers, you should know where your girls are and who they are with, for it has come to the age of the world when a great many of the young men are not fit to keep company with your girls. When you let your girls take car rides with young men day or night, they generally reap what they sow sooner or later. It is time for the fathers and mothers to wake up to the fact that they are going to have to give account for much that their children do in this world.

We have young girls in our neighborhood who will not attend our Sunday school; but when anyone gives a party during the week they will go and sit out in the car or buggy until they get ready to return home. When they get home, mother will ask them if there was a good crowd there, and they will say, oh yes. They do not know who was there because they never go in the house at all. Many mothers will not believe that their daughters would do such as this, but if they will get out and look around at what is going on, many of them will be surprised at what they find their girls are doing.

When you go along the road at night and see from two to four cars parked alongside the road, you may then begin to wonder whither are the girls and boys drifting? And the young boys and girls are not all responsible for this condition. There are many married women and married men who are stepping aside from the paths of rectitude and engaging in practices that are tearing down our morals and destroying our civilization.

Where do you want your girls and boys to spend eternity, and where will they spend it if they keep up life at these rates? I say it is high time the people of this country are waking up and putting a stop to such practices.

Mothers and fathers should not trust their children in the company of questionable characters out alone at night in automobiles. The automobiles are the biggest damnation to this world besides whiskey. Don't send your children to Sunday school. Go and take them and then you will know where they are.

My heart's desire is to see our people live up to their Christian duty. If we would do this many of the sorrows and heartaches would be avoided.

J. Dudley Collins Writes to Voters

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 16, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words to the people?

As the time is close for us to go to the polls and cast our votes, I wish to ask all of the people who claim to be Republicans to vote our county ticket. I know we did not all get our choice, but as I said before the primary that your choice would be mine and I am there yet. I for one, will never vote for or endorse anyone for any place who does not vote the ticket straight. I have no confidence in anyone who does not stay with their party. Just stop and think what happened twelve years ago, and then stop again and think what followed. It's no use for me to say for you all know well what happened. I say lets all stay together, lets don't let a little personal matter cause us to vote against our own interest, that is what I hear some few are planning to do. I expect to always vote for the best interest of the county and I feel sure it is safer in the hands of the Republican party. So lets all walk out on the election day like men and women and vote together as we did in 1918 and victory will be ours. I am not in position to go out among the people, as my work calls for me every day, although I am willing to do any thing I can to elect the entire ticket. So if any thing I can do let me know and I will be right there with the goods.

Yours for the Entire Ticket,
J. DUDLEY COLLINS.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

This letter has been received from Dr. Thomas. Be governed accordingly:

Mr. Ira Pegues,
Clanton, Ala.

My dear Mr. Pegues:

This will thank you for your letter of recent date which I find upon my desk today. I will try to wedge Clanton in on my own program, offering you for the year "The Project Method of Teaching." May I ask these questions?

1. Is the group a county group, or are they located in and immediately around Clanton?

2. Will it be absolutely necessary for the group to meet on Saturday? The first Saturday I have vacant now is November 4, at which time I will be glad to come to Clanton and meet the group, making the enrollments and starting them off in the course.

The payment of fees will be perfectly satisfactory, and the teachers need not worry about that.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours sincerely,
JAS. S. THOMAS,
Director.

Please meet on November 4th, at 2:30 o'clock.

IRA PEGUES,
Group Secretary.

YOU HAVE A KINGDOM. WHAT USE ARE YOU MAKING OF IT?

Each of us has his own kingdom—the kingdom of our influence. What are we doing to better this little kingdom of your influence?

Are the schools of our community better for anything we have done—the term longer; the building better; the grounds more beautiful; the interest of the patrons more marked; the enthusiasm of the children for school work more intense? What of the progressiveness of the community? Have we done anything to interest men and women in better farming, richer lands, finer livestock, more legumes, better winter cover crops, prettier homes, better roads?

What of the moral and spiritual life of the community? Has our influence done anything to lift the moral tone; to drive out blind tigers and immorality; to discourage quarreling, back biting, lawsuits and slander; to make men and women more tolerant, less narrowly sectarian and partisan, more generously interested in one another and in community progress?

You have a kingdom—the kingdom of your influence. The test of a man is not the size of his opportunity, but the extent to which he uses it. What are you doing with yours?—The Progressive Farmer.

CHALLENGE TO DEMOCRATS ON NEGRO QUESTION IS MADE

Editor Union-Banner:

It is being reported over the county that the Democrats want a joint discussion but that they cannot get any Republicans to participate in one. I want to state that it has always been my policy whenever I spoke to give the opposing side an opportunity to discuss their side of the question, and shall be glad now to divide time with them at any of our meetngs. The only thing I request is that they let me know at lest two days in advance of the place they want the joint discussion, also tell me who the speaker will be, for I will speak with any person that Reverend Messer will vouch for, and I assure them that nothing will be said by me that will be offensive to them, but on the other hand, it will be a pleasure to me to show the people of this county that more negroes were appointed to office by the Democratic government than has ever been appointed by the Republican party, and that during the recent war, which was during a Democratic administration, our own white girls who had volunteered their services and were sent across the waters, were forced to enter hospitals and administer the wants of the negro men, the same as they were the white men.

The Democratic paper says the only issue between the two political parties in Chilton County is "White Supremacy." They know that this is false for the Republicans in Chilton County are just as white and just as far above the negro equality as they are.

I do not believe in dark alley conferences but I believe that all the voters are entitled to know where each candidaae stands.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

Democrats "Out of Soap" Begin to Holler Nigger at Republicans

The Democratic party in Chilton County has reached that place where it always goes when pinched in a campaign and called upon to present a real vital reason why it claims that the people should support its nominees. The only subterfuge which they have as a last resort is to begin to holler "Nigger," and accuse the Republicans of being in favor of social equality. As an instance of this we reproduce below two clippings from the Chilton County News, the Democratic organ of Chilton County, the newspaper which is being run under the management of Mr. J. L. Johnson the Democratic candidate for the Legislature from Chilton County. Here is the base, spurious, fallacious, hypocritical, unveracious, perfidious political rot which they hurl into the face of the Republicans of this county:

"We would hate to believe that a majority of the voters of Chilton County are in favor of the political and social equality of the negro. The issue is clearly drawn here this year, and on Nov. 7th you are going to vote either for or against that issue. You cannot dodge the question this time. Your vote in November will tell the world where you stand."

And in another place this statement, than which a baser or more malicious falsehood was never uttered:

"The only real issue that can possibly exist between honest men and women in a local campaign in the South is the question of white supremacy. We all agree that we need honest, safe and economical administration of the local affairs, and no one really believes that the political creed of a man makes him either incapable or a crook. The person who claims otherwise is branding himself either as an imbecile or a fraud. The Democratic ticket is the only one in the field here now that stands forever pledged to white supremacy."

Now, folks, it is going to take some mighty plain talk for us to reply to the above calumnous insinuations. If you don't think your nerves are strong enough to stand it, our advice is that you stop right here and read no further.

At the outset, we will say that one who holds such views at those expressed by the Chilton County News is worse than what they call an imbecile or a crook; he is both of them to the superlative degree, and is an out and out counterfeit; and is furthermore so careless of the truth that it would be dangerous business to entrust to him the political education of a monkey, say nothing of the task of spreading what ought to be wholesome and elevating thought to the intelligent people of a civilized county. A mind that thinks such stuff is degrading, unwholesome, and unleavening, and belongs nowhere else other than in the garbage can.

In the years past the Democratic party has paid dearly for making such untrue and unwise insinuations upon the Republicans of Chilton County. They know that such utterances are maliciously intended to insult every man who has been a supporter of the Republican party in the past. And they ought to have learned by this time that such methods do not get them anything but the bitterest hatred from those whom they so unrighteously accuse.

The Chilton County News knows that the men who are running for office on the Republican ticket believe in the supremacy of the white race as much as do those who are on the Democratic ticket. They say that the issue of white supremacy is the only real issue that can exist. We say that is is the one issue that CANNOT and DOES NOT exist at all between the two parties in Chilton County.

In the North, where the white people practice and indulge in political and social equality with t eh g,oenoyr and social equality with the negro, you will find Democrats and Republicans alike, associating with the negro to an equal degree. In fact it is a common practice up there for the two political parties to vie with each other in favoring the negro in the hope of capturing the negro votes. These are FACTS and the Chilton County News KNOWS that they are TRUE. Let them deny it if they will.

But the only reason the negro is introduced into the politics of Chilton County is because the Democratic newspaper has no issue to throw at the Republicans. The Democratic party here has no record of intelligent and commendatory service to the people to which they may point. On the other hand they have a record of greed and corruption and extravagance that is as black as the Ace of spades, and it haunts the Democratic candidates and the Democratic newspaper so mercilessly that they are afraid to get out in the open and carry their past life to the people even in broad open day light. Hence, all they can do is to get around he corners and in the back alleys and whisper their dirty insinuations about the Republicans and the Nigger, when the KNOW themselves that the record of their own party has more Nigger smeared on it, and in it, and through it, than the Republican party has ever had.

They know that their great hero Woodrow Wilson, appointed more niggers to office than was ever done by any other President, be he Democrat or Republican. They know that the Democratic party is guilty of the charges of Judge Tyson in regard to the nigger business, which charges were published in The Union-Banner of last week.

They say we all agree that we need honest, safe and economical administration of the local affairs. Yes the people of Chilton County have long ago decided that they need this kind of administration of their business. And they have also found out that the only way they can get it is at the hands of the Republican party. They know that it makes no difference how good a man the Democrats might put in an office, the influence of the ruling element of the Democratic party would control him in the affairs of his office, and the interests of the common people would be trodden under foot. This was clearly shown during the administration of Judge Deason.

If the Republicans of Chilton county have not given the people a wise and economical administration, why don't the Democrats make an issue of their record and go before the people with their argument? But they admit that they have no issue there and have to fall back on their spurious "nigger dope."

The political creed of a man does not necessarily make him incapable or a crook; but the political influences and environments that put a man in an office always have much to do with shaping his administration of the affairs of the office. Here we will say that the people of Chilton County MIGHT sometimes be willing to trust a Democrat, but they are afraid of the deep unseen forces of unrighteousness that shape the destinies of the Democratic party and are so sure to turn up somewhere to throttle the proper and competent administration of affairs of the common people of the county.

Now here is the climax of the untrue and unwise utterance of our Democratic contemporary: "The Democratic ticket is the only one in the field here now that stands forever pledged to white supremacy."

We do not feel that it is necessary for us to say that this statement is untrue. We do not feel that the Chilton County News nor the Democratic candidates who are "pussyfooting" over this county are going to be able to "scare" many Republicans out of the Republican party by the making of such base insinuations. The Republicans of this county are about as wise as many of the wiseacres who are attempting to manage the Democratic campaign. They know something about the nigger in politics. And they know more about what the Democratic party has done and stands for than the Democrats know themselves, unless those leaders of the Democrats know a mighty heap more about what their party stands for than they are telling the people.

In conclusion, we want to warn the people of the county that you be not deceived by these uncouth heralds of the Democrats about the nigger. That is what they want you to do. They want you to get mad about something so that you will forget the black and dirty record of their party in the past. And while they have you confused and have your face turned away from their past record, they hope to get you to vote the Democratic ticket, and thereby wrench from the hands of the people of the county their only hope for a good honest and clean administration of your county affairs in the future.

Be not deceived, friends. You should beware of these false prophets. Don't forget what has happened to this county in the past, just because some listened to the filthy insinuations of dishonest and disigning Democratic politicans. LET US NOT MAKE SUCH ANOTHER MISTAKE NOW.

J. BICE SAYS HE WILL SUPPORT THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper for a short letter. I did not think it would be necessary for me to write to the voters of this county to tell them that I am a Republican. I supposed everybody in this county knew how I vote. I wish to state that I will support the Republican ticket that was nominated on August the 8th. The primary is over, and we all did not get our choice. But on Nov. 7th, we will roll up a big majority for the Republican ticket.

Yours truly,
J. BICE.

MOSE THOMAS ANSWERS QUESTION OF HOWARD FOSHEE

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space in your paper for a short reply to the letter of Mr. Howard Foshee, which appeared in last week's issue of the Chiltan County News.

I wish to say that I do not care anything about the greater portion of Mr. Foshee's letter. It needs no attention, as the people of the county know already how to take the greater mass of political rot which he is trying to put over them.

But I do want to say to Mr. Foshee and the public that I am the same Mose Thomas whom Mr. Foshee maignantly referred to in the closing paragraph of his letter. But I wish to also state to the people that the case which was sought to be instituted against me was such a frivolous matter that it was dismissed from the court without a trial.

I want Mr. Foshee to tell the people if he is willing to leave himself in the hands of the people, to see whether they will endorse him for another term as County Superintendent of Education, or whether they will condemn the policies he has pursued in the administration of the school business of the county. Will he go before the court of public opinion and see if he is to be convicted or acquitted?

I want to again urge the voters of Chilton County to go to the polls on election day and cast their ballot in support of the Republican ticket. I firmly believe that the best interests of our county depend upon the election of the Republican candidates.

Respectfully,
MOSE THOMAS.

ANOTHER DOSE OF DR. SCOTT'S IGNORANCE DROPS.

Editor Union-Banner:

On account of ill health I have been silent for a good while, but I now ask for another small space for a dose of my celebrated political remedy, known as "Ignorance Drops." I guarantee this remedy to be harmless to any voter in Chilton County, but will do each one good if taken according to directions. I believe I can prove this by Tom Littlejohn, who is now running for Sheriff of Chilton County. Anyway he did not send back for a second dose, and no reasonable thinking man or woman will ever need a second dose, for everybody knows what a Democratic administration means to the people of Chilton County and to the state of Alabama.

I want to say if you want your business handled successfully, you should vote the Republican ticket straight and live up to its principles. You all know that Judge Reynolds is the only Probate Judge we have ever had who has a record of helping our county to get out of debt. And not only that, but if we want to be truthful, we have got to admit that he has been our greatest fighter for the cause of the Republican party and the common people in the county. He has led every fight for the people, whether he was a candidate or not. I want to say that I believe he has been the cause of the growth of the Republican party in Chilton County and in Alabama. That is the reason the Democrats want him put out of business. They fear him in a campaign, for they know that he will face them at any time and at any place.

We know that he has made us the best Judge we ever have had in Chilton County, and yet he has not had a fair show, as he has had to take charge both times following a Democratic administration, with the county badly in debt. Now let's give him a fair show, as he was the choice of the people in the primary. I had rather see him go to the office of Governor of our state than to see him retired as a plain citizen. The people need the services of such a man of ability as Judge Reynolds.

We should want to reward those who have been faithful to our cause. I say hurrah for W. M. Wyatt. You need not put any sugar coat on the Republican ticket for me. I will take it straight. But I am stronger for Reynolds than any of the others because I am in sympathy with him. He has had almost as much lies and criticism heaped upon him by the Democrats of Chilton County as was put upon Jesus Christ by the Jews.

Say voters, I see a great deal being said in our paper about Howard Foshee breaking ranks and going over to the Democrats in opposition to some if not all of our Republican candidates. I want to say to Mr. Foshee as was said about the ten commandments. If you fail to vote for the least of these nominees you are guilty of the whole. And woe unto the Republican who offends one of these nominees. It will be the same as a millstone hanged about your neck and you cast into the midst of the sea, so far as politics is concerned.

Let us look back nd see what happened to Honeycutt. He went into the office with a host of followers. He turned against the people and went out of the office a dead politician. Kilgore did the same thing. Sam Adams and L. B. Pounds at one time had strong followings, but now both are dead as to politics. I want to say to you Mr. Foshee that you have had some influence in the Republican party, but when you turned to the Democrats, you will go almost by yourself, and you will be a dead cock in the pit. The best way I know for you to kill yourself other than using gunpowder or taking poison, is for you to go on just like you have started, fighting the nominees of the Republican party in Chilton County.

A man or woman should not want to do anything that will be against the interests of themselves and their children of the future. And we know to vote the Democratic ticket is not promising us anything for the future. He that knoweth good and doeth it not shall be beaten with many stripes. We have the evidence with us in what happened when the people elected Judge Deason in Chilton County twelve years ago. We got over two hundred thousand dollars beat out of us in that deal, and it was all brought about by just a little prejudice or hard feelings.

Mr. Howard Foshee owes the people of Chilton County in acknowledgment for his disobedience; and he had better make it before the 7th of November. After that day it will be too late.

Let us take counsel of one another's interest and vote for the best for all. United we stand, divided we fall, and great is the fall sometimes. Let us all go to the polls on the 7th and show our Democratic "friends" under so deep that they cannot scratch out in time to have a Primary two years from now. If anyone wants a second dose of "Ignorance Drops" before the election, I would be glad to give it to him next week.

Yours truly,
J. N. SCOTT.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities became better known. It is the standard and main reliance for these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

A COMPARISON OF MESSER AND REYNOLDS

Jemison, Ala., Oct. 26, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

I have not heard anything through your paper from this part of the county lately, and I thought the people ought to know that we Republicans are all right and for the Republican ticket from top to bottom.

Twelve years ago next November I went to the polls to vote with a Big "R" on my coat, and someone ask me what it stood for, I told him it stood for REYNOLDS, REPUBLICAN, RIGHTEOUSNESS, REDEMPTION, AND RESURRECTION. I also had a Big "D" which I told them stood for DEASON, DEMOCRAT, DEBT, DAMNATION, DESTRUCTION and DEGENERATION. I also made a prediction that if Deason was elected we would have DEBT, DAMNATION, DESTRUCTION and DEGENERATION. Deason was elected by a small vote, and I leave it to the good people of Chilton County, if Deason and his "Political Machine" at Clanton did not throw Chilton County deeper in debt in Six years than it had ever been before in the entire existence of the County, and ever will be again until the Democrats get control. I also leave it to the people of the county, if we did not have more DAMNATION, DESTRUCTION, and DEGENERATION in that six years, than we have ever had before in the history of the county, and nothing short of the Republican party can ever REDEEM, it again. If you doubt these statements go to the official record of the County and find out for yourself.

I also predicted that if Reynolds was elected we would forever have a REPUBLICAN Party in Chilton County, we would have RIGHTEOUSNESS in our courts and in the handling of our money and we would also have a REDEMPTION from the deplorable condition left by the Democrats six years previous, and a RESURECEION and RESTORATION to our former condition. I again leave it to the people if Judge Reynolds had not been RIGHTEOUS in his courts and if every man and woman though they come from behind the plow handle, and though they be dressed in cotton and jeans if they can't get RIGHTEOUSNESS from him. I will also ask you to go to the official record, the record made by Democratic State Examiners during his entire term in office, and see if he hasn't made great headway in REDEEMING Chilton County from the debt left by Democrats, and in RESTORING the financial standing of the county. My friends the Democrats themselves can't truthfully deny these statements as they are part of the official record to show the comparison between the two parties in the county. Why these Democratic State Examiners in substance say that if you keep Judge Reynolds in office the county will soon be out of debt.

In two more weeks we are to have another election, and I want to make another prediction, the big letter "M" stands for MESSER, MINISTER MACHINE, MISERY, MISTAKE, MISMANAGEMENT, and MISFORTUNE. Mr. Messer was a MINISTER of the Gospel, now a politician. I have all respect for a preacher but when that preacher quits his calling and wallows in politics he will have to take his "Dose" like the rest of them, and by the time those Clanton politicians wallows him around in the political slime he will think the "Dose" has got him. You good people know what happened twelve years ago by that Clanton MACHINE that managed Deasons administration. With all due respect to Mr. Messrs you know what will happen if a preacher is elected, it will mean that that political MACHINE will take Two Hundred Thousand Dollars of the peoples money like they did twelve yers ago, and we will have MISERY to pay and our children's children will have MISERY to pay.

Mr. Messer is comparatively an old man having given his life to the cause of the Gospel, he has not mixed in the business part of life and he does not know of the tricks nd crookedness of politicians, and without any reflection upon him he could not be capable of managing the office properly. If he had started earlier in life, the case might have been different, but you all know from experience, that an old man cannot learn a new business, consequently if he is elected we will have MISMANAGEMENT, and by the time some politicians begin to want to be paid for putting him in the office, its "Good bye money." I do not cast any reflection on Brother Messer, he has simply placed himself before the people of Chilton County to be elected to the highest office, to manage our courts, our roads and our money, and I ask you frankly, do you believe him capable? Yes, he is a good man so far as I know but I can find you hundreds of good men in the county whom it would be a disaster to elect as Probate Judge. My friends, I honestly believe that if Brother Messer was elected this time, and with him doing everything in his power to protect the county's interest, the county would actually be in worse condition financially than it was when Deason turned the office over to Judge Reynolds six years ago.

I am sorry to see that there was a traitor in the Republican party, but I am glad we found him out in time and I trust he will not betray the Democratic Party as he has the Republican. I want to see Professor Bean back in his place, then the people will have regained those rights which Howard Foshee has taken away from them. The people will then have some say-so in redistricing and managing their schools.

In conclusion, I want to say that a person is either for the Republican ticket or he is against it. If he stays at home on election day and does not vote he is against it, for he has weakened the vote of the party that much and has increased the Democratic party that much. You have two more weeks to do some deep thinking, the Republican party in Chilton County has always been a friend to the poor man and woman and the farmer as well as the rich. We have always gotten a square deal from the Republican party and its officers. Now if you are too indifferent or too lazy to go to the polls and vote, or if you happen to be sore about something, and if on next November 7th we find that the Democratic party has been elected in our county, you have no one to blame but yourself, but the great majority of Chilton county will have to suffer.

So lets every Republican, man and woman go to the polls and vote for the entire Republican ticket and make Chilton county Republican again and assure for ourselves and our families a RIGHTEOUS and a JUST administration for our money and affairs for the next six years.

Yours very truly,
W. N. THOMAS.

LETTER FROM R. N. WILKINS

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to say a few words in regard to the approaching election. Let the voters of Chilton County refresh their memory as to things in the past in comparison between the Democratic and Republican parties. We know there has been a great fight against the Republican party and we have reason to believe that right now the fighters are putting forth their greatest efforts to kill the Republican party in Chilton County as well as in the state.

Now voters we know that we are commanded to provide things honestly in the sight of all men; also to do unto others as we would have them do unto us. We believe all true Republicans agree that this is right.

We all remember the argument about whether it is right to praise the bridge that carries us safely over, and then throws down our brother or fellow-man as he starts across. This calls our mind back to the saying, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." The only way we are to know a man is by the way he does. Our great commander said that we should be known by our fruits.

In spite of all the strife and confusion in Chilton County, when we look back at the years that have past, we are bound to see that the affairs of our county have been best administered by the men who were elected by the Republicn party. We find the practice of economical means by the Republicans, and example of great extravagance by the Democrats. We have not forgot who put this county hopelessly in debt. The bridge which we crossed over this six years has borne us all alike, issuing out justice as nearly as possible to all men.

Now Republicans, it is up to us to let our party stand or fall. I want to ask you to take heed and be not deceived. I admonish you not to be misled by some prejudiced, or jealous men. We cannot afford now to let the principles of our party go down because someone in our party has gotten sore because he may have been disppointed with the verdict of the primary election.

We may listen for some great explosion of Democratic gas between now and the 7th of November. Such things usually happen just before the day of election. We may not be surprised at it this time. But be wise, and like the army of Gideon, let every man stand in his place.

In regard to the great muddle that some are trying to stir up about the Montgomery delegation at the state Republican Convention. I want to say that we should endorse the action of that convention. They refused to seat any negroes at all; and they also refused to seat that bunch of traaitors who wanted to get in from Montgomery county.

Now what I have said is with the best of feeling to all honest people. Now, Republicans, I beg you all, men and women, to come on and let us roll up the greatest majority we have ever had for the Republican party in our county on the 7th of November.

Respectfully,
R. N. WILKINS.

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked. In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superor to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one can hardly realize that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

D. H. GENTRY WRITESE OF OUR COUNTY AFFAIRS

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 16, 1922.

Editor Union-Banner:

I have never written many letters for publication but I think now that there are some matters that should be explained, and as I am a County Commissioner I feel like I know why Mr. Howard L. Foshee is objecting to Judge Reynolds as our nominee. Mr. Foshee says he is opposed to Judge Reynolds only, but in last week's issue of the Chilton County News, the Democratic paper, he says he is opposed to Mr. Mack Wyatt, (you Mr. Editor,) as our Representative. He is opposed to Mr. Wyatt because he is in favor of all the Republican Nominees being elected, and it would be a mighty poor Republican that would not be willing to stand by what the majority of his party wanted done. There is another reason he is opposed to you, Mr. Editor, and that is because you have said that you were in favor of the people electing a County Superintendent of Education, Mr. H. L. Foshee knows if his name was submitted to the people of Chilton County that he could not be elected a Constable in any Beat in the County, by popular vote.

Mr. Foshee has been opposed to the Republican officials ever since he has been County Superintendent of Education. When he had been in office less than a week he proceeded to try to dictate to the County Official and at least a third of the time Mr. Johnson and Mr. L. F. Gerald, the two chief Democratic Leaders, were in his office telling him what to have the Republican officials do.

After Mr. Foshee had been County Superintendent of Education, he filed a bill with the Commissioners Court for stamps that was more than Prof. Bean's had been for a full year, and later he filed a bill for stamps for a campaign and the Commissioners Court refused to pay it. He then brought suit against the County and admitted on the stand that the Stamps were used in the campaign. We did not have to pay the bill. We also refused to pay for advertising a football game and this made him mad. In fact, we have now about three or four hundred dollars of his accounts which have not been allowed by the Court and which we do not feel like it is right for the Tax Payers to have to pay, for they are extravagant and outrageous, and some for furniture that he bought and did not need and tried to get some other County Official to use for him.

My friends, if your county was operated like Mr. H. L. Foshee tries to have it run, it would be only a few months until we would be in bankruptcy.

He published his report and said he was making an itemized statement when you could not tell for what a single dollar was spent.

Prof. Foshee was in favor of dipping cattle. We said to the people after the Democrats had forced the law on us that we were going to obey the law and get through with cattle dipping as quick and cheap as we could. The Court co-operated with the State and Federal Officials until the people had dipped their cattle as many times as they first told us we would have to dip, and when Judge Reynolds saw that they were going to try to force us to keep dipping for a few to draw a salary, he told Dr. Cary that he would go to jail before he would worry the people any longer and bankrupt the County. What happened? The inspectors were discharged and the County released from quarantine. We would to-day be dipping cattle and wasting the Tax money if it had not been for the fight that Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners Court made.

We all know the Democrats are trying to make us dip our cattle. Didn't they tell you that if Judge Reynolds was nominated that we would have to dip? I want to tell you if Judge Reynolds had not bucked that we would be dipping. You take the record that Dr. Cary filed with the Commissioners Court, which the Democratic paper refused to publish, it clearly shows that Dr. Cary has no record of fever ticks in Chilton County but that he wanted us to pay a lot of men who are too lazy to work, to hunt ticks in Chilton County. Didn't Dr. Cary admit this to Judge Reynolds?

Republicans, we must not be deceived and led astray by a few pretended sore Republicans. We have not lost much when we lost Mr. H. L. Foshee. He has been with the Clanton Democrats all the time and this is where he belongs for he stands for a few to rule, thereby taking the power away from the people. I shall be glad to pay the expense of the Primary if he will submit his name to go before the people and let them vote on him as County Superintendent of Education, when his present term expires.

The election in November is one of the most important elections we have ever had. Our county is getting in good financial condition and we all know that Judge Reynolds is a good financier and knows how to manage the affairs of the County. We know that he is always on the job and that he always takes the side of the tax payers, and now if we let a few defeat him just because he has saved your taxes we will not hurt him so much but we will hurt ourselves.

We ought to keep a record of all those who do not support the Republican nominees for it is a critical time with the Party and those who do not help us now should not be trusted in the future, and I say that I will never support any of them for office.

We know that a Democratic Administration means only waste, extravagance and debts, so I plead with the Republicans of this county to go to the polls on November 7th, and vote for the Republican nominees, for it will save our County.

Very truly yours,
D. H. GENTRY,

P. S.—I am for the entire Republican Ticket, and am just as strong for one as the other.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

SINGING AT OAK HILL LAST SUNDAY

Last Sunday was the occasion of an all day singing at Oak Hill Methodist Church northeast of Jemison when the United Singing Society composed of the classes of Union Grove, Collins Chapel, Oak Hill and Jemison, combined with other singers from different parts of Chilton County, rendered one of the best musical programs ever listened to in this part of the country. Mr. E. L. Glass was here one day last week and invited the editor of The Union-Banner to be present, and we were very glad indeed that we took dvantage of the oppotunity to see the United Singing Society in action. It proved to be a bunch of very live singers, who can deliver the goods right off the bat when it comes to singing.

In the forenoon the following directors conducted lessons: Mr. Norris of Elmore county, J. Z. Mims of Clanton, Bill Cofer of Oak Hill and Mr. Boswell of Coopers.

In the afternoon we had the pleasure of listening to the direction of others including Burl Martin, Vester Campbell, Oce Devaughn, Prof. Horton and Vernon Northcutt, Prof. J. L. Harris and A. H. Glass.

The Clanton Quartette was present and rendered a selection between the lesson of each director. This quartette is composed of Green Retherford, Jesse Jones, Renfroe Jones and Mrs. Renfroe Jones. Their singing received a high note of praise from all who heard them. In the afternoon a quartett was rendered by the Oak Hill class composed of Garbon Sammons, Marvin Northcutt, Leonard and Charles Glasscock.

Mr. E. L. Glass acted as Chairman for the day, and made everybody feel welcome and perfectly at home.

The editor of The Union-Banner missed what was pronounced by many to be the most interesting feature of the day, which was the splendid dinner that was spread at noon time.

The whole day was pronounced a success, and those of us who were made acquainted with the Oak Hill method of entertaining visitors are anxious to again hear the call to come back and be with those splendid people for another day of this kind.

THE MOBILE PORT AMENDMENT

Colonel J. Osmond Middleton, that good old time Chilton County Republican leader, who has been living in Mobile for the past few years, was in Clanton the first of this week, working in the interest of the proposed Mobile Amendment, which is to be voted upon in Alabama at the General Election on November the 7th.

Mr. Middleton has been in Mobile for some time, and is quite familiar with the conditions there which it is the purpose of this Amendment to overcome and improve to the advantage of the people of the state. His knowledge of conditions there, and his understanding of the developments that are proposed by the state makes him an ardent supporter of the proposition. He appeals to his friends throughout Chilton County to give the matter their careful consideration, and to cast their vote for it on the 7th of November.

In a brief letter addressed to The Union-Banner, Mr. Middeton has stated in a concise way his views of the matter, and we publish it below:

Dear Mr. Wyatt:

I wish you would be good enough to bring to the attention of the readers of your estimable paper the great importance of their voting for the Alabama Seaport Amendment on November 7th. I will not ask that you give me spce to enumerate all of the advantages that will accrue to all of the people of the state by its adoption, but will say that the adoption of the amendment will not add a penny to the taxes of any one. It will simply empower the Legislature to develop the States' only seaport, all such development to be and remain state owned and controlled. The policy back of the proposed amendment is inherently sound, for in this day each state must be permitted to go forward and keep step with the prgress of the time, else it will stagnate and follow behind its sisters to the injury and distress of the people.

As we all know, in the port of Mobile, Alabama, possess an asset of the greatest value, and its harbor is one of the finest in the world. Properly developed it will yield untold millions to the benefit of all our people, but this benefit cannot be realized unless the people, by their vote adopt the amendment.

As you know the issue is entirely non-partisan. It has been adopted by both the Democratic and Republican parties and it has the endorsement of both the Republican and Democratic nominees for governor. I hope very much that the progressive citizens of Chilton County will be alert to their best interest and that they will give to this amendment a splendid majority.

Sincerely,
J. OSMOND MIDDLETON

The gist of the whole proposition is the development of the port of Mobile and the building of shipping facilities there which will bring to the people of the state better advantages for shipping their produce to the markets of the world. The building of the necessary warehouses and wharfs, aeqiring the neessary property for the same, and the administration and conduct of the business will all be in charge of the state and all property acquired and buildings erected will be owned by the state.

The following points are argued in favor of the Amendment by the Committee in Mobile county and the Port Amendment campaign Committee in Alabama:

The contemplated development should be by the State, rather than by a municipality or individuals, because:—

It is for the benefit and profits of the entire State and not for any particular locality.

The enterprise is of such size that it cannot be financed by any municipality in this State or by individuals or private corporations.

It is essentially a public utility, the rates for the use of which will be controlled by the State, and in this day and time individuals and private corporations will not invest in properties so controlled.

The matter of the rates to be charged for the use of the facilities is of the utmost public concern, and when the State owns the facilities and also has the power of fixing the rates, there will be full assurance to the public, which is itself the State that only reasonable, but sufficient rates will be charged.

The experience of those places which have tried out the plan demonstrates clearly that state-ownership and state-control of terminal facilities works better and is more satisfactory than any other ownership or control.

The State cannot be forced to pay unreasonable prices for property. It has the power to condemn all property necessary for the proposed development, and the Legislature may condition the mking of any improvement upon the securing of the required property at reasonable prices.

The Legislature alone will have the power to say what improvement shall be made, where it shall be located and what it shall cost. No one can say what the plan will be, or enter upon tentative or preliminary arrangements of any kind.

Surely the Legislature, composed as it will be, of men of intelligence and high character from every County of the State, may be trusted to handle the entire matter correctly, wisely and economically. The next Governor of the State, in an open letter, strongly endorsing the Amendment, has assured that in making appointments to any board or body selected by the Legislature as its executive agency, he will choose "only experienced business men of outstanding ability and unquestioned character ignoring entirely politics, politicians and all political considerations." No one questions the sincerety of this most satisfactory assurance.

As will be seen from the foregoing, the responsibility for the development and management of this proposition, if it is voted favorably by the people of the state, will rest with the next and succeeding legislatures. All details that will arise in the matter will be upon the shoulders of the legislature to work out to the advantage of the people of the state.

It is going to be purely a business matter, and will call for the exercise of sound judgment and business administration. The Democratic nominee for Governor, Mr. Brandon, who will most surely be elected on November 7th, is pledged to the policy of making appointments to any board or body selected by the legislature as its executive agency, to choose only experienced business men of outstanding ability and unquestioned character, ignoring entirely politics, politicians and all political considerations.

Such should be the manner of going about this important matter. The Democratic party, which will be in power in the next legislature, ought to be big and patriotic enough to handle this proposition without consideration of politics. It is a business proposition that will mean much to the welfare of the citizenship of the state in a business and commercial way, and the party which is to have the admiistration of the same should exercise this administration in such a way that politics will be left out of it, and an honest effort made to bring the contemplated advantages to the people of the state in general.

YES, WE AGREE WITH YOU

We have at least found one place where we can agree with a Democratic Newspaper. We never did expect to find it but we did. Here it is:

"The law says you belong behind the bars if you sell or buy a vote. Look out! Somebody will find you out and the next grand jury will attend to you. We are going to do it right this time or see that the law does its perfect work.—Chilton County News.

Yes, sir, brother, that is the stuff; and remember it applies to both Democrats and Republicans. But just what do you mean by specifying THIS time as the time when it is going to be done right? The Republicans have always done it right. There have been many great "ballot box steals" and "Stuffings" recorded in the history of the Democratic party, and some of them no further from home than right here in Chilton county, but Chilton County Republicans have always got theirs by straight out honest to goodness voting, and then seeing that the votes are counted for what they were cast. We will be with you on Nov. 7th, to see that it is done right, brother Democrats.

Cheap Flour is False Economy

It is a fact that a high-grade flour requires less shortening, less baking powder, fewer eggs. Good cooks have told us that they use just half as much lard when baking with Gilster's Best Flour.

The small difference in cost between Gilster's Best and ordinary flours, is more than made up in the saving on ingredients. It is real economy to use Gilster's Best Flour.

If you prefer a self-rising flour—Gilster's Featherlite or Gilster's Mother's Joy.

UNCLE TOM HUBBARD SAYS STAND BY REPUBLICANS

Mr. Editor:

As the time draws near for us to elect our State and County officials it is very important that we pursue a wise course.

Our own Republican platform is good. The people in my part of the county endorse it and will vote the entire Republican ticket.

We did not get all our individual choices, but did get the choices of the majority, and the majority is greater than we are.

Our candidates are true men—business men, and we must have business men to be successful.

Some on the opposing side say their platform is "Do right," but mark you, there is a vast difference between absolute right and what some men thinks is right. For one to say he will do right and not tell you what he thinks is right, that leaves him the sole judge of what is right.

A few of our people in 1910 deserted their nominees and caused us all to pay dearly for their mistake. No one believes if our nominees had been successful in 1910 that we would be in debt as we are today. Then our tax rate was low and we did not owe a dollar. Just a few people failing to act wisely brought this condition on us. Spite never pays.

A majority of our people have said for Pitts, Wyatt, Reynolds, J. Z. Mims, Littlejohn, Billingsley, Robinson, J. M. Mims and Dorminey to be our leaders and we bow to their decision.

Who doubts the ability of Pitts and Wyatt? They are true Republicans and will be a credit to Chilton county. Reynolds has never wasted the county's money and always votes for the tax payers. He is among the best of business men and never been untrue to the prty and the great common people. What is wrong with Tom Littlejohn? He is cool headed and intelligent, the Republican party believes in him. There is J. Z. Mims, a gentiemn and a scholar, true as steel. We have no doubts as to Dorminey, Jim Mims, Robinson or Billingsley.

The party has spoken and we gladly follow its leading. We can't have success any other way.

The opposing party can't condemn Reynolds, because their own Democratic States examiner says he has made good.

I now appeal to my friends and the great number of supporters who so loyally stood by me in past years when I was one of your officers to let us act wisely, and on November 7th unitedly as in the past elect our entire ticket.

Respectfully,
T. J. HUBBARD.

On last Saturday we were glad to have with us Bro. Davis. He preached a most excellent sermon Saturday morning, after which the church was called in Conference. Bro. Davis was given a unanimous call to serve our Baptist Church for the next year. We are more than glad to have Bro. Davis with us.

We have a good B. Y. P. U. and a fine Sunday school.

'A NEW WORLD GOVERNMENT"

"A New World Government" was the subject of a prophetic lecture at the Adventist Tabernacle, Sunday night, by Pastor C. B. Stephenson, President of the Alabama Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The speaker selected Isaiah 9:6,7 as the basis of his remarks. He said in part, "This promised child was our Lord and Saviour, who was born in a manger, nursed and cared for by a human mother, lived and died for a lost world." This same text presents Him in another position, that of Almighty God, a Governor reigning upon an enternal throne over a people to whom He has given everlasting life.

The first part of this prophecy, the promised son, was literally fulfilled in Christ as our Saviour. The last part, which says He will also be a mighty ruler, a prince of peace, must yet be fulfilled. When Christ was on trial before Pilate He was asked if He was a King, and Jesus replied, "To this end was I born." He said also "My Kingdom is not of this (present) world." We are taught to pray "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven." How far has this world traveled toward the time when God will fulfil His promise of a new Kingdom, and usher in the new government? A brief study of the second chapter of Daniel reveals a most startling thing. There were to be just four universal Kingdoms, beginning with ancient Babylon. The gold, silver, brass and iron of the image represent four Kingdoms. Then the little stone destroys all earthly Kingdoms and fills the whole earth. The stone is a prophecy of the new earth. Revelation 21, where Christ will reign as governor upon the throne of David.

The four Kingdoms mentioned above have come and gone with the exception of the very last part of the fourth. We reviling in the last days, represented by the toes of the prophetic image. Jesus is soon coming to this world again, John 14:1-3. Not as a new born son, but as a mighty King. Revelation 19:15. At that time He will assume control of the earth and proceed to establish His everlasting Kingdom. Luke 1: 32,33. Reader, are you ready for that day to come?—(Contributed.)
